Dedication

For the cause of liberty many of our own classmates, as well as our friends from among former graduates, are even now in the various branches of the armed services. We are confronted with the big problem of doing our part to restore world peace.

Our task was half done when hostilities ceased in Europe, but the war in the Pacific still is taking its toll of life and money. No task is well done when it is only half done, hence we must continue to give of our best to bring about the peace for which we all earnestly hope.

To all members of the armed forces striving to end this world conflict, we sincerely dedicate this Mahisco.

For the past twenty-five years there has been at the head of the Madison public schools a man of unusual ability—Superintendent E. O. Muncie.

His keen interest in the welfare of the individual pupils comprising the schools is recognized by all. He has implicit belief in the young people. It is his constant aim to provide every available opportunity for them in order that they may develop into citizens of the highest type.

The community appreciates the untiring efforts of Superintendent Muncie, and the pupils regard him as "a friend indeed."

The Senior Class of '45 wishes to pay tribute to a real school-man, and to a loyal friend—Emery O. Muncie.

Madison High School has been most fortunate to have had as principal for the past nineteen years, Mr. Connor K. Salm.

His broad interests along educational lines has won recognition in the state. His policy of "fairness to all" is recognized by his associates and his pupils. His ready wit is admired by all. His willingness to counsel with anyone at any time has endeared him to all who know him.

The Senior Class of '45 is most grateful to have had, during our entire high school career, the privilege of working with Mr. Connor K. Salm, our principal, teacher, and friend.

ANNA MAY PHAGAN—"A woman convinced against her will; is of the same opinion still."

MARY EVELYN WAAS—"The sum of earthly bliss."

Class History

AS FRESHMEN:

We began our outstanding career as freshies in this institution of higher learning in the years '41-'42. Proving that we were not too green, we wisely elected the following officers to guide us through our first year.

President	Mary Margaret Mills
Vice President	Corinne Lyon
Secretary	Annabelle Manaugh

To represent us on the Student Council we chose Ella J. Evans and Kenneth Guthrie.

Corinne Lyon and Clem Hoffman flew our colors as queen and king; and to further prove we weren't just an ordinary class, Corinne Lyon came through to be the first freshman queen of M. H. S. for many a year.

We were also dramatically talented having from our class Corinne Lyon, Jimmy Hall, and Mary Margaret Mills in the School Play.

AS SOPHOMORES:

Having acquired an unusual amount of polish, we left our frivolous, green years and entered into our Sophomore year, '42-'43. We began by electing as officers:

President	Ronald Potter
Vice President	Mary M. Scott

Expressing our opinions on the Student Council were Kingsley Greiner, Annabelle Manaugh, Corinne Lyon, and Clem Hoffman.

The more athletic of us, displayed this feat as members of the football team and second team in basketball.

We were well represented in such outstanding groups as the band, Choral Club, Hi-Y, Sunshine Society, and other organizations. The School Play cast included one of us, Mary Margaret Mills.

Keen competition was provided for king and queen, of the Football Kick by Richard Irwin and Lucy Cain.

Toward the end of the year, we sponsored one of the most successful dances of the year, the Sweater Hop.

AS JUNIORS:

One of the busiest years of our high school life was our Junior year. The very capable officers were:

President	Katherine Hughes
Vice President	William Butler
Secretary	Helen F. Ricketts
Treasurer	Dorothy Born

Corinne Lyon was honored by being elected to preside over the Student Council, with Mary Margaret Mills and William Pfister, representing us.

The School Play cast included Katherine Hughes, Kenneth Guthrie, Corinne Lyon, and Mary Margaret Mills. As close runners for the king and queen of M. H. S. were Richard Irwin and Mary Margaret Mills.

We were well represented in sports, having several outstanding track men, and the first team in basketball were, George Powell Alexander, Arthur Cain, Richard Klein, and Morris Lockridge.

Realizing that our reputation must be maintained, we raised more money than any previous class for our Prom. This was done by a magazine drive, pencil sale, dance, and candy sales. Our Prom, one of the most successful ever given, had a Hawaiian theme. Music was provided by the Vevay Vagabonds and during intermission a very original program was presented.

With the remainder of our money, we purchased a fifty dollar war bond, and presented the school library with many new books.

AS SENIORS:

At last attaining the high honor of dignified Seniors, '44-'45, we chose to guide us:

President	William Pfister
Vice President	Kingsley Greiner
Secretary	Eleanor Evans
Treasurer	Richard Irwin

Student Council members were, Catherine Hill, Katherine Hughes, Mary Margaret Mills, Clem Hoffman, and Ronald Potter. William Butler officiated as president.

Many of us were chosen as officers in the Sunshine Society, G. A. A., Hi-Y, Madisonian Staff, and yell leader. We had members on the track team, and Richard Klein, Morris Lockridge, George Alexander, William Butler, and Arthur Cain helped carry the Cubs to many victories.

The School Play was ably enacted by some of us, Annabelle Manaugh, Helen Gans, Dorothy Born, and Richard Irwin.

We busied ourselves by choosing caps and gowns, editing the Mahisco, presenting the Senior Play, "There Goes the Bride," and Custer Contest, and engaging in other activities in preparation for graduation.

With this the scholastic history of the Class of '45 comes to a close. Many of us will go into the Service of our country, either as fighters or workers. But wherever we are, memories of the happy days in M. H. S. will be with us.

Looking to the future we say, "May God speed our victory and bring to us an everlasting peace."

Class Prophecy

Crash! Bang! In the autumn of '55, determined to check up on all of our old classmates, we, two members of the Senior Class of '45, journeyed through thunder, wind and rain to the home of that great mystic, Martini IV, the only person who could help us.

As we approached the door of a huge, vine covered, stone castle, a beam of pale silvery moonlight shone upon the great oak door. We stood before the door, but it was a few minutes before it began to open slowly on its rusty hinges. Lifting our faces we found ourselves eye to eye with that mighty "man of muscles," Dale Murphy. He had taken the position as Martini's right hand man because he loved the peace and quiet of it all.

"Muscles" led us to the study where Martini IV, sat shrouded in eerie, blue light. When we gave him our request for a quick means of transportation which would require no gas stamps, he rose and from the corner of the room brought us a magic broom. Said he, "This broom will fly and land at your command." Martini told us that he would also give us a list of places where we could find our former classmates and a navigator to guide us. The navigator turned out to be "Wabbit" Bellamy, who took his place on the broom and motioned for us to seat ourselves on the handle. Then he fastened his knapsack of carrots securely on the tail light.

We sped out through the darkness, heading for our first stop on the list, New York City. We dropped in at the Stork Club where we found Paul Pedde playing a magnificent solo on the triangle. Paul was a member of Harry James' Orchestra, but it was rumored that he was soon to be discharged as he stole the show from Harry.

We noticed Catherine Hill, the gay divorcee, and her ninth husband, Toogie Klein, doing the Rhumba in the center of the dance floor. Toogie was basketball coach at Madison until his marriage to the wealthy Miss Hill.

As we were preparing to leave, the hat check girl, Freda Parker, tipped us off that William (the greatest since Sinatra) Phister would make an appearance later in the evening. Now we knew why those stretchers were all lined up against the walls.

Seeing the Great White Way for the first time was quite a thrill to us.

Amid the flashing neon lights was the name of the great Shakespearean actress, Katherine Hughes, who was appearing in a play by the very famous playwright, Norma Sieberman. The name of the play was "Let Me Go dash In Tears sob To My Grave bang!" Following her fine performance, we went backstage to see Miss Hughes, but her press agent, Sondley Littrell told us that Miss Hughes would be unable to see us as she was so moved by her own performances that she broke down between acts.

While our broom circled above the Empire State Building, we spotted Corinne Lyon broadcasting a heart-rending campaign speech from the roof. It seemed that "Corney" was running for president of the United States and was doing very good job of convincing the crowds that a female president was what they needed.

Our broom gave a jerk and a turn of its motor and we knew that we were off again to some unknown destination. We zoomed through the city limits of Chicago and pulled to a stop in front of Chicago's largest and finest hospital. News boys were selling extras like hot cakes, on the corner. We threw a horrified glance across the headlines. The mayor of Chicago, it seemed, had had a sudden attack of appendicitis and was to be operated on by Doctor David Joseph Irwin, M. D., M. D. S., and N. U. T. S. The mayor was none other than George Albert Jones. But poor George. Doctor Irwin had lost more cases than any other doctor in history. This was tragic!

Tom Cain, the undertaker who shocked the world by sending his funeral rates to all of Doctor Irwin's patients, was attired in a hospital gown and mask, rubbing his hands and smacking his lips as he watched the operation.

According to our navigator, we had quite a few stops to make in Hollywood so we soared westward. It was a long trip so "Wabbit" passed around carrots for us to munch and turned on our portable radio. At the time the Hit Parade was on the air and the first thing we heard was an extra by Helen Gans, the famous organist.

As the program changed, there seemed to be quite a bit of static. However, the announcer explained it was only Ida Mae Niesse, Anna Mae Phagan, Elizabeth Potter, and Phyllis Harlow, contestants on Major Bowes Amateur Hour, typing in rhythm to a famous tune taught them in Miss Ernst's typing class.

Because our little vehicle was in need of repairs we landed and strolled around a bit. There was a huge billboard directly in front of us which pictured Cupid, whom we recognized as Bill Sauley. He had become the model most in demand for cupid ads all over the country. On the other side of the billboard the lovely face of Faye Winn peared down upon us. In her hand she held a tube of Pepsodent Tooth Paste.

As the last repairs were made, we hopped aboard and were on our way. Looking to the earth below us, we recognized the lone prairie. We noticed also a lone cowboy astride a horse—or was it a horse? Oh Yes! He was just riding it backwards. According to our list this cowboy was Charles Giltner.

Passing over the next ranch, which we noticed was owned by William Guthrie, we heard the melodious voice of Mabel (Goins) Guthrie, singing the refrain of "I'm an Old Cow Hand." Her best helper, Virginia Helton, joined in on the second chorus.

Before we knew it we landed at Mary Ellen Bailey's famous Chinese Restaurant in Hollywood. Right next door, stood California's leading Barber Shop. Now wasn't that strange?? Suddenly we noticed and recognized the famous hoofer of Screenland, Gvossy Annabelle Lee, alias Manaugh. Miss Lee greeted us warmly, including our navigator, whose offer of a carrot she refused.

Having obtained a pass, we proceeded to investigate the interior of a movie set. Mary Margaret Scott and Jessie Seigel were making their fourth movie for the National Barn Dance program. They were recommended for the above mentioned program by that ace-of-radio, Jack Burkhardt. He knows all, sees all, and tells everything. By the way, to the radio audience, he's known as Walter Windshield.

We dined at the Mocambo with that super slueht, Janet Cofield. She executes her criminals first and then proves them guilty.

Eleanor Evans, Jose Iturbi's student, was the pianist with Loleta Mason's All Girl Orchestra. Loleta admitted not being able to read a note of music, but she really did things with a baton.

The chief cook at this famous restaurant, we discovered, was Merrill Stephanus.

Norma Faught was being helped off of a float after being crowned the 1935 Orange Queen, by that great lover of the screen, Tommy Copeage. We got involved with a revolving door so we couln't congratulate her.

Next stop, Hawaii! We were attracted to one small island village that looked more peaceful than the others. Under a coconut tree we found T. Harrell, sprawled out, sipping his favorite drink, Dr. Pepper. T. explained that he was a permanent guest of George Kalb, who owned the island. Before we could question him further, T. dropped into a peaceful snooze.

Retiring on the beach was Mary Evelyn Waas. My goodness! Could it be? Yes, she had let her hair grow to the astounding length of six feet and had put Gravel Gertie out of business. Poor Gravel Gert!

Hmmmm. The next p'ace looked familiar. Why it was home! and right below us was the little bungalow of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Moorhead. Upon inquiry of Gus, who was minding the kids, we found that the Mrs. (Mary M. Mills) had started a newspaper to rival the Courier. She always said she'd do it.

Anne Eaglin and Winnie Robinson waved to us from Inglis' delivery car. Now co-owners of the drug store, they made their own deliveries to assure satisfaction.

Headlines in the local paper stated that Teddy Wilkins, that greatest of great scientists, had discovered the eighteenth vitamin. His discovery was bound to revolutionize the world of science.

The Sports Page pictured Midge Lockridge as America's foremost professional basketball player. He is marveled at by all because of his stature and speediness.

The navigator cranked the straws of our broom and we were off again. This time we landed in front of a building only too full of memories for us. Good old Madison High School. Patricia Hill, who had taken Mrs. Reul's job when she quit to devote all her time to George Marvin, showed us to Mr. Salm's office. We were a bit surprised to find, instead of Mr. Salm, Clem Hoffman and Ronnie Potter in the office. They informed us that Mr. Salm had hired them as his assistants because of their broad outlook on every matter. They further informed us that Carl Schnebelt, now Superintendent of schools, couldn't make a move without consulting them.

While at the Skating Rink, watching Vera Mac Jones, the champion roller skater of the world, we heard the roar of an airplane motor. This of course was Kingsley Greiner, winner of the Transcontinental Air Race of 1935, in her plane. Her co-pilot was Glenford Horine, who had made history with his parachute maneuvers.

At the local air field we bumped into Bob Smith who owned a chain of grocery stores, talking to Charles Bennett, a very good mechanic.

We decided to take in a lecture at the court house, given by that famous woman doctor, Dorothy Born. On the way we noticed a large ad for Kreml Hair Tonic, which featured the likeness of Delbert Walters.

The Ohio theatre advertised for one week only a news reel of that famous Secretary of State, Bill Butler.

We tuned in station F. N. E. on our radio to the broadcast of Buster Powell's wrestling match. Buster, the defending champion, was favored to win. The voice of the radio announcer could be none other than that of Helen Frances Ricketts, broadcasting a blow by blow description of the match. The fans are cheering and above them all we hear the voice of Pansy McLaughlin. We'll bet his wife, Mertle (Shipley) is with him. Our broom gets us to Madison Square Garden just in time to see Buster's petite trainer, Lucy Cain, climbing in the ring with a towel.

There are only two more names on our list now. Zona Kleopfer and Norma Hassfurder. They reside permanently at a large private home about one half mile from North Madison. We believe the name is Cragmont.

As our broom took us homeward we could not help but think how well our class had turned out. No matter what others may think, we'll always be proud of the Class of 1945 because we think we've got the stuff to carry on!

Class Will

We, the Senior Class of 1945 being of sound minds and bodies, and of generous nature, do hereby designate this as our last will and testament:

I, Kingsley Greiner, do will my ability as an artist to anyone who wants a lot of work next year!

I, Dale Murphy, will my title as the "Harry James of M. H. S." to Mary Louise Naill. Let's hear some jazz!

I, Vera Mae Jones, will my good nature to the typing classes. Now, laugh when you hit the wrong key!

I, Helen Frances Ricketts, will my knowledge of the Insurance business (Gautier's, of course) to Chucky. Remember, Chuck, I didn't say my job!

I, Faye Winn, leave my ability to keep 'em guessing to any gal whose life's an open book!!

I, Katherine Hughes, do will my Vevay boyfriends to next year's Junior girls—on one condition, that they leave a couple for me!!

I, William Ralph Phister, will my technique with the Freshman girls to Phil Cole. Why waste gas going to Hanover?

I, Clem Hoffman, leave my prominent place in the Hi-Y Club to John. The name "Hoffman" must be remembered in M. H. S.!

I, Morris (Midge) Lockridge do hereby leave my interest in the White Star Line to Norbert Maddox. That should solve the transportation problem to Shelbyville, Elwood, North Vernon, and other points, Norb.

I, Ronald Potter, leave my position at Harper's Drug Store to Emmett Kelley during my visit with Uncle Sam. After that, Emmett, you may be my assistant!

I, Everitt "T" Harrell, do hereby will my way with the Hanover (town, not college) women to Robert Houze. With Hanover added to your list, Bob, you'll have women all over the country!!

I, Bill Sauley, will my ability as a baseball player to Harold Muncie. I'll keep my experience with the Louisville Colonels. A guy's got to have something to talk about!

I, Carl Schnebelt, do hereby will my all-around popularity to those who find it difficult to make friends. You know, the best way to have a friend is to be one!

I, Annabelle Manaugh, do hereby leave my faithfulness to one boy to Ruth Irwin. Now you'll have to decide between Buddy and Scag, Ruth!

I, Tommy Coppage, do will all of my poker routes to Bob Cheatham and Bill Lohrig. Now you can really go into the business!

I, Richard Alexander Klein, do will one of my many identification bracelets to anyone who wants it. Now, Marv will have to purchase another!

We, Norma Hassfurder, Norma Sieberman, and Anna Mae Phagan leave our ability to get jobs in Washington to anyone who wishes to see the country!

I, Patricia Hill, do hereby will my job as Morris' candy girl to Rita Stolte. The secret of that job is to be able to keep thin. Let's see you do it, Rita!

I, Mary Margaret Scott, do leave my big brown eyes to Nancy McKay. Here's hoping they get you the results they've gotten me!

I, Paul Peddie, will part of my clothes to my sister Suzanne. Now, Susie, will you stop bothering me??

I, Elizabeth Potter, do leave my position in the front of the graduating class to next year's shortest senior!

I, Corinne Lyon, will my ability to get dates anytime I want them to you poor, forgotten females. This should sustain you until the war is over and all the men come back!

I, Mary Ellen Bailey, do hereby will Cassidy's Barber Shop to anyone who wants it. However, the barber doesn't go with this!

I, Charles Bennett, do will my ability to get "sweet" music from a sax to "Scag" Kahn. Watch 'em swoon, Scag!

I, Mabel Goins, bequeath my daily letters to anyone interested in good reading matter. What am I saying?

I, Dorothy Born, do hereby will my knowledge of science to next year's classes. Won't the new teacher be surprised?

I, Glenford Horine, do bequeath my photography hobby to the Senior class of '46. Maybe this will come in handy come annual time!!

I, Richard Irwin, leave my motorcycle to Frank Armstrong. This is a fast means of transportation to Indianapolis, Frolly!

I, Mary Margaret Mills, will my technique in removing the bashfulness from the boy to Janet Kestner. Perhaps this will help with Jimmy!

I, Catherine Hill, leave my constant and ever-changing crushes to Barbara Ketterman. Maybe you'd like a little variety, huh, Babs?

I, Edward Bellamy, will all the girls of M. H. S. to all the boys of M. H. S. All I want is a carrot!

I, Bobby Smith, will the Army to anyone who wants it! I prefer civilian life!

I, George Powell Alexander, do hereby will my Irish accent to John Richert. You can use it on the college gals next year, John. It'll slay them!

I, Arthur "Tom" Cain, do will some of my girl friends to my brother, Charlie. Not that he isn't doing all right himself!

I, Norma Faught, do hereby will my original hair-do's to anyone whose worn theirs the same way for months. Give the boys a break, gals!

I, Helen Marie Gans, do will my ready giggle to Beans Holsclaw. It's especially effective in the study hall, Beans!

I, George Jones, will my title of the "aspirin man" to anyone with frequent headaches. However, I'll keep the income for myself!

I, Mary Evelyn Waas, will my ability as a pianist, to Bill Moorhead. Now, maybe he can learn the rest of "Anchors Aweigh!"

I, Bill Butler, will my technique with the women to George Wesbecker. With his and mine put together, look out gals, there're broken hearts ahead!

I, Sondley Littrell, will my love of the weaker sex to Joe Hill. Come on, Joe, give the gals a break!

I, Jack Burkhardt, leave my thrifty habits to anyone who wants some extra money for a rainy day. By the way, the nickname Silas, goes with it!

I, Phyllis Harlow, will my smile to Charles Herman Vaughn. Those Kentucky gals will love you now!

I, Ted Wilkins, will my motor bike to Miss Sherman to be used for sound effects. Maybe you can make it work!

I, Ida Mae Niesse, do will my very quiet manner to next year's Seniors, to be used on Class Day!

I, Virginia Helton, leave all my M. H. S. interests to my sister. Take care of these, Etta Belle!

I, Zenz Kleopfer, will Charlie to the Post Office. As if he didn't live there already!

I, Anne Eaglin, will my long eyelashes and my useful wink to all M. H. S. wolfesses.

I, Charles Giltner, leave my car to anyone who can stand the noise.

I, Jeri Seigel, will my superior office girl technique to those having the job next year.

I, Janet Cofield, will my job at the Library to Tedo Winkle. With all those books you should feel right at home, Tedo!

I, Myrtle Shipley, will my technique in playing the drums to anyone interested in competing with Charles Warren!

I, Freda Parker, will my ability in obtaining money from M. H. S. students to next year's S. S. S. committee chairmen!

I, Lo'eta Mason, leave my many attractive and stylish clothes to anyone who can wear them. Don't shove, girls!

I, Merrill Stephanus, will my way of taking things as they come and remaining calm to next year's Mahisco staff. You're lucky to get this!

I, Winnie Robinson, will my pretty black hair to any blonde who'd rather be a brunette.

In Witness Whereof, we, the class of 1943, hereunto set our hand and seal this twenty-fourth day of May.

Custer Contest

The thirty-third Custer Oratorical Contest, an annual event, was again held this year. The participants were the five students in the Senior class with the highest scholastic standings during their four years at Madison High School.

This contest was originated by Mr. A. S. Custer in 1912. The winning contestant receives thirty dollars, second receives fifteen, and the remaining three receive equal prizes of five dollars.

The contestants and their selections this year were:

Corinne Lyon	"A Very Busy Woman"
Janet Cofield	"After the Air Raid"
Katherine Hughes	"White Cliffs of Dover"
Helen Gans	"The Show Must Go On"
Helen Ricketts	"The Love That Never Fails"

The Senior Play

"There Goes the Bride" proved to be one of the most entertaining Senior Plays to be presented at M. H. S.

The plot centered around the Curtis family, whose daughter had inherited money from her aunt on the condition that she marry before her twentieth birthday. Humor was provided by the teen age members of the Curtis household.

The play was directed by Miss Sherman. The business managers were Helen Gans, Mary Margaret Scott, and Dorothy Born. Stage Managers were Kingsley Greiner and Ronald Potter.

The cast included:

Beachy Curtis	Annabelle Manaugh	Officer O'Flynn	George Alexander
Billy Curtis	Clem Hoffman	Lewis Benton	William Pfister
Sally	Jessie Seigel	Tom Eldridge	Richard Irwin
Mrs. Curtis	Janet Cofield	Dinty	Morris Lockridge
Dr. Curtis	Glenford Horine	Phyllis Curtis	Corinne Lyon
Anastasia	Katherine Hughes	Natalie	Mary Margaret Mills

SEATED—Clem Hoffman Jessie Seigel Miss Sherman Annabelle Manaugh William Pfister Mary Margaret Mills Glenford Horine Janet Cofield.

STANDING—Katherine Hughes George Alexander Corinne Lyon Richard Irwin Morris Lockridge Kingsley Greiner Ronald Potter Helen Gans Mary Margaret Scott Dorothy Born.

Juniors

In 1941 a large group of timid and frightened Freshies made their initial appearance in the sacred halls of Madison High. Following a period of confusion, we finally adjusted ourselves to the school routine. For class officers we elected Elizabeth Curtis, Charles Vaughn, and Stanley Vawter. We were filled with pride when John Scott and Charles Grooms became members of the first team.

As sophisticated Sophomores, Kenneth Guthrie, now in the Army, Thomas McLaughlin, and Elizabeth Curtis served as class officers. Our Leap Year Dance was the highlight of this year. John Moore won first honors in an oratorical contest conducted by the Rotary Club. Both Kenneth Guthrie and Rebecca King had parts in the school play, Home Front.

This year, our Junior Year, has been an extremely busy one. Among our many activities in preparation for the Junior-Senior Prom, have been the sale of the magazines and pencils.

Again we were represented in the school play, Happy Landings, by Carolyn Cofield, John Moore, John Richert, Martha Lee, and Margaret Johnson. Besides winning the inter-class tourney, the junior boys were well represented on the first team by Philip Cole, John Scott, and Thomas McLaughlin, not to mention all the junior boys who helped bring victory to the second team.

President	John Campbell
Vice President	Thomas McLaughlin
Secretary	Jerry Lewis
Treasurer	Elaine Horton

Sophomores

In the fall of '43 we entered M. H. S.—the usual "Green Freshmen." We chose as our class president, John Hoffman, and our able Student Council representatives were Phil Kahn and Patricia Bersch. The most outstanding feature of our Freshman year occurred when Marianna Johann and William Moorhead, although only Freshmen, were elected king and queen of high school.

After a fairly successful year as freshmen we returned to school the next fall, a more determined class. Frank Armstrong, Marianna Johann, Charles Orrill, Carolyn Schnaitter, Phyllis Strong, and William Moorhead represented our class on the Student Council.

Members of our class have been active in various organizations such as G. A. A., Hi-Y, Band, Choral Club, and Sunshine Society. They have participated in sports, dramatics, and the formation of the teen-canteen.

As our Sophomore year draws to a close we look with enthusiasm and expectation toward our Junior and Senior years in Madison High School. Class officers were:

Vice President	Wanda Tanksley

Freshmen

We, the Freshmen of M. H. S., have a very brief history, but before we leave the portals of our high school, we hope to make a name for ourselves. Green, yes, perhaps, but we are willing to do our part to boost our school.

Our class, mixed with the Sophomores, chose:

President	Mary Ann Vincent
Vice President	Robert Knoebel
Secretary	Carolyn Lynch

Our Student Council representatives were Mary Frances Hill and Robert Houze. Among the 125 students in our class were many active members of the band, choral club, Latin club, basketball team, Sunshine Society, and G. A. A. William Bear gave a splendid performance as "Spotty" in the high school play, Happy Landings.

With such players as Jack Server, Harold Muncie, John Kasper, Raymond Green, Kenneth Lee, and Thomas Cheatham from the Freshman Class on the second team, M. H. S. has a bright future to look forward to in the realm of sports.

Mahisco Staff

Due to war time conditions, the printing of an annual for the year 1945 was almost impossible. However, by the help of a local printer, the Mahisco appears this year, just as in almost all others since its origin in 1916.

The staff was:

Co-editors	Mary Margaret Mills, William Pfister
Business Managers	Helen Gans, Mary Margaret Scott, Kingsley Greiner, Richard Irwin
Circulation Managers	Annabelle Manaugh, Katherine Hughes, Corinne Lyon, Jessie Seigel
Sports Editors	Clem Hoffman, Ronald Potter
Organization Editor	Dorothy Born

Journalism

"To Print Your Name Will Be Our Aim," has been the motto of the Madisonian, Madison High School's student publication.

This bi-monthly paper was written and edited by members of the Journalism class. Miss Sherman and Mr. Reul were the very capable faculty advisors.

Because of service men and other alumni, the mailing list of the Madisonian has been larger this year than any time before.

This paper was complete with news items of school events, a society page, a sports section, a G. I. column for M. H. S. servicemen and other such news items interesting to M. H. S. students.

Student Council

The Student Council is composed of representatives from each home room in M. H. S. Its members meet for the purpose of discussing problems which arise, and of working for the best interests of the school.

An outstanding project of this year's Student Council was a War Bond Drive, the result of which purchased a Navy trainer. Each Monday war stamps were sold in the home rooms by council members.

A clean-up campaign was held and to the cleanest room each week a banner was awarded.

This organization was in charge of all tickets sold to various school functions. A committee of several members was responsible for all assembly programs.

Choral Club

Members of the Choral Club enjoyed more latitude in the matter of travel this year, despite transportation handicaps. The group, divided into several units, was busy during the first semester, providing music for the Elks' Memorial Service on December 4 and giving programs of Christmas music. The holiday itinerary included Hanover High School, Saluda High School, Central High School, Cragmont, Madison Kiwanis Club, Madison Rotary Club, Hanover College and Madison High School, where an assembly program was given just before Christmas vacation. Second semester activities involved the Spring Concert and furnishing musical portions of the Baccalaureate and Commencement services.

In lieu of award pins, granted for service in the organization on a seniority basis, the choral "M" was instituted during the academic year. The letter may be earned by any member of the Choral Club who amasses 1200 credit points and who shows evidence of good school citizenship. William Goebel has been the only member to qualify to date, although several have nearly done so.

The Choral Club has this year upheld its high standard of work and has provided a ready outlet for those who are musically ambitious in vocal work.

Band

Fully adjusted to the restrictions of war-time conditions, which precluded the possibility of out-of-town engagements, the band this year has been content to confine its activities to the community. The unit played for a Republican rally late in October, parading up Main Street to the courthouse, where the members played several concert selections and the national anthem as a preliminary to the public meeting held on that occasion. At each home basketball game the bandsmen performed notably, playing during the intermissions. Special occasions were those games at which the organization presented its drum majorettes, Elizabeth Curtis and Ethel Stewart, in baton twirling routines.

Early in April the band members enjoyed their annual social function, the Band Ball, held in the Brown Gymnasium. Limited to bandmen and their personal guests, the affair was exclusive and a colorful event.

A prominent part in the Spring Concert, given by music students of Madison High School in May, and an important contribution to the Commencement exercises rounded out a year of accomplishment.

Sunshine Society

Every school should have a charitable organization. In M. H. S. that organization goes under the heading of the Sunshine Society.

A part of the creed states, "I shall make the object of my life helpfulness and kindness to others." In fulfillment of that, the S. S. S. gave baskets to the needy at Christmas, helped in the Infantile Paralysis and Crippled Children's drive for funds, and sold war bonds.

Officers for 1944-45 were:

President	Mary Margaret Mills
Vice President	Dorothy Inglis
Treasurer	Helen Gans
Recording Secretary	Suzanne Peddie
Corresponding Secretary	Marianna Johann

G. A. A.

The Girl's Athletic Association was re-organized this year under the sponsorship of Mrs. Osgatharp, new Home Economics and Physical Education teacher.

The attendance and interest in these meetings proved that Athletics for girls are worth while, as well as important.

Officers were elected at the beginning of the year as follows:

President	Mary Margaret Mills
Vice President	Wanda Tanksley
Secretary	Ruth Irwin
Treasurer	Corinne Lyon

The meetings were held each Tuesday evening from six to seven-thirty in the gym. At these meetings basketball, volley ball, and other such sports were participated in by the members.

Mr. Manaugh was the able sponsor of the club this year.

The officers of the club attended a district meeting at Scottsburg, where William Butler was chosen as vice president of the district.

The Melody Maids

The Melody Maids were a new musical group this year. Although their beginning was accidental, their success as musical entertainers was great.

Their first public appearance was at the Rotary Club, and from then on they entertained at such places as the Seventh War Bond Rally, the basketball dinner, American Legion, the Spring Concert, and all other school programs.

Their three part harmony popularized their singing. The Maids were especially known for their Dream Medley. Mr. Rothert directed and accompanied the girls.

Coach Eddy

With Mr. Ray Eddy at the helm of the athletic department, the school has attained an exceptionally fine reputation in the field of sports.

Three times his Cubs have won regional titles, once they took semi-finals honors, and in '41 they were runners-up in the State Finals.

In '45 with seven returning lettermen, his fast breaking Cubs finished second place in the conference. They captured the sectional title for the fifth time in six years, but Franklin ended their season at the Shelbyville regional tournament. This record is one of which Madison fans are justly proud.

Coach Eddy has endeared himself in the hearts of all the boys on the teams with whom he has worked patiently. His endeavors to develop strength of character, as well as ability in athletics, has won for him the high esteem of the student body, community, and neighboring schools.

So, we salute a great coach and a great man—Mr. Ray Eddy.

Yell Leaders

Few people fully appreciate yell leaders, but they are really the morale boosters, who brought us through a successful season.

Our yell leaders, Corinne Lyon, Dorothy Haifurder, Jerry Lewis, and Charles Chowning, consistently showed the good sportsmanship which typifies Madison High School.

Sectional

The Cubs earned the right to represent the Madison Sectional at Shelbyville by defeating Scottsburg Warriors in the finals of the sectional, 26-24.

Hanover opened sectional hostilities by thumping Austin 30-21, then Central shaded North Madison, 27-25, in an overtime, Thursday night, February 23.

Friday afternoon, February 24, saw Dupont trample Deputy 54-23, and Scottsburg drop Saluda 50-32.

The Cubs started to roll Friday night, as they downed Paris Crossing 47-18. The Eddymen led 7-4 at the first quarter, 18-6 at the half, and 31-1 at the third quarter. In the second game that night, Hanover surprised the sectional crowd and trampled the Central Wildcats 46-23.

Saturday afternoon saw Scottsburg swing into action against Dupont. The Red Devils put up a stiff fight, but finally went down, 29-17. Hanover ran up against a stone wall when they hit Madison, Saturday. The Cubs led at every stop, 12-6, 25-11, and 28-18. Final score was Madison 43, Hanover 24.

Saturday night saw the two oldest rivals of this sectional tourney clashing. Scottsburg had defeated the Cubs twice previously and were doped to beat them again, but the Cubs upset the Scotties in grand style, leading at every stop. They ran up a 7-2 quarter score, held a 12-9 half-time advantage and led 20-16 at the third quarter. Final score was 26-24, Madison.

An interesting fact was that the entire Cub first five was named on the most valuable sectional poll.

Regional

The Bruins bowed to Franklin 46-36 the next week in the Shelbyville regional. Hope downed Greensburg, then went on to win the tourney from Franklin, 41-38.

Bud Scott was named as forward on the Indianapolis Star all-regional team.

General Review

One of the fastest teams ever representing Madison High School was put on the hardwood by veteran coach Ray Eddy this year.

By virtue of their speed, the Madison hoopsters hung up another successful season, winning sixteen and dropping but six.

The Eddymen opened their season on their home floor, defeating Vevay 48-22, then bounced North Vernon 47-19 in the Panthers den. The Cubs were stone cold when they met Scottsburg at the Brown Gym, and as a result the Scotties were victorious, 27-17. Traveling to Lawrenceburg, the Cubs hooked up in a scoring spree with the Tigers and came out on top, 34-38, then engaged the Salem Lions at Madison. Salem gave the Cubs a scare the first half, but the Cubs rallied to come out on top 41-29. Jeffersonville came to Madison, Saturday, December 9, and trampled the Cubs, 52-26. Scottsburg once more proved to be a stumbling block as they dropped the Bruins 24-17 at Scottsburg, December 11. The Cubs hit the victory trail once more, December 20, as they slipped past Silver Creek, 44-36 at the cement-town. The Creekers were ahead 17-4 in the first three minutes of the game, and the Cubs fought uphill all the way and finally emerged victorious. Taking a short rest for the Christmas holidays proved profitable for the Cubs, as they rolled over North Vernon, 51-22, January 2, at Madison. January 5 saw the powerful Aurora Red Devils coming to Madison doped to trounce the Cubs, but the Madisonites upset the dope bucket and trampled the Red Devils 39-21. Salem proved easy for the Cubs, January 12, as the Bruins romped home 49-24, on the Lions small floor. Columbus tried to hand the Cubs a setback, but Eddy's boys came through with flying colors to trounce the Bulldogs, 36-30. It was the first time a Madison team had defeated a Columbus team on the Bulldogs floor. After a hard first half, the Cubs broke loose and trounced Brownstown, 44-27, January 23.

Franklin broke the Cubs victory string at six, defeating the Eddymen, 32-25 at Franklin; however, four of the cogs in the Cub machine were plagued by colds the week of this game. The game with Huntingburg was the highest scoring game of the season, the Cubs finally coming out on top 53-49. The contest was played at Huntingburg, January 30. Batesville tripped the Cubs 32-29 at Batesville, February 2, then the Cubs finished their season, thumping Greensburg 37-27, and whacking Lawrenceburg 36-19, on the Brown Gym floor.

By virtue of these triumphs, the Cubs finished the season with 13 victories against 3 defeats.

The Cubs cracked a record set by the '42 team by scoring 852 points in their 22 games. This was more points than any other team from Madison has ever scored. It is a glowing tribute to coach and team.

Inter-Class Tourney

The dark-horse Juniors won the inter-class tourney this year, defeating the Seniors 27-15 in the final game. By dint of their triumph, the Juniors became the first team to successfully defend their title, having won as Sophomores.

The Seniors opened tournament hostilities by defeating the favorite Sophomores 17-14 in a overtime game, then the Juniors toppled a highly regarded Freshman five 19-10.

In the consolation game the next night, the Sophomores outlasted the Freshmen to win 20-9. In the final game, the Juniors played a slow, methodical type of ball and out-stalled the Seniors whose sole threat was a fast break. The Juniors took shots only when they were wide open and kept the Seniors' tall center, Irwin, from controlling the bankboards.

Second Team

This year's band of Little Cubs turned in one of the most remarkable records ever attained by any reserve squad to represent Madison High School. Most reserve teams are characterized by faulty passing, dribbling, and footwork; however, the Cubs of this season were afflicted by none of these flaws. In defeating such fives as those representing Jeffersonville, Greensburg, Scottsburg, and Lawrenceburg, they displayed a brand of ball equal to many of the varsity squads of some schools as large as Madison. Their slow offense was executed with champion-like finesse and their fast breaks were very pleasing to the eye (especially to Coach C. O. Manaugh's); the defense of the "B" squad was truly a great art.

Sparked by Phil Kahn, Bob Clegg, Bob Cheatham, Glen Rowlett, and Charles Cain, the Cubs thumped their opponents 14 times, and went down to defeat but three times. Their three losses were suffered at the hands of Lawrenceburg, Columbus, and Franklin, the former defeat was avenged later in the year.

Track

After being heralded as one of the greatest teams to wear the track togs of M. H. S. in a decade, this year's band of thinlies failed miserably, but it was due to injuries rather than inability. Practices were almost non-existent, and when practices were held they were of necessity so short as to be of little benefit.

The Cubs held two meets, both with Scottsburg, and were defeated both times by the Warriors, who finished second in the conference meet. In the first meet points for the Cubs were gathered by Bill Moorhead—hurdles, high jump, and dashes; Bill Bear—mile run; Phil Cole, one-half mile; Frank Armstrong—shot put; Bob Clegg—broad jump, and Harold Muncie—high jump. These boys duplicated their feats in the second meet with the exception of Cole who injured his foot in practice. Just before the second meet "Ol' Man Trouble" reared his ugly head in the form of more injuries—this time to Paul Peddie, Bill Pfister, and Dick Irwin, who suffered leg and foot injuries. By the time the conference meet was held, the thinlies were riddled to such an extent that they were able to score but $8\frac{3}{4}$ points.

Madison High School looks to the future for greater success in track events.
