FOREWORD

In keeping with the rising tide of enthusiasm and school spirit in M. H. S., the Senior Class of 1935 published this annual. This annual is made possible by the student body to whom we extend our appreciation. We have published it to further enthusiasm and school spirit in M. H. S. For this cause we extend our work, this book.

DEDICATION

In gratitude and appreciation for his efforts in making our high school years pleasant and profitable, in acknowledgement of his genuine interest in each of us, and of his fine character which has set a high standard of conduct as an example for us to follow; we, the Senior Class of nineteen hundred thirty-five, dedicate our annual to Mr. Salm, our principal and friend.

Lotz, Rodgers, Smith, Salm, Beer, Sherman, Cottman,

SENIOR CLASS

Officers

President	Wanda Miller
Vice President	Buddy Harper
Secretary	Sally Virginia Otrich
Treasurer	Mary Battles

Class Colors-----Green and White
 Class Motto-----"Live pure, speak true, right wrong, serve the King--else, wherefore born?"
 Class Flower-----White Rose and Green Fern

From the time that the Seniors filed into the assembly to the strains of their class song till they left singing "Far the well, M.H.S." the whole class day program was voted a huge success. Every minute was filled to the brim with nonsense, fun, and frolic and the audience seldom stopped laughing.

The program was as follows:

The Class History-----Marjorie Sauer
 The Class Poem-----Catherine Wallace
 The Class Will-----Betty Quinn
 The Class Prophecy-----Paul Steinhardt,
 Wm. Thomas, Sally V. Otrich, and Joe Cox.

The main affair on the program was the amateur hour with Joe Cox as Master of Ceremonies. The following amateurs performed to the great delight of the students:

A piano solo-----John Peddie
 A harmonica solo-----Luther Giltner
 A Bed-time story-----Bunny Ames
 The Lullaby of Broadway-----John Blake
 The Quick Queen Quirkers of Quaint Quiet
 Queens---Elizabeth Turner & Molly Hargitt
 A combination of the hoochie-koochie, popular,
 and classical dance-Paul Steinhardt,
 Sally Otrich, John Cox, M.E. Crawford, and Buddy Harper.

As is usual in most amateur hours the gong was in frequent use and the program was voted the best in several years. The music was furnished by Charles Damaree and several Juniors and Seniors and the hilarious afternoon was thoroughly enjoyed.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

A sigh of relief! A feeling of triumph! We are exalted for have we not attained that most envious of all positions? We are Seniors!

Let us now take a glimpse into the past to see what we have done, how many obstacles we have overcome, how many honors we have achieved.

'31-32

Clara Crutchlow was our Freshman president. Marjorie Sauer and David Patterson, the Freshman representatives, were very active in the Booster Club. Paul Steinhardt and Joe Cox lead the yells for the green and white.

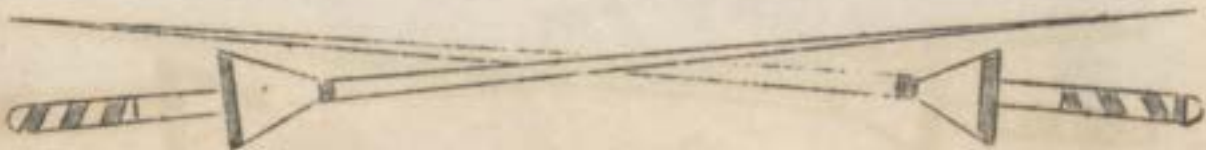

'32-'33

Having left our Freshman days behind us, we felt more important this year. The honor of class president was bestowed upon Wanda Miller. This year our class was well represented in all the organizations and activities. The Sophomore girls won a glorious victory in the Interclass Basketball Tourney. We elected Catherine Wallace, Bill Amos, Sally Otrich, and William Smith as our Booster Club members. We were represented in the School Play, "I Will, I Won't", by Betty Quinn and Paul Steinhardt.

'33-'34

After an enjoyable vacation we returned to school as upper classmen. Under the leadership of Paul Steinhardt, we Juniors had a very successful and active year. Joe Cox, Sally Otrich, Wanda Miller, and Gerald Amos were elected as our Booster Club representatives, and Joe Cox and Alene Peake were elected school yell leaders. Three members of our class, Catherine Wallace, Paul Steinhardt and Molly Hargitt, rated the school play. Philip Layton, Gerald Amos, William Smith, and Ben Schnabel made the varsity. After winning two thrilling games, our girls again won the Interclass Tourney.

With expert assistance from Miss Lotz, Junior sponsor, and much preparation on our part, we succeeded in giving the out-going Seniors a most memorable prom.

The last year! When we were Freshmen, it seemed as if it would be a long, long time before we were ready to graduate. Now we can hardly realize that the time has passed so rapidly and we are ready to graduate. And, too, when we were Freshmen, the Seniors seemed remote and demanded our respect. From all appearances, we have lost that precious quality "dignity".

This year Wanda Miller was chosen to guide our destinies. Molly Hargitt, Clara Crutchlow, Bob McCauley, and John Blake were elected Booster Club members. Our class contributed three men, William Smith, William Thomas, and Ben Schnabel, to the varsity squad. Alene Peake, Molly Hargitt, Paul Steinhardt, and John Peddie contributed their dramatic talents to help make the school play a big success. This year the boys succeeded in winning the Round Robin Tourney, and the girls again came through, after a desperate struggle, winning their Interclass for the third time in succession.

Following the example of the classes of '33 and '34, we undertook the annual. This year, for the first time in several years, the Senior Play will have a double cast. Class Day, The Junior-Senior Prom, Baccalaureate, Commencement, and all the other activities caused the last few weeks to pass quickly, and though they be gone, we will never forget them.

CLASS WILL

We, the members of the 1935 class of Madison High School, city of Madison, Jefferson county, and state of Indiana, possessive of superhuman wisdom and intellect, do establish this as our last will and testament.

Article I.

Individual Bequests:

Emerson Wilson

has seen fit to leave his Clark Gable smile to Russell Thomas. Emerson says practice makes perfect-so may we suggest a mirror, Russell?

Marjorie Sauer

wills her two-dollar words and drawl to Richard Zeph. There's an art to using them effectively, Rick.

Floyd Lane

bequeaths his magazines to Mac Nowlin. Hide them from Mr. Beer, Mac.

Catherine Wallace

leaves her patience and perseverance with her hair to Anna. M. Pender.

Luther Giltner

wills his curls to Bob Finch. Wouldn't Bob make a cute little Lord Fauntleroy?

Evelyn Dew

leaves her artful use of cosmetics to Edna Miller.

Bob McCauley

bequeaths his mischeivously twinkling eyes to "Sleepy" Harris. Keep awake in assembly periods now, Eugene.

Alene Peake

bequeaths her pep, vim, and vigor to Wm. Crawford. Get hot, Bill.

Bradford Roberts

leaves his "tete-e-tetes" with Mr. Reul in study hall to Billy Simmons. What is it Mr. Reul, the red hair?

Helen Smith
wills the dimple in her chin to "Sugar" Kalb.

John Hoefling
bequeaths his foreign (?) accent and individual vocabulary to Lillian Finch.

Wanda Miller
leaves her debonair manner to Elbert Wolfe.

Ben Schnabel
bequeaths his bountiful supply of chewing tobacco to Joe Joyce. Don't forget to pass it on before singing, Joe.

Eleanor Uebele
leaves her long walks to and from school to all the
"river-lovers".

Joe Cox
wills his delicious sense of humor to the faculty. Perhaps you shouldn't have been so hasty, Joe. How can you ever get thru life without it?

Mary E. Meyers
leaves her knowledge of fundamentals to Bernard Hoagland
A little studying now and then might help.

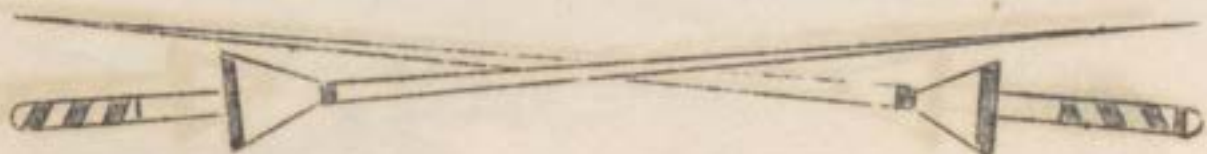

David Patterson
bequeaths his position in the Hi-Y band to Bob Perry.
Study up on the German technique, Bobby.

Mary L. Franciaco
wills her natural curls to Una o'Neal.

John Genter
leaves his pipe to Betsy Vincent. Doesn't this complete your Sherlock Holmes makeup, Betsy?

Molly Hargitt
wills her blond tresses to Ann Glauber. Molly feels so sorry for brunettes.

Bill Amos
wills his ability to wiggle his ears to Perin Scott.
New diversion, Perin.

Mary Battles

bequeaths the significance of her last name to Bill Black. A little battle now and then is relished by the best of men, eh, Bill?

Gerald Amos

wills his magnetic personality to Edis Anderson. Be careful of the girls now, Edis.

Betty Quinn

wills her style and neatness in dress to every girl in high school so that the M. H. S. girls will be classed as the best dressed girls in America.

John Blake

bequeaths his passionate love for trains to Frank Froh. John thinks Frank should be brought down to earth.

Mary. E. Crawford

wills her inquisitiveness to "Ticker" Scott so that he might get up enough curiosity to find out what his lessons are about.

Clifford Hassfurther

leaves his "never-say-die" attitude and sportsmanship to anyone worthy of such good traits.

Jeanette Turner

wills her demure manner to George Black. Won't George make a sweet demure little boy?

Paul Steinhardt

bequeaths his ability to do many things well to Richard Holsclaw.

Margaret Lynn

leaves her tiny feet to John Reed. By the way, what size do you wear, Johnny?

Nathan Cowan

leaves his baseball ability to Charles Powell so that Mr. Rodgers can look forward to a star player next year.

Chester Lodge

wills his magnitude of size to Elmer Dalhem.

Elizabeth Turner
wills her voice to Billy Perry. Somebody requests "My Dear" for your first solo, Bill.

Sally Otrich
leaves her ability to get along with the teachers to Kenneth Geisler. See Sally for particulars, Kenneth.

John Peddie
bequeaths his ability to play the piano to Willie Poin-dexter. Quite different from basket-ball, eh Willie?

Clara Crutchlow
leaves her speaking ability to future Public-Speaking classes. Something to look forward to, Miss Sherman.

John Cox
wills his good looks to George Graham with the expectation of seeing "Grump" on the screen some day.

Lucille Blaze
leaves her gentle voice to Bernard Rousch, for the safety of ear-drums in Benny's vicinity.

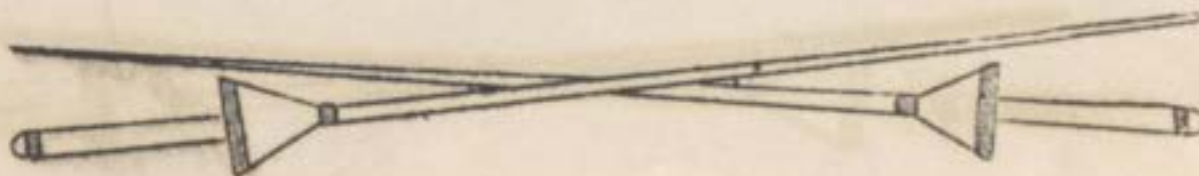

Ponny Layton
bequeaths his invincible good humor to assembly teachers so that they may appreciate Tommy Klein's practical jokes.

Alice Darosett
wills her dark secretive eyes to Helen Boggess.

Maurice Hoffman
leaves his dark complexion and hair to Dale Harrod.

Ruth Layton
bequeaths her athletic ability to Mary. L. Greiner and Louise Thomas so the Juniors may win a B. B. tournament before they get out of school.

Melvin Schnabel
leaves his originality to Carol Pender. Enough said, eh, "Doc"?

Jack Calloway

wills his spectacles to Jean Montgomery. Jack gathers the fact that Jean must have some serious optical defect from the way she rolls her eyes.

William Thomas

leaves his "steen" passenger car to sister, Olive. How could west-end students possibly do without it?

Charles Peake

wills his mechanical drawing ability to Fay Moore so that he can continue his friendship with Mr. Hodgers.

Martha King

bequeaths her auburn hair to Martha Keelty. Now Martha and Jane Server can be twin pals.

Buddy Harper

leaves his long and lanky form to Barney Griffin.

William Smith

bequeaths his determined chin to Kenny McKay.

Ted McKay

wills his "box-car" ears to Garnet Lane.

Ruth Lockridge

leaves her serious nature to Ruth Hancock and Mary K. Quinn. Won't school be peaceful at last?

Article II.

We, the class of '35 leave to M. H. S. our best wishes and good will.

To the Juniors we will our dignity and other traits befitting those who have achieved the exalted position of being members of a Senior Class.

To the underclassmen we bequeath the advise to respect your elders and keep out of their way in the corridors.

In witness whereof, we have hereunto affixed our seals this 17th day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand, nine hundred and thirty-five.

Class of 1935.

CLASS PROPHECY

This is station M. H. S. operating over 576 kilolots in the city of New York on May 17, 1960. We bring to you at this time one hour of unparalleled entertainment through the courtesy of C. Wallace and E. Wilson's Wear Well Wooden Wheel Wedges With Waxed Winding for Weary Workers. Today is a day of days for the participants in this radio program-it is the anniversary of our first broadcast over this station. Since this is a rather special occasion it would perhaps be appropriate to give a brief review of the performers who provide entertainment over M.H.S. on this program. For five years Emerson Wilson, the manufacturer, and Catherine Wallace, the designer, have been benefiting the public by the manufacture of their product and by the presentation of this program of fun and frolic. At the present there are more Wallace and Wilson's Wooden Wheel Wedges being sold than any other type of wheel wedges and we wish to congratulate our sponsors on their really wonderful record.

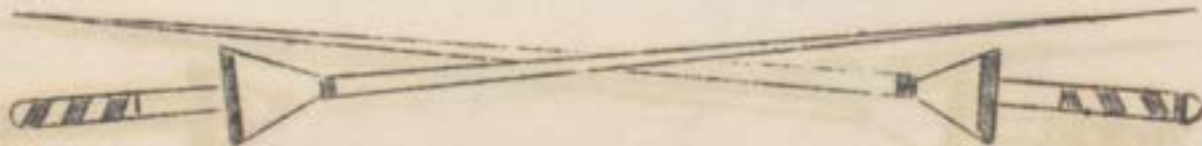

First of all comes our orchestra, rated as one of the best bands on the air. Johnny Genter and his Germans have given you many a happy hour of real enjoyment and their theme song "Ach Du Leiber" is a favorite in every home. In connection with the orchestra there are three individuals who have contributed greatly to the popularity of our hour. For after all what is music without song? Miss Elizabeth Turner, billed as the Songbird of Main Street, has again and again and yet again thrilled her listeners with her liquid notes. No program could boast a more proficient and effective crooner than Luther Giltner, the idol of the air waves, who has developed his style of murmuring into the mike to perfection. And last but not least comes our instrumental soloist David Patterson. Back in 1935 it was Rubinoff and his violin but now it is Patterson and his double-belled euphonium. Next on the list is our belined and hilarious comedian, John Peddie. What a guy! What wise cracks! What humor! He has just finished playing for a successful season on Broadway with the 1960 Follies and, due to his natural voice breaking stunt and simple wholesome philosophy, is considered to be a combination of Ed Wynn and Will Rogers. Then as a special feature of every program we always have a guest artist. Two weeks ago it was Mel Schnabel, the world famous sports writer who has built up an unparalleled reputation along that line. Mel has just returned from Europe where he has been collecting data for his new book "The World's Ten Greatest Athletes". Two famous Americans listed were the All Around Woman's Champion of the U.S.A.--Ruth Layton. She is by far the most prominent woman in the athletic world, having broken all records pertaining to participation in games of all types. The other athlete was Gerald Amos who last year won the International Award for Sportsmanship and athletic ability. Both Mr. Amos and Miss Layton have been invaluable in the Olympic games and are now in Hollywood, making short features devoted to sports. Our second guest were the most famous song and dance team of modern times--Clifford Hassfurther and Penny Layton. This couple with their perfectly harmonizing voices and rhythmic dance routines have given us a half hour of unforgettable entertainment. When not broadcasting they star for the winter in Ted McKay's Scandals. And by the way, Mr. McKay left for Europe today to line up some new talent for his coming Scandals, to open soon in New York for an unusually lengthy run. However this week our guest artist is William Thomas, the popular and enthusiastic news commentator. He will give you a demonstration of his pleasant style of presenting the news of the times that once gained him an audience with the crowned heads of Europe. I now present William Thomas---

"How do you do everybody, how do you do. I'm very happy to be with you tonight but now for my information.--Of course as all of you know, the attention of the whole country was focused today on the little town of Madison in Southern Indiana on the Ohio. This afternoon the President of the United States travelled from Louisville up the river to Madison where he took a large part in the celebrations there. This year marks the fifth anniversary of President Joe Cox's successful and epoch-making administration. Through all problems and difficulties he has remained the simple charming character who was elected to the presidency in 1955, after an expenditure of $5,000,000 for votes. We must not forget that due to his leadership there is a car in every garage and a chicken in every pot. He is accompanied by the vice president, his brother John Cox. Indeed it is an often discussed fact that due to John Cox's magnetic personality that the office of vice president is almost as important as the presidency. It was a wise move to elect the two Coxes to the presidencies--economical too because with the several comunistic riots lately the President has been closely guarded. If he should by chance be assassinated the names and initials on the party propoganda, White House stationery, cars and linens would not have to be charged at a great expense. Besides Mr. John Cox is really a brilliant individual was proved by his efficient handling of the foreign situation in Hangi Fangi. Others present were Maurice Hoffman, U. S. senator, John Blake, railroad magnate, Charles Peake ambassador to Bradrobfordbertia and Mary Elizabeth Crawford, constructive engineer. Senator Hoffman is generally famous for his bill--popularly known as the Hoffman Highway Holding Handbill by the Boat Builders Boulder Bid which is supposed to be one of the most complicated theoretical bill of alltime. There are three separate theories about its contents but it is estimated that only 36 people in America can understand the theories. Needless to say the bill was passed by both houses of Congress. Mr. John Blake has just finished an important conference with the President on the subject of bigger and better badges for railroad employees. Mr. Blake also presented some of his own unparalled sketches of engines and is supposed to concentrate on a special type of train which has been his ideal since childhood---the 6:18!

Mary Elizabeth Crawford is of course one of the principal figures in this celebration at Madison. It was she who designed the world famous stream-lined bridge. which has been erected crossing the river at this point-----the bridge which is the reason for the visit of these celebrities to witness its dedication. Miss Crawford's new designs have made radical changes in engineering circles. Charles Peake, prominent diplomat, has lately returned to smuch needed vacation from the capital of BRADROBFORDBERTIA where his headquarters are stationed. Mr. Peake has had many difficulties with the dictator of that country, Bradford Roberts, in his struggle for law and order but by his marked ability has managed to keep peace. Bradford Roberts, notorious adventurer and revolutionary general is ruling Bradrobfordbertia with an iron hand and getting splendid results. Mr. Roberts is expected to join with Hitler and Mussolini at an International Dictators Conference soon.

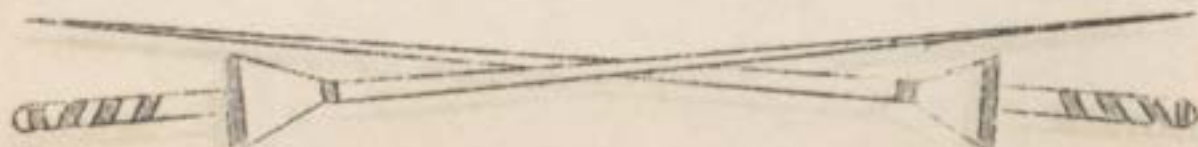

With many other less notable officials the party embarked on "The Helen O' the Hills" a steamboat expecially provided for the purpose. The captain Mr. Bob McCauley took great interest in pointing out places of interest to his distinguished guests during the trip--he has been captain of this boat for many years and is quite a character being known affectionately up and down the river as "Steam Boat Bob." About two in the afternoon the President and his retinue arrived at Madison and there he was formally greeted by the mayor of Madison and the governor of Indiana. The governor, as you know, is Floyd Lane one of the radical advocates for the progressive movement of using green paint on horns instead of red. Mr. Lane is expected to speak over this station soon on this subject and his startling conclusions will no doubt shock the conservative elements. Mr. Jack Calloway, newly elected mayor of Madison is to be congratulated on his superb arrangements for the comfort of the members of the dedication program. His management of the whole affair was as Mr. Cox so appropriately remarked "very charming". Mr. Calloway is a great success as mayor, having paved 49 streets, built 54 new schools, repaired 83 leaky roofs and abolished crime, graft, politics, and vice. He had thoughtfully provided the famous defective--pardon me--I mean detective--Nathan Cowan to guard the president. Mr. Cowan is best known as the capturer of the kidnapers of the famous classical dancer, Betty Quinn. This crime aroused the whole civilized world as Miss Quinn is extremely popular and her subsequent rescue was hailed with joy by all. Miss Quinn will dance her well known "Spring Dance" at special request before King David of England this coming week and her original and graceful steps will no doubt increase the favors already shown her by the erstwhile Prince of Wales. Needless to say the President felt quite safe in Mr. Cowan's efficient charge.

At three the dedication ceremonies began and after many speeches reached its climax, Miss Molly Hargitt, famous screen star, christened the bridge. Miss Hargitt who is hailed as the successor to Jean Harlow journeyed yesterday from her palatial home in Beverly Hills to attend the dedication. Tomorrow she will return to continue the production of "The Sinister Sister" in which she is to share the honors with Ben Schnabel. Ben, it is rumored, was chosen to play opposite Miss Hargitt because of the contrast of his dark fatal beauty. He is the leading exponent in the fad for strong, silent men and is rated as one of the screens most versatile lovers. Clark Gable, it seems, was a mere child in comparison. The ceremonies were completed at forty--'leven minutes after 'steen o 'clock and the whole nation is applauding Miss Crawford's creation and the world-wide progress marked by this event.

Almost ranking with this occurrence in importance is the record of the marathon flight in which Bill Amos and Clara Crawford are engaged. It is seldom that the papers do not flaunt headlines announcing another almost impossible feat accomplished by this daring pair. At present they are encircling the globe for the fourteenth time in their effort to prove that prolonged flying in circles does not necessarily produce dizziness. They give their best wishes to their public and are endeavoring to make good their ambition. A slight dizziness was observed by those present when the couple took off but contrary to the expectations of their friends who believe this affliction to be permanent, they are reported to be doing very well.

When they land an examination will be conducted by the noted physician, William Smith. Dr. Smith is best known for his unparalleled example of skill in his operation on John Hoefling, multi-millionaire and financier. From Mr. Hoefling's brain cells, he removed several articles which have often caused him trouble---a safety pin, two marbles, a piece of slightly used chewing gum and three Saturday Evening Post subscriptions. Dr. Smith was ably aided by his competent nurse, Martha King. Miss King is rumored to be engaged to one of her wealthiest patients, and if a marriage ensues, will rank third highest on the list of the richest women in the world. Mr. Hoefling, however, is progressing nicely at his Long Island estate attended by his fleet of yachts, retinue of servants, and a various collection of 497 automobiles. Hm, hm, hm, he's going to get over it.

Another item that is receiving a lot of publicity is the lawsuit between the firm of Battles and Turner and their erstwhile employee--Miss Lucille Blaze. Both sides have refused to give any information to the press. To those who are not acquainted with the matter, Mary Battles and Jeanette Turner, two of the world's most successful business women, are managers of New York's largest and best dog kennels. Miss Blaze was formerly employed as private secretary to the directresses. The suit is supposedly on some personal matter. Miss Blaze is unusually talented along this line and is the author of the well-known slogan which has appealed to thousands of our population and caused the purchase of many a canine pet, "Baby Take A Bow-Wow." The lawyer for the defendant is the renowned corporation lawyer, G. F. Harper of whom it has been said "ex post facto ipse dicit ex libris." Mr. Harper says as usual that his clients intentions are the most honorable and innocent in the world. Well, Miss Blaze, that's his story and you're stuck with it.

And here's an interesting bit of news from the navigation burear. Tomorrow night the S. S. Ivory will sail, and on board will be four of the United States most prominent citizens and incidentally notorious taxpayers. One passenger is Mary Louise Francisco, the noted actress of the stage who is sailing for London where she will star in the popular mystery play, "Button, Button, Who Has The Button." Miss Francisco's appearance is slated to attract large crowds to her opening night and her presence will no doubt perturb some of the great London actresses who probably resent such overwhelming competition. She travels in the company of Sally Virginia Otrich well known authoress. Miss Otrich is the author of several best sellers and current favorites among which is the novel which forms the basis for Miss Francisco's new play. Miss Otrich and Miss Francisco's are to be the guests of Lady Smith-McFerguson, the former Wanda Miller is at present the leading socialite of London. Her balls are the wonder of the capital and her bouyant personality amazes and fascinates London society. Fellow-voyagers of the actress and authoress are the African explorer, Evelyn Dew, and the poetess Mary Elizabeth Meyers. Miss Dew is sailing to Timbuctoo where she intends to depart for regions unknown. Her personal preference is the Hawaiian Islands which seem to be best suited to her personality but she is planning to push on into the interior in an attempt to verify the rumor that a race of superhuman men exist in the utmost wilderness. We wonder if Miss Dew's slogan, "Bring 'Em Back Alive' will be put into effect in this case. Mary Elizabeth Meyers is bound for Italy where she hopes to find inspiration for a set of Italian sonnets. Miss Meyers is one of the most picturesque and colorful figures of our times. She is hailed as the successor to Gertrude Stein and their respective poetry does bear a faint resemblance ---except for the fact that while Miss Stein insisted on two reproductions of everything, Miss Meyers requires at least five.

Our attention is again centered on Europe to trace the career of one of the world's most colorful personalities--that of Marjorie Sauer, the famous traveling journalist. This type of work is extremely dangerous, hazardous, and otherwise perilous--in short it is not recommended for people with weak hearts. Wherever there is a war, a disturbance or a riot Miss Sauer is sure to be there with her trusty notebook and pencil. So successful have been her reports to her paper that Miss Sauer is to compose a travel book, depicting her own adventures. It is predicted however, that this will read more like a Baron Munchausen story.

And folks--here's a flash---Lady Smith McFerguson is to have another guest, that great recluse and American educator, Chester Lodge. He was yesterday knighted by King David in gratitude for his splendid efforts to educate the illiterate millions of the world. So now it is Sir Chester Lodge, the idol of little children everywhere.

So with this I must leave you for the present and I'll turn the program over to the station announcer and say--So long until tomorrow!

I'm sure I don't need to say how much we've enjoyed Mr. Thomas's comments---that would be too obvious. But now for a few announcements. We wish to extend our sincere thanks to Mr. Paul Steinhardt, editor of the New York Sun. Without his aid which has been of unestimatable value, Mr. Thomas could not have given his report. Mr. Steinhardt has by unceasing efforts built up a system of obtaining and distributing news that has never before been equaled. The New York Sun always contains the latest and best news and is the marvel of news paper critics everywhere. It is said that his success along this line is due to his experience when publishing his high school paper.

But now a word or two about our product. It has been insinuated that Wallace and Wilson's Wheel Wedges are not practical. We offer a positive contradiction to this fact by Mrs. Payne Rutherford, formerly Peggy Lynn. She is a housewife in Southern Greenland--her home perfect and hospitable. She says, "I really don't know what Payne and I would do without Wallace and Wilson's Wheel Wedges--they satisfy. We consider this as reliable proof of the practicability of our wheel wedges as Mrs. Rutherford's home is as fine a one as could be discovered anywhere. Another complaint is that Wallace and Wilson's Wheel Wedges are not reliable. One of New York's most fated society matrons, Mrs. Dyke Van Dyke, formerly Helen Smith says, "I have used Wallace and Wilson's Wheel Wedges all my life and can recommend them fully----"Not a cog in a carload." And when a woman of New York's select four hundred endorses a product, it is a statement of fact. There is one more subject to be dealt with--are Wallace and Wilson's wheel wedges enduring? "Of course, your wheel wedges are enduring," says Mrs. Oliver T. Wedgeworth, formerly Alene Peake, writing from Shanghai, China. Mrs. Wedgeworth is the wife of the well known missionary Oliver T. Wedgeworth. In a poll taken recently she was voted the perfect missionary's wife. All through her girlhood, it is said, Mrs. Wedgeworth has prepared herself for this destiny. She is head of all the schools in Shanghai and is dearly beloved by all her pupils. Certainly her word should have some weight in determining the endurance of our wheel wedges.

Therefore since Wallace and Wilson's Wooden Wheel Wedges with Vaxed Winding for Weary Workers are reliable, practical and enduring--we urge you to lay in a supply immediately. And at this time I wish to announce that our guest artists will be Ruth, Alice, and Eleanor that humorous trio who have taken the place of Clara, Lu, and Em. Known to their friends as Ruth Lockridge, Alice Darosett, and Eleanor Uebele, their overnight success in radio bids fair to rival Amos and Andy. They are at present touring the country in vaudeville but will open at the Palace theatre in a few days.

Ladies and Gentlemen--this is station M.H.S. signing off-----!

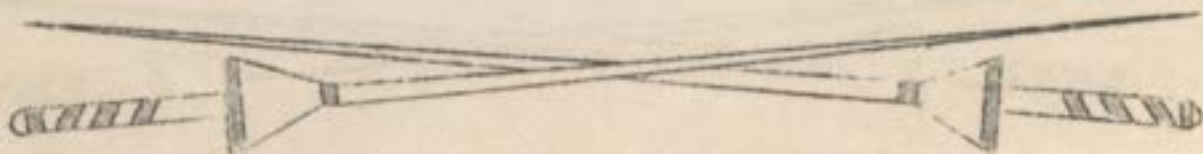

PLAY JOHN-----!

"COURAGEOUS CONNIE"

Mrs. Ada Carter, a widow with a grown son and daughter, owns and operates a grocery store in a small town in Ohio. After some years, the increasing competition of the chain stores puts Mrs. Carter in great financial distress. Constance Carter, her daughter, sensing the situation at home, returns from college, and undertakes to reorganize the store and put it on a modern basis. Her efforts prove to be fruitless, however, when Mrs. Carter incurs the enmity of the town's richest citizen, Martin Mears, by refusing to marry him and he sets out to ruin the entire Carter family.

Conditions go from bad to worse and matters are made even more embarrassing over the fact that Herbert Mears is in love with Constance and asks her to marry him. As the result of a scene at the Carter home between Herbert, his father, and the Carters, Herbert leaves town without informing anyone of his whereabouts.

In the meantime, Constance's roommate at college, Rose Glenarn, and her mother come to pay the Carters a visit and Mrs. Glenarn immediately recognizes Martin Mears as her husband's former business partner who had swindled her husband out of a large sum of money in a business deal. Martin Mears, alias Philip Brandon, sees that his bluff is up and retires from the picture as gracefully as he can after Mrs. Glenarn receives his chain of stores as compensation in a law suit. Mrs. Glenarn makes Constance general manager of the stores and Ralph publicity manager and thus puts the Carters back on their feet.

Wade Benson, a faithful friend of the Carter's who has stood by them all through their adversity, loses his heart to Myra Mears; Ralph Carter and Rose Glenarn come to the conclusion that they are intended for each other; and the scene is complete when Herbert returns to claim Constance's love.

Napoleon Jones, the station agent, Suzanne Bergere, (alias Susie Berger to the home folks) the local music-teacher, and Pinkie White, the colored maid are chiefly responsible for the comedy aspect of the play and contribute much to the general entertainment.

SENIOR POEM

Four happy years of life we've spent
In M. H. S. so dear--
But now the time for us to part
Is sadly drawing near.

Romping as Freshmen to school we came Buffeted by Seniors grand,
Next to the Soph and Junior class--
The last year was at hand.

Our hearts are full of grief and woe
For friends we leave behind,
As from this high school we will go
You'll be in every mind.

Farewell, dear friends and classmates true!
When we are far apart,
Remember the class of '35
And save them a spot in your heart.

SENIOR CLASS SONG

Tune: Solitude

To our school so dear,
We bid adieu
In after years
We'll think of you
And the joys we had
We won't forget
And memories we'll carry on
The happiness there
The joys and the care
Will help us where 'er we go.
If we could just stay
With you all the way
We know we could be content
But we leave you now
Our time grows short
This high school dear
We'll leave behind.

Custer Contest

The 24th Annual Custer Contest was held at the Brown Gym, Friday evening, May 10. This contest was made possible by the late Mr. A. S. Custer who left a sum of money for this purpose. The five contestants must have the five highest grades in the class and taken all four years of high school in M. H. S.

An unusual occurrence developed out of the contest this year--a tie for second and a tie for third position. The judges, Prof. Conklin, Miss Kate Andrews, and Prof. Martin, all from Hanover College, awarded first position to Paul Steinhardt, whose prize money was thirty dollars. The tie for second position was between Sally V. Otrich and Catherine Wallace each of whom received ten dollars as their prize money. Third place was also a tie between Mary E. Meyers and Jeaneete Turner, their prize money being five dollars each. These prizes were awarded at Commencement.

This was the first time in the history of the contest there has been two tied positions. Everyone will remember the Custer Contest of 1935 for this reason.

Kiwanis Award

The local Kiwanis Club awards medals each year to the girl and boy having the highest scholastic standing in the class. Mary E. Meyers and Paul Steinhardt received the Awards this year.

The winners were guests of the Kiwanis Club on May 23 at which occasion they had the pleasure of hearing State Superintendent of Schools, Mr. McMurray. The medals were presented to the winners at Commencement.

Hi-Y Award

Each year the Hi-Y Club awards a prize of five dollars to the Hi-Y member of the graduating class who has the highest scholastic standing and has been most beneficial to the club.

Paul Steinhardt received the Award this year because of his active work in the club and because he has the highest grade of the boys in the graduating class. He was treasurer of the club in his Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior years, and president during his last year. This award was presented at Commencement.

Debating Team

The Madison High School debating team, coached by Mr. Rogers, has been very active this year. The members are chosen by Mr. Rogers from the ones that volunteer and give their time to studying the material for debate.

The debaters this year have been debating some of the best material in southern Indiana, holding two victories over North Vernon and one over New Albany. Madison High debaters advanced to the finals of the district debate but were forced out of competition by the New Albany team.

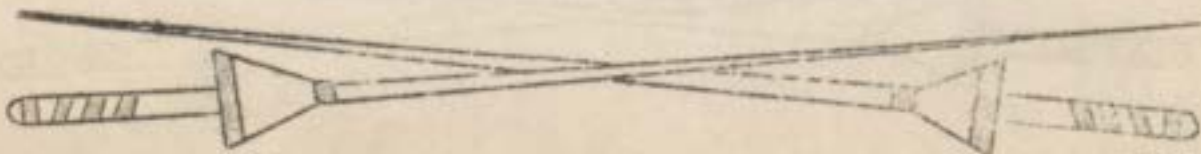

Madison will probably have more scheduled debates next year if a class is organized. Madison holds three victories out of four debates--the affirmative winning two, and the negative one.

The question for debate for the school year 1934-35 has been: Resolved: that, the Federal Government Should Adopt the Policy of Equalizing Educational Opportunity Throughout the Nation by Means of Annual Grants to the Federal States for Public Elementary and Secondary Education.

The members of the team this year were all members of the Senior Class. Those on the affirmative were Paul Steinhardt, Clara Crutchlow, and Buddy Harper; those on the negative were Mary E. Meyers, David Patterson, and Joe Cox.

Medics Award

Judson "Spike" Klein was awarded a trophy for having the highest percentage in foul shooting during the basketball season. The trophy is given by the Medical Detachment of the local National Guards. Every member of the first team competes for this award. "Spike" is to be credited for his achievement as are the other boys to be credited for their work in this contest even though they didn't win.

Rotary Contest

The Rotary International sponsored a contest this year for high school students on the Sixth objective of Rotary which is to promote the advancement of understanding, goodwill, and international peace throughout world fellowship of business and professional men united in the ideal of service. In the local contest Albert Alexander and David Patterson competed with David winning. This advanced him to the district contest at Seymour. Although he lost in the district contest he is to be credited for his work. David was awarded five dollars by the Madison Rotary Club at Commencement for winning the local contest.

JUNIOR CLASS

No one in the Freshman class of '32 had the slightest idea of what to expect from the next four years as he climbed the steps from Junior High to Senior High. Some of the members were a bit fearful but most of them were very hopeful of the future.

These bewildered and frightened Freshmen showed some of their wisdom when they elected Mary Louise Greiner as the first president of the class. Two members of the class were placed on the varsity and the class was well represented in the band, orchestra, and school play.

The next year, the members were more hopeful than fearful. A few had dropped out, but the majority were still struggling on. This year Kathern Powell was selected as president of the class. The school play, band, other organizations, as well as the basketball team, held representatives of the class.

In 1934 when the class entered school as Juniors, it became determined to make its mark in the annals of high school history. It made a good start when, under the leadership of Miss Lotz, it elected Joe Joyce as president.

The boy's basketball team won the Interclass Tourney but lost the Round Robin Tourney to the Seniors.

The class broke all previous records in its efforts to make the Junior-Senior Prom a success.

SOPHOMORES

We entered M. H. S. in '33 as green Freshmen under the guidance of Mr. Cottman and Miss Rea. We did not make a great mark in sports, but we were well represented in other activities. Virginia Mills, Perin Scott, Leah Carolyn Lytle, and Irwin Anderson were chosen for the Booster Club.

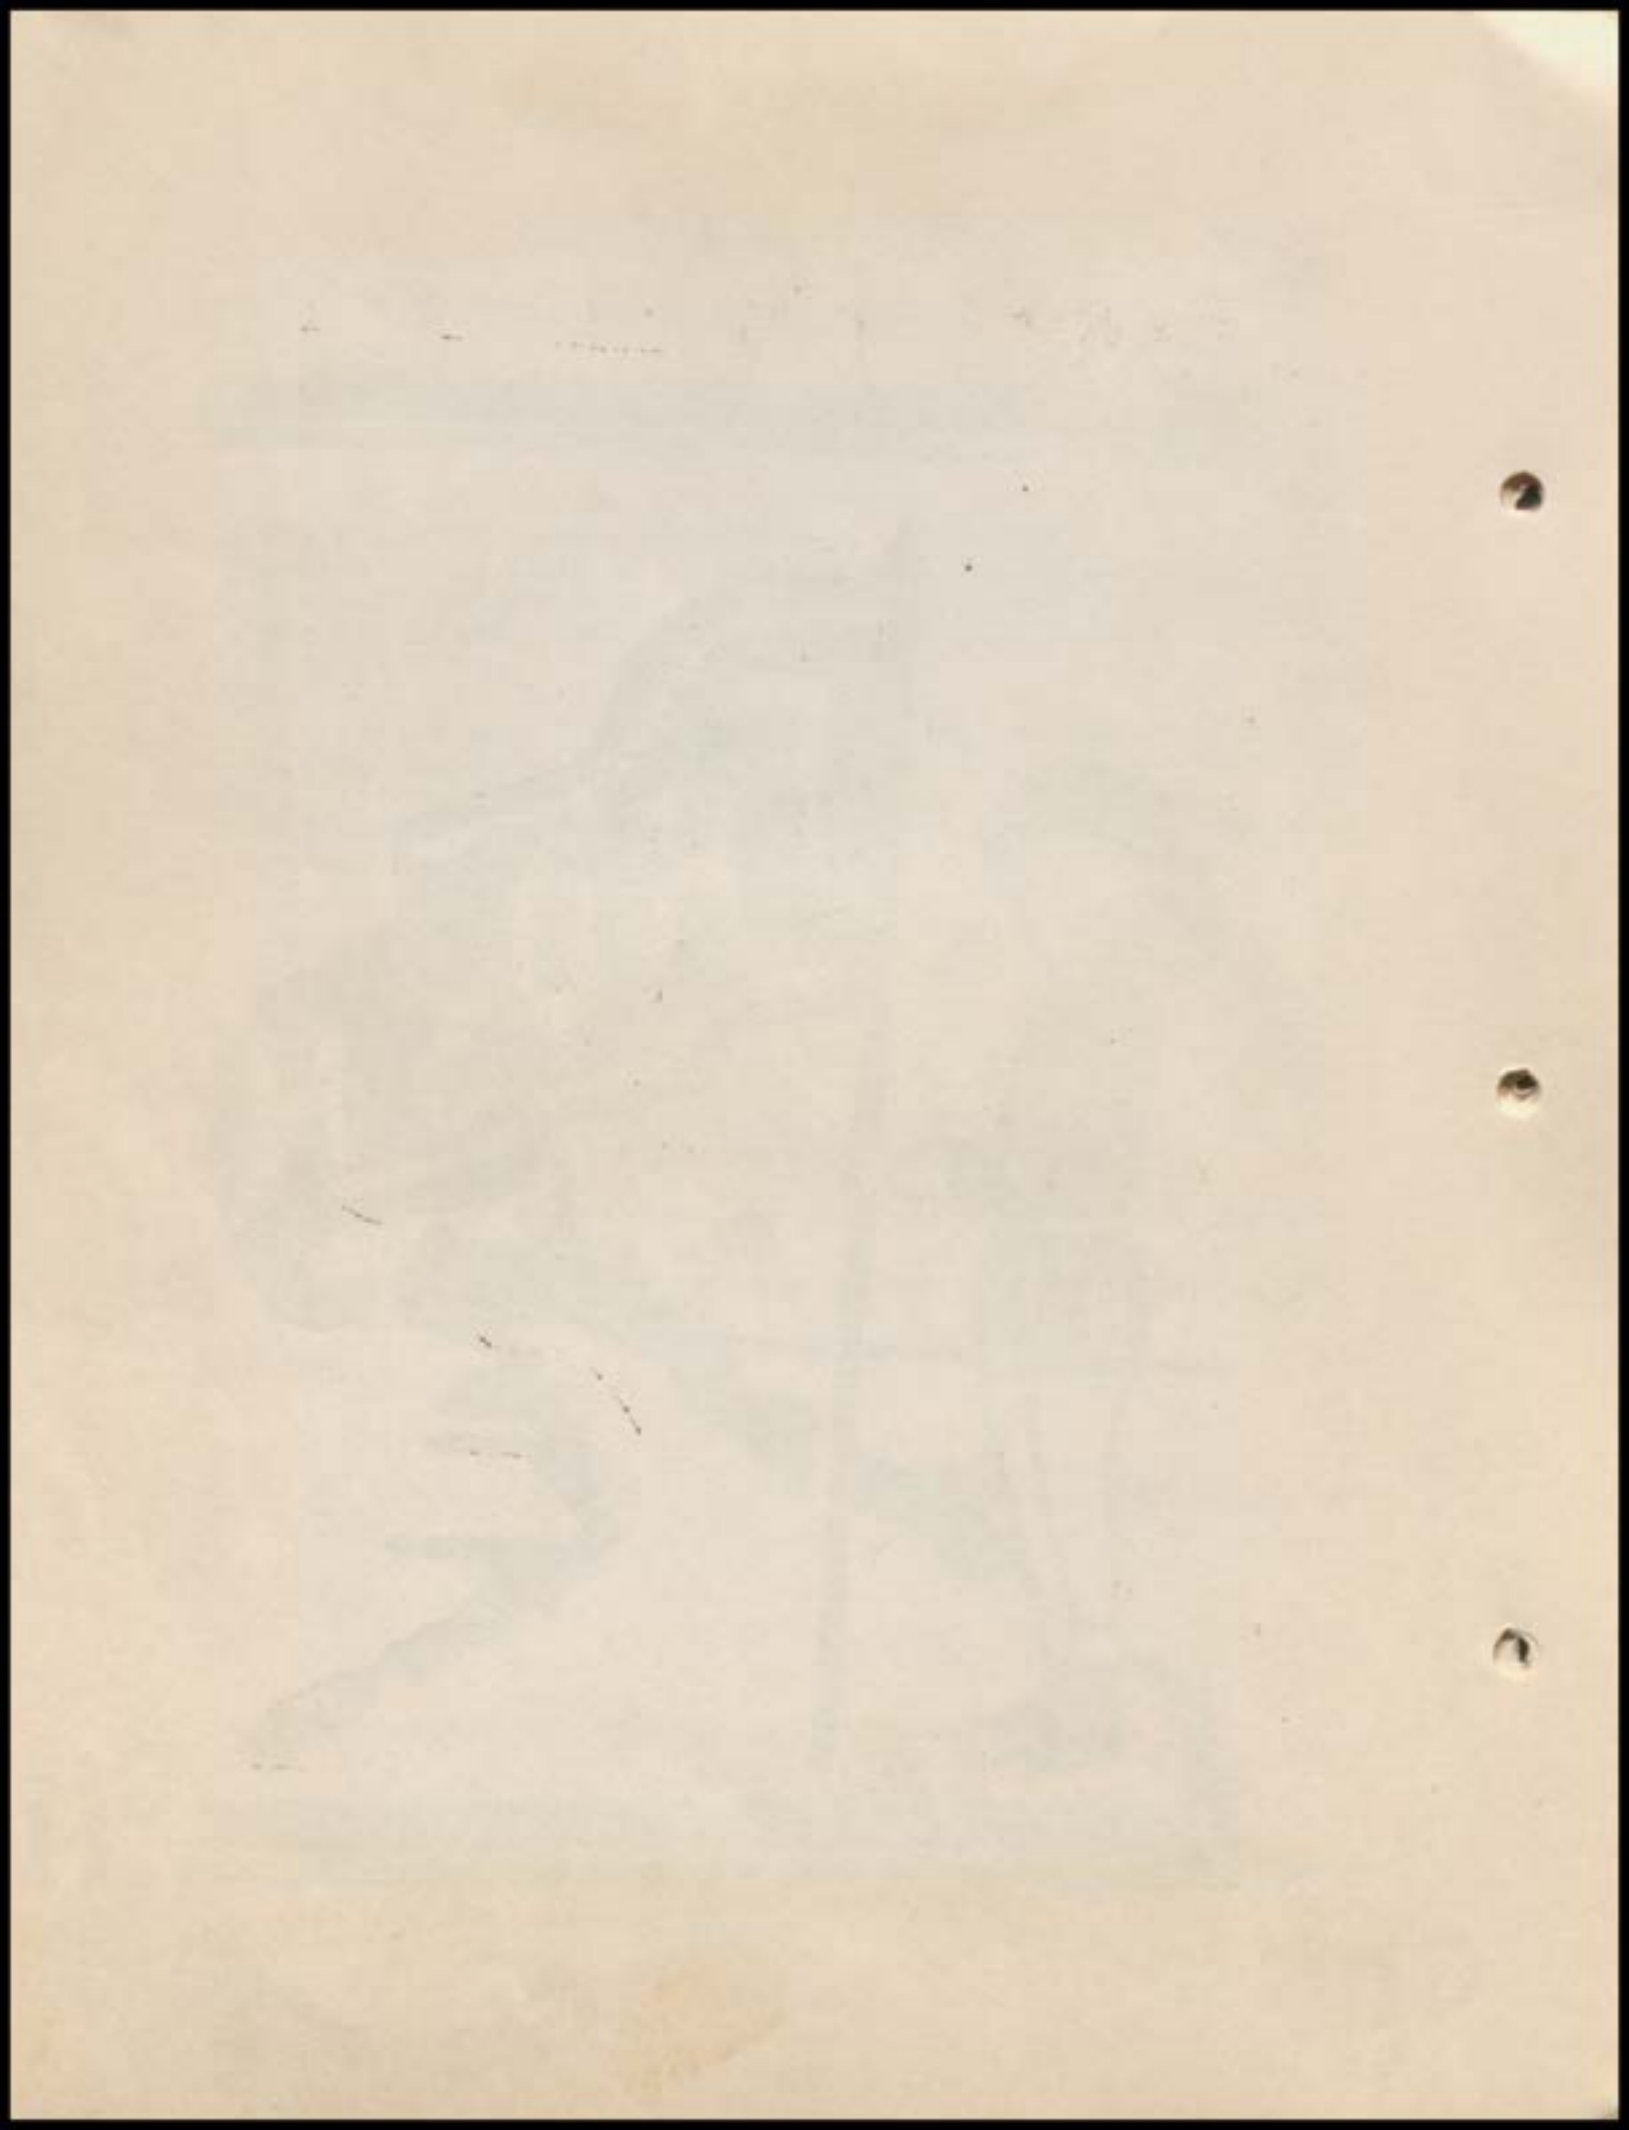

After our three months vacation we again returned to school, no longer as Freshies but promoted to the rank of Sophomores. We were then able to look down on the Freshmen and ridicule them for the same mistakes we had made.

We chose Daily Hill for our class president. We elected Perin Scott, Robert Finch, and Irwin Anderson to represent us in the Student Council. Thelma Perkinson, William Niesse, Daily Hill, and Anna K. Wells represented the Sophomores this year in the Booster Club. The Sophomores lost both boys and girls interclass tourneys. However, the girls defeated the Freshmen, and five of the boys were placed on the varsity.

We feel that now we have made a good start on our high school career, and that we will make even greater progress in that part of our school career which is before us.

FRESHMEN CLASS

We entered M. H. S. in the fall of 1934 with quite a large class. We have taken a large part in the activities of the school. Forty-seven pupils from our class made the honor roll.

We elected for our class officers: Jane Server, Pres., Jack Matthews, Vice-Pres., Jean Harper, Secretary, Carol Pender, Treasurer. We also selected Billy Lyons, Lillian Douglass, Bob McCarty, and Jean Montgomery to represent us in the Booster Club, and Billy Lyons to represent us on the Student Council. Joan Vincent, also a member of the class of '38, is the president of the Sunshine Spreaders, a branch of the Sunshine Society.

We won first prize for our stunt at the School Party after running up and down alleys and over dumps trying to kill a rat. This reward was thoroughly enjoyed. Jean Montgomery was winner of the County Latin Contest and ranked sixth out of twenty contestants in the District Contest at Greensburg.

With such a commendable beginning as this, and with such a large number of capable students, we cannot help but feel that our class will make history in M. H. S.

SCHOOL SONG

Sing a song, loud and long, M. H. S.,

Rah! Rah! Rah! Rah! Rah! Rah!

She's a winner,

She's known from the East to the West
As a mighty company,

Let high schools remember her name

As an omen of fear and disaster;
She's known for her worth and her fame
That she will beat them, she'll defeat them
She's a winner!

Rah! Rah! Rah! Rah! Rah!

Now once again, Rah! Rah!

Together girls and boys,
Now once again, Rah! Rah!
Forgetting pose and poise
Till everyone in town will hear that joyous noise
And know we're winning, we're winning tonight!

THE SUNSHINE SOCIETY

Founded in 1928 by Miss Jessie Wells, the Sunshine Society is the largest organization in high school. Every girl is a member and, through the efforts of each one, the Society betters both the school and the community.

The officers are: Sally Otrich, president; Rose Marie Tice, vice-president; Betty Harris, recording secretary; Druzilla Poindexter, corresponding secretary; Dorothy Copping, general chairman.

This year the Society was divided into three groups, each with its own set of officers. In the Jr-Sr group, the S. O. S., the officers are: Betty Quinn, president; Edna Miller, vice-president; Mary L. Francisco, secretary. In the Merry Makers, or the Soph-Jr group, officers are: Martha Danner, president; Lillian Douglass, vice-president; Eleanor Taylor, secretary. The officers of the Freshmen group are: Joan Vincent, president; Wilhelmina Burris, vice-president; Evelyn Curtis, secretary. This group is called the Sunshine Spreaders.

The Sunshine Society Madisonian reporter is Catherine Wallace and the Student Council representative is Sarah Cooke.

Thanksgiving baskets, made up by contributions from every-one, were distributed to some of the needy families in town.

Around Christmas, a party for poor children, whose families were unable to have many gifts during the holidays, was arranged. There was a Christmas tree and gifts for each child present.

Among the helpful things done by the Sunshine girls this year is their taking charge of addressing the envelopes and mailing the tuberculosis stamps for the Jefferson County Tuberculosis Association.

However, perhaps the most outstanding thing done by the Sunshine Society, was their having the stage scenery in the gym repainted and recovered. This much needed improvement will be a great benefit to the school.

BOOSTER CLUB

First Row--Kenneth McKay, Bobby Wilson, Bobby Perry, Sarah Cooke, Perin Scott, Bobby Finch.

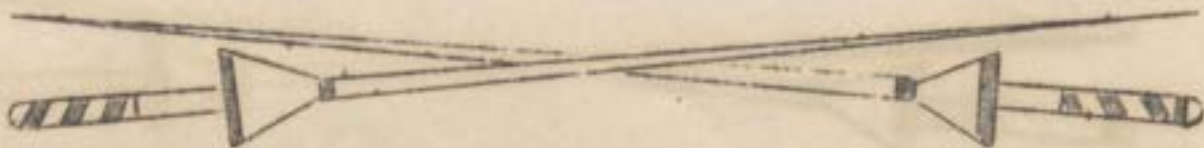

Second Row--Irvin Anderson, Burton Sheets, Joe Cox, David Patterson, John Blake.

Top Row--Maurice Wolfe, William Thomas, Gerald Amos.

The first Student Council was organized in 1928 under the sponsorship of Mr. Salm. This organization, after a while, lost interest and was dropped a few years ago. This year it was again reorganized by Mr. Salm after a vote was taken by the whole school.

The members of the organization are made up of a representative from each class and organization in the school.

The purpose of the Student Council is to improve the moral, scholastic, social, literary, athletic, and musical standards of the high school and thus promote its general welfare.

BOOSTER CLUB

In the year 1926-27, the Booster Club was organized in Madison High School, under the sponsorship of our principal Mr. C. K. Salm. The club consists of two students chosen from each class division, making the total membership sixteen.

The purpose of this club is to back all school functions and activities, and to create and help to maintain a good school spirit among the student body.

Since the beginning of the Booster Club, it has served many useful purposes. Money has been earned and used to buy awards for the athletes who have earned them. The equipment used by the yell leaders has been supplied by the club. This year four new sweaters were bought for them.

The boosters sell tickets to all tournaments, and also season basketball tickets. The Interclass Tournament is an annual event sponsored by this club.

This organization has backed the High School debating team, and has frequently contributed to the High School paper and other activities of the school that were in need of financial support.

M CLUB

The M Club was organized Thursday, October 27, 1927, when Graham Miller, chairman explained the purpose of the club. The purpose is to stimulate an interest among the fellows for athletics and in any way to benefit athletics of the school. This club also is to help the boys train. The M Club takes in all sports, namely, golf, football, track, baseball, basketball, and tennis. The student manager is also entitled to a letter for the service of aiding the team and school of which he is given much credit.

The M Club has an annual meeting which is held twice a year. One annual meeting is held or called before the initiation in order to have a set date for initiating new members. The M Club also has an annual supper following the initiation of new members.

The club consists of a president, vice-president, sec'y-treasurer, sergeant-at-arms, and the sponsor, Coach C. O. Beer. The club is entitled to as many members as have earned letters in any one of the above sports and is eligible for membership.

Hi-Y

The Hi-Y Club stands for clean mind, clean speech, and clean thought. Only boys of high character may belong.

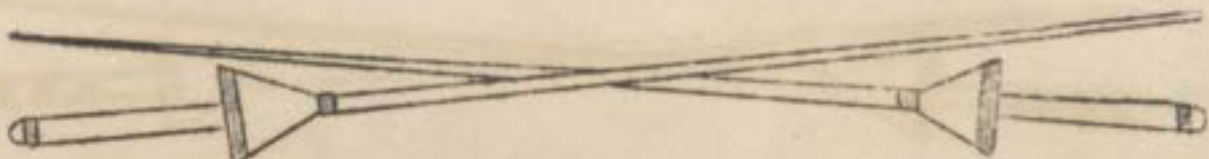

Its purpose is to render service to school and community. The activities of the Hi-Y are numerous. The club sponsors a candy locker each year. This year a military band was organized under the supervision of David Patterson coupled with the able assistance of Mr. Frank Vail former director of the Elks' band. Much credit is due these two musicians. The band played at basket-ball games, for assembly programs, and appeared before the Vevay and North Madison High Schools assemblies, besides playing on many other programs. The Hi-Y together with the Sunshine Society sponsored the first School Party held in a long time. On May 13 the annual picnic was held at Clifty State Park. To wind up the year's activities the Club generally sponsors a camping trip the first week in June. The Hi-Y award was given to Paul Steinhardt this year.

Our representative on the Student Council was William Thomas.

The Hi-Y has been very successful this year, especially under the able leadership of Mr. Cottman who has brought this Club to the front during his sponsorship.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The G. A. A. is one of the most active organizations of Madison High School. The officers of the association for the year were as follows:

President	Clara Crutchlow
Vice President	Mary Torrance
Secretary	Bernice Schnabel
Treasurer	Louise Thomas
Sponsor	Miss Rea

Points are gained through test on skill and participation in the four major sports: volley ball, basketball, baseball, and hiking. Tennis is also to be included this year, and possibly badminton. For the first time, an interest is being taken in bowling for girls.

The organization is now an accepted member of the new Indiana League of High School Girls' Associations. As a final award the League gives a State Plaque. This will be an added incentive for the girls.

The Girls' Interclass Tourney, March 21 and 22, was a most exciting and thrilling affair. The Seniors again took all the honors making it their third consecutive year of performing this feat. Each class had a well trained team and furnished stiff opposition.

THE LATIN CLUB

The Latin Club, which is known in Latin as Senatus-Populusque, was organized in 1932 by Miss E. Smith.

The club was organized in order that the Latin students might be better acquainted with Roman civilization and customs.

One feature of the club which serves to keep the students interested, is the Latin Club Picnic which is an annual event.

The Latin Club is divided into two divisions the Patricians and the Plebians.

The Patrician group is composed of higher grade students, and the Plebian group consists of the lower grade students. The two divisions have separate officers with the exception of the highest officers, the Pontifex Maximus, who presides over both divisions.

The Patrician officers are as follows: Pontifex Maximus, Anna K. Wells; Consul, Daily Hill; Censor, Sarah Cooke; Quaestor, William Young; Praetor, Rose M. Tice.

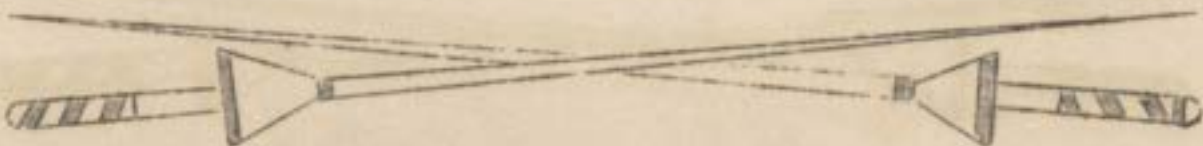

The Plebian officers are: Consul, Daily Hill; Censor and Quaestor, Polly Saltzgeber; Praetor, Jane Server.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

This is the sixth year of the Industrial Arts Club, and they have aroused a great deal of interest among the students in industrial education. This is the purpose of the Club, together with the object of increasing the equipment of the Industrial Arts Department as soon as it is financially possible.

The organization holds bi-monthly meetings. Educational jaunts are planned for each year. They have an annual fish fry and an annual initiation.

The officers of the club are: Ben Schnabel, president; Melvin Schnabel, vice president; Charles Poindexter, secretary-treasurer; Philip Layton, sargeant-at-arms; and Mr. Hodgers, sponsor.

MADISONIAN STAFF

This is the sixteenth consecutive year that the Madisonian has been published. At present it is issued regularly every two weeks and the subscription price is twenty-five cents each semester.

Formerly the Madisonian was published by the Mahisco Literary Society but at present the Madisonian Staff is on their own.

Mr. Reul is faculty business manager and Miss Smith and Miss Lotz are associate sponsors. Together with the staff, they have striven to make the Madisonian a help and a credit to the school.

There were some alterations in the staff during the second semester. Several members were added to the staff. The staff, after it was adjusted, was as follows:

Editor	Paul Steinhardt
Assistant Editor	Martha Danner
Business Managers	Lillian Finch
	John Cox
Circulation Managers	Mary E. Crawford
	Daily Hill
Humor Editor	Frank Froh

MUSICAL ORGANIZATIONS

Orchestra

Activities for the orchestra this year have included playing for the school play in the fall and for the operetta accompaniments in February. Appearances were also made at the Custer Contest, the Senior Play, and Commencement. The instrumentation includes two cellos, ten violins, two trumpets, one alto saxophone, two flutes, one clarinet, one trombone, and drums.

Band

The band appeared at a community picnic at Clifty Falls State Park in the fall, headed a school parade before the first basketball game, and played for a parade at a political meeting at which Mr. Crowe was the principal speaker. The band also played on the street to advertise the Kiwanis indoor circus.

The band has suffered the problem of having several members, -in fact, nearly half the group, make either the basketball teams or become yell leaders. A problem which confronts every high school band, that of the younger members not being able to play the same grade of music as the older members, has been solved by having two bands this semester.

Glee Clubs

This year, the glee clubs gave the operetta, "The Lucky Jade", which was very tuneful and colorful. Miss Gray as usual, did a splendid piece of work in costuming and stage arrangements. Miss Rea assisted in the dance directions, while Mrs. Montgomery directed the orchestra, singing, and dramatics. The girls' glee club sang at the Ryker's Ridge High School in the fall, at a P. T. A. meeting this winter and at the Vevay Presbyterian Church for two church services. Both glee clubs sang for a joint meeting of all churches this winter. The boys gave a playlet for the benefit of the Broadway High School soup fund in connection with the band. The girl's trio sang at a P. T. A. meeting at a Hanover concert and a Christian Church Missionary meeting. A double mixed quartet sang for the concert at Hanover previously mentioned.

BASEBALL

Madison High School baseball team, under the able coaching of Mr. Rodgers, had a very commendable season. Although the season was marked by cold weather, rain, and injuries the Cubs managed to play all their games.

Daily Hill received a broken ankle in the Seymour game sliding into base and was a loss to the team for the remainder of the season. In the same game Perin Scott suffered the painful injury of a split finger.

Most of the games were very exciting although in some cases the score didn't indicate that fact.

The scores of the games were as follows:

April 18	Madison 8	Brownstown 7
April 22	Madison 4	Seymour 10

BOYS' INTERCLASS TOURNEY

Honors of Interclass Tourney Championship went to the Juniors, who were winners last year, after a crushing defeat in the final tilt with the Sophomores by a score of 40 to 14. This year the dope bucket was not upset as the Juniors were favored to win, and did in fine style. W. Poindexter was outstanding for the winners.

The Sophomores won the right to play in the finals by drubbing the Freshmen to the tune of 36 to 13. In the game between the Juniors and Seniors the Juniors won out in a hard fought contest 23 to 16. This game proved to be the most interesting of the tourney. The Seniors took out their revenge on the Freshmen and forced them to be the underdogs to the score of 29 to 22.

Box score for Junior--Sophomore game follows:

JUNIORS(40)		SOPHOMORES (14)
C. Poindexter 9	F	2 Anderson
Klein 10	F	7 Hill
W. Poindexter 11	C	Lawson
Perry 2	G	Kalb

GIRLS' INTERCLASS TOURNEY

The Girls' annual Interclass Basketball Tourney which is sponsored by the G. A. A. was won by the girls of the class of '35. This class of girls have won the tourney for three consecutive years which is a new record for any class.

The opening night was a night of walk-a-ways for the Seniors and Sophomores. Although these games were not close they were clean and showed some fine spirit.

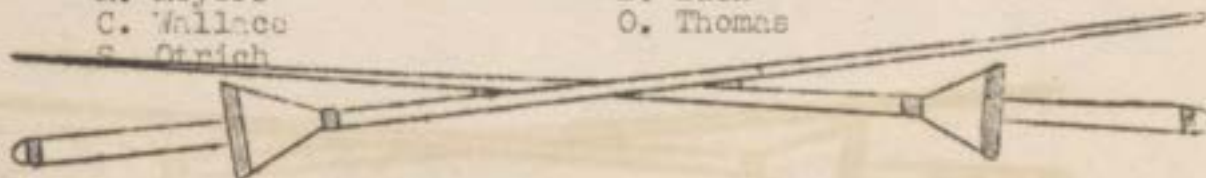

The first game between the Seniors and Juniors was won by the Seniors by an overwhelming score. This game was followed by the Sophomore and Freshmen game which was again a smashing victory for the Sophomores.

The second night showed better scores as far as closeness was concerned. The preliminary between the Juniors and Freshmen was a close game and the score was tied several times during the game. The Juniors emerged victors by a narrow margin.

The final and most exciting game resulted with a comeback for the Seniors to cop the tourney at the expense of the Sophomores. The final count was 29 to 20 in the favor of the upperclassmen, thus ringing up their third tourney championship in the four years they have participated.

Box score for the final game:

THE CUB REPORTER

A year of defeat and vict'ry grand
On the night of October 26th began,
When North Madison confident
Came to our gym,--but sadly went.

Corydon, gay and full of fun,
Beat us fourteen to thirty-one.
Rallying after this defeat
The team swept Scottsburg off its feet.

North Vernon beat us four points there,
but we beat Vevay two points fair.
Nine points more than Brownstown's score
Made us yell for vict'ry more.

New Albany was beaten by two
But Scottsburg showed us they weren't through.
Brownstown suffered an awful score
As the score-board showed us 13 more.

Lawrenceburg took us for a ride
And Vevay made us want to hide.
Six points more made Paoli win
But we sent Greensburg in a spin.

Then came the Sectional, thrills galore!
We beat Scottsburg and yelled for more,
On to the Regional! Hard teams to meet Ended the year in sad defeat.
