FOREWORD

*W*E present this volume of the Revonah to you, not as a masterpiece of unusual merit, but merely as a simple record of our College life. It is impossible to depict adequately in these few words the sacred traditions, the lasting friendships, the high ideals, and the spirit that prevail at HANOVER.

DEDICATION

To the Spirit of Hanover

FROM the Colonial days with their majesty of thought and action comes the picturesque and meaningful background of this volume.

Our tradition has grown out of a century-long existence, and out of it has come a power which has led HANOVER'S sons to honorable service—a challenge which calls students to be friendly, to play squarely and to achieve the highest.

THE BEAUTIFUL OHIO as seen from the campus. Nature gives man his most beautiful scenes after all. The brush of a Raphael could not do more. A lover of nature is spell bound on seeing this view. Some campuses may surpass Hanover's in size but none can equal hers in its superb location.

THE

also known as College Point House, holds the many secrets, joys and sorrows of its fair Co-eds. If it is true that we only know people after living with them, the girls should know many of their school mates very well, and in fact they do. Here many enduring friendships are formed.

THE LIBRARY. devoid of ostentation, bespeaks its practical usefulness. For the serious student this is the most important building of all. After four years other students realize they too should have taken advantage of its 30,000 volumes. This is the Thomas A. Hendricks Memorial Library, made possible through the generosity of his widow.

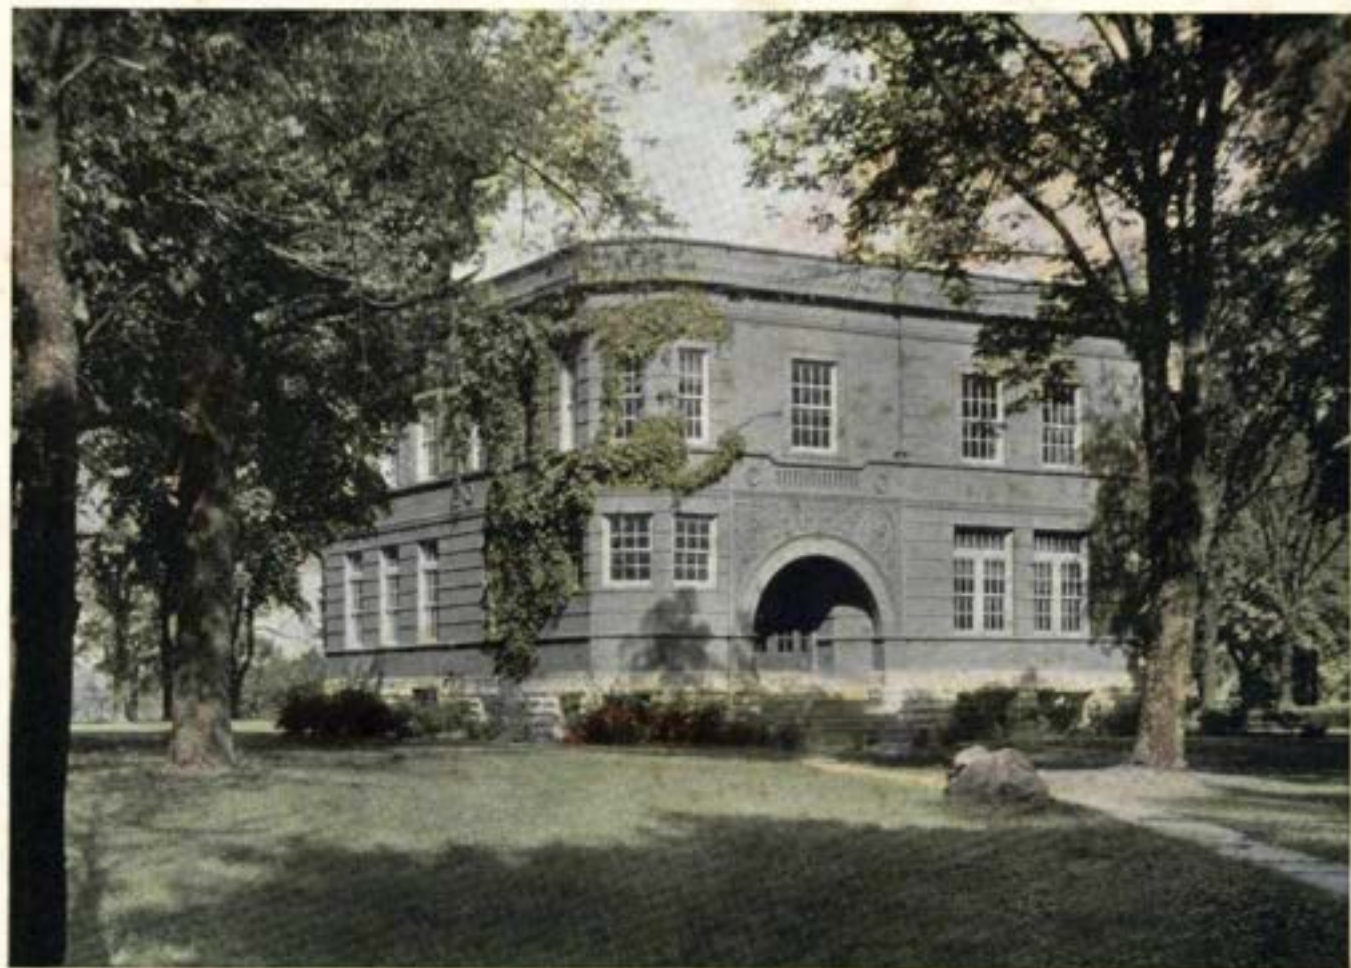

GOLDARDEN LODGE

is a little bit of heaven here on earth. Its quiet dignity; picturesque setting; antique furnishings, perfect in every detail; plus a most genial, cordial and sincere host, Dr. Ballard, make it the one place a troubled student may go to forget all worries and solve vexing problems.

CLASSIC HALL, with all its stately dignity still keeps its watch over the Ohio. Just as it has watched the river flowing ever on it has seen students come and go; buildings too, yet Classic Hall still dominates the campus. It is here that we drink deep draughts at the fountain of knowledge.

SCIENCE HALL. Just as modern science plays such a large part in our present civilization, so Science Hall is an integral and important building on the Campus. It is a fireproof structure containing class rooms, laboratories, and a scientific library. Who can tell, maybe another Edison will receive his initial instruction in this hall.

Senior Class

On through years of mental toil and arduous labor on the field of higher academic training, we have fought the fates of furthered education; and now the time has finally come when we, with quickened intellect and relatively cultured minds, must inevitably march forth through these aged portals of classical learning onto the vast and various paths of life. For a long time we coveted the hour, and now the hour has come. We must advance, and with our fundamental elements of characteristic zeal driven onward and upward by the power of honest determination, we must and surely will hold our own amid the roar and the rumble of the great turmoil in the modern endeavor for success.

Regardless of the fact that tomorrow's morn may build a wall between our lives; regardless of the fact that, all too soon, each individual of our class must enter a separate path where each must bear his load, remember always that time should not erase the memories and the friendships of our college days. As we wander far from the walks of our Alma Mater, let these memories be the beacon which bids us back this way. When time has had its say, who among us will not love to recall and long to live again the days which now are quickly passing by? Our friendships should be like the rooted oaks, and not the swaying reeds. We now are all friends; let us ever continue on as such. When we have made our way, let us look around for one another—maybe we can lend a helping hand.

From the lofty rungs of success, let us look back over the years and consider the once most important elements of the day. Of course, the facts of it all are vivid still. We probably wouldn't desire to do it over again, and yet we would not have missed one bit for much of the best in the world. But now the crucial hour has come, and the day is almost over.

We, as one, shall do our best to respect the honor of our College. May our College ever be as proud of us as we are of her. "Come what, Come may," we shall do our best; and we can do no more.

"Us Seniors"

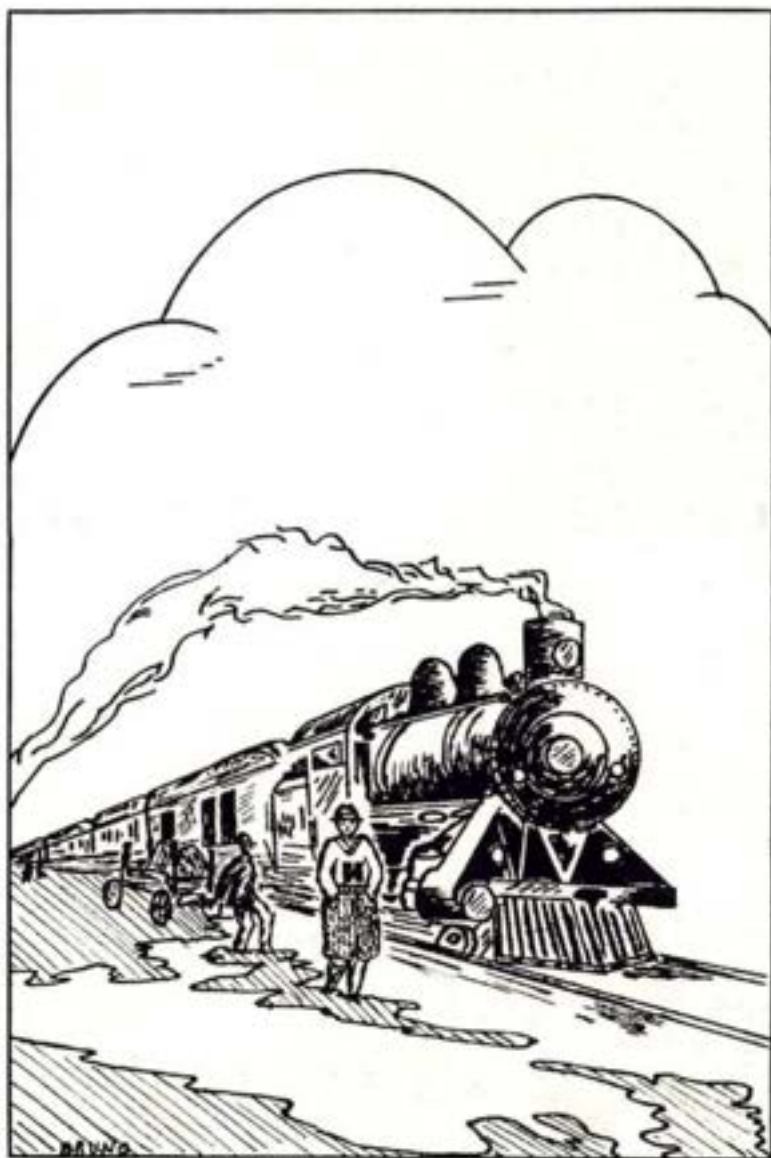

Now, as the warm breezes of spring blow softly over the verdant hills and campus green, most of our activities consist wholly in wandering along well worn ways and thickly wooded paths. With the beauty of bright blue skies and rolling clouds to soothe us after mental toil, who can blame any one of our class for allowing his poetical nature a temporary supremacy over his intellectual zeal for academic knowledge? From out of the distant past comes this philosophical gem, "See something beautiful, read something beautiful, hear something beautiful, do something beautiful every day of your life, and you shall be happy." We are performing the first requirement when we use our time to advantage in observing the scenic beauty around our college.

But this is not all we do! Often, in honor of some renowned personage, we dress in cap and gown and attend formal assemblies in Chapel. What an exalted feeling we have as we walk quietly behind the rank and file of our faculty members. Who knows, perhaps in the days far ahead, such an assembly may meet to do honor to our endeavors and our successes. Whatever we do, no matter the time, no matter the place, let's work for the service of our fellow men, and doubtless our names shall be written on the scrolls of honor of Hanover College, and possibly even on the Scrolls of Heaven.

Junior Class

Three short years ago we, the members of the Junior Class, arrived at the College Library ready and willing to indulge in the wondrous pursuits of higher knowledge, only to be told that we must undergo the tedious and tiresome process of matriculation. But what was there to do? To go home would defeat our determined purpose! Register we must, so we did. About one hundred of us successfully completed this arduous task. It was upon the completion of this project that we of one accord agreed fully with the writer of old when he said it was a curse that man had to earn his living by the sweat of his brow.

The world will little note nor long remember what we did in college, but we can never forget how we felt here. We were both homesick and blue, for we were in a strange land without acquaintances and enjoyed the mutual hatred of the entire Sophomore class. But soon the healing hand of time overcame even the most stubborn cases of homesickness. Classes convened and for several days all was quiet on the campus front. Peace reigned supreme until the class officers were elected. Then the two classes found themselves rapidly preparing for open hostilities. War was declared and the battle raged for eighteen hours, when we finally overcame the Sophomores. The armistice was signed at noon and that night we rushed the show. The next day we settled down for the long grind which we have been enjoying ever since, except the brief time required last year to conquer the Freshmen.

We are very sorry that so many of our classmates did not come back but we are glad for the pleasant memory of the happy days that we were privileged to spend together. We will always remember our days spent in the great and fascinating quest for knowledge. They have been most pleasant. We look toward the future with happy anticipation; we hold the past in cherished reminiscence. We hope your stay in college will be as pleasant as ours has been.

Sophomore Class

Only two short years ago this class entered the portals of Hanover College as green as they come. What a change has been wrought! Even as the mighty oaks from little acorns grow, so has the Class of '34 risen from its lowly status to reach the outstanding position of influence which it occupies today.

The Freshman year passed quickly but even in that short time the evidence of future greatness for this class shone forth like a blazing torch in Stygian darkness. Representatives were found in the many varied activities of the school and a few reached positions of prominence on the various athletic teams and in the extra-curricular affairs of the college. The Freshman basketball team also brought honor to the class by capturing the Inter-class Basketball Cup.

Returning this fall it was found that although the quantity of the class had decreased the quality still remained. The Sophomores plunged immediately into the active life of their Alma Mater and inaugurated the social year by sponsoring one of the most successful class dances staged here in the past few decades.

Soon after the hop, class officers were chosen for the year. William Faulds was elected president; Pauline Lemen, vice-president; Mary Ellen Cooper, secretary; and Howard Lee, treasurer.

Led by these officers the Sophs battled gamely against overwhelming odds in the annual Freshman-Sophomore fight but were finally defeated after a two-day battle. All enmity between these two rivals was lost on Homecoming Day as the two classes united to upset the dope by downing the heavier and more experienced Junior-Senior eleven, 10-7.

The class has also been well represented this year in varsity athletics and a number of men won regular positions on the Panther teams. The various clubs and activities have also claimed a majority of the Sophomore class and many officers in these organizations belong to this body.

Therefore, it may be said that the class has had and is expecting a successful sojourn in Hanover.

Freshman Class

The fall of 1931 brought a record class to Hanover—a record class in size and in other respects. With one hundred sixty-seven students in the class there was an abundance of material from which to choose for any activity, in many of which the Freshmen have shown their ability.

The Freshman-Sophomore fight—one of the first engagements in which the class as a whole took part—was a decided victory for the rhinies. For the first time on Hanover's campus they showed their talents in the form of courage and militarism.

In sports the Freshman fellows distinguished themselves, ten of them making the varsity team. From the feminine point of view in athletics, we may say that three Freshman girls made varsity in soccer, and several others showed remarkable skill in playing soccer and volley ball.

In the intelligence tests given them early in the fall the Freshmen showed mental ability which should make them capable of meeting the difficulties of practical situations in later life as illustrated by campus contacts. The results were higher than those of the class which preceded them.

During the year the Freshmen were prominent in extra-curricular activities which were open to them. Debating was a popular activity and three of them were good enough to make the varsity team. There were also enough others interested in this type of verbal combat to form teams from each college group and put on a debate tournament.

When the first semester's grades were published, it was found that the intelligence test taken in the fall was not a false indicator of their ability. Of the nine straight "A" records in college, five belonged to Freshmen. Many others were on the honor roll or above the general average of scholarship.

After enumerating its virtues and achievements we say to the Freshman class as it passes on, "May the 1932 rhinies prove as efficient in life as they have in their first year at Hanover, thus bringing honor to themselves and their Alma Mater."

ACTIVITIES
BOOK III

Student Council

The Student Council of Hanover College was organized in the spring of the year 1930, largely through the efforts of Dr. Parker who was interested in seeing a representative group of students consider the various problems peculiar to the undergraduate.

The Council is composed of representatives from the various organizations on the campus and the unorganized groups. Its purpose is to deal with the problems pertaining to the men and women of the college. It is a means by which the student body is able to come into contact with the administration to bring about so satisfactory a relationship that the college may become an integral part of the students' lives. In other words, it is the mouth-piece of the student body and the medium of the administration and students. It is the one satisfactory group which can work over both the problems of the organized and unorganized student.

The Council sponsors an all-college boat dance in the spring of the year which is one of the finest social functions of the entire school year. It also sponsors various other social events and is influential in bringing before the student body many prominent speakers. It aids considerably in bringing to the campus a vital part of the student's cultural life. Its job is necessarily a student one, and the organization is forging to the front as the most outstanding organism of student opinion on the Hanover campus; as such it is taking its place as the most powerful single organization on the campus. During the week before the opening of school next fall, the Council plans to hold a retreat to discuss plans for the year and to talk over the best methods of facing student problems. This retreat will be open to any member of the Student Council.

Revonah Staff

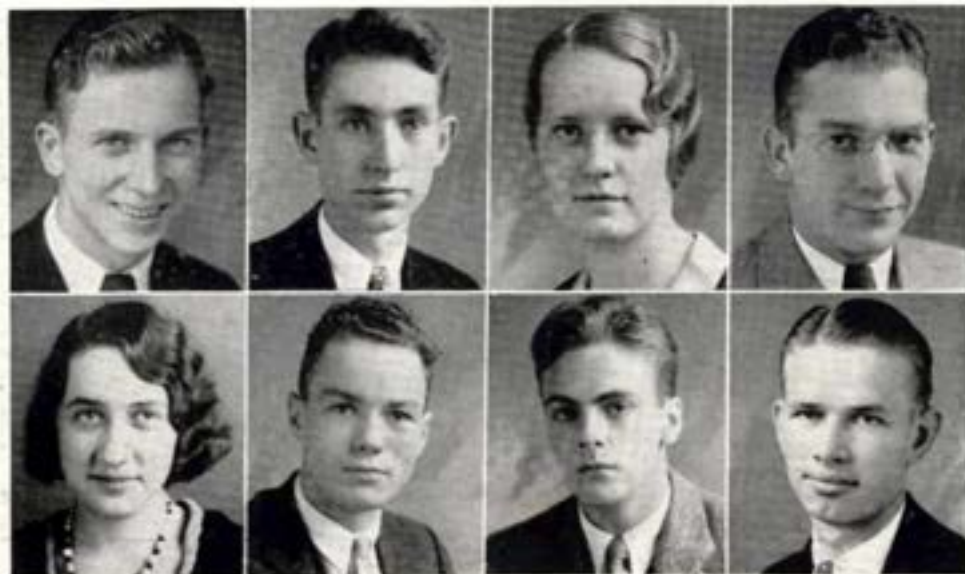

For many years the Revonah has been the official year book of Hanover College. The responsibility for publication is vested in the Junior Class. From this group the Editor-in-Chief and the Business Manager are chosen. They in turn appoint their staff to assist them in the work of compilation and the various duties connected with the organization of the book.

The object of this annual is to portray student life and student activities for the school year. The staff has made a conscientious effort to do this in a fair and impartial way.

The Editor wishes to thank publicly the members of his staff for their assistance and help given him from time to time. He also wishes to thank the officers of the various organizations for their co-operation in furnishing write-ups of their group activities.

Special tribute must be paid by the Editor to Miss Mary Louise Fitton and Mr. Charles Hower for their tireless efforts in proof-reading the copy.

Triangle Staff

The Triangle, the campus newspaper, is the official weekly publication of the student body. This year a new plan has been offered by the college curriculum whereby all prospective journalists are required to take a one-hour laboratory course, given over to the publishing of the paper.

The purpose of this publication is to present complete, accurate, and timely reports of college happenings and to portray the opinions and ideals of the college thru its news stories, editorials, student columns, and literary contributions.

All in all, the Triangle under this new organization has improved rapidly in its various issues. Much of the success of the paper has been due to the untiring efforts of Miss Mary Louise Fitton, faculty sponsor, with Robert T. Kelsey editing and Dana Shelby managing the business of the publication and Loren Martin and Lawrence Evans acting as associate editors. The rest of the staff is as follows: Sports Editor, Howard Stouffer; Assistant Sports Editor, Byron Finch; Society Editor, Aldine Gardner; Exchange Editor, Ray Stewart; Special News Editor, Margaret Rogers; Columnists, Della Dawson, Geo. Middleton, Clare Tallman; Circulation Manager, Wm. Ulbrich; Advertising Manager, Henry Coombs.

The Dramatic Club

The Dramatic Club, which is maintained under the auspices of the English Department, has completed a most successful year. Try-outs were held early in the fall for everyone interested in dramatics. A number of talented persons were elected to membership. Membership in the club is limited to thirty.

The club presents a three-act play each semester and the new members give a group of one-act plays shortly after try-outs. These one-act plays are coached by Dramatic Club members.

The objects of this organization are: to study drama and acting, to present plays, and to promote interest in the dramatic work in Hanover College.

Plays such as "Seven Keys to Baldpate" (1927), "The Thirteenth Chair" (1928), "Icebound" (1929), "The Dover Road" (1931), have been presented before appreciative audiences. The first semester production of this year was "The Millionaire," the cast of which was composed of Emily Rea, Dan Lewis, Ayleen Henderson, George Middleton, Margaret Ricketts, Dana Shelby, Maxine Lane, Robert Kelsey and Ruth Mathews. Miss Andrews, who acts as the faculty advisor of the club, was the able coach of "The Millionaire."

Meetings of the Dramatic Club are held every two weeks. They are interesting and of constructive value. Recently produced plays are read and discussed. Social meetings are sometimes held.

Officers of the club are:

RUTH MATHEWS	Vice-President

Varsity Debaters

Hanover's Varsity teams opened their season at the North Manchester Tournament on February 26 and 27, and closed it with an engagement at Valparaiso on March 18th. The question debated was Recognition of Russia. Between these dates, both our Affirmative and Negative met teams from Franklin who visited us for two engagements on March 4th. The next Tuesday, March 8th, we took part in a triangle with Earlham and Indianapolis Law School.

From these debates, Hanover came out with six victories and five defeats.

At North Manchester, our Negative team, composed of Clare Tallman, captain, Herman Allen, and John M. Lewis, Jr., won all of its debates, defeating in turn, Rose Poly, Manchester, and Goshen. Later in the season, they defeated Franklin and lost their only date to Earlham. The negative team put up a highly effective and telling argument.

The Affirmative team, with Maurice Graston, captain, Dan Lewis, and Ruth Smith, found itself up against a difficult task in working up an effective argument. At North Manchester, they were unsuccessful against the Negative teams from Taylor and Manchester, but finally defeated the best team they encountered, John Carroll of Cleveland, Ohio. Later in the season, they lost to the Negatives of Franklin and Indianapolis Law School. After this, the whole affirmative case was revamped, and the season was closed with a decisive victory over Valparaiso on their platform. This final contest gave Hanover's Affirmative a chance to exhibit a debating ability of really distinctive caliber.

The splendid work of Hanover's two alternates, Erma Kyle and Loren Martin, was a material factor in the success of their teams.

The season came to a happy conclusion with a banquet at Cravenhurst. Here Hanover's debaters laid aside all their heavy tomes of International Law and their artillery of trade statistics, and had a merry time with their guests. It was a fine climax to a successful season.

Freshman Debaters

The Freshman Debates, run off in the fall and early winter of 1931, were a decided success. Seven teams participated, representing five of the organized groups on the campus, and both the Men and Women Independents. These teams were coached by seven advanced debating students, under the general supervision of the English Department.

The upper classmen who assisted in this way, and the teams they coached were: John M. Lewis, Jr.: Betas; Clare Tallman: Phi Gams; Dan Lewis: Phi Delts; Robert Kelsey: Alpha Delts; Mark Ashley: Phi Mus; Wm. Ross: Independent Men; and Maurice Graston: Independent Women.

The question debated was: Resolved, That the Russian Five-Year Plan offers a feasible pattern upon which the United States may model its future economic policy. A great deal of credit must be given all of the freshmen and their coaches who took part in this series of debates, for the question was a difficult one and necessitated clear and vigorous thinking. Before the debates had gone very far, it was evident that the Negative teams had an advantage because of the fact that the Affirmative angle of the case had within it certain inherent difficulties which made a defense difficult.

It is for this last reason that special distinction was richly merited by the team which finally won the large loving cup. Both the team, the Independent Women, and their coach, Maurice Graston, deserved the congratulations they received. The team, composed of Lucille Morrell, Ruth Smith, and Erma Kyle, defended successfully both the Negative and Affirmative positions. They defeated in succession the Phi Mus, the Independent Men, and the Betas.

After the debates were over, it was the general consensus of opinion that the freshmen of this year have set a record in forensics which can well be aspired to by future freshman classes. Three of the debaters made Varsity team: H. Allen, R. Smith, E. Kyle.

Gamma Sigma Pi

Gamma Sigma Pi is a local honorary fraternity which was founded at Hanover College in 1926 by the members of the faculty and the student body.

The purpose of the organization is to encourage high scholarship and to recognize scholastic attainment. A student taking the regular college course and making a two point five average twice out of three successive semesters and not falling below "B" in any subject is eligible for election to membership. The badge of the fraternity is a gold key bearing the Greek letters ΓΣΠ in black enamel. Twice a year the chapter puts on a program in Chapel for the presentation of the keys to the successful students qualifying that semester. Professor Grant T. Wickwire is the faculty advisor.

The following are the officers for the present year: President, Mabel Raney; Vice-President, Grace Sies; Secretary-Treasurer, Maxine Lane; Reporter, Charles Browne. The members are Dorothy Miles, Emily Rea, Gladys Gelvin, Virginia Corya, Dana Shelby, Charles Butler, Clare Tallman. Students elected to membership the last semester are: Evelyn Gardner, Aldine Gardner, Lewis Jacob, Maurice Graston, Marion Parker.

The Educational Club

This year the Educational Department has made one of the most extensive gains recorded in the history of Hanover College. That there is an increasing interest in teacher training is evinced by the fact that when the call was issued for the organization of an educational club, an unusually large number of students responded. Out of a group of seventy students, approximately sixty have become members of the Educational Club of Hanover College, organized November 5, 1931. This organization is open to all students enrolled in the elementary teacher training curriculum.

The purpose of the club is to promote a social atmosphere among the students and to further the professional interests of its members.

A very active schedule, permitting a wide variety of subject matter and discussion, has been arranged.

The initial program, following the election of officers, was in charge of Wilma Kitchen, chairman of the program committee. Harold Demaree, in the guise of Father Time, acted as master of ceremonies, mysteriously marking "Time" on a large improvised clock-face and guiding the guests through twelve "hours" of real enjoyment.

One of the most interesting programs of the year was a Persian story-hour conducted by Dr. James, head of the Department of History. The club aims to foster better scholarship through the avenue of increasing interest and to focus the attention of educational students on the importance and value of their chosen profession.

The club has sponsored a large number of class activities, projects, and exhibits, along with an annual banquet. It holds meetings twice a month throughout the school year.

The officers of the organization are Margaret Rea, president; Margaret Weaver, vice-president; Woodrow Fleming, secretary; and Randolph Shelby, treasurer. Miss Anna Marie Fisher is the faculty advisor and sponsor.

The Fishermen's Club

The Fishermen's Club of Hanover College, a Gospel Team group, was organized in September of 1930. Its chief purpose was to create a strong bond of fellowship among all ministerial students and others interested in Christian work. Howard Lee was elected first president of the group and Joseph Peters, first secretary. Weekly meetings were instituted for purposes of devotion and discussion of common problems. The purposes of the organization were soon expanded to include the sponsoring of Chapel programs of a religious and inspirational nature and the conducting of services in churches in outlying communities. In this way prospective ministers are given opportunities to put their talents in use while attending college. The Presbyterian Church of New Market, Indiana, was given to the Club as a permanent charge. Services have been conducted there regularly for more than a year and the success of these efforts has been amazing. From a struggling, discouraged little Church, it has grown into an enthusiastic, thriving community center. Plans are already laid for carrying out even greater work in the future at that point.

At the beginning of the second year of the Fishermen's Club, Howard Lee was re-elected President of the group.

It is earnestly hoped that the Fishermen's Club of Hanover College may long continue to thrive and grow and shed its influence abroad into the lives of many.

The membership of the Club is purposely kept small. Members this year were as follows: Gordon Karnell, Philadelphia, Pa. (Presbyterian); William Graler, Cincinnati, Ohio (Presbyterian); Ernest Wichman, Copenhagen, Denmark (Presbyterian); Harold A. Demaree, Brooksbury, Indiana (Baptist); Charles Braun, Marysville, Indiana (Methodist); Earl Pommerehn, Caledonia, Indiana (United Presbyterian); Adolph White, Mexico City, Mexico (Presbyterian); Lawrence Evans, Columbus, Indiana (Baptist); Herbert Willenberg, Cincinnati, Ohio (Presbyterian); Howard Lee, Monon, Indiana (Presbyterian); and William Faulds, Cincinnati, Ohio (Presbyterian).

Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A., enjoying the presidency of Robert T. Kelsey and the sponsorship of Professor Leo V. Barker, has just concluded one of its most successful years.

For the first time in several years the Y. M. C. A. group used current topics as the subjects for the different series of discussions.

One meeting each month was devoted to social affairs. The first social meeting was primarily to interest the freshmen in the Y. M. C. A. As a result of the meeting about thirty freshmen were added to the organization.

"Unemployment" and "Disarmament" were the topics used in the series of discussions.

In the discussion on "Unemployment", Mr. Clarence Dryden, a local road contractor, presented the laborer's view-point on the problem and Professor Mark L. Entorf discussed the problem from the sociologist's point of view.

The Y. M. C. A. was instrumental in making the program on "Disarmament" campus wide. With the co-operation of the Y. W. C. A. the Social Science Club, and the Education Club, this program was brought to a climax in the form of a student forum. Dr. Charles J. Turek, President of Centre College was the speaker for the occasion.

This organization was represented at the Indiana Student Officer's Spring Training Conference held at Indiana University. Representatives were also sent to the National College Y. M. C. A. Conference held at Lake Geneva, Wisconsin.

The local group was visited twice during the year by B. A. Schnell, State Student Secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

Dean Thomas Graham of Oberlin College, a nationally known Y. M. C. A. speaker, visited Hanover February 15 and discussed the outstanding problems facing the organization today.

The success of the Y. M. C. A. during the past year has been due to the efficient co-operation of the cabinet, students, and faculty.

The Y. M. C. A. cabinet for 1931-1932 was as follows: Robert Kelsey, President; Loren H. Martin, Vice-President; Maurice Graston, Treasurer; Woodrow Fleming, Secretary; Dan Lewis, Former President; Chairmen of the Respective Committees: William Faulds, Program Chairman; Ray Stewart, Publicity Chairman; Eller Lutes, Devotion Chairman; William Smythe, Mission Chairman; Charles Butler, Music Chairman; Professor Leo V. Barker, Faculty Advisor.

Y. W. C. A.

In 1848 a society called the Society of Religious Inquiry was organized at Hanover College. This society was converted into the Y. M. C. A. In 1883 the Y. M. C. A. building of Hanover College, which is the oldest college "Y" building in the world was erected. In 1885, soon after the college became a co-educational institution, a Y. W. C. A. was organized which adopted the national purpose of the Young Women's Christian Association of the United States of America. This purpose is:

"We the members of the Young Women's Christian Association of Hanover College unite in the desire to realize a full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God.

"We determine to have a part in making this life possible for all people.

"In this task we seek to understand Jesus and follow Him."

In order that this purpose may be realized both religious and social meetings are held.

This organization is a source of inspiration to the girls of Hanover College and much enjoyment is derived from it.

Meetings with the Y. M. C. A. are held frequently. These two organizations have united in bringing several noted speakers to Hanover College.

The annual May Day celebration is sponsored by the "Y" cabinets.

This year the regular meetings of the Y. W. C. A. have been held around the fire place in the "Y" building every Sunday morning. Social meetings were planned monthly.

In the fall a recognition service was held for those girls who desired to become members.

This year has been an unusually successful one due to the capable supervision of Mrs. Barker and the enthusiastic leadership of the members of the cabinet.

Science Club

The Science Club of Hanover College is one of the most active and progressive clubs upon the college campus. The club was founded in 1929. At that time the students interested in the physical sciences, feeling the need for such an organization, banded themselves together and with the help of the science professors organized this very successful club.

The purpose of the club is to foster and to promote student interest in the physical sciences. Realizing that the student can receive academic instruction in only two fields of scientific thought, this club offers the advantage of learning something about the other fields of science. For instance, a student majoring in chemistry and minoring in biology receives his knowledge of present day scientific advances in the other scientific fields, such as mathematics, physics, and geology, through the interesting programs of the club. This is a decided advantage to all those who are training themselves for teachers and it is highly educational for those who will enter the other fields of endeavor. It is the satisfying of this need that makes the interest in the club an important factor in the development of a student. Without question, the programs produced by the Science Club are some of the most adequate and acceptable in all the fields of intellectual progress.

At present the club holds its meetings on the second and fourth Wednesday evenings of each month. Each of the science departments takes its turn in presenting its field before the assembled students.

Some of the outstanding programs for the year were given by the geology department. A paper was presented by Charles Browne on "Wegener's Theory of Continental Drift." The biology and chemistry departments sponsored two interesting lectures on the anatomy and chemistry of the excretory organs. Last but not least, Dr. Martin of the physics department gave a demonstration of liquid air.

The officers for the present year are: President, Lewis Willis; Vice-President, Ray Stewart; Secretary-Treasurer, Irma Dean; Reporter, Lawrence Evans.

Social Science Club

The Social Science Club was founded on the Hanover Campus in 1929 by Professors A. W. Woodworth and Russell Fitzgibbon.

The primary purpose of this organization is to discuss the great economic and political problems of current interest. This year the club decided to discuss two specific problems of major importance at the present time, the oncoming political campaign and the unemployment situation. Professor Entorf, head of the department of Social Science, has had previous experience along this line and has given the organization some valuable suggestions on how to conduct its meetings.

Membership in the club is open to those students who are majoring in History or Social Science and also to those interested in problems of the day.

On the regular meeting night, the second Tuesday of each month, the conduct of the meeting is entirely in student hands. Two members give reports on the various phases of the subject which is then discussed by the entire group. One of the best programs of the year was an address by Dr. Turck, President of Centre College. His subject was Disarmament.

During the first semester unusual interest was shown in this type of program and it is hoped that in the future the work will be carried on with still greater success. The Social Science Club can be made one of the most worthwhile and interesting extra-curricular organizations on the campus because it deals with problems of paramount importance. A late start gave the students, ordinarily interested in the Social Science Club, an opportunity to affiliate themselves with other groups. Next year we wish to start on time and thus have a full enrollment.

The officers for the year are: President, Stella Firth; Secretary-Treasurer, Donald Cameron; Chairman of Program Committee, Lewis Jacob.

Die Deutsche Gesellschaft

One of the campus organizations which has come to the notice of the student body more this year than ever before is Die Deutsche Gesellschaft. A large part of this is due to the able leadership of Fraulein Marie Garten, the faculty sponsor. By her hard and earnest work the German Club has gained the name of being one of the leading organizations on the campus. Although the organization has always been very active, it has been more in evidence this year than ever before.

The officers of the organization are: Herr William Faulds, President; Herr William Ulbrich, Vice-President and Fraulein Sarah Henning, Secretary-Treasurer. To these officers much credit is due for the success of the organization.

There is only one requirement for membership in the club. That is a "B" in German for the first semester. The club is open only to students taking German. The club was organized by Fraulein Garten several years ago. Meetings are held the first Thursday of each month, with the meeting in charge of a different member each time. The usual business meeting is held first and then various educational talks are given. In this way many interesting things about Germany and some of her great men have been learned this year.

In the opinion of the student body, the best chapel program of the year was that presented by the German Club. It has been the custom for several years for the German Club to present a Christmas play. The play which was given this year was "Der Stern von Bethlehem" or, in English, "The Star of Bethlehem." A short prologue to the play was given by Herr Faulds, telling of the setting of the play. The dialogue was all in German, of course, and the parts were portrayed with ease and dramatic ability. The characters of Mary and Joseph were played by Fraulein Thelma Miller and Herr William Smythe. All members of the club participated in the play.

La Sociedad Española

La Sociedad Española is an organization founded at Hanover for the purpose of furthering interest and knowledge in the Spanish language and to furnish some correlative, extra-curricular work for the students of that subject.

The club had its beginning in 1929. A Christmas entertainment was given which proved so successful that the group decided to organize. A meeting was called and under the leadership of Miss Garten the constitution was written and the name selected. The purpose is to present Spanish programs and to do research work in the literature of the language.

Near the close of the first year an original play, written by Senor Shelby and Senor Miller was presented. The production was entitled "El Heroe Colegio". The play centered around intercollegiate athletics in the Spanish speaking countries, and the climax was an extremely spectacular bullfight between the University of the City of Mexico and the University of Madrid. The play was a farce from beginning to end and was hilariously funny.

During the second year of the club's existence the new initiates, taken in after the end of the first semester, presented a play entitled "Mi Novio Espanol". The production was open to the public. The leading characters were Senorita Henderson and Senor Colker. The plot of the play was very interesting and easily understood by those who had never studied the language.

The society now holds regular meetings once each month and discusses topics of current interest among the Spanish speaking nations. The first part of this year Senor Alfonso Blanco y Martinez of Mexico City, who is studying in Hanover this year, gave an illustrated lecture on modern Mexico. Early in the spring the club presented its major performance of the year. This year the production took the form of the Spanish "zarzuel" or musical comedy and was written by members of the organization.

Le Cercle Francais

The French Club, called "Le Cercle Francais," was founded on the Hanover campus two years ago by a small group of students in the advanced French classes.

The purpose of the organization is to give those students who are especially interested in the French language and French culture an opportunity to increase their conversational facility and to become more intimately acquainted with French manners and customs.

The membership of the club is limited, by the constitution, to thirty and is open only to those students who show an interest in the study of French. First year students are not admitted until they have successfully completed one semester of French. All members must be recommended by the instructor and must receive the majority vote of the club. At the recommendation of the instructor and the executive committee any member may be dropped from the club by a two-thirds vote for failure to display sufficient interest or for lack of attendance.

The meetings are held on the second and fourth Thursdays of the month, from seven-thirty to eight-thirty in the evening. The regular place of the meetings is in the music room in Classic Hall, but that varies according to the program. Each spring and fall there is a moonlight picnic at the river which draws full and enthusiastic attendance.

At the beginning of each meeting there is the usual business session, followed by a short program—sometimes a play or an illustrated lecture and always singing. The recreational part of the evening is devoted to games of all sorts, charades, guessing contests and conversational games. It is an unwritten rule of the club that French shall be the language of the club collectively and individually throughout the session. For the most part the members observe this regulation and so there has never been an occasion to inflict a penalty for its violation.

The officers for the current year are: Grace Nixon, President; Maxine Lane, Vice-President; Lorraine Kee, Secretary and Forrest Couch, Treasurer.

The Go-Getters' Club

The purpose of this club is to inform prospective students about the advantages of studying at Hanover. One of the most effective means of enrolling new students is by the enthusiasm of old students. In the last few years this influence has gone out into farther places so that the students of Hanover are coming from a wider territory than ever before.

This club was organized at the suggestion of Coach Money and its first year has been very successful. Each old student who is influential in bringing a new student becomes a member and the students with the best records become the officers. There is a banquet each year as a recognition of the service given by the members.

Alma Mater

There's a grand old College nestling
On the Indiana shore,
 'Neath the hilltops, far above the rolling stream,
Where onward to the ocean
Broad Ohio's waters roll;
 'Tis dear Hanover, lovely as a dream.

CHORUS

Then, dear Hanover, to thee
We will true and faithful be.
 And thy name shall live in deed as well as song.
We will cherish and protect thee,
And proclaim thee far and wide,
 For our hearts all to Hanover belong.

Heaven bless thee, dear old College,
In the future as the past.
 May thy banner o'er thee proudly be unfurled.
And our dear old Alma Mater
Be as long as time shall last
 Ever more life and blessing to the world.

ATHLETICS
BOOK V

CLAUDE V. MONEY has successfully completed five years of service as Athletic Director of Hanover College. During these years he has done much to further the student interest not only in intercollegiate contests but also in intramural activities. Under his direction Hanover was the first college in the state to install floodlights on the football field. Coach Money, in his desire to produce a winning team, has never forgotten the most important element of character building.

The Varsity "H" Club

The Varsity "H" Club was introduced on the Hanover campus in 1927 mainly through the effort of Coach Money. It is an organization inaugurated and dedicated to foster a better spirit among the lettermen of Hanover College and to bring them together in a mutual understanding and respect for the ethics of the true athlete.

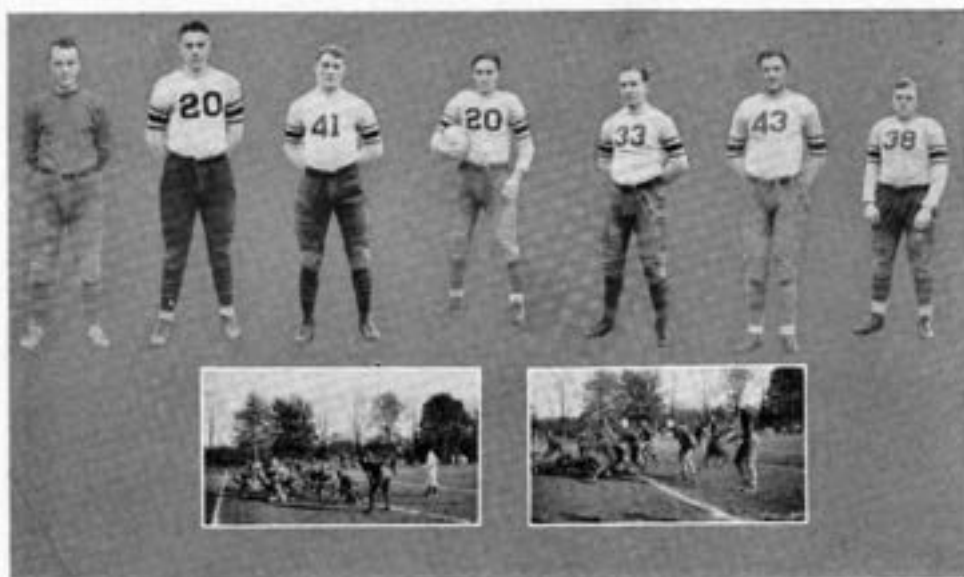

The Club is composed of men who have earned the Varsity "H". Membership is open to any man who earns a major letter in any of the major varsity sports subject to the approval of the members of the association. The purpose of the club is to maintain high athletic standards; to keep the athletic standard of Hanover College on a par with standards existing in schools of a like rank; and to back any progressive project of the student body. It is an organization fostering true sportsmanship and is proud that it possesses the coveted athletic insignia of its college. As such it is resolved to keep the Varsity "H" a distinction of honor.

When Coach Money issued the call for football players, a record number of men turned out. Many of these had had some previous experience in the game, while many had never played football before. C. V. worked hard to round out the best players but something always happened just at the wrong time. The game with Louisville was the first football game to be won away from home in five years. Although the Panthers had a bad season last year, we are confidently looking forward to a more successful one offered by the new schedule.

BASKETBALL

Basketball

Hanover started a successful basketball season by trimming N. A. G. U. by a score of 33 to 20. John Gwin began the scoring by dropping a long field goal from near the center of the floor. McNulty led the scoring with his accurate shooting.

The next game of the season was played at the Fieldhouse with Indiana Law School. Again McNulty led the scoring, making five field goals. Guernsey, a freshman, came into the game and made two goals. Gwin played an excellent game at guard and made one goal in two attempts. The final score was 34-24.

Joliet College was another victim for Hanover's fast quintet. Spann, lanky center, led the scoring, having made five field goals and one free throw. The game was very close until the last few moments, and the game ended 30 to 22.

The first game away from home was also our first defeat. Central Normal won by a score of 14 to 30. McNulty was again hot, making 8 of Hanover's 14 points. This defeat was not so discreditable however, because Central Normal had a record of twenty-five straight victories. Schultz, their center and high point man, made four field goals and two free throws.

Again Hanover played away from home, this time playing Butler in the large Fieldhouse. McNulty said the hoop "looked like it was suspended from the sky," and the boys' shooting testified to the truth of this statement. Butler, with their cutoff plays and large floor walloped the Panthers 11 to 38. Gwin played a good game at guard but was forced to leave the fray because of fouls. This accounts partially for the great difference in score.

Hanover again started its winning streak by defeating Anderson College 39 to 9. The game was one-sided throughout. The Panthers had possession of the ball most of the time. Menozi led the scoring and Nilsch did excellent work at the pivot position.

The Panthers added another scalp to their list by defeating Oakland City 33 to 15. Raney, Hanover's diminutive forward, came to the front by making five field goals. McNulty and Menozi were also outstanding players.

Basketball

One of the best games of the season was played at the Gym with Wilmington. Raney and Nisch were high scorers, making 8 and 9 points respectively. Wilmington had a fast and tall group of passers causing the Panthers plenty of worry. The score ended 26 to 23.

The Panthers traveled to Indiana Central who proved to be their nemesis. The game was a very thrilling one with several ties. It was only after the removal of Gwin and McNulty on fouls that the Central team gained its lead. The final score was 15 to 26.

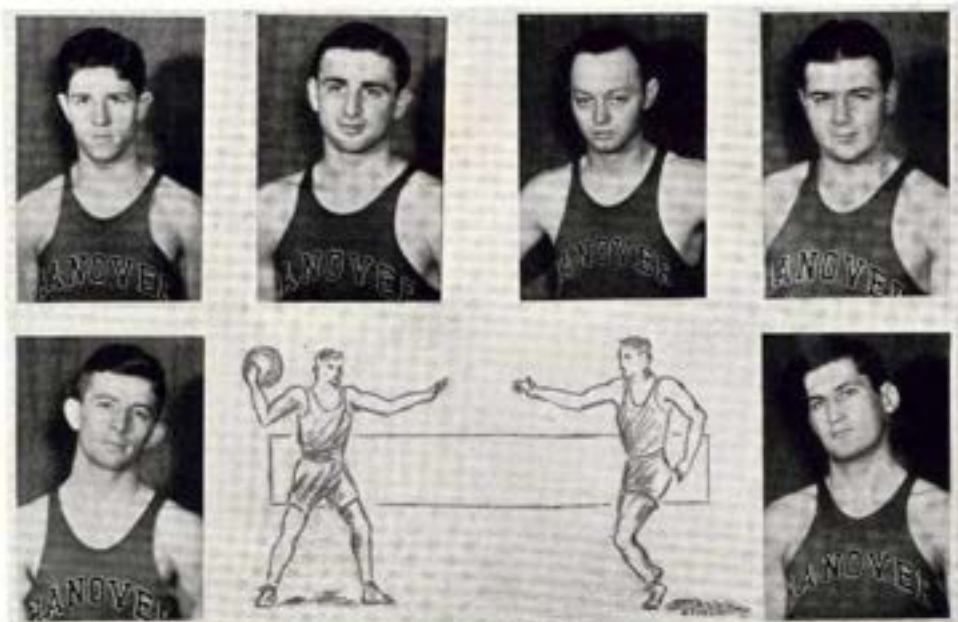

The losing streak was again lengthened when the Evansville College Purples downed the Panthers 20 to 30. Evansville took an early lead which they held the entire game. Nisch was the outstanding player for Hanover, making eight points.

The next night the Panthers overcame the fast Oakland City quintette by a score of 31 to 23. The game was certainly a fast one. At the half the score was tied. Nisch, with 12 points to his credit, and Raney with 8, were too hot for the Oakland City guards.

The Panthers, back again in their lair, were outclassed by the fast Central Normal team. Schultz broke through Hanover's defense for a total of 17 points. Raney led the scoring for Hanover, making a total of 9 points. As this game shows, Hanover missed the playing of Nisch, who quit school at the end of the semester.

The game with Indiana Central resulted in a victory for the Panthers, 26 to 21. This was the first time in the history of the school that the Panthers succeeded in defeating this rival. Razavich and Raney starred for Hanover, making 9 and 7 points respectively. At the half the game stood 15 to 14 in favor of Indiana Central, but when the pistol announced the end of the game they held the little end of the score.

The Panthers won another victory away from home by defeating Rose Poly 31 to 14. Although the disparity in score might indicate a slow game, yet it was hard fought by the Engineers. Raney made nine throws out of twelve attempts. Spann made four field goals and Gwin was again playing a steady game at guard.

Basketball

The team was taken to town by the fast Earlham netmen. Although the score was tied several times during the game, Hanover lost by a score of 34 to 27. Raney led the scoring by making 9 points. Menozi, entering the game with only a few minutes left to play, made 5 points.

The Hanover netmen journeyed to Anderson and defeated them 50 to 19. All the men were given a chance in this game and Lemen, Lutchka and Spann showed up well. With this sweeping victory Hanover ended one of its most successful basketball seasons in recent years.

WOMEN'S ATHLETICS

Coach Mitchell

Five year ago Miss Viola Mitchell came to Hanover College as "Director of Physical Education for Women." Just how efficiently she has fulfilled the functions of that office few appreciate because they do not know the deplorable condition of physical education for women here at that time. It is sufficient to say that through the sacrifice of much time and labor Miss Mitchell has gradually built up a splendid curriculum of women's sport which colleges larger than Hanover might envy.

Besides teaching her regular gym classes Miss Mitchell sponsors the W. A. A. of Hanover and its functions, such as picnics, banquets, and chapel programs.

Women's Athletic Association

Fellows, you need not pity the girls because they don't have football, for they do have soccer and it is a plenty good game. It takes hefty kicks, a quick eye, and fast yet accurate footwork to fulfill the requisites of a good soccer player. If you believe this is a sissy game ask anyone from this varsity squad of the past fall sport season.

Volley ball is another favorite fall sport among Hanover College co-eds. Intramural competition planned by Miss Mitchell, the instructor, adds to the enthusiasm over the game. Here is the varsity team; and though some are short, some tall, and some inter-middlin', everyone of them knows how to keep "that ball" on the other side of the net.

This is the picture of the veterans from last spring's varsity baseball team. Several of the girls graduated last year, leaving room for Freshmen to take their places on this year's squad. Girls enjoy this sport as much as boys do, but they aren't quite a match for the faculty men.

Thirteen physical education majors but they consider themselves lucky at that. Only recently has Hanover offered a B. S. degree for physical education majors, but Hanover girls are becoming more and more interested in this line of work. It is not a snap course, as some judge, but it is a very interesting one, made so largely through Miss Mitchell's efforts.

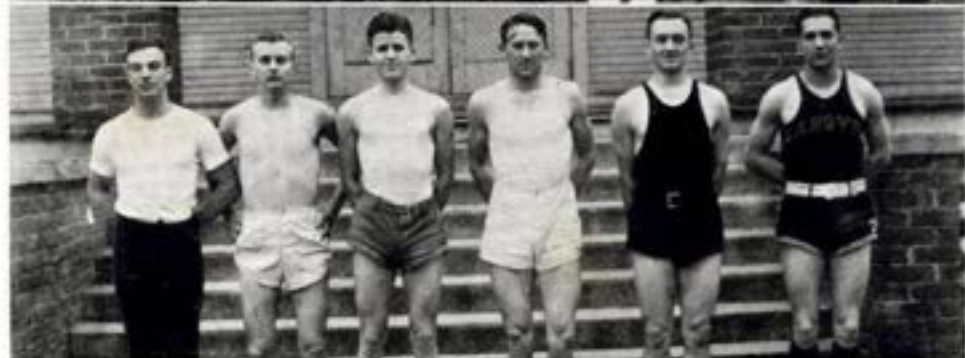

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

MINOR SPORTS

The Theta Kappa Nu recreational ball team annexed the intramural trophy by winning a majority of the games played. This tournament is conducted so that each team meets all the other teams. Thus to win this victory the Theta Nus won nine of the eleven games that appeared on their schedule. They defeated the Betas, the Phi Gams, the Phi Delts, the Alpha Delts, and the Independent Men in the first round, but were beaten by the Phi Delts and Independent Men in the second round. Several of these games were very exciting; the winning team showed remarkable ability in meeting emergencies. Their terrific slugging and their excellent field generalship were too much for the other teams.

The Theta Kappa Nu volley ball team won the intramural trophy by defeating all their opponents. This tournament is managed so that each team meets all the other teams. To win this victory the Theta Nus vanquished each of the teams as they appeared on their schedule. They defeated the Betas, the Phi Gams, the Phi Delts, and the Independent Men. Several games were very close, but by their accurate serving and sure returns, the winners put their opponents to rout.

The Theta Kappa Nu basketball team won the intramural trophy. The fast passing five of the Theta Nus was too hot for the opposing teams. Each team in succession fell before the onslaughts of the fast ΘKN team. Again they defeated the Betas, the Phi Gams, the Phi Delts, and the Independent Men. Their accurate shooting, together with their quick floor work, was too much for the other teams. Several of the games were close, but when the gun announced the end of the game, the Theta Nus were always ahead.

The Phi Delta Thetas won the interfraternity basketball trophy. This trophy was given by Mr. Russell Fitzgibbon and is the permanent possession of any organization that can produce a winning team three times in succession. This tournament was an elimination one, making it necessary for the Phi Delts to defeat the Phi Gams and the Betas.

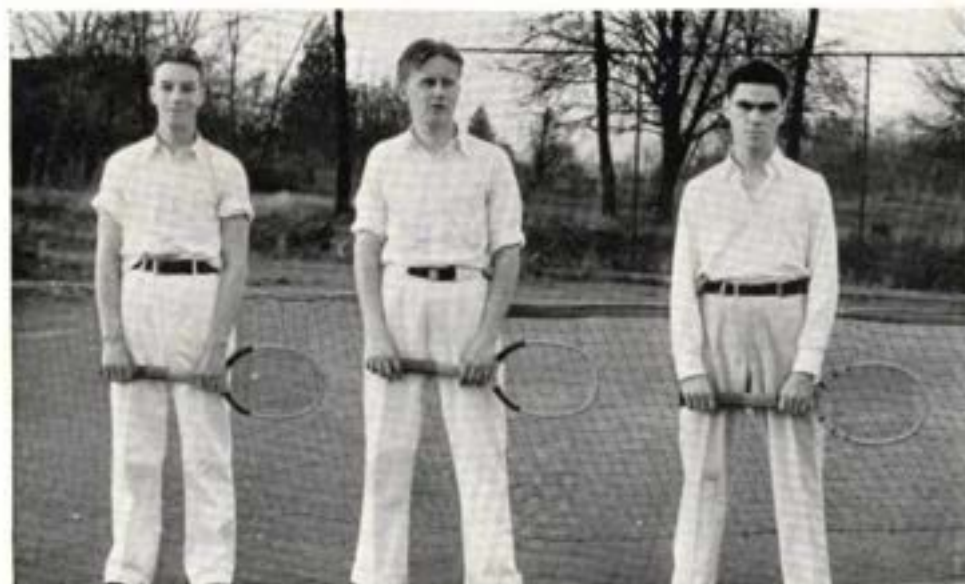

Tennis

By their skill, energy, and perseverance our well qualified tennis team is bringing back into existence a one-time glory of Hanover College. Last year's team, captained by Walt Reed, ended the season with a record decidedly above par. One can not claim that our opponents were of mediocre class for among them we numbered Danville, Franklin, Depauw, University of Kentucky, Kentucky Military Institute, and others. A part of our present policy is to book two matches with each college; one to be played there and the other at home.

During these various games we are able to observe and compare the technique of our own players with that of the opposing teams. We can proudly claim that the ability of our boys ranks among the very best. If you have ever attended any of the contests you probably have noted the terrific, chip strokes of Malsbary, the furious serving of Smyth, the consistency of Shelby, and the all around good work of Karnell. Our tennis team has indeed shown admirable play and pluck.

When we consider that this year we have six well prepared courts on which our boys have shown a type of play even far beyond our expectations, we must admit that our prospects are really good. By a stroke of good luck the team now has Professor Barker as an individual coach. We are all looking for "big things," Professor, so give us what we want, and even a bit more if possible.

A good schedule for this year includes some of the best teams in Southern Indiana. We are certain of matches with Oakland City, Indiana State, Kentucky Military Institute, and there will undoubtedly be a good many more. The tennis team as a whole wishes to express its appreciation for the support and cooperation of the student body.

HANOVER stands among the best;
She meets with valor every test.
Her soul is loyal, brave, and true;
HANOVER—All are proud of you.

Her name is known far and wide,
By valiant virtue all abide.
Our men rank high on battle field,
A mighty hand they always wield.

For all the battles lost or won,
We honor every noble son.
They did their best, that's all we ask;
They could perform no finer task.

The zeal for knowledge here abides
The dregs of sloth each one elides.
Our flag is bold against the blue,
HANOVER—All are proud of you.

PARDY'S RESTAURANT

On January 1, 1906, Pardy's Restaurant was opened to the public and to the present time has continued its policy of good foods.

Dinners or night lunches are served at reasonable prices. Their slogan, is true of the students of Hanover or in Madison.

"Pardy's, where Friends Meet,"

~["Meet You at Pardy's"]~

"Mary has a wonderful husband."

"Yes? Howzat?"

"Why, he helps her do all the work. Monday he washed the dishes with her. Tuesday he dusted with her. And tomorrow he is going to mop the floor with her."

“College Life”

in its traditional American meaning is found only in the smaller private colleges like Hanover. All the rich meaning of “College Days” is to be found in attending Hanover with its venerable traditions, its high educational standards, its student organizations and activities, its majestic natural location overlooking the Ohio. These will be the happiest days of your life.

SCHOLARSHIPS are available to students who make superior grades. The opportunity of working for a part of one's expense is available to those who apply earliest.

In September we expect to enroll all the students who can be accommodated. There is a regular form of application for admission. Write at once for an application blank and for a catalog giving full information about the college.
