My Flute By Lindsay Zehren

I learned about Vietnam today
Some thirty years later in school
It got me so mad
I just could not understand Why you would risk your life to save that world.
I tried to imagine the fear
I tried to imagine the pain
I tried to imagine what was inside your mind
I see now why you went insane
I wonder how it felt
To hold a fallen friend in your arms
While watching them around you die
You held that gun in your hand
Trying your best to be a man
Biting your lip so you wouldn't cry
And I wish I could have been alive back then
To be there to welcome you home
I would have run into your arms
And proudly waved my flag
And played my flute when the band didn't show
I tried to imagine the letter home
I tried to imagine our parent's pain I tried to imagine what was inside your girlfriend's mind
I see now why she went insane
I wonder how it felt for your parents to get that star
While watching some soldiers come home
They held that flag in their hands
Your dad he couldn't be a man
Your mom she couldn't help but cry
And I wish I could have been alive back then
To be there to welcome you home
I would have softly touched your coffin
And proudly waved my flag
And played my flute when the band didn't show
I learned about Vietnam today
And I could not help but cry
Why were there no answers
I just couldn't understand Why so many bold men had to die
I tried to imagine what you could have become
I tried to imagine your dreams
I tried to imagine as I gently touched that wall
To you what did Vietnam really mean
And I wish I could have been alive back then
To thank you before you left home
I would have run into your arms
And proudly waved my flag
When the band didn't show

In Memory Of...

We feel sad,
for what we have lost.

We feel happy,
for what we have had.

We feel poor,
for the empty spaces.

We feel rich,
for we have each other.

We will cry,
for what we can't have.

We will laugh,
for our memories abound.

We will hurt,
for the love we can't give

We will rejoice,
for the love we have recieved.

We will be restless,
for our lives are not whole.

We will be peaceful,
for we know it is not forever.

Annette Hamilton
