The Beginning...

The End...

he end of a decade, the end of a century. To some of us, it's the end of our high school careers. MCHS students are wrapping up some dreams and looking forward to new beginnings. Students received many opportunities throughout the year. Several field trips took them all over the country including Kansas, New Mexico, and Washington D.C., and as far as France and Italy.

Many Cub teams ventured to semi-state and state competitions, such as volleyball, cross country, individual wrestlers, and our academic teams.

The reintroduction of the semi-formal dance and the continuing traditions of postgame dances brought MCHS students together for lots of fun.

New rules caused new stress to everyone this year. The seven-minute passing period, food ban, and first semester ban on bookbags were the major annoyances. Having all side and back entrances locked to monitor incoming traffic collected much scorn.

We've seen good and bad times and we've trekked through them together. The end of our year leads us to the beginning of the rest of our lives.

Dance for us "Cubbiel" Cubbie, our mascot, struts his stuff at a basketball game. He could always be found dancing on the floor shaking hands with little kids, or goofing around with the cheerleaders. The man in the suit was Freshman Adam Tuttle for the entire basketball season. It took a lot of school spirit to wear that hot get-up for ten straight home games.

It takes a lot of guts for someone to get half-naked, paint himself red and white, and run the Cubs' flag around the gym. Senior Jonathan Buxton has those guts. He was one of four guys who painted their bodies for the Cubs' home games. "When everyone was dressed up for the Hawaiian night we all just decided to paint ourselves to show our school spirit," said Buxton.

Sophomores Lindsay Johnson, Coco Black, and Adrienne Harrell, Junior Kristen Schafer, Sophomore Ashley Andrew, Freshman Ashley Roberts, Sophomore Brandi Scholl, and Junior Angela Woods spell out Madison with their white Tshirts. White T's were used by several groups of friends to show school spirit by spelling words like Madison, Cubs, and Seniors.

Junior Adam Schater and Seniors Jonathan Buxton, Tony Vigil and Otis Chatham flash us their school spirit. At first, they were told to leave their shirts on, but eventually they were allowed to take them off.

Others preferred hunting for their outdoor experience. Senior Paul Scott said, "I like hunting and I go whenever I get a chance," Several students tried their hand at rabbit, squirrel, pheasant, deer, raccoon, turkey, and some even tried elk.
Senior Chance Bechman said, "I usually go on the weekends, before school, and even after school. I hunt turkey, but I have never eaten the turkey that I have killed for Thanksgiving. I hear it's good though."

he crowd is screaming and cheering. Many high school students are found in the stands cheering for the Madison boys basketball team. All around the bleachers are friends hanging out together. Senior Karen Gorbett and Sophomore Ashley Lytle have been best friends for a year now, and are found sitting in the pep club section together at every home game. Lytle said, "Karen and 1 are best friends. I can tell her anything and she knows exactly what I mean."

Sophomores Coco Black and Angie Boggs pose at Hawailian night. Going to the boys games was common for triends.

Sophomore Ryan Kidwell lost a bet over the IU-Kentucky game and was forced to paint his face. Betting was an occurence among friends throughout the year.

Gorbett said, "Ashley and I are like soul mates. It seems like we've known each other forever."
Junior Erin King can be found cruising with her boyfriend or eating out with friends. "A boyfriend is someone you can talk to and just hang out with," said King.

Senior Kelly Hannah loves to go shopping with Katie Hoffman and Christi Wolfschlag. "I have been to Chicago, San Francisco and Knoxville. I go anywhere and everywhere," said Hannah.

Seniors Emily Waltz and Zolton Palotai empty their mouths for a picture. Many students became friends with the exchange students and helped them feel more at home.

Senior Bryan Bullington displayed his 3 point shooting ability, hitting seven for the game and ending with a game high of 32 points.

Chad Liter and Chris Bass followed Bullington's performance with steady efforts while Collin Schafer and Darryl "Bubba" Yarbrough chipped in with their efforts to help defeat the Rebels yet another year.
"It felt good to beat Southwestern again this year," said Yarbrough. The Cubs have now won eleven regular season games against the Rebels proving that they are the clite team in Jefferson County:

Prior to the boy's game the Lady Cubs proved their dominance of the Lady Rebels by pounding on Southwestern in every aspect of the game.
"We always enjoy beating Southwestern; especially this year because they thought they would beat us," said Senior Julie Ferguson.

new chapter began in 235 people's lives on Sunday, May 30, for the graduating class of 1999. Family and friends came from all over to watch the senior class of 99 graduate in the Conner K. Salm Gymnasium. For the seniors it was also a day of sadness as many remembered their friends who did not make it to the graduation but it was exciting because they were moving on.

The ceremony began with the Pledge of Allegiance led by Christi Wolfschlag, and followed by the invocation led by Angelia Bornstein. Student Council President Amber Dionne and NHS President Sarah Brandenburg welcomed all the family members, faculty, and friends.

Memories were reminisced by six seniors this year. Junior high years were presented by Megan Little with the seventh grade memories, Felicia Lobb with eighth grade memories and Lesley Cart with the ninth grade memories. Senior high was done by Laura Edwards with tenth, Angela Lee with eleventh, and Nick Griffith with twelfth grade memories.

Nick Griffith turns Jessey Mason's tassel from the left to the right to signify the end of their high school career. This year the tassels were turned by rows, starting with the person in the aisle and working their way to the other end closest to the bleachers.

The senior class of 1999 threw their caps after the benediction to signify the end of their high school careers.

Mrs. Sue Livers gave the keynote address about caring.

This year's keynote speaker was introduced by Principal Mr. Kenneth Hoffman. The keynote speaker, Mrs. Sue Livers, spoke to the graduating class about caring. She said that caring is what got her to where she is today. The valedictorians were Krista $O^{\prime} \mathrm{Neal}$, Angela Lee, Laura Sparks, and Jessey Mason. They spoke as the four points of the compass, each being a different direction with a different message. They used an acronym for each letter of their direction to present their message. The Salutatorian Address was given by Megan Little. Class President Krista $\mathrm{O}^{\prime}$ Neal and Vice-President Kristin Griffith gave the farewell address.

ceremony ended, the graduates headed out the door to find their new place in the world and to begin the next chapter of their lives. They were no longer members of Madison Consolidated High School but they were now alumni moving on to fulfill their hopes and dreams.

Collin Schafer, Kami Bryant and Jeff Abbott take part in the closing ceremonies.

Megan Little, Nick Griffith, Angela Lee, Laura Edwards, Lesely Cart, and Felicia Lobb presented the class history from the time they became the class of 99 in seventh grade to the time they ended their high school careers as seniors. Little reminded the class of parties, fashions, and jammed lockers.

Valedictorians

They have studied hard for four years. Their homework is always done, and they almost always do well on their tests. The senior class of 1999 is proud to claim four valedictorians. "We made a lot of sacrifices, like time. You can't go out as much as some people. You just have to study and be concerned. The new grading scale made it a little harder," said Jessey Mason.

This year's four valedictorians have maintained a 4.0 G.P.A. since their freshman year. Krista O'Neal said, "I never really thought too much about grades, except that I always tried to do well in school. I didn't think anything about being valedictorian until my sophomore year. I don't think people really know that your freshman year counts just as much as any other year."

Valedictorian Angela Lee gives her hard-earned speech at graduation. Angela was often found filling out scholarships in the guidance office.

Angela Lee commented, "I studied really hard. I studied late if I had to. It was hard work and very time consuming. Studying took time away from my job and my friends, but it was worth the time because I got a really good scholarship to Butler University."

At the end of their junior year, the class of 1999 boasted six people ranked #1, but due to a new grading scale implemented this year, that number dropped. "1 think the new grading scale should've started with the freshmen because we've always been on the same scale and it's hard to just change modes," said Megan Little who lost her 4.0 when she received an A-instead of a regular $A$.

Being named a valedictorian is a great honor. Laura Sparks said, "I think it's an honor because of all the hard work that goes into it."

Custer Contest

"They said the young woman next door was mad. They meant crazy." "The Harrington's Daughter" by Lois Lowry was Jessey Mason's chosen piece for the 1999 Custer Contest. "I chose it because it had personal meaning. I was happy with the whole group. I was shocked when they said I had won," said Mason.

Mason was chosen the winner of the contest after a difficult decision by the judges. "The decision was difficult because each girl had excellent orations and fell well with in the published guidelines. All the total points were very close. This speaks well to the quality of the contestants and the hard work they put in for their orations," said senior sponsor Mrs. Betty Sebree.

Preparing for the contest took many long hours. Emily Waltz said, "I practiced about two hours a day for the two weeks before the contest. Ihad to work a lot on the different characters in my piece. The reason 1 did it is because it was my fifteen minutes of fame and I was going to take it! ${ }^{\omega}$

Second place was taken by Laura Sparks and her selection "Scarlet Ibis" by James Hurst. "I chose this piece because I thought it was a good story. My dad read it to me when I was ten and I cried. I've never forgotten it," said Sparks.

Equal rank was awarded to Emily Waltz and her selection "The Night the Bed Fell on My Father" by James Thurber, Heather Williams and her selection Children of the Elames by Lucette Matalonlagmado & Sheila Conn Dekel, and Krista O'Neal and her selection "Sentiment" by Dorothy Parker. "I was happy for Jessey and Laura, but I was also proud for the rest of us. We all just wanted to go out there and do a good job - and we did. We all did very well," said O'Neal.

Williams commented, "Everyone did a really good job. Nobody really forgot their pieces at all. If I had it to do over again, I'd definitely do it."

rom a pro-life march to a bomb threat on the steps of Supreme Court, Mr. Newell's seniors had a very eclectic trip. The honors class went to Washington D.C. to see the history-making trial of President Bill Clinton. "I thought it was neat how the House managers slammed the President's attorneys," said Joe Jenner.

With visits to Lincoln Memorial, Vietnam Memorial and some walking past the White House, the students had their two days filled to the brim. "I really enjoyed getting to tour all of the monuments," said Zeb Phagan. Although the group was only permitted 20 minutes in the Senate, they had a slight two hours of free time.

With planes, trains, busses and subways, the students experienced an array of transportation that cannot be found in our area. "I fell asleep on the train and almost ended up in New York City!" said Nick Griffith.

honors government class enjoys their time at our nation's capital. The class had the rare opportunity to witness a small bit of the Clinton impeachment trial.

Jessey Mason, Amanda Poling, Stephanie Wallen, Mrs. Kelly Duffy and Amy Miller take a break from their busy agenda to sit at Window Rock. The four of them were involved with the New Mexico Exchange Program and ventured West in September.
he Peer Counselors got a bite of the travel bug and a dose of reality when their exchange program was partly derailed due to a shooting at the host high school, Shiprock High School, in New Mexico.

Superintendent Dr. Stanley Bippus invited Seniors Stephanie Waflen, Amanda Poling, Amy Miller and Jessey Mason to participate in a cultural visit and exchange of ideas on peer counseling programs. The group visited programs that benefit students who can't handle the pressures of traditional high school. They also saw a program that helps the Navajo learn the proper ways to treat disease.

The girls also got to see some historical monuments on the journey. They visited places like Canyon deShelly, Mesa Verde and Window Rock.

The Peer Counselors also learned more about the differing culture. Jessey Mason said, "My favorite aspect of the Navajo culture was the idea of being in a matriarchal society where women are the dominant figures in the households."

Poling and Wallen got the chance to see a pow-wow. It was one of Wallen's favorite parts of the trip. She exclaimed, "The pow-wow was bad!"

choices, choices, choices. Seniors are bombarded with choices every day. One choice seniors have to make is what to do after high school.
Bryan Bullington not only had to choose where to go to school, he also had to decide what sport to play. Before choosing to play baseball at Ball State he was recruited by other schools. "I chose Ball State because it was a good fit both academically and athletically," said Bullington, whose parents are alumni.
Seniors Aja Bellamy and Brittany King decided on Indiana University Southeast. "I chose here because I am not sure what I want to do yet," said Bellamy. The girls visited the school a couple of times before deciding to attend.

Another option is a two year business school. Next September, Erin Wilson will attend Sullivan Business College in Louisville, Kentucky. "I decided on a business college because you get a degree in two years and then you can get a job," Wilson said.

If travel beckons, the military may answer the call. Senior Lindsay Marnett chose the Navy. She will be stationed in Great Lakes, Illinois. "The Navy suited me best because they will pay my way through school while I am there," said Marnett.

Aja Bellamy, Brittany King and Kara Harmon check out the campus lake at Indiana University Southeast in New Albany. The three plan to attend this university next fall.

The hustle and bustle of planning prom requires a lot more work than expected. Picking colors, choosing a theme, deciding a song, setting dates, and getting decorations are only some of the many duties p r o m committee members have. committee breaks down into five groups. W e thought by using groups, we could make more decisions faster," said Kira Shadday. The groups each had a different thing to decide like decorations, pictures, crowns, glasses, invitations and booklets. A large, enthusiastic group of juniors signed up for the prom committee this year, each one wanting to have their say in what prom would be like. Committee member Lisa Gillis said, "I joined the committee because thought it would be fun to help out with the whole deal."

Like every year, the theme was the most difficult decision to make.
"Everyone wanted a different theme," said Whitney Geisler. The committee finally decided on "From This Moment," a duet by Shania Twain and Brian White. The colors were pearl blue, pearl purple and pearl white.

Anne Maas, Dustin Abnet, Derek Luebke, and Tracy Ksiazak pause before entering the palace of Versailles.

Despite cramped bus seating and malodorous smells, the 32 people who journeyed to France over spring break came back enthusiastic about their far away trip.

With many excursions including Notre Dame, the Eiffel Tower, and The Louvre, the students dove into the French culture. Jeff Hill said, "Paris was the best for me. Despite its size, it really seemed like a small town."

Even though they dealt with a very rushed schedule, students did receive some free time. Many students headed out to the DiscoTech. "It was really neat being there but we had to leave early," said Kristin Schafer.

The travelers saw more than just the average museum or castle. Lindsay Imel said, "There were dogs everywhere.

They just roamed around the whole time. No leashes or owners anywhere."

K y 1 e Crumb said, "People played soccer all over the place.
"It didn't matter to them whether it was on the sidewalk or even in the street. We even got yelled at once for walking through the middle of a game!"

Fulton Fanatic

The lights go dim, flares go off, and the music blares as a 250 -pound man comes stomping out from behind a door. The lights come on as the man reaches the ring and the music is turned off. It's professional wrestling at its best.

Sophomore Jacob Fulton is a huge professional wrestling fan. He watches Monday Nitro and Thursday Thunder every chance he gets. "I watch wrestling for entertainment. It's better than high school wrestling because they have more excitement and more lights and flares and even more violence," Fulton said, "When we went to the match we were in the third row and we got to touch the wrestlers."

Jacob Fulton also collects professional wrestling toys. His family and he have spent about $$ 4,000$ on them and have about 80 big boxes full of the toys. They keep them in their attic right now and when his brother moves into his new house they will display them on his walls.

Pro-wrestling fan Jacob Fulton shows off some of his favorite wrestling action figures. Fulton has collected around 700 of these figures.

New Law Angers Students

There is a new law in town and it affects the sophomore class on down, but this year it effects the sophomores the most. It's the new Probationary License Law 9-24-11-3, and it is a really big deal for most sophomores. They don't like that they can't have any one under the age of 21 in their car for the first six months. This means that all of their friends can't be in the car with them unless there is an adult in the car.
"I think the new law is stupid because I can't have anyone ride with me. This summer I'm going to want to do things with my friends and I can't drive us any where," said Katie Cleaver.
"I think that the new law is stupid because we are responsible enough to be given our license, but they take away one of the privileges of a license," said Chaz Bear.

Sophomore Sasha Bowyer is one of the students affected by the new driving laws. Bowyer said, "It's hard to try and say no to my friends when they ask for a ride."

Freshman Trip to D.C.

What do you get when you cram four freshmen and all their luggage into one small hotel room? Picture a volcanic eruption in a department store - Calvin Klein jeans, Abercrombie shirts, and Adidas sneakers everywhere. But this sight was home to many freshmen for five days during their Spring Break trip to Washington D.C.
The freshmen visited the Capitol Building, as well as Arlington National Cemetery, monuments such as the Vietnam and Korean War Memorials, the Lincoln Memorial, and other war memorials. "I really liked seeing the Vietnam and Korean War Memorials because I had family who fought in those wars, so it meant a lot to me to get to see them," said Justin Maddox.
"I didn't like watching the changing of the guards at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier because it was so cold and windy, plus it was raining," said Laura Schafer.
While in D.C., the students had several opportunities to shop and socialize with strangers as well as friends. "The homeless people were really cool. We stopped and talked to them and they told us all kinds of funny jokes," said Erik Brunner.
"Hanging out in the hotel with my friends was fun, but our room looked like a tornado hit it, and we had five people in our room so we all fought over the beds. Also, when we were in the Capitol Building, ex-President George Bush walked by. It was really neat," said Rayna Partin.

Mrs. Barbara Putrich was in charge of the trip. "I wish more kids could go because it's a great opportunity to come together as a class. It's a trip that needs to be taken. It gives us a sense of who we are," said Putrich.

"I really liked seeing the Vietnam and Korean War Memorials because I had family who fought in those wars, so it meant a lot to me to get to see them," said Justin Maddox.
"I didn't like watching the changing of the guards at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier because it was so cold and windy, plus it was raining," said Laura Schafer.
While in D.C., the students had several opportunities to shop and socialize with strangers as well as friends. "The homeless people were really cool. We stopped and talked to them and they told us all kinds of funny jokes," said Erik Brunner.
"Hanging out in the hotel with my friends was fun, but our room looked like a tornado hit it, and we had five people in our room so we all fought over the beds. Also, when we were in the Capitol Building, ex-President George Bush walked by. It was really neat," said Rayna Partin.

Mrs. Barbara Putrich was in charge of the trip. "I wish more kids could go because it's a great opportunity to come together as a class. It's a trip that needs to be taken. It gives us a sense of who we are," said Putrich.

Freshman Trip to D.C.

What do you get when you cram four freshmen and all their luggage into one small hotel room? Picture a volcanic eruption in a department store - Calvin Klein jeans, Abercrombie shirts, and Adidas sneakers everywhere. But this sight was home to many freshmen for five days during their Spring Break trip to Washington D.C.
The freshmen visited the Capitol Building, as well as Arlington National Cemetery, monuments such as the Vietnam and Korean War Memorials, the Lincoln Memorial, and other war memorials. "I really liked seeing the Vietnam and Korean War Memorials because I had family who fought in those wars, so it meant a lot to me to get to see them," said Justin Maddox.
"I didn't like watching the changing of the guards at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier because it was so cold and windy, plus it was raining," said Laura Schafer.

Give St a Thirl

Multi-colored sequins catching the light, spinning silver, rubber-tipped batons, loud marching music, and those same batons flying thirty feet into the air, After more than a 20 year absence, majorettes are making a comeback.

Emily Warren has been twirling for seven years. She has received as many as 75 first places, including 1998 Junior Beginner Miss Majorette of Indiana.

Coached by Mrs. Eileen Webster, Warren has also collected 67 trophies, placed 26th in Junior Beginner at Miss Majorette of America, and placed 22nd in World Strut. "I really enjoy coaching Emily because she's easy to coach and she works really hard to get new material," said Mrs. Webster.

Twirling takes hours of practice and a lot of time. Emily spends at least one hour a week with her coach, and practices on her own at the Horner Center at Hanover College every night. Practice makes perfect, but there is always a chance of messing up. "Right before I compete, I get really nervous. It gets really bad before state, national, and world competitions," said Warren.

All of Emily's determination has paid off. Each of her nearly 150 awards demonstrates her already found success. She will continue to twirl and claim awards in the future.
"My favorite thing about twirling is getting to travel all over to competitions and meeting new people," said Warren.

Crossing The Bridge

In March, eighth graders take their first step to crossing the ditch and coming to the high school. Mrs. Sebree makes a visit to the junior high and the scheduling process begins.

Joining the student body at MCHS can be a lot of fun, but it can also be scary. "I met a lot of new people and made a lot of new friends. It was kind of scary though, because the school is so big," said Katie Klinedinst.

Several groups at MCHS anticipated the fears of incoming freshmen and tried to deal with it. The first week of school featured different kinds of orientation activities where freshmen learned the ropes and everyone was introduced to the new rules.
Freshmen also had to adjust to the block scheduling where they had tositfor 90 minutes instead of just 45. "I don't like the longer classes because it's just too long to sit and listen, and there are way too many new rules to follow," said Joey Neyer.
"I really like all the new freedoms I got when we came here," said Chris Chandler. Aside from all the new rules, the high school offered new freedomas well. Freshmen get to make their own schedules and make other decisions for themselves.

Classes at the high school are a little harder than those at the junior high. "My classes are harder because I took advanced classes this year I have a lot of homework in math," said Nichole Whitham.

Mr. Kim Deffenbaugh said, "Academically and athletically it just makes sense to have the freshmen here at the high school. Ninth grade is a part of the high school, so they should be in the high school." Seniors were freshmen in the junior high building.

October 31, 1998 is a date that went down in the Madison Consolidated High School history books. The Volleyball Lady Cubs climbed aboard a yellow bus at $8: 30$ in the morning and headed to Shelbyville for the semi-state. This was a first ever in the history of volleyball at Madison. It wasn't a smooth ride either.

Their first obstacle was the regular season, where they went 21-17. "Overall I felt we did better than what we expected, and we did great," said Senior Julie Ferguson.

The next obstacle was the sectional at Franklin County. They beat South

Dearborn 15-11, 15-4 and then Greensburg 15-12, 1513. The smooth Lady Cubs won their second sectional championship. "Back to Back" was their saying, and the Smooth Lady Cubs moved on.
At home for the regional, they beat Corydon, 15-6, 159 . The volleyball team won their first ever volleyball regional title. Now they moved on to the semi-state.

Unfortunately, the Lady Cubs were unsuccessful against Indianapolis Bishop Chatard. They were defeated 15-1, 15-3. "I think the biggest thing this team accomplished was they came together as a team," said Coach Tim Whitaker.

Spiritual Leaders

They were the co-captains of the team and Coach Whitaker called them the "spiritual leaders" of the team. Senior Sayra Hoskins was the offensive leader of the team. Her serving accuracy was $95 \%$ with 53 aces. She averaged a team high 7 kills per game and compiled 117 total blocks for the season." When it came to pressure, 1 put a lot of it on myself this year. I knew with seven serviors this year, someone was going to have to take churge.

When Kari and I were voted captains, I knew they were depending on me," said Senior Sayra Hoskins. Senior Kari Park was the defensive leader of the team. Her serving accuracy was $98 \%$ including 62 aces. She also averaged a team high 6.2 digs and averaged 2 kills per game, "Sayra and I were the spiritual leaders of the team, yes, but when it came game time we all had our leading moments." said Park

Front and back row players cover the hitter during the sectional semifinal. This was done in case the ball was blocked.

JVVOLLEYBALL  Tough Competion Makes Seasons $\mathscr{R}^{\prime \prime}$

"We got off to a bad start because we weren't really working together as a team very well. We had some new players this year and at the end we started working together a little bit better," said Freshman Becky Meek.

The Freshmen and JV teams both seemed to learn the game and find the true meaning of teamwork.

Junior Kira Shadday
said, "My favorite part of volleyball is being together as a team and having fun."

The junior varsity went 10-10 and the freshmen were 13-7. At this level it's not about wins and losses, but about learning the game and playing hard.

Sophomore Sarah Heitz said, "The most challenging team was Jennings County. We sophomores haven't been able to beat them since seventh grade."

Freshman Bridget Haney turns her back to the action in order to dig the ball. Freshman teammate Renee Knox looks on ready to get the next ball.

Serving against the New Albany Bulldogs, Freshman Laura Schafer keeps her eye on the ball. Fundamentals such as serving keyed several victories.
Volleyhall 90 (38)

The two starting forwards, Joy Petscher and Aimee Hossler, just finished a struggle in front of the Jennings Co. goal with the goalie and three defenders, to score the first goal of the 1998 sectional. However, the shrill sound of the whistle cut short the celcbration of the teammates a few minutes before the end of the first half as a disputed offsides call was made against Madison. This year the girls soccer team was placed in a different sectional, which was the most difficult in southern Indiana. Although the girls had a heartbreaking loss of 0-1 to Jennings County in double overtime, they had many highlights throughout the year. Their hope was to win sectionals for the first time in history and move on to regionals.

This year marked their first ever win over Floyd Central,3-2 in overtime, "who has been a difficult opponent in the past three years," said Coach Adams. Another big win over Seymour clenched the team's third place position in the Hoosier Hills Conference. The team's HHC record improved from $1-5$ last year to 5-2.

Next year the varsity team will lose five seniors, without whom this year's soccer program would not have been formed. Three years ago these girls and retiring coach Dave Adams petitioned the school to start the program. Even though they are leaving, it is not the end of a good program. When asked how she felt about leaving the program she and the other seniors helped start, Senior Melissa Enoch said sarcastically, "It's sad! They should stop the program now." Actually all the girls agree that they hope the program gets bigger and better every year.

It's a Hard Job to " KEEP"

Whitney Andress probably has one of the most important jobs on the soccer field. The goal keepers jobs is to keep the opposing team from scoring by blocking the ball with their body. The senior has been playing since the seventh grade.Her older brother, Brandon Andress, also played goalie for Madison. He has helped her throughout her high school career. This season Whitney, a captain of the soccer team, won numerous awards. She received HHC AllConference honors and Most Valuable Player on her team. She helped lead her team to the best season that they have had since the start of the program in 1995, "1 am very proud of my feam this year, we played together and all worked hard, " sald Andress. Whitney is looking at playing in college at IUPUI next year.

Sophomore Coco Black concentrates on her next move as she prepares to recieve a pass. She started and played in most of the varsity games. She also received the "Most Improved Halfback" award.

Senior Joy Petscher dribbles the ball through two Jeffersonville defenders, to try and extend the lead, as Katie DeMoss, a freshman, looks on. Madison beat Jeffersonville in all the games during the season $10-0,2-0,3-0$.

Fow 1: Katie DeMoss, Coco Black, Whitney Andress, Jenny Youing-Reed, Abble Adams, Rachel Hand, Alicia Berry. Fow 2: Annie Thompson, Candace Crooks, Lindsay Johnson, Melisa Enoch, Kari Spry. Ashley Andrew, Britney King, Aimee Hossler, Kaycee Jackson Alicia Kimmel, Ashley Wikerson, Joy Petscher, Tocarra Bumphus, Ashley Robinson. Coach Dave Adams.

The boys soccer team started off the season on a promising note when the Cubs gained two huge shutout victories in the first two games of the season against Jennings County and Lawrenceburg. "Although our record may be deceiving, we gave close competition to most of our opponents this year," said Sophomore Paul DeLamerens.
"The best game of the season was our first round win in the sectional against East Central," said Coach Wayne Richey. The same Trojans had just defeated them a week earlier by a score of 3-0.
"It was a big win for us

An Unexpected M.V.P.

Receiving MVP was a huge honor for Sophomore B.). Elles who played forward for the team.
"I like it (playing forward) because I get a lot of chances to score." Elles took advantage of this opportunity.
"T really didn't expect to win this award; I thought a was six years old and aiready has hopes of hopes of playing soccer at the college level.
"It felt really great to win Most Valuable Player; I hope I play that well next year." "It senior would get it," said Elles. B.j. has been playing soccer since he when we defeated East Central because they are always such a good team," said Senior Captain Scott Boldery. In the second round of the sectional the Cubs beat cross-town rival, the Shawe Hilltoppers, for a chance at a sectional title. Their hopes were soon smashed when they lost a tough final round game to Rising Sun 1-0.

Major award recipients for the 1998 season were Wes Abplanalp, Defensive Award and HHC All Conference; Boldery, Offensive Award; Micah Hofferth, Academic All State; B.J. Elles, MVP and HHC Honorable Mention.

Rah! Rah! Go Fight Win! People might think this is all cheerleaders do. Cheerleading is a tenmonth season that really never ends. The Madison cheerleaders proved this year, that they can really do much more than yell. Thanks to the IU cheer squad and to the help of our two new mount men, the cheer squad was able to put on quite a show at each game this year.

Like most sports cheerleading starts in the summer with an intense conditioning program. "I think conditioning throughout the summer really helps us get unified as a team and it makes us better climbers and lifters," said Senior Christi Wolfschlag. Along with this, the Universal Cheerleading Association sponsors one week of intense camp. A lot of new material, stunts, and dances are learned at this camp.

Football keeps fall a busy time of the year for the cheerleaders. Extra practices are necessary also, in order to be prepared for the Turkey Shoot-out game against Southwestern. For the second year in a row the cheerleaders performed a half-time dance with the Southwestern cheerleaders. The county loves this great sportsmanship shown by the two squads. "I enjoyed getting to meet the other cheerleaders from around here. The dance is a tradition that I hope will last a long time," said JV Captain Shelly Furnish.

Fall and winter are both busy doing many fundraisers to help support the budget for cheerleading. Winter along with cheers for the season, tournament cheers have to be carefully prepared. Both girls and boys tournaments this year proved to be exciting for the ballplayers and cheerleaders.

Can we get some support here?

The Madison Cheer-

 leaders experienced something different this year. For the first time in seven years the squad had two mount men. Seniors B i 11 y McClelland and Eddie Meier joined the squad this year. The boys participated in all of the games just as thegirls did.
The boys were a huge asset to the team this year. They helped the girls perform h a r der pyramids and their voices enhanced the loudness of the cheers. "It was definitely a new experience; I am glad I did it and hope more guys will come out in the future," said Meier.

Don't Drop Mell Senior Christi Wolfschlag hits her first arabesque of the season with help from Jessica Bass, Shelly Furnish, Eddie Meier, and Nichole Constant.

"The Madison Cubs are here to win!" the girls shouted at every game as the team came out for warm-ups.

ill The End

With eight seniors returning to play basketball for the Lady Cubs this year, fans knew they would be in for a successful season.

This year the Lady Cubs upped their performance a notch from last year, making it to the Final Four before getting beat by an undefeated Indianapolis Cathedral team.
"It was a hard loss to take, but it was a wonderful experience to end my senior year," said Stephanie Wallen. "I couldn't have asked for better teammates."

The Lady Cubs also made big accomplishments this season. With 19 wins this year, they bettered last year's record of 18 . They had the best field goal average at $46 \%$, the most three-pointers scored in a single game and during the season, and 13 players scored in a game against Salem, something which had never been done before.

The Lady Cubs had a lot of support this year from both the students and community. They showed it in a number of ways by bringing bigger crowds to regular season home games, to painting their faces and bodies to show their spirit during tournament play.

It All Started in a Barn!

Amanda Adams' basketball It had always been a career all started in the loft of her bar at home. Her dad set up a goal and when she was young, her sisters and she would occasionally play there. In third grade at Canaan Elementary Amanda Poling gave her the nickname Pee-Wee, and by junior high it was attached for life.
 dream for Amanda to play at the collegiate level and now that dream has come true. She has signed a national letter of intent to play for the University of New Orleans, an NCAA Division I school, "I absolutely love it there," Adams said. "I'm ready to step up my game and play with the big girls now!"

Towering sophomores Natasya Johnson and Katty Hay show their talents which played a big part in the success of the Lady Cubs.

The Lady Cubs show their unity as they huddle before the championship game of the Semi-State. This was a tradition before ever game for the team.

Junior Varsity

Posting a winning record of nine wins and seven losses, the Lady Cubs JV team achieved much success this year.

Junior Jessica Speer led the way for the team averaging 11.1 points per game. Sophomore Heather O'Banion hit the boards averaging 5 rebounds a game.

With a team made up of mostly sophomores, the outlook for next year is optimistic. "There's a lot of talent within this team." said Sophomore Coco Black. "People should really watch out for us next year."

Finishing their season with a not-so-loud bang, the girls freshman team posted a 4-11 record.

Taking the lead for the freshmen team was point guard Brooke Carr. Carr advanced to the JV level after completing her freshman season.

Despite their record, the girls feel that they've improved. "We've come a long way from the beginning of the season," said Freshman Sarah Ferguson. "When the season started, we had a lot to learn and towards the end, you could see the improvement."

semi-state runs. It hasn't been done at MCHS since 1962 , but the 98.99 Cub team pulled it off.

This year's team of five returning seniors, one returning junior, and four new-comers blew out the Charlestown Pirates 92-51 in the regional game to advance to the Washington semi-state. The Cubs played top-ranked Plainfield in an upsetting $88-75$ loss to end their season. Treally liked the tournaments because we really came together as a team. We all dyed our hair bright blonde. Losing semi-state was awful because deep down we all know we could've and should've won," said Senior Chad Liter.
"It was cool to go to semistate two years in a row, because not many teams get that opportunity," said Senior Collin Schafer.

The Cubs had a strong 19-5 season, losing only four games in the regular season. Senior Bryan Bullington said. The East Central game was a tough one. They were 4A and we played them at their school."

Records were broken by Bullington for 873 -pointers in a season and 2243 -pointers in a career. Bullington was also presented a basketball for reaching a career 1281 points. becoming the 6 th all-time leading scorer at MCHS

Team unity played a key role in the team's success. "This was a hard-working group that's been together for a long time. They had above-average ability and set standards for themselves and for future teams. In the last three ycars, they have won 55 games and lost only 16. That's a tough record to beat," said Head Coach Larry Bullington.

Dedicated Athlete

It takes a truly dedicated athiete to dive into the bleachers and a crowd of opposing fans to keep the ball in his team's porsession. As a senior, Chad Liter has been a starter on the Varsity team for thrie years. He has helped to lead the team to a $55-16$ record over the last three years, Liter began playing basketball at the age of four. "I like basketball because I get to hang out with the guys I'm already close to and it makes those friendshipe stronger," said Liter.

He commented, "Sports take up a lot of time, but they're a lot of fun and I get to be with my friends. I like baseball a little better than basketball though because I think I have a better chance of going on to the next level in baseball. I just don't think I have the skills it takes to become a college basketball playex."

Chad will play baschall in college. He will attend Wabash Valley Junior College on a full scholarship for baseball. "I visited a couple of junior colleges and I just liked Wabach the best. His close enough to home where I can come hone whenever I want. I want to play at ajunior college for two years and then hopefolly goto a bigger college or university and play for four years" said Liter.

At the wire, a hook shot in the lane by Junior Justin "Poos" Richardson pushed the Cubs one point above the East Central Trojans for the win. This was a significant victory because the Trojans had lost only one game before and the Cubs' varsity team was downed by the Trojans later that night. "It was great because l'd never done anything that exciting in a game. The whole team came on the floor and tackled me and told me they'd never seen a shot like that before," said Richardson.

The J.V. Cubs had an improving season that started with only one win in the 1998 part of the season, but improved during the 1999 season for a final record of 8 12. Coach Greg Ison said, "I really enjoyed this team. Mainly because we improved throughout the season and their no-quit attitudes."
Sophomore Dustin Getz said, "We improved all through the season, but we had fun even when we were losing."

The freshman team won 11 of their 22 games. This was the first time these athletes got to play at the high school level, and they learned to work as a team. "It was fun because we had a lot of weekend tournaments where we got to travel together. We were mostly friends so it was cool," said Freshman Mark Schafer.
Playing freshman ball gives the athletes an opportunity to learn and improve on their skills, as well as to possibly move up and play either J.V. or varsity. "It was a good experience playing with older people. I think I improved a lot," said Freshman Danny Gibson who was moved to the J.V. team halfway through the year and got to dress varsity for sectionals and regionals.
Assistant Coach Donnie Hay said, "Our season could've been a little better, but it was still good. I really enjoy working with kids and getting to know the boys personally. It's a great experience."

It was the first snowfall of winter, and while everyone else was tucked warmly in their beds asleep, the boys swim team was streaking the high school parking lot while they were supposed to be stretching. "One morning during Christmas break we were sitting around stretching. It was the first day it snowed and it was about 15 degrees. We decided to run around in the parking lot naked. "It was cold I fell I was naked laying in the snow bleeding, but it was fun, " said Sophomore Brent Warren.

According to Coach Rob Peddie, "Our satisfaction goals reached above and beyond. Our record was $10-2$ and we placed fourth in both HHC and sectionals. The swimmers exemplified dedication, self-sacrifice, and the ability to swallow their pride. "

Members of the girls swim team also demonstrated their qualities. " Swimming has given me many valuable friendships that I will never forget. We are all close and have a lot of spirit. Plus, this year we got a coach who put her heart and her all into her job," said Senior Nicole Freeman.

Their record was 8-3. "I could not have been more pleased with the season from the start to finish. The girls on the 98-99 team will always have a special place in my memory," said Coach Linda Lawrence. Senior Codi Grooms commented, "It was different this year than from the past couple years because everyone cared about how we did and about each other."

The gym is in an uproar, while the Madison wrestler continues to wear down his opponent. The time ends for the first half of the match and the crowd continues to scream and cheer. Each wrestler talks to his coach and then returns to the mat to finish the match. This is an average match for most wrestlers.

They called themselves the Cub Pack, and they wore black shirts with red lettering to show their team spirit. The Madison wrestling Cubs went 19-3 this season and had a very successful season individually and as a team.
"Wrestling helps me stay in shape and it's different because it's an individual sport and you can't rely on anyone else, but yourself," said Junior Sam Bear. Individually, the Cubs sent four to semi-state, and had two advarice all the way to state finals.

The most valuable wrestlers were Juniors Dorie Haywood and Jason McAfee. They both had individual records of 34 4, and also advanced to the state finals. "Wrestling is a challenge. I like to win and I get to meet new people," said McAfee.
Academic Achievement went to Senior Jeff Gray. Sportsmanship went to Junior Jeff Marshall. Most Improved went to Junior Jim Lucas. Most Valuable Freshman went to Nick Kemp. The Coach's Award went to Junior Matt Holwager, and the Captain's award went to Senior Rodney Pettit. "I like wrestling because of the intensity, hard practices, and the drive it takes to be successful," said Pettit.

Freshman Firsts

"It was an extremely advance past the individual different kind of match than sectional and the firstever to any that I've been to before. Everywhere you looked there were wrestlers," said Freshman Nick Kemp, "I couldn't believe the difference." Freshman wrestler Kemp was only the advance to semi-state in the history advance to semi-state in the history of Madison wrestlers. Nick has been wrestling for eight years. He started when he eight years. He started when he was only seven. "I like wrestling because it keeps me in shape and I like third freshman ever to winning," said Kemp.

Sometimes dreams do come true! For Senior Brent Liter, this was the case. "It was my high school dream to make the state finals individually," said Liter. Liter finished second best in Madison golf history behind Mike Kemper when he took a sixth-place finish at the state golf match at Prestwick Golf Course with a two-day total of 151 .

The team of Liter, David Rosser, David Alcorn and Zac Laughlin shattered the 9 -hole school record by shooting a team round score of 141 at Sunrise Golf Course. Alcorn said, "It was a huge unexpected honor to break this record."

The team compiled a 16 2 record before tourney play. They placed second in the tough HHC at Otter Creek. Madison ran away with another sectional title before faltering in the regional. Rosser said," We were all disapointed on our finish, but we were glad to see Brent make it."

When the clock struck twelve,the Lady Cub Golfers took synchronized swings at midnight at Cozy Acre Golf Links on July 31, 1998, to hold the first official practice in the state this year. Senior Karen Gorbett said, "I think this was a really great idea to begin our season."

The team ended their season with an impressive record of 40-5 and won the conference and sectional for the second year in a row. The team then travelled to Bedford to face the challenging Otis Park regional course. Due to the hilly fairways and slick greens, the team fell a few stokes short of advancing in the tourney.

Junior Karen Dennison did qualify for the state meet individually. With a twoday total of 156, Dennison placed seventh overall in the state. Dennison said, "... I hit the ball so solid that day and my putter was hot!" Major award winners were: Most Valuable: Karen Dennison; Scholastic Award: Emily Waltz; Captain Award:Kristin Griffith; Most Improved: Stacy Griffith.

dawn to go out into the cold drizzly weather probably wouldn't sound like a desirable way to spend a Saturday; but when the reward is a one-point victory at the Corydon invitational, the glory outweighs the pain. "This was by far the best victory all season," said Head Coach Cheryl Hooton.

The team placed second at both the conference and the sectional. The five-week pre-season conditioning program helped prepare them to compile an outstanding record of 51 and 3. "Conditioning helps bring us together early and build team spirit," said Senior Joy Petscher.
The relay teams broke three records. The 3200 meter relay team consisting of Molly Dattilo, Brooke Carr, Meredith Terrell and Jaman Ferguson now hold the record with a time of 9:50:97. The 1600 meter relay team of Joy Petscher, Kisha Stone, Brooke Carr and Alicia Kimmel broke the record with a time of 4:09:23.

Kisha Stone tied her own high jump record. Stone commented, "I really enjoy doing the high jump. It is so much different than just running."

Although things did not go as planned, Madison again made the record books by competing in five events at state. The 3200 meter relay team of Carr, Terrell, Ferguson, and Heather Williams competed as did Molly Dattilo, who ran in the 800 and 1600 long distance events. Stone participated in the high jump. Carr said, "It was a tough day for us at state but I want to work really hard to prepare for next year."

This is what goes on inside the 28 heads of the 1999 Madison Boys Track team every meet they participate in.

The boys track team went 6 and 12 on the season. They placed eighth in the conference and third in the sectional.

The greatest victory the team tasted this year was the sweet win over Jennings County. The Cubs face the Panthers three times a year and they always seem to give the runners trouble. Senior Andy Miller said, "We compete with them every time, but we seem to always just fall a little short." This year theCubs got over the "hump" and brought home the victory.

Although the team did not qualify for the regional, several team members qualified individually. C.J. Streutker, Andy Miller, Ryan Mitchell, Ty Gray, and Kyle Woodfill all advanced to the regional meet.

Coach Trent Taylor said,"I enjoyed working with these guys; they love to compete". The young team has big hopes next year.

Treasurer Christi Wolfschlag jots down some notes at a meeting where Senior t -shirts were being discussed.

The Senior Advisory Board took care of business for the senior class this year. They organized senior t-shirts, Honors Day, Graduation, and the senior slide show.

It took a group effort to design this year's senior tshirts. Several seniors got together to design the senior shirts, and the advisory board also organized the sell of the shirts. The t-shirts were tiedyed with white lettering. The front of the $t$-shirts had the year of graduation, while the back says, "We've Only Just Begun."

On May 24 the senior advisory board showed the senior class a slide show that was all about the life they shared together. It showed old friends and new friends together, and old times and new times that had been and were being spent together. The advisory board collected pictures for the slide show for about seven weeks and then put the pictures together by grades and added some music to make it more memorable. The music for the slide show was from yesterday and today.

For Honors Day and Graduation the Senior Advisory board organized the student-related activities, such as the student speakers who spoke at both occasions. "I wish we could have done more, but everyone was really busy. 1 think that our slide show, shirts, Honors Day, and Graduation turned out to be good," said Class President Krista O'Neal.

The officers of the senior advisory board are President Krista O'Neal, Vice-President Kristin Griffith, Secretary Jennifer George, Treasurer Christi Wolfschlag. Other members are Angelia Bornstein, Laura Edwards, Megan Little, Felicia Lobb, Katie Hoffman, and Amy Jones.

Peer Counselors meet to discuss activities for prom week. The counselors were a big part of the week.

The announcement coming from overhead is about a teenager dying from an alcohol related car accident. She hadn't been drinking and her father would be so proud of her when she got home, but she would never make it because someone had forgot to tell the other teenage driver not to drink and drive. She would die because someone hadn't told the other driver

This year the peer counselors tried to prevent any alcohol related incidents during prom. They started the week off with a convocation for the whole school presented by a Mississippi State Trooper Pete Collins. They made announcements everyday about drinking and driving. They held a raffle for a free dinner at the Shrimp House, a limousine ride, and a month's membership at Fit for the King on each ticket it said that the peer counselors hoped that everyone would have a safe prom and not drink and drive. They produced a video of a mock wreck and what happens to you and everyone around you when there is alcohol involved during a car accident. They showed the video on the Friday before prom during fourth block. They also had a play called "Endangered Species" that was about AIDS. It was related to alcohol because of the decisions that were made while drinking alcohol and sex was one of them. It talked about how life was for people with AIDS and how having sex with several partners could lead to sexual transmitted diseases.

Peer Counselors' main priority was the elementary students. They would visit the students at were considered at risk and be role models for them. The peer counselors are like a big brother or sister. They also helped out here at the high school giving out college information and tutoring those in need. Mr. Kim Deffenbaugh said that he wanted people to remember, "Peer Counselors are not perfect. They make mistakes too."

Senior NHS member Catherine Richey picks up the choir's recycling bin during Wednesdays resource period. Recycling was a popular community service project among NHS members.

SSrobe lights flash through the pitch black. Someone screams. Someone in a "Scream" mask chases the crowd with a chainsaw. More screams. This is just one of the scary scenes in the first-ever National Honor Society Haunted House. "We started talking about it, but everyone downplayed it like it wouldn't work. We decided to go through with it anyway because we thought it would be fun, and it turned out to be a huge success," said Nick Griffith.
Senior NHS members pulled together several times this year for different activities and projects to become the most active NHS group Madison has ever seen. "Each month there was a group project. No other group did that. There was more people participating in each project and people did a variety of different projects. Groups in the past have done other activities, but this group was by far the best I've ever sponsored," said sponsor Kim

Deffenbaugh.

Projects of NHS included Walk America, a canned food and money drive for Christmas, Toys for Tots, the haunted house, gift wrapping at the State Hospital, Bowl for Kids' Sake, volunteering at the Jewel House, recycling, peer tutoring, prom and graduation activities, and many other individual projects.

NHS President Sarah Brandenburg said, "I liked the way everyone worked together. It made things run a lot smoother when everyone was participating and helping out."
The purpose of NHS is to serve others and to use the excellent and abundant talents of its members to their full extent," said Deffenbaugh.
NHS consisted of 60 seniors who served a minimum of 2 hours a month, and some served up to 40,54 new members were inducted for 1999.

$Y$ou walk into the gymnasium, run up the stairs as fast as your legs will go to get to the Domino's Pizza stand. Have you ever thought about who puts in all the hard work to make sure we have this delicious pizza?

The $\mathrm{Co}-\mathrm{Hi}-\mathrm{Y}$ group runs this pizza stand at every home basketball game to help raise money for various groups. The club profited $\$ 2000$ dollars this year, which was used to help out organizations such as the Campus Crusades, Kids Alero, The Youth Shelter, and to give 3 scholarships for graduating seniors. They also rang bells for the Salvation Army and participated in a cancer-walk-a-thon.

The purpose of $\mathrm{Co}-\mathrm{Hi}-\mathrm{Y}$ is a group of girls and boys who practice clean sports, clean speech, and clean scholarship. Their goal is to maintain and extend Christian living throughout the school and the community. Lesley Cart said, " We owe all of our success to our leader Mr . Jerry Dougan; everything we know he taught us. We will miss him greatly."

Officers for the 98-99 school year were: President: Lesley Cart, Vice President: Karen Dennison, Secretary: Kasey Frazier, CoTreasurers: Steven Weber and Jennifer George, Chaplin: Kevin Crabtree, Sargent at Arms: David Rosser.

Red, yellow, pink, green, and brown were the only colors that could be seen outside when you looked at the trees and the ground. It was the end of fall and the leaves had begun to change colors and fall off of the trees. The foreign language hall was buzzing with excitement as the French Club members opened up their first shipment of advent calenders.

The French Club sold advent calendars for $$ 5.00$ a piece in the end of November. The advent calendars consisted of a piece of chocolate for each day of the month of December up until Christmas.

The French Club teamed up with the Spanish Club and sang Christmas carols at the local nursing home. The French club sang many American songs in French, and they sang "Joyeaux Noel," a French Christmas carol.
The French Club used the money made from the advent calenders to hand out four scholarships on Senior Honor Day. The recipients were Amber Dionne, Nate Kortakrax, Nicole Freeman, and Jessica Gray.

The French Club leaders were President Jessica Gray, Co-Vice President Kyle Crum andCo-VicePresident Tracey Ksiazak, Secretary Katie Knouf, Treasurer Nate Kortokrax, and CoHistorians Aja Bellamy and Nicole Freeman.

History And Travel Club

Under the supervision of English/History teacher Mr. Larry Jones the Travel Club and History Club merged together. "I was already in charge of the Travel Club and sinceK.A. (American Studies teacher Mr. Keith Alexander) had resigned as History Club sponsor and both clubs had the same purpose, I decided to bring them together," said Jones.

This year the History and Travel Club took trips to Washington D.C. to see the Van Gogh exhibit and also to Chicago because the members felt like they needed a spring trip. The club also completes a service project each year. This year's project was making a video on World War II veterans for future students to see.
"It was a lot of fun working with the kids on this project," said Jones. "They really worked hard and it really meant something to them."

This year marked a new beginning for the Intramural Basketball Association (IBA) here at MCHS. Keith Alexander gave up his position after last year's season as the head of the organization. Mark Cheatham took over in the fall of '98 as the new coordinator, Cheatham admitted, "It was quite an experience."

Seven teams participated in the action on Cub court every Tuesday and Thursday night. The teams this year were: The Corporation, The Red Army, The Minute Men, The Brown Dandies, The Girls of Detroit, The Red Necks, and The Electric Amish.

The Minute Men team consisting of Scotty Boldery, Kyle Dunn, Greg Goodknight, Nick Griffith, Joe Jenner, Nate Kortokrax and Ryan Mahoney finished the season with the most victories and were crowned season champs.

When tourney time came around the glory was passed on to the Red Army. Team members Mike Busching, Chad Gray, James Hall, Jesse Hayter, Zac Laughlin, and Blake Thomas took the title.

The season was finalized with competition between the students and a team made up of faculty within the school system. Participants included Mark Cheatam, Barry Cole, Pat Dryden, Tim Fisher, Jim Gavin, Brent Harrell, Greg Ison, Trevor Jones, Brian Satterfield, Tim Whitaker, and Kevin Yancey.

Age and experience proved to be a strengthening factor. The faculty defeated the students with little trouble. Mr. Tim Whitaker enjoyed participating, "It was a very good time."

STUDENT COUNCIL

SStudent Council planned and executed all of the Homecoming activities, Mr. and Miss Cub, and other tings dealing with the student body. Along with these activities, they also bought gifts for the childrenat OVO Headstart and sponsored a spaghetti dinner.
"We decided to have a spaghetti dinner before a basketball game to raise money for our fund," said Student Council President Amber Dionne.

Sponsor Jeff Dhonau said, "This was a very busy, hard-working group. Our projects came in bunches. Amber did a nice job holding everything together. The spaghetti dinner came off as a big success. I really don't see how kids can balance all these responsibilities, like student government, other school activities, sports, and jobs. I know I couldn't have done it."

Student Council consisted of members from each class. All of the offices were held by seniors. "I do Student Council to have a say in what goes on around the school. It really doesn't matter what grade you're in, everybody gets a chance to say what they think," said Sophomore Adrienne Harrell.

Junior Sam Bear commented, "Idid Student Council, not only because it looks good on college and scholarship applications, but because it's something you can look back on and say you were proud to be a part of."

Senior President Elizabeth Auxier stated: "Drama Club is really fun because you get to express yourself in a way you normally wouldn't."

This year's Drama Club did a variety of interesting activities. The year started off as the club put on the all-school play Flowers for Algernon. They also took two trips to see the plays It's a Wonderful Life and Once Upon This Island.

The club ended their exciting year with a picnic awards ceremony. The major award recipients were: Best Thespian: Elizabeth Auxier, Honor Thespians: Kasey Frazier, Kelly Hoagland, Katie Richey, Jamie Whitaker and Earl Ellis.

> IEARNING TO DO DOING TO IEARN LEARNING TO LIVE UMNG TO SERVE

These words are words to live by for the Future Farmers of America. This motto is why they strive to succeed in their community, in their school and within themselves. As a group the Madison Chapter of the FFA were involved in many community activities.
In July of 1998, the FFA set up a booth with a petting zoo and balloons at the county 4 -H fair. In September of 1998, the FFA had an Agriculture Awareness Day. They created sessions about production agriculture and presented to all third grade students in Jefferson County. In November of 1998, nineteen members and two advisors went to Kansas City, Missouri, for the National Convention. On April 30, 1999 they had an Arbor Day Celebration where agriculture students and FFA members planted a tree in honor of the 127th Arbor Day.

Not only has the FFA been busy with their community projects, but they also have been busy with their main fundraiser, the annual fruit sale. This year the FFA raised about $$ 3,000$ in the fruit sale. The highest fruit sales went to Senior Tammie Spicer, second place was Junior Nathen Clubb, and third went to Junior Jason Huff. Many FFA members sold fruit to attend the annual tractor pull.

Retiring officers were President Amanda Coy, Vice President Matthew Schafer, Secretary Bill Graham, Treasurer Jimmy Long, Reporter Levi Neff, and Sentinel Jason Huff. 1999 FFA officers are President Jason Huff, Vice President Adam Schafer, Secretary Bill Graham, Treasurer Jason Copeland, Reporter Jeff Royalty, Sentinel Nathen Clubb, and Jr. Advisor Josh Ferguson. The 1999 Junior Officers are President Jaman Ferguson, Vice President Jordan Stephan, Secretary Kellie Gray, Treasurer Jerry Eaton, Reporter Dustin Massie, and Sentinel Brent King. The advisor over it all is Mrs. Jill Deputy.

Tacos, fajitas, and chimichangas. This year, the Spanish Club traveled to ChiChi's in Clarksville, Indiana for a cultural experience. "It was something else! I had offered to pay for Jenni Dryden's and Tammie Spicer's meal, but I didn't have enough cash. They said they didn't take checks, but finally agreed to. I thought I was going to have to wash dishes," said Senior Jason Leinweber.

Usually, there aren't enough people to go on the trip due to sports participation and after school jobs.

Spanish Club members raised money by selling items from a catalog in order to give out two scholarships at the end of the year. "This group worked very hard to raise enough money for our scholarships and for our pizza party. Some of the younger kids were trying to raise money to pay for a trip to either Mexico or Spain next year. I really enjoyed working with this group of students," said Sra. Angela Elswick, Spanish Club sponsor.

Senior Kelly Culp was the president of Spanish club. At meetings, Culp translated what Sra. Elswick told the group in Spanish. "It's cool to be able to translate from Spanish to English, but only when I knew what she [Elswick] was talking about," said Culp.

Spanish Club gives its members a chance to experience the culture and language of Hispanic people beyond the classroom.

TRIVIAL PURSUIT

The category is history. The question is: What war saw US soldiers first issued toothbrushes? The ordinary high school student probably doesn't know the answer to this question, but the odds are that a member of the Trivial Pursuit Club does.
"It's a lot of fun. It's stuff we like. Some people know one category while others know different ones, that is what makes it fun. It's a personal pride thing," said Junior Kyle Crum.

Members of the Trivial Pursuit Club gathered each

Wednesday after school to play. Senior Micah Hofferth said, "We just grabbed whoever wanted to play, split up into teams and played. I just played to beat Mr. Gavin!"
"The Trivial Pursuit Club was something I started over at the Junior High. The game asks a lot of school-related questions as well as off-the-wall questions. It is good training for the HiQ team that competes on television," said sponsor Jim Gavin.

The Beginn

The beginning of a new year, the beginning of the rest of our lives. Many of us will begin our journeys into the real world. Some will move across the country, some around the world, and some will stay here in Madison. We will go our separate ways into college life, career, and family life.

MCHS students have accomplished various goals, including breaking sports records, success at academic competitions, including sending three Super Bowl teams to state and the Fine Arts team coming home as State Champions, and seniors being accepted into the colleges of their choice. These successes will carry us far into the future.

David Bibbs, Tyler Keith and Troy Courtney wear their mole T-shirts in Mrs. Susan Robinson's 1st block Chemistry I class. The class celebrated Molar Equinox Day with food and other festivities.

Closing

Kelly Culp, Zeb Phagan, Amy Jones and Laura Edwards help plant a tree downtown to participate in Arbor Day activities. These students were encouraged to contribute to their community by their government teacher Mr. Benny Newell. Mr. Newell's government classes include community service as a course requirement.

Junior Josh Marshall fakes death after he is hit by a drunk driver inthe mock wreck sponsored by the National Honor Society and Peer Counselors. This wreck was created to warn teenagers about the dangers of drinking and driving. The mock wreck was shown in classrooms the Friday before prom.

The beginning of 1999 left us stranded at home for two weeks, with several inches of snow and ice making driving hazardous. For the first time in years, we gathered together in the cafeteria for the NHS winter semi-formal.

March brought us into sports tournaments and spring break. We traveled all over the world, from Florida to France, from the Caribbean to Italy, and returned safely to support our Cubs in the semi-state basketball tournaments.

A surge of violence in schools caused fear in the hearts of many. With the shooting and bombing of Columbine High School in Littleton, Colorado, security in school became heightened. The end of the year brought bomb threats to MCHS, and with these came police patrolling the hallways, book-bag searches, classrooms being locked throughout the day, and for the last week of school, bookbags were prohibited. On Wednesday, May 19, after a safety evacuation due to the bomb threats, there were 620 of 1032 total students absent from school.

Pre-prom and graduation activities brought us together in the gym for convocations with former UK basketball player Cameron Mills, Mississippi State Trooper Pete Collins, and local law enforcement officials. Many students signed a pledge not to drink and drive on prom weekend.

Senior Katie Hoffman lies on the hood of her wrecked car during the taping of the mock wreck. In the short film the passengers of Katie's car were at a graduation party, then wrecked after they left the party for more booze.

Although the bomb threats put a damper on the last few days of school, these seniors didn't let that stop them from taking a group shot with their senior T-shirts during an evacuation from the school. Row 1: Kari Park. Row 2: Gina Thompson, Susan Wehner, Kristi Nichols, Krista O'Neal, Jennifer George, Kristin Griffith, Amber Dionne, Lisa Mahoney. Row 3: Melinda Duncan, Shelly Fowler, Kami Bryant. Row 4: Jeff Obertate, Bryan Bullington, C.J. Streutker, Jeremy Buchanan, Otis Chatham, Jimmy Long, Nicole Freeman, Bobby Furnish.

Senior Amy Jones can't believe she is at risk for AIDS in the Peer Counseling and National Honor Society sponsored play Endangered Species. Other cast members included Seniors Sarah Brandenburg, Nick Griffith, Bryan Bullington, Christi Wolfschlag and Joe Jenner. This play was an honest representation of the ignorance that surrounds AIDS in small towns like Madison.

Mr. Tom Garrett, math teacher at Madison Consolidated High, assumes the duties of a security guard during the week of the bomb threats. All bookbags and purses were checked before students could enter the building.

For seniors, college and career choices have been made.
We were forced to say goodbye to many of our friends. Seniors could be exempt from final exams by having an A in a class for both 9-week grading periods. Seniors bonded together to show their unity with tie-dyed senior t -shirts during the last week of school.

And so, another year at MCHS leaves us behind and a new one greets us where the old one left off. We will always remember our years here together as the beginning of the rest of our lives brings and end to the school year, the decade, the century, and the millennium.

On a school-sponsored trip to Italy, sophomores DawnSmith, Kayla Hawkins, Hillary Monroe, Meredith Terrell, Ani Bridges and Lindsay Johnson take an ice cream break alfresco style. This group of friends took this trip over spring break.

Senior Brandon Johnson participates in the Honors Day cerimony by playing his trumpet. Brandon will further his musical talents in the Marine Corps Band.

Colophon

Volume 72 of the 1999 Mahisco Yearbook, "...The End, The Beginning...." was produced and designed by the yearbook staff under close supervision of adviser LeAnne Eberts and co-editors-in-chief Kristin Griffith and Nichole Constant. The book was printed by Walsworth Publishing Company in Marceline, Missouri. Our yearbook representative was Jeff Bell and the plant customer service representative was Linda J. Langford. There was a press run of about 500 books which sold for $$ 35$.

The cover is a four-color lithograph with leather grain applied.
All body copy is Palatino

11 point. All captions are 10 point Helvetica. Display fonts for headlines vary by section of the book.

All senior class portraits were taken by Michael Heitz of Michael Heitz Studio. Underclassmen portraits were taken by Gary McClurg of Olan Mills.

All layouts were produced on Adobe PageMaker 6.5 for disk submission.
