CELEBRATE TWENTY- FIVE YEARS OF GROWTH!

1. The sun rises over Southwestern High. 2. Harriers Bob Moore and Steve Morrill cross the finish line together. 3. Anna Jackson, Julie Sellers and Laura Schwartz take a break at McDonald's playground. 4. Senior Jeanna Gray gets ready for her freshman year at Purdue University.

We are celebrating! We celebrate life and friendship. We celebrate memories, and this year our school celebrates its Silver Anniversary. Twenty-five years ago, two small schools joined together to form Southwestern Consolidated High School. Our school has changed from a one brick building to a very modern structure with a pool, a gym, an all weather track, and a baseball diamond. In our development we have added separate choir and band rooms with acoustics and enlarged our agriculture, industrial arts, and journalism facilities. Our school has seen a time when boys basketball was its only sport, while now we support most all girls' and boys' sports alike, including softball, wrestling and intramurals. We can proudly say that our school is growing and changing with the times.

Our principal, Mr. Delbert King, has been a source of constant leadership through these twenty-five years. To all the faculty and administration who have been a part of this silver anniversary, we salute you for helping our school to change and grow with the times. We, the 1984-1985 REBIAN Staff, hope that there are as many other dedicated people as you to help our school to grow and achieve more in the next twenty-five years.

1. Accounting always did drive senior Mike Seuring crazy. 2. Uncle Sam wants you! Government teaches seniors Mike Moore, Brock Lind, Lisa Morgan, and Jeff Todd amazing things! 3. Here comes Mrs. Ellis! Tony Shelton, David Brown, and Kevin Wood make lunchtime plans. 4. Hall-walkers Rob Cox and Heath Taylor make their escape from second hour study hall. 5. Counselor David Mount is all decked out in his Christmas Spirit.

The year 1984-1985 has taken us through many joys and victories. Our friendships have grown. But we, too, must remember that in friendship, we have mourned together. We have lost dear friends and family and have seen others critically injured. As we remember the lives of our fellow students, let us not remember them with tears and sorrow, but let us remember their smiles and laughter. If we remember them in this way, their memories will remain untarnished and never forgotten.

1. Three stooges — Montane Liter, Steve Morrill and Robby Miller — relax during an autumn lunch break. 2. Happy Birthday to you ... Superintendent Patrick Leahey receives surprise balloons from a favorite visitor to Southwestern High. 3. Celebrate! Kathryn Caine, Dawn Dean, Andy Burch, Holly Dahlem, Donna Cleffman, Kelley Amick, Tonya Colber, and John Stoner play just the right notes for another band victory. 4. Senior Paula Wood says, "Only 21 days 'till the senior trip. Florida, here we come!" 5. Sophomore Janda Todd steals the spirit week show as Big Bird.

What's happening? The students at Southwestern High know exactly what's happening!! We are setting high goals and reaching them. We have many outstanding organizations that have achieved high ranking awards. Our FFA chapter sports the proud honor of being eleventh in the state. They are a silver state and national chapter and are ranked in the top two hundred of eight thousand chapters in the nation.

Our chapter of the Future Homemakers of America has always been very active. They have fundraisers to support their parties at the Madison State Hospital and at homes for the elderly. They annually sponsor a Red Cross Bloodmobile. The year '84-'85 saw the chapter with two district officers, Anne Creech and Teresa Powell.

The Southwestern Marching Rebels have everything going for them! Under the direction of Miss Bonnie Harmon, the band picked up the following Class A awards at the Paoli Invitational: Second Place Class A, Best Auxiliary, and Best Field Commanders. They won first place at the Salem Invitational Band Contest in their division. In district competition, our band placed first in Division I and also received the outstanding music award in that division. As one can see, there are some sweet sounds coming from The Rebel Regiment.

1. Drummer Richard Heimbach directs band traffic with his drum cadence while Mark Roberts concentrates on his next move. 2. 1984 Southwestern graduate Joe Neher was one of the top four students in the nation in FFA Beef Production. 3. "Be it resolved that ..." Kevin Todd, Michelle Mahoney and Susan Abel debate with speech teacher Lorna Naylor about their next speech topic. 4. Seniors Vicki Howard and Leigh Ann Woods look for their names in the CONFEDERATE. 5. Biology teacher Maria Coghill relaxes during lunch after a busy morning.

Holidays are very special here at SWHS. At Christmastime our hallways are brightened with the artwork of Mr. Gene Robertson and his art classes. On Valentine's Day there is always the thrill of receiving a carnation from a loved one sold by the CONFEDERATE or receiving a heart-shaped cookie from an unexpected admirer sold by the FHA. Then there are always the fun days like Senior Toga Day when the seniors run up and down the hall chanting, "Toga, Toga, Toga!!!" Everyone always wonders exactly what the seniors are wearing under those togas!!!

1. There never is a dull moment when seniors Rich Skirvin, John Bliton, Scott Caudill and George Severn put their heads together to dream up one more "fun-and-games" activity. 2. Freshman Stephanie Bibbs and Mary Edwards cram for a biology test during lunch. 3. Senior Penny Abbott delivers jackets for the FHA Chapter at Southwestern. FHA members use this project to help raise money for a VCR at the Madison State Hospital. 4. Seniors Laurie Smith and Missy King can still smile after a fourth place finish in Spirit Week activities. 5. Student body president Pete Jackson and sophomore Tammy Jones enjoy watching the Rebel Regiment perform at a Hanover College football game.

In the area of sports the SWHS harriers know where it's at! They went to the regional cross country meet even with one of their top five runners injured. Seniors Rick Johnson and Bob Moore and junior Steve Morrill made the all-sectional team. In wrestling juniors Tony Brawner and Jeff Annon and sophomore Brandon Silcox went to regionals for the Rebels.

The year 1984-1985 was a celebration — a celebration of twenty-five years of hard work and memories. The REBIAN staff has tried to capture a few of the precious memories of the year in pictures and words. Through the years, the graduation seniors on 1985 will look back on this year with a twinkle in their eyes and remember loves won and loves lost, tests passed and tests failed, golden friendships and exciting times in Florida. Underclassmen will remember this year, looking forward to their future seniors years with many dreams. Look through the pages of the 1984-1985 REBIAN and smile! Let us all celebrate our memories together!

1. Jennifer Trout hopes for a career in writing as she prepares to attend college in Illinois 2. Senior forward David Todd scores two more! 3. They Light up our Lives! Seniors Teresa Gross and Angie Rudolph always seem to have smiles when times are tough. 4. "Say cheese!" "You Wouldn't dare!" "Will the bell ever ring?" "Don't take MY picture!" Senior women Lora Rigsby, Andrea Wood, Jeanne Gray, and Sonja Rice give up their study hall to sell yearbooks for the REBIAN Staff.

1. Girl watching is one of Nate Skirvin's favorite pastimes. Two of his friends, junior Laura Schwartz and senior Sonja Rice, join in the fun. 2. Lisa Ashley, Sarah Blume, and Kim Stakelin take a Pepsi break after a hard run on the Cross Country course. 3. Field commanders Richard Heimbach and Sondi Niccum practice the Rebel Regiment before an important marching contest. 4. Fred Ford, Kevin Wood, Jeannie Stotts, Editor Shane Williams, Sonja Arbuckle, and Scott McCloud wait for the next edition of the CONFEDERATE to be delivered. 5. Jenna Gray, Jan Shephard, Tammy Brown and Roxann Flint take a break from Creative Comp to show off their Christmas handywork. Students packaged their lockers in Christmas wrappings to help bring the holiday spirit to Southwestern hallways.

1. We are the Rebels! Jeff Annon, Rick Johnson, and Steve Annon prepare for the sectional pep session. 2. Todd Craft makes seventh grade basketball special. 3. "What are your plans for the weekend?" Scott Caudill and George Severn contemplate their next creative plan. 4. Rain or shine, the flag corps always practice their routines. 5. Ron Mundt and Dave Todd run into traffic in the fast lane of the Scottsburg game. 6. Missy King gets her color analysis done by the Extension Agent Dottie Keaton during a family living class.

STUDENTS HIT THE BOOKS

Academics are a critical part of our lives at Southwestern. The required and elective courses enable us to learn of a wide variety of subjects, and at the same time, gain enough credits for graduation. Eight semesters of English are required for nearly every student, with senior English classes being one semester apiece. Foreign languages such as French, Latin, and Spanish broaden our knowledge of other cultures. Marching band, concert band, industrial arts, and art classes develop and strengthen our talents. Computer classes help us to keep up with a rapidly changing world. Agricultural courses aid us in learning farming techniques, animal raising, and structure and repair of farm equipment. Home Economics guides us towards making healthy and happy homes. Through these and other classes, we will be better prepared for the professions we will enter in the near future.

ACADEMICS

SW MAKES HISTORY

Switching from history to government is a sudden change for the Southwestern senior. After using three notebooks and an uncountable number of pens taking notes, little do the seniors realize that their ears are in for what their hands experienced the previous year. Different methods of teaching used in each class are a change of pace for the interested student. Seniors do have the pleasure of government lasting only one semester while juniors get the extra learning experience in a yearlong course. Sociology is the second semester of a senior's life.

Seniors became very familiar with the classroom of Mr. Kettig Coghill this year. Teaching two required courses, Sociology and Government, Mr. Coghill enlightened the students on how societies are developed and how their government is run. Students also learned the pains and rewards of filing income taxes.

Miss Marsha Jackson did an excellent job of informing her students about past events in U.S. History and World History. Both classes constructed posters and performed plays written about the subject matter being studied.

1. Lora Rigsby proves just how exciting government really is! 2. Never be tardy in Miss Marsha Jackson's history class. She never loses count! 3. Mr. Kettig Coghill relaxes after giving a sociology assignment that takes two weeks to accomplish.

COMPUTERS TAKE SW INTO THE FAST LANE

Southwestern's mathematics department has moved into the fast lane! Just one year ago we began our computer program. Today everyone considers himself a computer fanatic. Everywhere one looks there is either a computer or a computer disk. Much credit for this new program, in which nearly two hundred students were enrolled, goes to Mrs. Barbara Ellefsen, who directed planning of the course guidelines for all computer classes.

Besides our growing computer classes which are taught by Mrs. Ellefsen and Mr. Charles Tackett, the basics of general math were taught by Mrs. Debbie Ruder, Algebra I by Mr. Joe Barnett, and Geometry and Physics by Mr. William Finnegan.

1. Seniors George Severn and Doug Meredith seriously discuss an upcoming test George is facing in Computer literacy. 2. Senior Missy King concentrates on the next computer move junior Montane Luter will make in order to make the highest score so he can beat the mechanical whiz.

NEW LOOK OFFERED

Over the past 25 years, many changes have been made in the English Department, the department with the largest number of teaching faculty members. Southwestern has acquired a highly educated group of teachers to handle this department.

Freshmen entering high school were taught by Mrs. Mary Sue Barnett and Mrs. Martha Clancy; they refresh their grammar skills and gain knowledge about some of the great literary works. Sophomores built upon the knowledge already acquired under the guiding hands of Ms. Jennifer Atkins and Mrs. Virgie Dowell, who also serves the department as its chairperson. Mrs. Dorothy Wykoff and Ms. Atkins taught the juniors about the qualities of American literature and how to write a research paper. Remedial classes were also offered at all levels.

All seniors except VOCA students were required to take two units of English or literature. Seniors had a variety of semester choices from which to choose. Creative Composition, taught by Mrs. Marcia Morrill, gave students the opportunity to be imaginative as they wrote short stories and poetry. Many of the college bound students took Mrs. Morrill's Advanced Composition class. Here she gave the seniors a preview of composition experiences they will face in college. Students in composition classes were encouraged to enter writing contests; many were successful in winning several of these.

For many years speech, taught by Mrs. Lorna Naylor, was required; however, this year the class was changed to a one semester elective. Many of the students planning to attend college elected to take speech. For our students who plan to pursue theater careers, there was

Mrs. Dowell's Dramatic Literature class. Students in this class produced a play. Masterpiece Literature, the study of the greatest works ever written, was taught by Mrs. Wykoff. Mrs. Morrill also taught England in Literature. Seniors learned about the great classics from England, covering works from the Anglo/Saxon Age to the Twentieth Century.

Our English Department has also developed an excellent journalism program. Mrs. Clancy and Mrs. Morrill were instructors in this area. Students must take Journalism I before they were permitted to take Media I, a class in which the CONFEDERATE is published, and Media II, the REBIAN production class. Being involved in the production of the school newspaper and yearbook have proven to be rewarding experiences for the members of each staff.

1. The CONFEDERATE is published the the Media I class. Members of the staff are: Row one: Robby Tullis, Mrs. Martha Clancey, instructor; Row two: Fred Ford, Shane Williams, Jeannie Stotts, Sonia Arbuckle, Scott McCloud, Kevin Wood, Brian Consley, and Jeff Annon. Missing from the photograph are Joyce Meyers, Sheila Barron, and Paula Wood. 2. Is that sophomore Garnie Graves working on his assignment? He diligently works on another vocabulary lesson. Special vocabulary studies are a new part of the English curriculum this year. 3. Mrs. Jennifer Atkins, new to the SW English staff this year, manages most of the sophomores.

WE ARE ONE BIG HAPPY FAMILY

The Home Economics and Family Living classes were taught once again by Mrs. Sarah Green. These classes learned many new things this year. Of course, the favorite time in these classes was the time spent in the kitchen. The classes enjoyed the foods they made; one of the favorites was pizza.

The family living classes held a mock wedding this year. They planned a wedding with Michelle Mahoney and Mark Gaines as the bride and groom. The class had several guest speakers who spoke about subjects ranging from how to get the best buy on meat products to how to coordinate one's wardrobe.

All-in-all it was a very good year for all the classes.

1. Family Living class is one big happy family! Members include: Row one: Michelle Mahoney, Ron Mundt, Keith Mullett, Penny Abbott, Mrs. Sarah Green, instructor; Row two: Sonja Rice, Kevin Todd, Missy King, Tammy Brown, Leigh Ann Woods, Vickie Howard, Joanna Rowlett; Row three: Teresa Gross, Jan Shepherd, Roxann Flint, Anna Jackson, Linda Kilburn; Row four: John Bliton, Les Smith, Mark Gaines, Kevin Elliott, and George Henry. 2. Teresa Gross, Anna Jackson, and Michelle Mahoney work hard on problems that confront members of families. 3. Anna Jackson makes decoration for a festive affair, maybe the mock wedding the Family Living class held in the spring. 4. Tina Rowlett and Teresa Gross plan a menu for one of the class's days in the food lab.

BONJOUR ¡HOLA! SALVE

Southwestern offered students the opportunity to learn exciting new languages. French, Latin, and Spanish were available to any student. Teachers in the foreign language department were Mrs. Mary Sue Barnett, French; Mrs. Ann Campbell, Latin; and Mr. Roy Emery, Spanish. Students were taught to speak and write these languages as well as obtain background information in each area.

Latin class was very interesting. Students learned about mythology as well as the names of the parts of the body. Games were played and posters were made. Every once-in-awhile, Mrs. Campbell even coaxed the students to sing.

Christmas promised exciting fun for French students. They cooked and presented plays. The plays varied from dress-up to puppets. All-in-all it was a fun and exciting time.

During Spring Break some Spanish students journeyed to Mexico. They visited Merida, Uxmal, Kabah, Chichen Itza, and Cancun. The Government Palace, Castle of Kukulcan, and the sacrificial Well of the Virgins were just a few of the sights they took in. They spent many hours on the beach, visited a discotheque, and took a cruise along the Cancun coast and to the Isla Mujeres. Overall, it was a fun and exciting week.

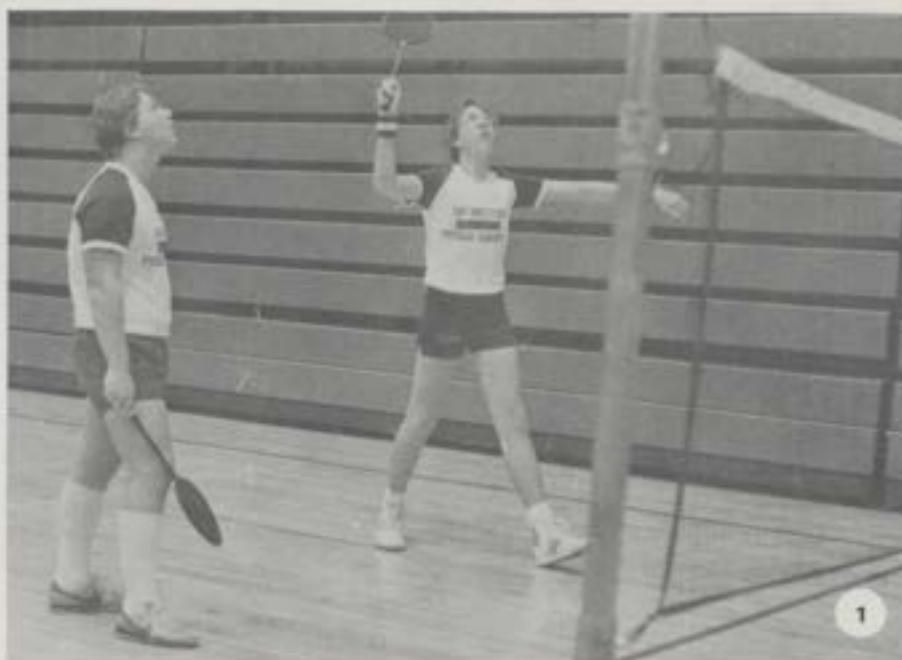

Studying a foreign language can be very rewarding. We never know when we are going to be deserted on a desert island in the Pacific with only a Mexican or Frenchman to talk to!

1. "What 'cha doin'?" Peter Palmer asks Barb Annon during a Spanish class. 2. Jason Davis, John Stoner, and Bev Stockdale agonize over their homework. Much hard work and concentration are required of all foreign language students. 3. Mr. Roy Emery discusses the Spanish lesson as his students quickly take notes. 4. Steve King not only studies a foreign language, but he also is the poster artist for language dances as well as one of the students who traveled to Mexico in the spring.

KEEPING-IN-SHAPE HAPPENS AT SW

Physical Education classes were taught this year by Mr. Steve Bright, Mr. Larry Miller, Mr. Terry King, Miss Dawn DiSesa and Missy Cyndy Smoots. Freshmen were required to take P.E., and this year they participated in many activities. Sports varied with the season, but physical conditioning was taught throughout the year. Along with the regular keeping-in-shape exercises, the students had swim classes, where some learned how to swim and others learned new swimming techniques. Students were required to take health their sophomore year. Under the guidance of Mr. Bright and Miss Smoots, students learned through survey reporting the harmful effects of alcohol and drugs as well as other health related information.

1. Keeping one's body in good physical condition is a goal of physical education classes. "Watch the birdie." Greg Falconberry and Lee Galbreath do just that as they learn the proper techniques of badminton. 2. Donna Cleffman returns the birdie. 3. Freshman Cindi Thornton gets ready for another day of P.E. activity.

REBIAN'S 25th CELEBRATED

1. The members of the yearbook staff who are not in the class are Susan Abel, Lora Riggsby, Anna Jackson, and Laurie Smith. In the back row are Scott McCloud, who is responsible for the elementary yearbook, Angie Kidwell, Jennifer Bowers, Andrea Wood, Carolyn Dowell, George Severn, and Kevin Elliott. 2. Stopping long enough from their Rebian assignments to pose for a picture are the staff members: ROW ONE: Michelle Mahoney, Shane Williams, and Sheila Barron. ROW TWO: Rick Montgomery, Teresa Gross, and Bobby Moore. ROW THREE: Teresa Kuntz, Steve Morrill and Tracy Wright. ROW FOUR: Curt Hilleary, Jackie Sachleben, and Greg Kuppler. ROW FIVE: Melissa Berry, Sonny Clair, and Stephanie Stoner. ROW SIX: Fred Ford, and Laura Schwartz. 3. George Henry and Jaenna Gray discuss some of the pages of the Rebian. 4. The sophomore members of the Rebian staff include: ROW ONE: Tracy Wright, Teresa Knutz, and Jackie Schleben. BACK ROW: Stephanie Stoner and Melissa Berry. 5. Adviser Mrs. Marcia Morrill discuss some pages with staff member Michelle Mahoney. 6. Junior members of the Rebian staff join together to look at some pictures. 7. Joyce Meyers Consley works on her pages. 8. The senior members of the staff get together.

The 1984-85 REBIAN staff had to work extra hard this year since they only had one semester to put the yearbook together. Under the direction of Mrs. Marcia Morrill, the staff accomplished their feat to publish the twenty-fifth anniversary issue of the REBIAN. This year's staff needed to be recognized because they were the ones responsible for saving all the wonderful memories that have occurred at SWHS during this school year.

PREPARING FOR THE FUTURE

The industrial arts curriculum was modernized to fit today's changing technology. Along with woodworking and drafting, the students learn the basics of electronics, solar energy and offset printing.

The agriculture program also progressed with modern times. These young farmers realized the importance of computer technology and modern farming techniques. The Agriculture/Industrial Arts programs prepare students for the future.

1. Garnie Graves, Scott Brooks, and David Marcelle study Agri-Business in Ag class. 2. Jason Couch concentrates on his work. 3. Gail Griffith and Tim Morrison admire industrial work. 4. The Ag class at one of their judging competitions.

BUSINESS AS USUAL

This year there was a new class added to the business offerings, personal typing. Among other classes taught by Mr. Jake Kleopher and Mrs. Tina Gill were beginning accounting, advanced accounting, Typing I, Typing II, general business, and business law.

1. Sophomores Kelly Day and Jackie Sachleben finish up their tests to begin an exciting day of hunting and pecking. 2. Sophomore Scott McCloud gives his assignment a finishing glance before turning it in.

SO LONG, MR. T.

Southwestern science included many aspects of the subject. General and physical science, first and second year biology, first and second year chemistry, and physics were all available for the students to study.

The Biology II class of 1984-85 was a great success. It was a comfortable combination of sophomores and a few junior. During one experiment the students had to prick their fingers or the finger of their lab partner, then squeeze blood drops onto a special paper and add a certain solution to the blood. After the tears and pain were gone, we were interested to see what our blood type was. Dissection was our major project at the end of the school year. Each student had his own shark and was able to investigate its various parts; however, it was a very smelly project. Wide open windows and a constantly blowing fan made the dissection a little more tolerable.

In the spring biology II students took their annual zoo trip to the Louisville Zoo. We arrived at McDonald's for our breakfast after about an hour of driving. Later we finally reached our destination and got into special, small groups with strange names like The Zoo Crew and The Pigs. We separated and went on our own, cared for by the watchful eye of one of our group leaders. Occasionally we felt like young elementary children did. We were amazed at the grace of one large elephant as he continued to throw clumps of dirt with his trunk at people passing by him. After our zoo excursion, we stopped at King Fish to eat lunch. We boarded the bus once more for our journey back to school.

General science, physical science, Chemistry I, Physics and Biology I all had a very successful year in class. Chemistry class will never be the same. With Mr. Charles Tackett's retirement students who have enjoyed making interesting concoctions, will try new chemical solutions next year. Freshmen and sophomores were enrolled in general or physical science classes. These classes studied many things like all kinds of plant and animal life.

1 The students who went to the zoo are: Row one: Joy Harris, Missy Jackson, Robby Cox, Jill Gray, Jo Bare, Tracy Ison, Becky Caine. Row Two: Sherrie Hays, Greg Kershner, David King, David Varble, Sondi Niccum, Jeff Barnett, Patrick Hotine, Tammy Shelley, Becky Bird, Kevin Humphrey, Janet Thomas. Row Three: Kim Moreland, Joyce Consley, Stephanie Stoner, Cliff Howard, Tamra Westall, Kara Sauley, Jyll Perry, Mindi Adams, Calli Kleopfer, Janda Todd, Mrs. Carolyn Moore. Row Four: Mr. Delbert King, Jeff Quiggle, Terry Sauley, Jeff

Marshall, Kevin Turner, Bobby Shelton, Jerry Thornton, Brandon Silcox, Kelly Day, Joanna McLemore, Sean Harvey, Roxie Long, Shaun Stevens, Tod Grabbe. Instructor Maria Coghill took the shot. 2. Chemistry students Jeff Holt and Scott Brooks play on the computer. Mr. Charles Tackett, chemistry teacher, will retire this year after thirty years in education. 3. Biology students Jyll Perry, Tamra Westall, Michelle DuVall, and Robin Cutshall enjoy a day at the zoo.

AND THE MUSIC GOES ON

This year the Southwestern Senior High Choir got a fresh start with a new director. Mr. Rick Reckner took over this daring task. The choir accomplished many things. They put on their annual spring, fall, and winter concerts along with a new Pop Concert. The Pop Concert took the place of the spring musical. Members of the choir this year consisted mostly of freshmen although there were a few upper classmen. This was a successful year for the choir and a very good start for Mr. Rick Reckner.

WORKING FOR THE FUTURE

HELPING A CHILD

Cadet teaching is not just another class; it's a fun and rewarding experience. Every cadet teacher's job is different. One student may run errands, grade papers, and teach numbers while another student teaches proper speech and helps the children develop reading and writing skills. Cadet teaching is not all work. Students may get to help eat cookies or go on field trips.

SAVING A LIFE

Lifeguards have a very important job. It is their responsibility to make sure that everyone at the pool is safe and sound. The Southwestern pool lifeguards have to keep on their toes. Many of the community's children venture to the pool on cold winter nights, and the lifeguards have to make sure that the evening doesn't end in tragedy. Many thanks go to the lifeguards for keeping the people of Hanover safe.

HELPING HANDS

Many students took part in the library and office aide programs this year. Students were allowed to work in the office or library during their study hall hours, while receiving credits for their hard work.

This year's librarian, Mrs. Serena Keach, managed to keep the library in tip-top condition with the help of four aides. Aides Carolyn Dowell, Vickie Howard, Jan Monroe, and Jan Shepherd shelved books as well as helped other students learn about the functions of a library.

The office aides had to help keep the office functioning smoothly, which wasn't an easy job. Running errands and keeping the attendance record were just a small part of their work load.

1. Brandi Rigsby and Chris Potter fulfill their office duties by selling supplies to Teresa Gross. 2. The 1984-85 library aides include Carolyn Dowell, Vickie Howard, Jan Shepherd, and Jan Monroe. 3. A few of the office aides are: ROW ONE: Julie Wilson and Sherri Austin. ROW TWO: Robby Cox, Jay Miller, and John Bliton. 4. Senior Carolyn Dowell returns cards to their books. 5. The office aides for the 1984-85 school year are: ROW ONE: Jeff Kelly, Jason Davis, Chris Potter, and Alan Jackson. ROW TWO: Julie Sellers, Stephanie Bennett, Kelly Kershner, Brandi Rigsby, and Teresa Powell.

REBELS DO IT

1. The percussion for the 1985 season are: Tracy Wright, Amy Manning, Richard Heimbach, David Varble, Tina Horine, Mark Roberts, Shaun Stevens, Marty Broady, Jenny Horine, Amanda Bradley. 2. This is one of the formations in Southwestern's marching show. 3. "Pepsi anyone?" says Tracy Wright, Angela Kidwell, Kamala Kuppler, Laura Schwartz, Becky Bird, Jacki Sachleben, and Andy Burch. 4. This year's band officers are: Tammy Shelly, secretary; Richard Heimbach, president; Kevin Humphrey, vice-president.

Under the new direction of Miss Bonnie Harmon and assistance of Miss Diane Jarvis and Rick Reckner, the Southwestern Marching Band began another successful season. It took hours of hard work and practices that were long and tiring, but the Rebels came through with yet another award winning season.

To start the season, the band marched in the Hanover Community Day parade, at a Hanover College football game, and in the Regatta parade. They spent a week during the summer at band camp preparing their show and music for the upcoming contests.

Their first competition was at Paoli where they placed second in Class A. They also received Best Guard and Best Drum Majors. Charlestown was next on the list where they received the Esprit de Corps Award. That night they participated in the Salem contest where they had their most outstanding show of the season. Drum Majors Richard Heimbach and Sondi Niccum walked away carrying the first place trophy. Next was ISSMA District competition at Columbus where the Rebels had another tremendous show and earned a Division I rating and a chance at the Regionals. They also received Best Musical Performance. The last contest of the year was District where the Rebels proudly walked away with a Division II rating which destroyed their chance at State competition. "The hard work that all the band members put into this year's show was just fantastic," said Miss Bonnie Harmon, indicating the 1984-85 marching season was a successful year for the Rebel Regiment.

During the school year the band presented many concerts such as the Christmas concert and a "Pops" and Spring concert. Those were followed by a band banquet awarding many students for their outstanding work.

WITH STYLE

Southwestern's 1984-85 Winter Guard did more than just entertain the fans during half-time of home basketball games this season; members got to find out what it was like competing against other guards. They rehearsed many long and hard hours Tuesday and Thursday nights from 6 to 8:00 p.m., Friday mornings from 6:30 until 7:30 a.m., and sometimes even Saturdays from 9 to 12 and 12 to 3:00 p.m.

The guard traveled to many different places during the year, including Greenwood, Jasper, Whiteland, Connorsville and North East DeBouis. They received two fourth place trophies at Jasper and Whiteland. Their routines were performed to "Hold On," "Don't Stop 'til You Get Enough," and "What a Feeling."

Captains of this year's squad were Lisa Morgan and Kristie Bare. Other members were Jacki Sachleben, Becky Bird, Tammy Shelly, Missy Edwards, Laura Schwartz, Vicky Austin and Amy Schwartz. Rifle members were Jo Bare, Becky Smith, Gerry Sexton, Jenny Horine, Roxie Long, and Shelly Taylor. The instructors were Miss Bonnie Hammond, Miss Diane Jarvis, and Mr. Rick Reckner.

1. Winter Guard members for the 1984-85 season are: Front row: Jo Bare, Becky Smith, Shelly Taylor, Roxie Long, and Gerry Sexton. Back row: Missy Edwards, Kristi Bare, Laura Schwartz, Becky Bird, Jacki Sachleben, Amy Schwartz, Teresa Bodem, Vicky Austin and Tammy Shelly. 2. Instructors for the Winter Guard are Miss Bonnie Hammond, Miss Diane Jarvis and Mr. Rick Reckner. 3. Guard members Jacki Sachleben, Jo Bare, Becky Bird, Tammy Shelly and Becky Smith relax between performances. 4. Guardmen perform a routine during competition at Whiteland.

VOCA

Attending school at the Hanover Southwestern complex was not the only alternate for high school students. Juniors and seniors and some sophomores elected to travel each day to the Southeastern Vocational School in Versailles, Indiana to attend classes in auto mechanics, machine shop, drafting, electronics, welding, graphic arts, health services, and data processing. The students spent two hours each day in job training in one of these areas. Upon their return to SW, they were required to complete their English, history, and government requirements. Approximately forty Southwestern students joined students from Madison, Rising Sun, South Dearborne, Jennings County, Switzerland County and Batesville in attending vocational school this year.

1. Auto mechanics is sophomore Bobby Hatton's forte at Voca. 2. Senior Glenn Falconberry contemplates his next step. 3. Julie Monroe makes her client look beautiful; Julie is an all-day student in cosmetology. 4. Senior Lisa Condrey settled on secretarial science as her chosen field. 5. It was a hot job for Bryan Watkins in the welding class. 6. Robby Miller concentrates on his job. 7. Robby Ray makes everything fit together for his project. 8. Sophomore David Williams thinks of a plan for drafting class.

WORK, WORK, WORK

Not only are we celebrating the silver anniversary of the Re-bian, but another silver anniversary is also being noted — that of Mr. Delbert King, principal of Southwestern Junior-Senior High School. As of 1984, Mr. King has served as our principal for 25 years. He is still as kind, concerned, fair, and understanding as when our parents attended Southwestern, and these qualities have helped to make him into a truly great principal. But we can not acknowledge Mr. King without mentioning the rest of the staff who exhibit these same qualities as well. Our teachers provide us with a solid base for continuing our education after graduation and entering into the work force. The janitors and maintenance crew keep us comfortable during our days here. The cooks provide good, hot meals each day, as well as serving a special Senior Breakfast honoring the class of 1985. Although we may not always express it, we greatly appreciate all that they have done for us.

Indiana University Coach Bob Knight was the featured speaker at an athletic banquet held ten years ago. Biology teacher Mrs. Coghill and Coach Knight renew old acquaintances. SW present coaches get together every-now-and-then to talk strategy.

STAFF

CORPORATION RUNS SMOOTHLY

The faculty, administration, and school board at Southwestern did a fine job keeping everything running smoothly. Dr. Patrick Leahey, school superintendent for the fifth year, had a busy year making very important decisions. The school board also had important judgments to make throughout the year. Members of the school board were Richard Shaffer, president; Lorice Ferguson, vice-president; Karen Taylor, secretary; Julio Suarez; Dr. L.E. Westall.

Mr. Delbert King finished his twenty-fifth year as principal of Southwestern High School. As the school's principal Mr. King had to make important decisions that would have an effect on the entire year. Mr. King also supported all school activities, seldom missing an event.

Mrs. Cathy Ellis was the school's vice-principal for the fifth year. She not only had to make decisions, but she also had to enforce the rules in the student handbook throughout the year.

EFFICIENCY IS THE KEY WORD

The faculty and administration of Southwestern High really kept school affairs in top shape.

Dr. Pat Leahey, Superintendent of the school corporation, had many important decisions to make concerning school closing.

Mr. Delbert King, now serving his twenty-sixth year as principal of Southwestern, and Mrs. Cathy Ellis, now in her fourth year as vice-principal, have faced another very hard but exciting year.

Custodians Tom Potter, Cari Jackson, Walter Barrett, Donald

Horine, Betty Russell, Charles Singer all did a fantastic job in keeping our school in running order.

LET'S JOIN

Honors, awards, recognition, self-fulfillment — each of these was represented by participation in clubs and other activities at Southwestern. The Art Club participated in art contests sponsored by the Madison Courier and had very impressive showings. Scott Ison was named the Future Farmers of America District XII Star Farmer. The boys' varsity cheerleaders and the Southwestern Marching Rebel Regiment joined in the Hanover Community Days parade, and the Spanish Club also hosted a booth at the Madison Chatauqua of the Arts, attended a language fair at Madison Consolidated High School, and began their own soccer team. The Marching Rebel Regiment, composed of about sixty talented band and colorguard members, competed in marching band contests around the state. They earned such awards as Best Music, Best Auxiliary, Best Drum Majors, and a Division I (excellent) rating that enabled them to advance from District to Regional competition. This year the Winter Guard competed on the circuit for the first time, making commendable showings in the novice class. The Rebian attained a few awards, too — three Southern Indiana Press awards were received by the 1984 staff for copy and color.

BRINGING HOME THE GOLD!

This is the twenty-fifth birthday of Southwestern's Chapter of the Future Farmers of America for the chapter. 1984-85 was a very busy and award winning year. It won a National Silver Award and was in the top two hundred chapters of eight thousand in the nation. In June SW was made a Golden Chapter in the state — one of the top ten groups in Indiana. They were also named number one in national farm safety.

FFA had its annual fruit sale again this year. John Tingle was the top salesman. The chapter celebrated National FFA week by holding its annual Faculty Breakfast and by providing special radio spots on WORX and newspaper articles.

Joe Neher, a 1984 graduate, was named one of the top four in the nation in beef production. As a result of this he has won a six week trip to study beef production in Italy. This goes to show that all the work these young farmers go to can really pay off and afford them a brighter future.

Scott Ison was named Star District Farmer, meaning he was the most outstanding applicant from his district to receive his Hoosier Farmer Degree. Other members receiving Hoosier Farmer Degrees were Denise Adams, John Craigmyle and Steve Stoner. The Star Chapter Farmer was Scott Ison. Star Agri/Businessmen was Denise Adams and William Adams was named Star Greenhand. The Chapter concluded the year with an annual awards banquet. Honorary Chapter Farmer Degrees were given to Janis Rudolech and posthumously to Lawrence Graves. The Distinguished Service Award was presented to Mrs. Marcia Morrill. Many students received awards for their outstanding work. Southwestern is proud of its very active and award winning chapter. There is no doubt that they are winners!

THE AGE OF COMPUTERS

Mrs. Barbara Ellefsen spent another busy year making the Computer Club a success. The club met on Mondays and Wednesdays from 2:30 to 3:30. Any student could come in during that time to use the computers. The students used the time for typing research papers, playing games, and using the word processor. Some students also used the computers to sharpen their skills in preparation for the SAT tests.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS

Another successful year has gone by for the Future Homemakers of America, under the leadership of adviser Mrs. Sarah Green and President Paula Wood.

Among the accomplishments this year were an annual trip to the Madison State Hospital, the annual visit of the bloodmobile, making bears along with the FFA for King's Daughters' Hospital to give to hospitalized children, and going to the state convention.

The officers for this year were Paula Wood, President; Jeanna

Gray, Vice President; Tammy Brown, Secretary; Sonja Rice, Treasurer; Leigh Ann Woods, Parliamentarian; Penny Abbot, Historian; Steve Morrill, Reporter; Jan Shephard, Projects Chairman; Joyce Spillman, Recreation Chairman.

District officers were Anne Creech, Public Relations Chairman and Teresa Powell, Vice President.

During the FHA Leadership Conference in Indianapolis, proficiency events were held. Members receiving awards were Teresa Powell, a bronze medal in prepared speech; Linda Schnebelt, a bronze metal in children's storytelling; and Julie Wilson, a silver metal in children's storytelling. The state Hortense Hurst FHA scholarship was awarded to SW senior vice-president Jeanna Gray.

Other members of FHA are Lisa Stewart, Anne Creech, Ruth Anne Smith, and Steve Morrill.

WITH HONORS!

The Harvey Wiley Chapter of the National Honor Society carried out its normal activities in the 1984-85 school year. In the fall the members sold Kathryn Beich candy bars, their annual fund raising project. Spring, once again, brought the trip to Derby Dinner Playhouse to see Gypsy. The initiation ceremony was held in April at which time 16 new members were inducted. Senior members were awarded their honor cords on Honor's Day, which were funded by their membership dues.

1. Elected officers of the year include Mark McCloud, President; Carolyn Dowell, Social Chairman; Missy King, Treasurer; Stephanie Bruther, Vice-President; and Amanda Bradley, Secretary. 2. WRITING IS THEIR LIFE

The Southwestern Chapter of Quill and Scroll had a busy year. Most of the members were very involved with the making of the '84-'85 yearbook or newspaper class. They had a banquet to award members for their outstanding work and to initiate four new members and Mrs. Martha Clancy, Confederate adviser. During Honor's Day, the Chapter gave out Senior Superlatives and 12 Senior Honor Awards. In May the officers were invited to initiate a new Quill and Scroll Chapter at Shawe High School.

DANCING WITH STYLE

Southwestern Pom-poms opened their season performing with a punk routine to "No Parking On The Dance Floor" during halftime of a boys' basketball game. For this performance the girls dressed in their craziest outfits. The second routine was done to Prince's "Baby I'm A Star." Finally the Pom-poms did their last performance to "Jitter Bug" by Wham. This was a bouncy routine that the girls enjoyed doing.

Miss Susan Astrike, a student teacher from Hanover College, was the Pom-pon sponsor this year. Senior Missy Sproessig was Captain and choreographed most of the routines. Over-all this year's season was enjoyable for the girls.

Sixth row: Missy Hall, Missy Davis, Lori Horine, Tonia Harrison, Missy Gray, Lisa Todd, Nichol Bair, Kathryn Cain, Laura Schwartz, Debbie Seeling, and Beth Yount.

The 1984-85 Pep Club was under the direction of Mrs. Marcia Manning, mother of varsity cheerleader Amy Manning. There was not a pep club to support the team and yell with the cheerleaders until Mrs. Manning volunteered her services to help form one.

This year's pep club purchased shirts to have a more uniform look. Much of the support this year came from the junior high school although the high school joined forces to raise school spirit during the sectionals.

Pep Band this year was involved in accompanying the cheerleaders in cheers selected from "Musical Cheers". In this way the band became more involved in the basketball game.

Under the direction of Bonnie Harmon, the band played a very popular song which became a favorite of both the band and players, "We're Not Gonna Take It" by Twisted Sister. It was played at every basketball game to help give players and fans a great deal of energy. When the fans and players heard Tina Horine clanging on the cowbell and Richard Heimbach jamming on the drum set, the crowd knew what song was being played. During this year the Pep Band's participation was a big boast to the cheerleaders.

¿ H A B L O I N G L E S ?

For years now Spanish Club has had the reputation for being the largest club in Southwestern High School, and this year was no exception. The sponsor for the group was Mr. Roy Emery, the Spanish teacher, but he received lots of good assistance from club president Chuck Worcester. Other officers were Keith Mullett, secretary, David Todd, treasurer, Rick Johnson, Vice-president, and Jennifer Trout, historian.

The club participated in a number of different community functions. Chautauque was one of the first activities on the agenda for our "native" Spaniards. Members made pinatas, cookies, and other goodies that helped raise money for the club. When the Foreign Language Fair took place at Madison High School, Southwestern participated. At this function some students performed dances and skits. With the local Quill and Scroll chapter, Spanish Club helped to launch the basketball season when both groups joined together and held an after-the-Madison-ballgame DJ Dance.

When spring rolled around, a Spanish Club Soccer Team was organized. Coached by Senior Emery, the team went into action twice against Scottsburg, coming home with one tie and one win. Several members of the club toured Mexico during spring break. Once again Spanish Club reigned as the largest and one of the most active groups at Southwestern.

MEXICO, HERE WE COME!

On the morning of March 14, 1985 seven Spanish Club students set out for a dose of the REAL thing! Jenny Horine, Joanna McLemore, Joy Harris, Jason Polly, Chuck Worcester, Steve Morrill and Steve King, along with chaperones Mr. Roy Emery and Mrs. Wanda Harris, boarded Delta 727 in Louisville in midmorning and found themselves in Merida, Mexico before nightfall. The group relaxed until morning before they departed for a tour of the city. They soon found that our country differed greatly from Mexico. The open market was an experience as well as a challenge because they found that they could bargain about the price of any certain item they wanted.

After the group toured the city of Merida, they set out for Uxmal where they would learn the history of the Mayan Indian culture. The next day they again traveled to more Indian landmarks. By the end of the day, group had had enough Mexican culture, and they were ready for the blue sky, 100° temperatures and the warm sandy beaches of Cancun. They had three days to themselves to work on their tans — or burns, whichever the case might have been. The three days ended, and suddenly it was time for the Southwestern Spaniards to board their plane and return to chilly, wet 40° Hanover. ¡Adios, Mexicanos!

DEMOCRACY AT WORK

Southwestern's Student Council sponsored several events during the 84-85 school year. The council was led by President Peter Jackson and Vice-President Stephanie Bruther. Trina King served as secretary, and Calli Kleopfer was treasurer.

after being postponed twice because of weather. Spirit Week was also sponsored by the council. They sold links for a Spirit Chain and donated the money to the Hanover Nursing Center. The council also gave a $150 scholarship to senior, Peter Jackson.

"TEAM BUSTERS" AND "VICTORY STREET" WIN

During the November 5-9 school week, spirit was high in preparation for the beginning of the winter sports season. Juniors had won Spirit Week for the last several years, and the tradition held true as the juniors tied with sophomores for first place.

All classes participating in Spirit Week showed their creativity by choosing new and different themes. Seniors chose "Friday the Ninth," juniors opted for "Team Busters," sophomores decided upon "Victory Street," and freshmen elected to use "Rebel Victory Tour."

Juniors won the hall decoration competition; sophomores were the runners-up; freshmen placed third, and seniors got last. The juniors and the freshmen tied for first place in badge competition. Sophomores brought in third and the seniors placed last. The banner competition was close as the sophomores ran away with first; the juniors followed in second; seniors placed third, and the freshmen brought up the rear.

Freshmen won the attendance by a large margin; sophomores placed second; seniors placed third, and the juniors finished a far off last. Finally came the skits. This is where the classes really got to show their stuff. Sophomores won first; Juniors got second; Freshmen received third, and the Seniors finished last. Next, the classes showed their spirit with the class yells. Although the juniors had the fewest number of people present, they ran off with first, sophomores were again second, the Freshmen third, and the Seniors finished last.

Thus Spirit Week came to an end with the juniors and sophomores tying for first, freshmen being awarded with third, and the Seniors got last.

"YOU'RE THE INSPIRATION"

You are my inspiration! The 1984-85 Junior-Senior prom took place on Friday, April 26 at Madison's Moose Lodge. Chicago's You're The Inspiration was the theme song of the prom. The juniors and sponsor David Mount made the Moose Lodge come to life with metallic silver, blue, and purple streamers, stars, and an enormous arch showing the way to the dance floor. There was romance in the air as couples danced the night away to the music of the Flyers.

Everyone listened attentively as the prom court was announced. Candidates for princess included Sonja Arbuckle, Tracy Chandler, Gina Greene, Kim Kuppler, and Sondi Niccum. Handsomely dressed, the prince candidates were Jeff Annon, Jeff Barnett, Curt Hilleary, Carl Miles, and Duane Ralston. Kim Kuppler was crowned princess and Duane Ralston was named prince.

The ceremonies proceeded to the crowning of the prom king and queen by Junior Class President Montane Liter. Chris Burch and Stephanie Bruther reigned as prom royalty. Other queen candidates included Terrie Barnes, Amanda Bradley, Anna Jackson, Missy King, and Michelle Mahoney. Senior men included in the court were Rick Johnson, Mark McCloud, Ron Mundt, David Todd, and Kevin Todd.

As the hour of twelve drew near, the garter ceremony was announced, and the couples danced to the theme song. Then much too soon, the lovely evening came to an end.

NIGHT OF ROYALTY

After being postponed four times, SWHS held its annual Homecoming ceremonies. Finally on February 20, the weather permitted the festivities to occur. Although the candidates were held in suspense for weeks, each knew only one was to be crowned.

At last the magic moment fell upon the gymnasium. "Ladies and gentlemen, the 1985 Homecoming Queen is ... Miss Stephanie Bruther." Escorted by Ron Mundt, Stephanie advanced to be crowned by the 1984 Queen, Kim Bitner. Kim was escorted by Peter Jackson, Student Council President. Freshman Princess, Trina King, escorted by Mark Roberts, presented the roses to Stephanie. Calli Kleopfer, Sophomore Princess, escorted by Robby Cox, carried the crown.

Other queen candidates were Seniors Michelle Mahoney, Anna Jackson, Missy King, Laurie Smith, and Teresa Gross. Their escorts included Mark McCloud, Bobby Moore, David Todd, Rich Skirvin, and Kevin Todd. Juniors vying for queen were Sonja Arbuckle, Gina Greene, and Lee Ann Stubbins. CLUBS ARE ACTIVE

This year's Art Club sponsored post-basketball game dances and held bake sales to raise money. Art Club members also had a chance to participate in the Madison Art Club Contest. Winners were: first in drawing, Kirk Siee; third in drawing, Les Smith, Jeanna Gray, and Tina Rowlett; first in crafts sculpture, Mike Elles; third in collage, Robby Miller; third in painting, Troy Miller; and third in ceramics and sculpture, Brian Reardon. At the end of the year the students also enjoyed a Spring Art Show. This year's sponsor was Mr. Gene Robertson.

Students were given the opportunity to participate in the stock market again this year. This program was designed to expose students to sound decision making, to illustrate basic economic principles and to show that some learning experience can be fun. Twenty students bought and sold stock while competing with other schools. The group of Kevin Todd, Mike Elles, Rick Robbins, Mark McCloud, and Bobby Moore ranked 43rd of 43 in the state. 1985

REBEL MANIA

Many different sports were available at Southwestern for the many different kinds of people who wish to participate in them. Through the hard work and dedication of our athletes, several memorable seasons were attained. The varsity volleyball team won the Shawe Invitational Tournament. Three Rebel wrestlers earned the right to compete in regionals, and both boys' and girls' varsity basketball teams had several All-Conference players. Swimming was added to the list this year. Under the leadership of the experienced distance runners, the 1985 track team set their goal to improve upon the '84 season. The cross-country team participated in the regionals. Baseball players worked hard. The golf team participated in many meets held at Sunrise Golf Course. Softball was in its second season, and intense effort was displayed by all participants. Intramurals were held again this year, and the player turnout was impressive. Athletics gives us an escape from schoolwork, while teaching us what it takes to be part of a team. School is important, but activities such as sports are also important. They help us to become well-rounded people.

Just as the snow returns to the Ohio Valley every year, so does intramural basketball and this year was no exception. The intramural season got under way in the middle of January when Hanover Park Director Jack Taylor, adviser, called a practice for all people interested in participating. At that practice four different teams were drawn up along with four different captains. They were Bobby Moore, Brad Cook, Peter Jackson, and Troy Holder. The next week was to be the first week of real competition which pitted student against student, friend against friend. When the players stepped onto the court, they thought the game would be a free-for-all, but thanks to park employees Dave Stucker and Dennis Stockdale, the games were kept under control and were well-officiated.

Several weeks passed and the winter was almost over when a winner was decided and the team was that of Brad Cook's.

The junior high also participated in the intramural program under the supervision of Jack Taylor.

OFF THE DEEP END

Southwestern's first year's swim team worked hard as they got ready to go to their first sectionals. The season included only one meet.

Kim Howell was the team's diver. Kim competed in the diving sectionals. The swim coach this year was Miss Dawn Desesa.

1. The first girls' swim team consists of Kim Howell, Michelle King, and Wendy King. 2. The Southwestern High School's first swim team includes Kevin Wood, Jeff Brown, Jeff Marshall, Shawn Stevens, and Andy Burch. 3. Fred Woods is the only junior high student to participate on the swim team. 4. Kim Howell is getting ready to participate in her first diving competition.

RUNNING FOR VICTORY

The Southwestern Girls' Cross Country Team had a successful season because they had a complete team. They finished the season with a record of 5 wins and 10 losses which was very good considering the Rebels were struggling to keep a complete team.

Junior Lisa Ashley lead the Lady Rebels throughout most of the season. She was followed by her sister Leatha, Bev Stockdale, Cheryl Schiphorst, and Kim Stakelin. Sarah Blume was a member of the team but because of conflicts she was forced to quit.

This year's team, coached by Mr. Steve Bright, was very young, and they look forward to an outstanding season next year.

Late in October the Fall Sports' Banquet was held and the girls' Cross Country awards were given. Lisa Ashley received the Most Points award, Cheryl Schiphorst earned the Hustle award, Kim Stakelin received the Most Improved award, and Bev Stockdale won the Scholastic award.

TOP OF THE HEAP

Any Rebel fan can depend on the varsity boys' cross country team to be competitive and exciting to watch. The 1984 season proved to be no different as the Rebels ran competitively against the cross country powerhouses in Southern Indiana (Charlestown, Jeffersonville, Jac-Cen-Del). Charlestown competed in the state meet, and just one month before, the Rebels beat them by one point.

The team was composed of seniors Bob Moore, Rick Johnson, Mark McCloud; junior Steve Morrill; and sophomores Brian Bailey, Bobby Hatton, and Kevin Shelley. Individual as well as team goals, were set and records were broken.

The Rebels started the season with a 19-36 victory over Switzerland County and continued this victory pattern throughout the season. With a score of 19, Southwestern won the Madison Courier Invitational Tourney and reigned as county champs for the third consecutive year. To be competitive, a team must run in large invitational meets. The Rebels proved themselves by placing third of eight teams at the Jeffersonville Invitational, fourth of 11 teams at the Jennings County Invitational, fifth of 12 teams at the Pekin Invitational, and third of 11 teams at the Bloomington Invitational. The team placed fourth in the Sectional meet to earn a berth in the Regional. The team itself had a 65-28 record over-all and was undefeated in dual meets this year.

By the close of the '84 season, four runners were standouts: Moore, Johnson, and Morrill were all a part of the All-Conference team, the All-County team, and the All-Sectional team, and McCloud made the All-County team. At the County the Rebel team had its first five runners in the top ten, and they also had the first three finishers.

There were several individuals who ran outstanding races throughout the year. Bobby Moore set a new course record and placed first at the Jennings County Invitational, and he also set a new course record of 16:00 at Switzerland County. Rick Johnson had two memorable races, one at Regionals and one at the Conference meet, where he ran first for the team. Steve Morrill and Mark McCloud also had their best seasons. Steve and Mark finished second and third respectively at the county meet, Mark's best finish of his career.

At the awards' banquet, retiring Coach Steve Bright honored his runners. Bob Moore received the most points award. Steve Morrill was given the Most Improved trophy. The Hustle trophy was awarded to Rick Johnson, and Mark McCloud earned the Scholastic award. Brian Bailey, Bobby Hatton, Rick Johnson, Mark McCloud, Bobby Moore, and Steve Morrill all received varsity letters.

The Rebels will graduate three of the top four runners. Mark, Rick, and Bobby will not be the team's only loss; Coach Steve Bright has decided to call it quits after four years and a record of 131-56. These factors will probably cause next year's season to be one of rebuilding.

JV CHAMPS

The 1984-85 boys' junior varsity cross country team had an outstanding season behind the one-two punch of junior Mike Chatham and sophomore Brian Bailey. The highlight of the season was the unexpected first place team finish at the conference. Mike Chatham finished second and Brian Bailey finished third.

The team consisted of Chatham; sophomores Bailey, Jerry Thornton, Jeff Marshal, Gary Moore; and freshman Jason Davis. Throughout the season, Davis was a middle man between the JV and varsity. Because of his effort as a freshman, he was awarded the JV Hustle award at the fall sports' banquet.

VOLLEY, SPIKE, SCORE!

There were several memorable moments during the 1984-85 season for the varsity volleyball team, but winning the Shawe Tournament was one of the most outstanding to Coach Sue Seikman. Tying for second in the conference was also a high point for the Rebels, who ended up with 11 wins and 14 losses. According to Coach Seikman, there was improvement in every area of playing the game. Serving, spiking, and working as a team were a few of the aspects that were bettered as the season progressed. With only two seniors, the Rebels were not one of the most experienced teams in the conference. However, the girls continually worked hard to prove themselves in spite of this fact.

According to Coach Seikman, the girls put forth their best effort during their game with Milan. The Rebels were defeated in the first game 15-1 and then came back and won the match two games to three.

At the fall sports banquet, Stephanie Bruther and Becky Caine received the scholastic award, Stephanie Bruther received the hustle award, and Mendi Adams received the most improved award. Stephanie Bruther and Becky Caine were chosen for the All-Conference team.

3 D's CARRY JV THROUGH

According to Coach Patti Rusk, it was the "three D's" that made her junior varsity volleyball team special. Dedication, Determination, and Desire combined to make a season worth remembering. With freshman Kathryn Caine and junior Becky Bird leading the team as co-captains, the junior Rebels ended with an even record of seven wins and seven losses, which was a great improvement over seasons past. Perhaps this was because the girls achieved one of their team goals: to continually progress.

Coach Rusk said, "In each game there was not only team improvement, but individual improvement, also."

Even though the team consisted mostly of freshmen and had only a few returning players, the girls worked hard and gained much experience throughout the season. The team's "spark" was freshman Tanya Colber, who was always overflowing with spirit and enthusiasm. At the fall sports banquet, sophomore Dawn Dean received the Hustle Award.

SIMON SAYS

Under the direction of the first year Coach Andy Simon and Assistant Coach Barry Boyles, the wrestlers for the 1984-85 school year had a good team record. The team finished with 11 wins and 8 losses, which is a record for the most wins in dual meets in a single season. This year's team had to become accustomed to the new coach's style of wrestling. During the season, the coach said he could see a drastic improvement in the whole team and that they learned very quickly.

Some individual records were set during the season. Tony Brawner had a season record of 23 pins in 27 matches. He was also the school's first two-time sectional champion. Tony wrestled at 112 pounds for the third year in a row. Tony's win-loss record was 26-1 which is also a first. Steve Annon, who wrestled at 132 pounds, had a record of 32 take-downs. Coach Simon said that Steve was very quick on his feet, and he won many of his matches by getting the quick takedown.

During the season, the Rebels wrestled at Waldron, Indiana, the Mohawk Classic, which consisted of eight teams, and the Rebels placed fourth as a team. The team had four individual champions, which was more than any of the other teams had. Individual champions were Brawner at 112 pounds, Steve Annon at 132 pounds, Jeff Annon at 138 pounds, and Eddie Webster at 155 pounds.

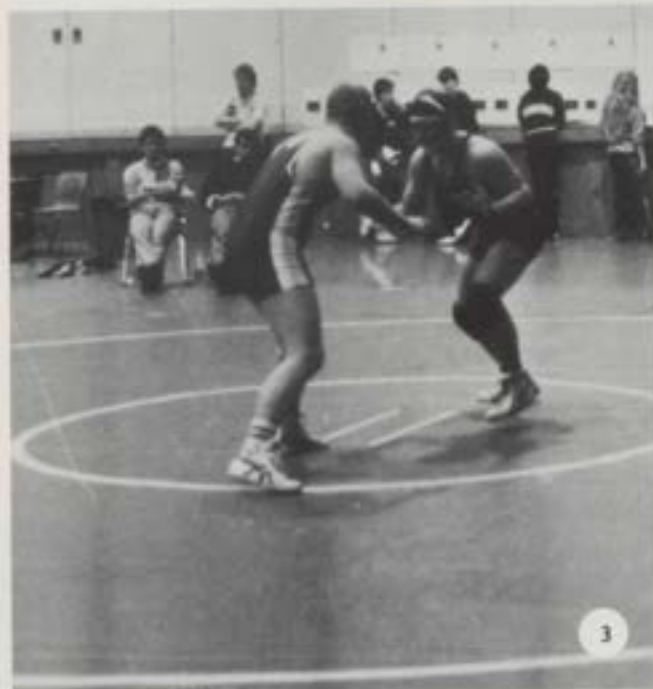

After Christmas break, the Rebels wrestled their conference tournament at Charlestown High School. Although they did not fair so well as they would have liked, the Rebels did a fine job, advancing three wrestlers to the championship round. The wrestlers were Brawner, 112 pounds, Steve Annon, 132 pounds; and Sonny Clair at Heavyweight. Brawner came away with his first conference championship. Annon lost his match when he was reversed in the last 10 seconds, with the final score being 15-13. Clair was pinned by the defending champion in his match. The Rebels came away with a fifth place finish as a team.

The team went into sectionals with the hopes of sending approximately five wrestlers to the regional match the following week. Although they only had two sectional champions and no runners-up (the first and second place finishers in each weight class advance), the Rebels performed well. The two champions were Brawner at 112 and Brandon Silcox at 119 pounds. Jeff Annon was also able to wrestle at regionals because he placed third, and the champion in his weight class was unable to wrestle because of an injury he sustained while wrestling.

The wrestlers were backed during the year by their mat-maids. The mat-maids tried to raise spirit all through the year by decorating the wrestlers' lockers and buying treats for their wrestlers. Their sponsor was Mrs. Carolyn Moore.

Wrestlers who earned their varsity letter were Alex Harris, Tom Hertz, Tony Brawner, Rob Tullis, Brandon Silcox, Steve Annon, Jeff Annon, Shane Williams, Eddie Webster, Bob Ford, Larry Hancock, and Sonny Clair. Steve Annon, Jeff Annon, and Larry Hancock earned their letter jackets.

At the awards' banquet the following awards were given: Most Improved, Bob Ford; Hustle, Tony Brawner; Most pins, Brawner; Scholastic, Eddie Webster; Most Takedowns, Steve Annon. The co-captains were Tony Brawner and Jeff Annon.

The team consisted of only one senior, so they are hoping for a much better season next year. Coach Simon is really looking forward to it and has some big team goals.

The scorekeepers for the Rebels are Dr. Roy Webster, Lora Rigsby, Laura Dowell, and Barb Annon.

PULL IT TOGETHER

This year the cheerleading squads accomplished a lot. The varsity and JV squads updated the school song by making up new dance steps in it and also by adding a mount to the end of it to "snazz it up." These fine squads also entertained the fans by doing dances between games and during halftime. They also worked together on a few cheers, the most popular being, "Pull It Together." Once when they did this cheer, they received an ovation from the opposing teams crowd.

The varsity squad, consisting of Michelle Mahoney, Tammy Brown, Mendi Adams, Amy Manning, Sonja Arbuckle, and Kathy

Dickey, led the pep club and were responsible for promoting school spirit. Michelle Mahoney served as captain for this fine squad, which earned seven superior ratings at a UCA camp at IU. They did have some obstacles to overcome, one being the absence of Michelle Mahoney, while she was healing from the accident that occurred during one of their many practices during the summer. Michelle broke a vertebrae in her back when a mount collapsed. This excellent squad overcame this and went on to be a very fine squad of whom SWHS can be proud.

The JV squad also did a fine job of supporting its team. These cheerleaders, Kim Kuppler, Pam Sage, Marcie Moore, Dawn Henry, Melissa Berry, and Dixie Dean, earned both superior and excellent ratings at camp at IU last summer. Kim Kuppler served as captain for this fine squad.

The freshman squad was made up of Tina Bowman, Missy Craddock, Jill Monroe, and Nichol Bair. These girls did a super job of supporting their team this season.

Along with all of their responsibilities, these three squads alternated and cheered at the Lady Rebels' home games. All-in-all it was an excellent year for all the cheerleading squads.

Tammy Brown and Michelle Mahoney, the two seniors on the varsity squad, have been cheerleaders since back in junior high.

FROSH PREPARE FOR THE FUTURE

The 1984-85 freshmen basketball team finished the season with a 6-9 record, but much improvement was sought throughout the year. The team improved their record greatly from their previous two years in junior high. The leading scorer and free throw percentage shooter was John Stoner with 127 total points and 82% from the charity strip. Coach Tom Patterson has high hopes for his players in the upcoming years.

1. John Stoner drives for an easy lay up. 2. Wes Seel goes for two more. 3. JV TEAMS ARE UP AND DOWN

The 1984-85 Boys' Junior Varsity Basketball team had a very successful season. The team's final record was 10-8. "At the first of the year the team was very green and lacked confidence," commented Coach Bright, but by the end of the season "they got it all together," winning four of four in their last four games. The team leaders were Brian Bailey, who led in points with eight per game, Kevin Ashby, who dished out the assists with two per game, and Sean Harvey, who led in rebounds with five per game as well as receiving the hustle award. The team records set were a game high of 74 points, 65% on the year from the free throw line, and 45% on the year from the field. Overall the team had a very good year.

The 1984-85 Girls' Junior Varsity Basketball Team had a good season although their 3-9 record didn't show it. The team had three sophomores, Kathy Curry, Kelly Day, and Tracy Ison, and freshmen Trina King, Cassie Wheeler, Kathryn Caine, Mary Edwards, Donna Cleffman, and Sarah Blume. Four of these nine players split time with the varsity with Kathryn Caine receiving the hustle award. Playing on the JV team was just a stepping stone up the path to a varsity career.

Ladies Win With Class

Southwestern's Lady Rebels had another fine season with a 13-6 record for 1984-85.

During the season the Lady Rebels set numerous records. In mid January they scored 99 points in a game against Switzerland County. Another achievement of the team was its ability to hold their opponents to a record low average of 39 points per game while the Rebels threw in an average of 63 points per game. The Lady Rebels also won the Rising Sun Tourney, another first for Southwestern.

With Coach Terry King at the helm, the team displayed talent and character throughout the year. They performed very well during the New Washington Holiday Tourney, bringing home the runner-up trophy. They also played very well against a fine Jac-Cen-

Del team, going 1-1 with them. During the Sectional the Rebels played well but came out on the short end in their only game against Madison.

Members of the 1984-85 girl's team were: Susan Abel, Lora Rigsby (Co-Captains), Joanna McLemore, Cheryl Schiphorst, Becky Caine, Laura Roahrig, Dana Hallgarth, Trina King, Cassie Wheeler, and Sarah Blume.

The team will lose two members to graduation, Lora Rigsby and Susan Abel. Lora has been a two year varsity starter. Her rebounding ability and her aggressive play under the basket against people bigger than she has been a great asset to the team. Susan has been a four year varsity starter. While at Southwestern, Susan set a new scoring record with a total of 859 points and she also held the assists record with 210. During her high school career she was a member of the 1980-81 Sectional runner-up team, was chosen for the ORVC All Conference Team and the All Sectional Team for four years, a member of the 1983-84 ORVC Conference Championship Team, and during her junior and senior years she was chosen as the Most Valuable Player in the Madison Courier Area.

Awards presented at the annual Sports Banquet were: Field Goal %, Dana Hallgarth and Joanna McLemore; Free Throw and Assists, Susan Abel; Defense and Hustle, Lora Rigsby; Scholastic, Becky Caine, Dana Hallgarth and Cassie Wheeler; Most Improved, Cheryl Schiphorst and the Rebound award was won by Joanna McLemore.

AS THE BALL BOUNCES

This year's Rebel boys' varsity basketball team had a disappointing 4-16 record. The year was a discouraging one for both the coaching staff and the players; they had a very up and down season. Improvement was shown late in the season, but Coach Larry Miller said the Rebels lost their edge when they were unable to practice but two times in three weeks. The Rebels lost seven games by fewer than three points during the season. Although the season was marred by so many losses, the Rebels showed they still had heart and soul in a disheartening loss to New Washington by two points in the Madison Sectional. The Rebel record may not have reflected their true ability, but this team had more desire and determination than many previous Rebel basketball teams.

At the annual awards' banquet the following awards were received: Most Improved, Montane Liter; Hustle, Kevin Todd; Rebounds, Ron Mundt; Assists, Kenny Garrett; Field Goal Percentage, Ron Mundt; Free Throw Percentage, Ron Mundt; Defense, Curt Hilleary.

1. The 1984-85 Southwestern Boys' Basketball Team members are: (kneeling) Robby Cox, Curt Hilleary, Kevin Todd, George Henry, and Kenny Garrett; (standing) Coach Larry Miller, David Todd, Ron Mundt, Keith Mullett, and Montane Liter. 2. Curt Hilleary passes the ball to avoid the defense. 8. Ron Mundt scores for the Rebels.

AND THE RACE IS RUN

The 1985 Boys' Track Team had a disappointing season this year. The first official practice consisted of many athletes, but as the first meet approached, the team dwindled in size. Smallness of the running Rebels was only one problem; another was the poor attendance at practice sessions. The Senior Trip contributed a role in the future success of the 1985 track team as well.

The running Rebels went into action in early April. Their foe was the always powerful Madison Cubs, and this year was no different. Madison thrashed the Rebels by more than fifty points. However, the team bounced back the next week by placing second in a three team meet. Rick Johnson placed first in the mile with a Sectional qualifying time.

The following week the team traveled to Scottsburg where it picked up its first duel meet victory of the year. Johnson had another outstanding outing; he won both the 800 and the 1600 meter races. Johnson holds the school record in the 800. Steve Morrill also had a good meet; he won the 3200 meter race in 10:35, thus performing at a pace fast enough to qualify for Sectional. Freshman Tim Morrison also did well by placing first in the high jump and the 400. When the Rebels took on New Washington next, they compiled their second victory in a row. Morrison high jumped 5'10" for a second place finish, but the height was enough to qualify him for a Sectional bid.

Two days later the team traveled to Milan where they picked up their third consecutive victory. Some of the first place finishers included Jeff Annon in the 100 Yard Dash, Johnson in the 800 and 1600, Morrill in the 3200, and Montane Litter in the Discus.

The day after the Prom the team again took part in the Jennings County Relays and had a disappointing finish. The Rebels lost to South Ripley and had a poor showing at the Rising Sun Invitational before going to Conference at Milan.

The team again finished a disappointing fourth in the ORVC with the only first place finisher being Johnson in the pole vault. He made the All-Conference team. The Conference concluded the season for the track team except the three Sectional qualifiers.

To round out the season, awards were given at the Spring Sports' Banquet. Rick Johnson compiled the most points and received the Hustle trophy and the Most Points award. Scholarship was won by senior Mark McCloud, and the Most Improved award was given to Montane Litter.

1. Members of the 1985 track team are: Row One: Andy Burch, John Stoner, Steve Annon, Mark McCloud, Rick Johnson, Steve Morrill, Bob Hatton, Jerry Thornton, and Jeff Marshall. Tim Morrison leaps to a Sectional height of 5'10". 4. Rick Johnson ties the SW school record of 12 feet as he soars over the pole vault bar.

LADY REBELS COMPETE

Runners, Set! Bang! Those were familiar sounds heard by the girls' track team this spring. Before hearing those words, however, many weeks of practices were completed. By the close of the 1984 season, many people thought that the following season would be rebuilding one, but no one told the underclass women on the team!

The lady tracksters were strong in many different events. Sprinters were led by lightning quick sophomore Mendi Adams who set a new school record in the 200 meter race. Freshman Cassy Wheeler led the team in one of the most demanding races, the 400 meter run. Wheeler also set a new school record in this event. The longer distances were led by junior Leatha Ashley. Field events for the Lady Rebels had a number of outstanding athletes. Senior Joyce Spillman threw the shot and discus to new school records while junior Joanna McLemore also participated in these two events as well as in the long jump. High jumpers consisted of junior Cheryl Schiphorst, Mendi Adams, and freshmen Susan Ball and Kathryn Caine. Caine also participated in the long jump and in short distance races.

When the end of the season rolled around, two Lady Rebels had qualified for Sectional — Mendi Adams and Cassy Wheeler. Dawn Desesa coached the 1985 Southwestern Girls' Track team.

1. Leatha Ashley was almost always a winner in the mile run for Southwestern. 2. Freshman Kathryn Caine leaps to victory for the Lady Rebels. 3. "Up, up, . . . and OVER" for another victory for Cheryl Schiphorst. 4. Sectional qualifier Mendi Adams wins the final leg of the 300 meter relay. 5. Joyce Spillman, the only senior on the girls' track squad, keeps re-setting the Southwestern record in the discus throw. 6. Members of the Lady Rebel Track Team are: Row One: Julie Robbins, Leatha Ashley, Cheryl Schiphorst, Joanna McLemore, Kathryn Caine, Linda Schnebelt, Susan Ball, and Cindy Thornton. Row Two: Coach Jan Reamer, Tara Taylor, Kim Stakelin, Wendi King, Cassie Wheeler, Joyce Spillman, Mendi Adams, Kelley Leahy, Neica Ray, and Lisa Ashley.

BATTER UP!

Under the guidance of new varsity coach Gary Rocha and also new junior varsity coach Lloyd Griffin, the baseball Rebels improved on last year's win-loss records for both teams.

The JV team finished the season at four wins against ten losses. Seven of the ten losses were by two runs or less. At the awards banquet following the season, Bobby Hatton received the Hustle Award. The leading batter on the team was Jim Ball with a batting average of .414. Ernie Griffin led the team in fielding with a percentage of .900.

Although it was not the way they wanted to do it, the varsity Rebels got into the record books during this season. They started off the season at seven wins and seven losses, but then something caused a turn around, and the Rebels dropped ten games in a row for a new state record. The Rebels broke that string with the last game of the season against the Switzerland County Pacers. The team finished the regular season with an 8-17 record.

The Rebels were fired up going into the Sectional, but a two day rain delay seemed to wash away the pep from the team members. Their foe was the Brownstown Central Braves. The Rebels were down 7-3 going into the seventh inning. Southwestern scored three runs in that inning and had the tying run on third twice but just could not get that run to cross the plate. The final score was 7-6, Brownstown.

At the end of the season Duane Ralston received the Scholastic, the RBI, and the batting average awards. Andy Manek received the Hustle Award. Jerry Wheeler won the ERA and the most improved awards.

1. The Rebel players who began the 1985 varsity baseball season are: Row One: Troy Holder, Robby Tullis, Richard Heimbach, Andy Burch, Peter Jackson, George Severn, and David Blume. Row Two: Richy Skirvin, Bryan Watkins, Duane Ralston, Jerry Wheeler, Charles Worcester, Curt Hilleary, Mike Elles, Sonny Clair, and Coach Gary Rocha. 2. Wes Seel, a junior varsity pitcher, puts a little extra behind his pitch. 3. Members of the 1985 junior varsity baseball team are: Row One: Kevin Selig, Kevin Wood, Bobby Hatton, Mickey Barron, Kevin Newman, and Mark Roberts. Row Two: Coach Lloyd Griffin, Tim Morrison, Jim Ball, Scott Brooks, Jeff Holt, and Ernie Griffin.

Troy Holder takes a lead at first while the pitcher gets set to pitch.

RUNS, HITS, AND ERRORS

Softball was still a relatively new sport at Southwestern, but much support and enthusiasm have been shown since it began in 1984. Mrs. Tena Gill and Miss Sue Siekman coached the varsity and junior varsity teams during the two seasons of its existence here.

The junior varsity team really improved its win-loss record over last year. The team ended the season with an even record of five wins and five losses as compared with the two wins and five losses of the previous season. The varsity finished with a record of six wins and nine losses.

At the Spring Sports Banquet seven awards were given to girls for their achievements during the season. Melissa Berry received the Hustle Award for the JV team while Becky Caine was awarded the Hustle trophy for the varsity. Dana Hallgarth won the RBI award. Batting average honors went to senior Susan Abel; junior Gina Greene got the Defense trophy, and the Most Improved Player was Cassie Wheeler. Joanna McLemore was named the Most Valuable Player. Scholarship trophies were awarded Becky Caine, Cassie Wheeler, Kathryn Caine, and Dana Hallgarth.

Melissa Berry was the JV catcher this season.

PUTT TO VICTORY

Southwestern's 1985 golf team consisted of a senior, Rick Robbins; three juniors, Eddie Webster, Larry Hancock, and Kevin Humphrey; and a sophomore, Adam Bradley. Before the season began, there were some controversies over eligibility and behavior of some of the try-out participants. The golf team was again coached this year by Tom Patterson. The Rebel linksters' primary goal was to finish well in the ORVC Golf Tourney. The Rebels failed in their goal, shooting 427 as a team which was only good enough to finish sixth. Eddie Webster did, however, earn the medalist title with an 82, thus placing him on the All-Conference golf team. The following weekend the team participated in the Sectional at the Sunrise Golf Course. The Rebels, as a team, shot a 373. They were lead by Eddie Webster who shot a 79, but failed to qualify for the Regional.

At the Spring Sports Banquet Adam Bradley received the Most Improved award while Eddie Webster was presented the Low Stroke Average, Scholastic, and his All-Conference certificate. Everyone on the team received his letter towards his letter jacket.

Do you prefer the "casual" look or the "preppie" look? Hard rock or Top 40 hits? New cars or classics? "Days of Our Lives" or "General Hospital"? Trends and fads influence our lives each day, usually more often than we realize. Looking down the hallways of our school, students could be seen in the popular "cropped" style of pants and tops, or would opt for the "preppie" look of polo shirts and Cheeno's pants. Preparations for Senior Trip brought wild and crazy outfits to our school: tropical prints, neon brights, bermuda shorts, sunglasses, and hats. It also brought New-Wave hairstyles, like Bobby Moore's spiked on top and long in back, and George Severn's blond patch in the front of his dark hair. Half a dozen senior guys pierced their left ears, but only two kept them after the trip. With the many different student personalities came many kinds of music to be danced to, cruised to, or played at home. Among the most popular were Bruce Springsteen's "Born in the U.S.A." album, Foreigner's "Agent Provocateur," and "Heartbeat City" by The Cars. Students' cars were not only for transportation, but were also used to make comparisons of style, speed, and value, be it with either a brand-new one or a mint-condition classic. Eric Gray kept up to date with a maroon 1985 Camaro Z28, and Troy Miller's '57 Chevy Bel-Aire was a perfect piece of the past. Many gals — and even some guys! — stayed tuned in to the T.V. set even while at school during lunch, lest they should happen to miss an episode of their favorite soap opera! Popularity was divided among the shows, but the most watched still seemed to be "General Hospital" and "Days of Our Lives." And for relaxing after a long day at school, "Santa Barbara" and "Guiding Light" were the shows to watch.

WE'RE IN THE MAIN STREAM

Many new and exciting styles appeared in the halls of Southwestern this year. It seemed that everyone was dressing in the latest trends. Even though many students participated in all the latest styles, still the most popular style was Levis jeans and T-shirts.

Some of the most popular styles for girls were baggy and striped jeans, cropped pants and shirts, striped and checked pants, Oxford shirts with sweaters, mini skirts, jelly shoes and pumps. For the guys the styles were much the same with baggy and striped jeans, Oxford shirts, polo shirts, and jaz shoes. Girls revealed many different styles and shapes of earrings and even many of the senior guys took part in the one-pierced-ear look for the senior trip.

Music also had a big effect on the styles. Madonna ribbons began to appear in the hair of many of the Southwestern girls.

One of the more popular places to go for the weekend cruise was TG & Y parking lot where people just parked their cars and sat on the hoods to talk with their friends or to just people watch. McDonald's seemed to be the #1 place to be after football games, basketball games or what ever to see friends and maybe even meet some new ones. Try-It was one of the latest places to go. It opened last summer and everyone seemed to enjoy getting together with friends and listening to some of the latest music, dancing and just having a good time.

BURNING THE WORK OIL

Many students from Southwestern High took part in the working world to get that extra dollar. Whether it be for that special someone, for extra money needed, for the car new clothes, or just spending money, approximately 30% of the students worked in a variety of jobs.

1. Junior Barb Couch serves up one of Long John Silver's famous fish specials. 2. Junior Tammy Shelley enjoys working at the local Dairy Queen. 3. Senior Kevin Elliott can still smile after a hard day's work at Dave's Shurway Food Mart. 4. Gerald Reed contemplates a career in the grocery business. 5. Sophomore Dawn Henry and junior Troy Miller show how much they love working together at Sirloin Stockade. 6. Senior Amanda Bradley and junior Carl Miles wait to take your order at Hardees restaurant. 7. Senior Anna Jackson always serves you with a smile at Sirloin Stockade. 8. Juniors Fred Ford and Mike Chatham "deserve a break today" from their jobs at the #1 teen hang-out, McDonalds.

CLASS OF '85

This year's class was one of the smallest to ever be graduated from Southwestern High School. However, although they were small, the class was full of ambition and energy and able to get things done. Class officers were Keith Mullett, president; Roxanne Flint, vice-president; Michelle Mahoney, secretary; and Anna Jackson, treasurer. Mrs. Carolyn Moore served the class as its advisor. These officers were very capable in organizing the class and its activities. The class sold the traditional M & M's and also tried something new, cheese and sausage. Funds raised from these sales were used toward the annual Senior Trip to Florida during Spring Break. Spirit Week brought a position to which these seniors were very unaccustomed but chose to have — last place. Beaten by all the underclassmen, the Class of '85 was overcome by the much dreaded "senioritis" as it reared its head in its primary stages. It spread very quickly throughout the entire class and remained for the school year. The year's hard work (for some!) finally paid off when these seniors were graduated in May. Half a dozen students had graduated at midterm and were already out in the "working world" but returned to take part in commencement exercises with the students with whom they had shared their lives since kindergarten; thirty percent of the class continued their education. Eight to ten students joined various military services. Regardless of the vocations chosen by these students, all of them will look back on their high school years and recall experiences, friends, and classes that have enabled them to move on in life.

SENIORS

COUNTDOWN FOR '85

It was August 24, 1984 and the first day of school. "Where have all the seniors gone?" The class of '85 had already begun to set the senior traditions, for by 7:45 on the morning of the first day of the school year, the seniors were already lounging on the floor in the upstairs hallway. This spot became the headquarters for them and for many senior ideas, not to mention the reams of comp papers which took shape here.

The weeks sped by quickly, and soon it was November. The seniors chose "Friday, the 13th" as their theme for Spirit Week, and the fierce interclass competitions started. As traditions have dictated in the past, the seniors placed fourth, but had fun in the process. After all, they were the first class to bury the basketball coach in front of the high school office. Basketball season was off, and the class loyally supported its participating members Ron Mundt, David Todd, Kevin Todd, George Henry, and Keith "Hubba" Mullett. The season came to an abrupt end, but not before Southwestern celebrated homecoming. Stephanie Bruther and her escort Ron Mundt reigned over the evening as queen and king. Five other senior couples competed for the crown: Michelle Mahoney and Mark McCloud, Anna Jackson and Bob Moore, Teresa Gross and Kevin Todd, Missy King and David Todd, and Laurie Smith and Richy Skirvin.

Throughout the year, seniors played an important part in athletic life at Southwestern. Susan Abel and Lori Rigsby played girls' basketball; Susan was named to the All-Sectional Team. Bob Moore, Rick Johnson, and Mark McCloud led the cross country team to the Regional race. Stephanie Bruther and Joyce Spillman finished their four years on the volleyball team. Shane Williams took to the mats for the wrestling Rebels. In the spring the baseball team boasted seven talented senior players: Troy Holder, Richard Heimbach, Mike Elles, George Severn, Peter Jackson, Rich Skirvin, and Charles Worcester. Susan Abel helped build a strong foundation for the two-year-old softball team. Rick Johnson, Mark McCloud, and Joyce Spillman participated on the track teams. These athletes will be missed in the years to come.

With the arrival of spring came three dear friends of a senior: the Senior Trip, Senioritis, and the Countdown to Graduation. Throughout the year class sponsor Mrs. Carolyn Moore worked with class officers Keith Mullett, Roxann Flint, Michelle Mahoney, and Anna Jackson to organize a fun-filled senior trip to Florida. Student Council members Stephanie Bruther, Bob Moore, Missy King, David Todd, and Rich Skirvin, led by student body president Pete Jackson, aided their efforts with support, Principal Delbert King, Counselor David Mount, and Business Teacher Mrs. Tena Gill sacrificed their sanity by agreeing to chaperone approximately sixty seniors to the Sunny South. Two chartered buses transported them to Florida and between attractions that included Daytona Beach, Walt Disney World, and Epcot.

Back in Hanover the second friend set in — Senioritis. Seniors gave up the fight early, and questions of "Did you do your homework?" and "Did you study for that test?" were heard with increasing frequency. As March turned to April, posted calendars kept accurate tabs of the remaining number of day until graduation. Keeping these calendars up to date was a time-consuming chore for most seniors.

In late April the hallways buzzed with talk. The juniors had invited the seniors to their prom! On April 26, everyone danced the night away to the musical theme "You're My Inspiration." Suddenly, the end of the year was in sight but not before all the exams were taken and passed. The seniors were occupied with cramming for the government final and writing papers for English Lit. May 22, the final day for the seniors, came. Four long years of high school were over except for graduation. The senior class of 1985 left a definite mark on Southwestern and said goodbye while saying hello to the future.

Officers of the senior class are Anna Jackson, treasurer; Michelle Mahoney, vice-president; Keith Mullett, president; and Roxann Flint, secretary.

CONGRATULATIONS!

Honor's Day took place like clockwork for the 1985 graduates. In a little over an hour nearly $30,000 worth of scholarship moneys were distributed to the senior class of Southwestern. For the first time in several years an ROTC scholarship was awarded a Southwestern student; Mark McCloud has over $25,000 available to him during his four year college career from the air force. Four colleges chose to make scholarship grants at the Honor's Day ceremony: Northland College (Wisconsin) to Charles Worcester, Know College (Illinois) to Jennifer Trout, Taylor College to Stephanie Bruther, and Indiana University to Jeff Todd.

Departmental honors were given to Brian Reardon in Art; Terrie Barnes, Amanda Bradley, Richard Heimbach and Tina Horine in Band; Teresa Gross in Business; Missy Sproessig in Choir; Terrie Barnes, Stephanie Bruther, Mark McCloud and Jennifer Trout in English; Carolyn Dowell and Mark McCloud in French; Sheila Austin in Latin; Terrie Barnes, Amanda Bradley, and Jennifer Trout in Spanish; Linda Kilburn in Home Economics; Chris Burch in Industrial Arts; Terrie Barnes and Mark McCloud in Math; Mark McCloud in Science; Stephanie Bruther in Social Studies. Several students were honored for perfect attendance, but no one could match Missy King's thirteen years of perfection — no school missed since day one of kindergarten.

Seniors always enjoy the Senior Superlatives handed out on Honor's Day. This year the Southwestern Chapter of Quill and Scroll sponsored the superlatives which were actually voted by the members of the Class of '85. A few new categories appeared — the dizziest and the person who talked the most, but said the least were two of these. This year the Presidential Academic Fitness Award was presented to seniors who held grade point averages of 3.4 and ranked in the 80 percentile on a standardized test.

THE WORLD IS OURS

The seniors entered the gymnasium on May 26, wearing red and blue gowns. Graduation had begun! The class was led by juniors Montane Litter and Laura Schwartz while Tony Brawner and Becky Smith led the class from the gym. Other ushers were Mary Scudder, Kamala Kuppler, Steve Stoner, and Curt Hilleary.

After Anna Jackson gave the invocation, Mark McCloud delivered one of the salutatory addresses. Following Mark's address, Stephanie Bruther, co-salutatorian, shared her thoughts with the audience. "The Greatest Love of All", a musical selection, was sung by Missy Sproessig. Kevin Todd and Jeanna Gray, chosen by their classmates, shared many memories of the class of '85 and the audience. Valedictorian Terrie Barnes spoke about the importance of accepting responsibilities and standing behind one's actions.

Principal Delbert King introduced the honor students of the Class of 1985 while Dr. Patrick Leahey, superintendent, presented the class for graduation. Mr. King handed the diplomas to the graduating students. Class President Keith Mullett led his class in the changing of the tassels. The memorable ceremony can to an end as Michelle Mahoney delivered the benediction. The graduates walked up the aisle into the future, hand-in-hand, with their diplomas and many good memories of S.W.H.S.

ONE TO BE REMEMBERED

5, 4, 3, 2, 1. "It's here! It's here! It's finally here!" could be heard throughout the halls on Friday, March 15. It was once again time for the seniors to head for the sunny South. The buses arrived in the circle drive at approximately 7:00 p.m. with many anxious seniors waiting to board. The good-byes were said and the buses pulled out. Destination — Florida.

After a long and loud bus ride, the seniors finally arrived in St. Augustine, Florida on Saturday. With no sleep or showers, the group toured the fort and then again loaded the buses for Daytona. Once settled, they threw on their swim suits and headed to the beach. But it soon started to rain, and their plans of catching some rays were ruined.

Day two was not much better. It rained all day, and the temperature stayed somewhere between 50 and 60 degrees. Although the weather was horrible, the seniors still had fun. Some went to a nearby mall, some rented motorcycles, and some simply stayed at the motel to meet new friends. As night fall rolled in, the seniors headed to 7-11 for supper and then a few took a dip in the chilly ocean. Believe it or not, the water was actually warmer than the air!

At 8:00 a.m. on the third day, the buses departed from Daytona for Orlando and Walt Disney World. There wasn't a cloud in the sky, and the sun was shining brightly. The seniors were all decked out in summer outfits expecting a hot day. Much to their surprise, it was once again a chilly day. At 10:00 p.m., after exploring the wonders of Disney, the tired seniors stumbled back to the buses to warm their frozen bodies.

The chaperones allowed the group to stay at the hotel the next day to get some sun or catch up on their sleep. Finally, the seniors got a warm, sunny day. Many laid in the sun all day, enhancing their tans. A few were remorseful the following morning when they woke with aching sun burns.

Wednesday morning, the last day, arrived much too soon. The seniors stumbled to the buses for a final day at Disney and Epcot. The day passed quickly, and it was soon time to board the buses for the long trip home. The "rowdies" on the way down slept like babies on the way home with soleraine in hand.

1. Florida bound seniors have a day of fun before leaving for a vacation in the sun. 2. Before spending a day at Epcot Center, the excited seniors smile for the camera. 3. Rich Skirvin stretches his legs while the bus refuels. 4. Les Smith, Kevin Elliot, and Mike Seuring look out at Daytona from the balcony of the hotel. 5. SW'S STRENGTH

Freshman, sophomore, junior — each year brings us closer to our final year and closer to each other. We learn to work together on teams, or at our homework, in troublesome experiences. Spirit Week brought us all a little closer as we each strived to make our class the winner. At the end of the week, juniors and sophomores came out on top in a tie, and freshmen came in second. The underclassmen proved to the seniors that younger minds are just as capable when winning is the objective! During the year, members of the junior class sold magazine subscriptions and worked in the concession stands at various events in order to raise money for class activities, especially the Junior Prom. The Prom, held on April 26, 1985, brought many new faces and many wonderful memories. Holidays and breaks were always welcomed, but this year brought them to a different focus. During the Christmas holidays, freshman Susan Lyons was involved in a car accident that eventually took her life — a tragedy that saddened us all. Another name we all became familiar with was that of freshman Mike Jones. Mike became the victim of a mysterious quick-acting virus that affected his heart. He made national headlines when he became one of the few people in the world to be kept alive by dual Ventricular Assist Devices. Our prayers were with him each day he struggled for recovery. The school year had its good moments and its bad, but each experience drew us closer to each other and helped us deal with life and all of its triumphs and tragedies.

Underclassmen from the year 1961 are represented in the small photo while freshman Mike Jones enjoys a cycle ride before his bout with the dread virus that left him with a new heart.

SUSAN M. LYONS

Freshman Susan M. Lyons suffered injuries in an automobile accident on Christmas day 1984. Susan died on January 2, 1985. Susan, the daughter of Mrs. Louise Hugback and Maurice Lyons, had two brothers and one sister.

Susan will long be remembered by all of her friends for the kind, warm and friendly personality, and also by her big smile that made her so well liked by everyone. Susan was very loyal to her family, friends, and also to her school. During her life Susan set standards and goals for which our students should strive.

Susan accomplished much during her life; she was in Spanish Club and Pep Club, and she was a dedicated Southwestern basketball and track fan. Students, friends, and family will all miss Susan, but she will always be remembered.

The Southwestern REBIAN Staff and the student body of Southwestern High School would like to dedicate the 1985 Rebian to the memory of Susan Lyons.

THE CLASS WITH CLASS

The 1984-1985 school year was an extremely successful one for the junior class. Many goals were obtained and many victories achieved. The first was the annual magazine sales. They raised about two thousand dollars in this fund raising program. After working hard on this, they turned their attentions to concessions, also a successful venture.

Leading the juniors were President Montane Liter; Vice-President Sondi Niccum; Secretary Kamala Kuppler; and Treasurer Laura Schwartz. The class sponsor was Mr. David Mount, who was the continuous drive behind many of the class activities. The junior class was also well led by student council members Lee Ann Stubbins, Tracey Chandler, Tonietta Wood, Becky Smith, and Greg Kuppler.

Spirit Week proved to be another mark on the score card with the junior class taking first place. The theme was "Teambusters". Homecoming was another important event and juniors participated to the hilt. Queen candidates were Sonja Arbuckle, Gina Greene, and Lee Ann Stubbins. Escorts included

Jeff Annon, Steve Annon, and Montane Liter.

Spring came, and with it came much excitement as the prom drew near. With the help of several junior committees and Mr. Mount, the prom got underway. With the theme "You're the Inspiration" this prom became one of the most successful ones. Prince and Princess candidates for the prom were Sonja Arbuckle, escorted by Curt Hilleary; Gina Greene, escorted by Jeff Annon; Kim Kuppler, escorted by Duane Ralston; Tracey Chandler, escorted by Carl Miles; and Sondi Niccum, escorted by Jeff Barnett.

Throughout the year, many honors and awards were given to juniors. National Honor Society newly elected members were Jeannie Stotts, Kevin Humphrey, and Becki Simmons. Girls State delegates were Sondi Niccum and Rebecca Caine. Boys State delegate was Jeff Barnett. On honors day these juniors received various awards.

Athletics was another point in the favor of the juniors. Cross Country had one of its better years with runner Steve Morrill going on to regionals. Other runners were Mike Chatham, and Leatha and Lisa Ashley. In track the story was the same. Track participants were Montane Liter, Steve Morrill, Steve and Jeff Annon, Leatha Ashley, and Joanna McLemore. Runner Steve Morrill went to sectionals in this sport. The Lady Rebels won many victories with the help of Becky Caine, Cheryl Schiphorst, Laura Roahrig, and Joanna McLemore. Montane Liter and Curt Hilleary both played boys' basketball. Sonja Arbuckle and Kathy Dickey cheered for the varsity while Kim Kuppler cheered for junior varsity.

FFA also was very active during the year. Members Denise Adams, Scott Ison, John Craigmile, Brian Consley, and Steve Stoner won numerous awards. The chapter ranked in the top 200 out of 8000 chapters nationally and eleventh in the state of Indiana. FHA did equally well making several visits to Madison State Hospital and Hanover Nursing Home. Teresa Powell and Anne Creech were District Officers.

All in all the year was an exciting one for the class of 1986.

Junior Class officers include Laura Schwartz, Treasurer; Montane Liter, President; Kim Kuppler, Secretary; and in back Sondi Niccum, Vice President. Mr. David Mount is the class adviser.

The class of '87 once again enjoyed a very successful year. After proving themselves as freshmen last year, they excelled even further this year. They again tied for first place during Spirit Week with the juniors. The class was led by Kelley Leahey, president; Dixie Dean, vice-president; Tammi Jones, secretary; and Dawn Dean, treasurer. Helping were Student Council members Mendi Adams, Patrick Horine, Calli Kleopfer, Amy Manning, and Chris Potter. Calli Kleopfer was the sophomore Homecoming princess with Robby Cox as her escort.

There were many sophomores who participated in athletics this year. Mendi Adams, Cathy Curry, Marcie Moore, and Pam Sage were members of the varsity volleyball team. Members of the junior varsity team were Melissa Berry, Dawn Dean, Dixie Dean, Kelley Leahey, Bev Stockdale, Janda Todd, and Tamra Westall. Cathy Curry, Kelley Day, and Tracy Ison participated in girls' basketball this year. Boys from the sophomore class who were involved in basketball were Robby Cox and Kenny Garrett, who played varsity, and Jason Couch, Brian Bailey, Patrick Horine, Kevin Shelly, Sean Harvey, Scott Brooks, and Chris Potter, who played on the junior varsity team. Urging the teams on were cheerleaders Mendi Adams, Melissa Berry, Dixie Dean, Dawn Henry, Amy Manning, Marcie Moore, and Pam Sage.

Sophomore members of the wrestling team were Tod Grabbe and Brandon Silcox, who went to regionals. Participating in color-guard this year were sophomores Jo Bare and Melissa Berry, who were in the rifle corps, and Jill Gray and Jacki Sachleben, who were members of the flag corps. Several sophomores also participated in winter guard and went to contests for the first time.

Boys representing the sophomore class on the track team were Brad Cook, Kevin Shelley, Brian Bailey, Gary Moore, Bobby Hatton, Jerry Thornton, Jeff Marshall, and Andy Burch. Sophomore girls participating in track were Mendi Adams, Susan Ball, Linda Schnebelt, and Wendy King. Gary Moore, Bobby Hatton, Jerry Thornton, and Jeff Marshall also ran on the cross-country team for the Rebels.

This was the first year for a swim team, and several sophomores participated. They were Jeff Brown, Andy Burch, Wendy King, Shaun Stevens, Janet Thomas, and Kevin Wood. Adam Bradley was the only sophomore who was a member of the golf team.

This was only the second year for softball at Southwestern, but it attracted many interested participants. Five sophomores girls took part in this "new" sport, including: Mendi Adams, Melissa Berry, Norah Monkman, Bev Stockdale, and Julie Wilson. Sophomore boys who played baseball included Mickey Barron, Scott Brooks, Andy Burch, Bobby Hatton, Jeff Holt, and Kevin Wood.

Not only did this year's sophomores do well athletically, but they also excelled academically, with many of them being inducted into the National Honor Society.

FROSH EAGER TO BEGIN

This year's freshmen were very eager to begin their first year of high school. The officers were Sarah Blume, president; Wes Seel, vice-president; Missy Craddock, secretary; and Mary Edwards, treasurer. Serving on the student council were Kathryn Caine, Dana Hallgarth, Trina King, John Stoner, and Kelly Amick. These people all helped organize Spirit Week in which the freshmen tied for first in badges and won first in attendance, but they finished a disappointing third overall.

Volleyball attracted many freshmen. Dana Hallgarth played on the varsity team and while seven girls played on the junior varsity team. Participating in cross country were Kim Stakelin for the girls' team and Jason Davis for the boys' team.

The winter sports followed. Playing on the boys' junior varsity basketball team were Heath Taylor and John Stoner. Thirteen boys playing on the freshmen team. Playing on the girls' varsity basketball team were Dana Hallgarth, Sarah Blume, Trina King, and Cassie Wheeler while junior varsity players were Katryn Caine, Donna Cleffman, Sarah Blume, and Mary Edwards. Several freshmen participated in colorguard and pom-pom. The freshmen colorguard members were Gerry Sexton and Amy Schwartz. The members of the pom-pom squad were Traci Whittaker and Stephanie Bibbs. Several freshmen also participated in band with Jamey Leahey receiving the Outstanding Freshman award.

Leading the players in the cheering section were Jill Monroe, Missy Craddock, Tina Bowman, and Nichol Bair as the freshmen cheerleaders. The two freshmen on the wrestling team were Bob Ford, Jeff Tullis and Eric Ellefson.

As winter came to a close, the baseball and softball teams were preparing for their up and coming season. Andy Manek played on the varsity baseball team and six freshmen played on the junior varsity team. The freshmen players for the softball varsity team were Dana Hallgarth, Trina King, Cassie Wheeler, Kathryn Caine, and Sarah Blume. The junior players included seven freshmen.

Running on the track team for the boys were John Stoner and Tim Morrison. Morrison participated in the Sectional. For the girls were Cassie Wheeler, Kathryn Caine, Kim Howell, Tara Taylor, Julie Robbins, Kim Stakelin, and Neica Ray. Wheeler made the Sectional cut.

There were several positive happenings during the freshmen's first year of high school, but tragedies concerning two Southwestern freshmen saddened many students. Susan Lyons was in a fatal car accident on Christmas Day, 1984. Also, Mike Jones was affected by a mysterious virus that caused him to undergo several operations, one of them being an implant of two ventricular assist devices to aid his natural heart while waiting for a transplant. This operation was the first of its kind, and Mike will be remembered as the first recipient of two such devices. Presently Mike is recovering after a heart transplant.

ENERGY GALORE

This year, the junior high proved they had what it took to make the best of whatever they were given. They did not have much to be involved in, but their accomplishments were quite impressive. In January, 69 students participated in a Math-A-Thon at St. Jude's Research Hospital, and $1,538.64 was raised. Top students were Fred Woods with $352 and Bambi Porter with $148. All participants received a certificate, and those who raised $25 or more also received T-shirts. The junior high was also very involved in athletics. Sports included boys' and girls' basketball, volleyball, cross-country, and boys' and girls' track. Two school records were broken this year in track — Lane Turner set a new record for discus with a throw of 124'7", and Aaron Purvis ran the hurdles in 18.07 seconds. Basketball was supported this year with much participation in the high school pep club, and the enthusiasm made a noticeable difference. The hard work of the band and choir paid off when they presented two concerts, one during the Christmas season and the other in the spring. A junior FFA was organized. Students displayed their literary creativity with the publication of the literary magazine, Reflections. This included poems, short stories, caricatures of teachers, and many other related subjects. The year ended with the traditional Eighth Grade Dance, held on May 3, 1985. Students put on their best, and went all out for a truly enjoyable evening. But 1985 was also a year for sadness, with the death of fellow classmate Wes Summers. He was special to us all, and he will not be forgotten.

WESLEY CHARLES SUMMERS

Wesley Summers will long be missed for his wonderful personality and warm smile, his good sense of humor and loyalty to his family and friends.

Wesley's life was taken in an automobile accident on Saturday evening, February 16, 1985. He was the son of Mrs. Marilyn Matthews and Mr. Jerry Summers.

Wesley had many ambitions. He was very mechanical inclined and enjoyed riding BMX bikes and motorcycles. He loved being outdoors, for he was one who enjoyed life.

The Southwestern REBIAN Staff and the students of Southwestern High School dedicate the 1985 REBIAN in the memory of Wesley Charles Summers.

JHS SPORTS ARE BIG TIME

Junior high athletic squads have long been successful. This school year was no exception. The boys' cross country team captured the Jefferson County Cross Country Race held at the Madison Sunrise Golf Course in late fall, were second in the ORVC, and ended their season with a 7-2 record. The eighth grade boys' basketball team continued the good luck, closing their season with a 9-4 over-all record. Seventh grade volleyball also was successful; the girls ended their year with a 6-3 win-loss effort. Boys' track came through again and should add strength to next year's high school squad.

Because of the dedicated efforts of both players and coaches willing to spend the time needed to do a good job, SWJHS teams for 1984-1985 were ones of which we could all be very proud. During the season cheerleading squads from both seventh and eighth grade lifted the spirit of the teams and their supportive fans.

1. Members of the Southwestern seventh grade girls basketball team are: Row one: Beth Perry, Shannon Bell, and Missy Hall. Row two: Nicki Wood, Angela Shepherd, Teresa Moore, Cheryl Grubbs, Christy Singer, and Coach Jennifer Kraus. Row three: Missy Worcester, Pam Rose, Stacy Harsin, Debbie Selig, and Leslie Fredrick. 2. SWJH seventh grade boys basketball players include: Row one: Brian Randall, Brent Taylor, Jeff Moody, Darren Bailey, Robert Kennedy, Lawrence Hatton, Fred Chatham, and manager David Robertson. Row two: Coach Jeff Davis, James Stotts, B.J. Scroggins, Brian Hart, Brian Marshall, Todd Craft, Rick Stockdale, and managers Paul Hough and Bev Stockdale. 3. Coach Davis gives advice to the team during half time. 4. The 1984-85 seventh grade cheerleaders are: Front: Amie Perkins. Back: Shari Cheatham, Cindi Niccum, and Loti Horine.

1. The SWJH seventh grade volleyball team include: Row one: Loti Horine, Missy Hall, and Lee Webster. Row two: Coach Mrs. Charlotte Wilhelm, Amie Perkins, Heather Todd, and Tiffany Taylor. Missing when the picture was taken are Missy Worcester and Missy Davis. 2. Smokey, The White is one of the official score keepers for the junior high track team. 3. Members of the SWJH cross country team included: Row one: Jason Watson, John Eberth, Pat Finnegan, Pat Brawner, Mark Miller, and Ernie Anderson. Row two: Grover Anderson, Jay Miller, Brian Marshall, Rick Stockdale, Sean Ison, Lawrence Hatton, and Coach Steve Bright. 4. Brian Marshall warms up before the race. 5. Greg Jester pushes for a victory.

The eighth grade boys' basketball team had a good season this year with a 9-4 win-loss record. The team was coached by Mr. Jim Singer, an eighth grade science teacher. Leading scorer for the year was Brian Hornsby with 166 points; leading rebounder was Lane Turner with 98, and Greg Jester had the best field goal percentage with 54%.

Mr. Singer commented, "Defeating Madison was undoubtedly the highlight of our season." He added that the bad weather which forced the cancellation of many practices and of the second game with Madison was what he would most like to forget.

Most of the players were experienced because they had played basketball in the seventh grade. Each player received a certificate at the end of the season for their participation.

Mr. Singer's felt, "The team was made up of hard working, determined young men. They should help to provide several years of exciting basketball at the junior varsity and varsity level."

1. Eighth grade cheerleaders this year are: Row One: Lisa Todd and Kellie Mitchell. Row Two: Kelly Kershner and Missy Bruther. Top: Roxie Sliger. 2. Cross Country runners are: Row One: Lawrence Hatton, John Eberth, Grover Anderson, Pat Finnegan, and Sean Ison. Row Two: Ernie Anderson, Brian Marshall, Patrick Brawner, Rick Stockdale, and Jay Miller. 3. Eighth grade basketball players are: Row One: David Robertson, Sean Ison, Patrick Brawner, Jay Miller, Ernie Anderson. Row Two: Cory Rudder, Tance Jett, Brian Singer, Aaron Purvis, Marc Stubbins, Chad DuVall. Row Three: Brett Mitchell, Greg Jester, Rick Mundt, Brian Hornsby, Lane Turner, and Coach Jim Singer.

1. Members of the 1985 junior high track team are: Row One: Jamie Sellers, Jamie Murphy, Brian Marshall, Rick Stockdale, Greg Jester, Lane Turner, Aaron Purvis, Jerry May, Lee Mahoney, Mike Turner, and Coach Al Enlow. Row Two: Marc Stubbins, Jeff Moody, Cory Rudder, Harold Scranton, Brian Randell, Jason Watson, Pat Finnegan, Tim Jester, David Robertson, Ernie Anderson, John Eberth, Patrick Brawner, Grover Anderson, and John Anderson. 2. Eighth grade girls basketball team members are: Front: Mary Beth Jackson, Racheal Jackson, Brandi Rigsby, Angela Powell, and Shelley Greene. Back: Jodi Tipton, Tammy Jester, Amy Vaughn, Melonie Jackson, Suzy Sloan, Lisa Chase, and Coach Jan Reamer. 3. Eighth grade volleyball team members are: Row One: Suzy Sloane, Racheal Jackson, Jodi Tipton, Tammy Jester, Shelley Greene, and Tiffany Taylor. Row Two: Coach Jan Reamer, Lisa Todd, Kelly Kershner, Tonya Harrison, Missy Bruther, Angie Weidman, Michelle Sice, Stephanie Bennett, Jennifer McDonald. 4. Members of the 1985 girls' track team are: Front: Shelley Greene, Roxie Slinger, Lisa Todd, Christine Hostetler, and Missy Gray. Back: Lisa Chase, Stephanie Bennett, Amy Vaughan, LeeAnn Chase, Donna Layman, and Coach Jennifer Kruse.

SEVENTH GRADERS MOVE ON IN

Seventh graders survived their first year of junior high school. Most of the time the year was exciting and new. They had many activities to keep them busy, such as basketball, girls' volleyball, track, cheerleading, computer club, choir, band, and FFA.

How would one describe last year's seventh graders? We would describe them as outgoing, energetic, and athletic individuals.

In track Rick Stockdale broke the record for the mile, running it in 5:02. All of the runners in track really enjoyed their first year.

In FFA this year, it was the first time they had parliamentary procedure. Two teams, the Clifty team and the Little King team, competed with the Little King team beating the Clifty team, but not by much!

In girls' basketball the high scorers were Christi Singer, Pam Rose, and Missy Hall. They had a blast playing basketball in their first year. Their cheerleaders were Lisa Jackson, Heather Todd, Stephaie Scarff and Missy Scroggins. They were really energetic and gave much support to their team!

The boys' basketball team really gave their all to make their team a success. They worked hard as a team and had fun while they did it. At the end of the season, they had a pizza party at the Havover Park to celebrate their great success. Their cheerleaders, Lori Horine, Amie Perkins, Cindi Niccum and Shari Cheatham did their best to encourage and cheer on the team.

The girls' first year in volleyball turned out to be spectacular! Their captain was Lori Horine, who was a good leader! The high scorers were Missy Davis, Missy Hall, Lori Horine, Pam Rose and Heather Todd. They really had a good time!

The junior high choir was fantastic. At their contest in March, they received a perfect rating! They were the first Southwestern junior high choir to achieve this goal. Brian Randall was the only one in the seventh grade to receive a scholarship to go to I.U. for one week. Their concert in May was great! Mr. Rick Reckner, the director, deserved a pat on the back for working so hard with the choir.

The junior high band worked very hard and sounded great at their Christmas concert. Miss Bonnie Harmon worked very hard with the band, and it showed. The band had an outstanding sound!

In Home Economics the seventh graders showed off their tasty cooking and handy sewing talents for teacher, Mrs. Linda Caudill. Most students enjoyed their first year in home economics, even the boys!

It was an exciting time for those who took agriculture, art or industrial arts. They displayed originality and style and had a really good time!

The seventh graders went on a museum field trip to Louisville. They had fun while they learned a few things. Along the Ohio River, they looked for and studied fossils. On their way home they stopped at McDonalds for lunch after their long day in Louisville.

On February 16 the seventh grade class suffered the loss of good friend and classmate, Wes Summers, as the result of a car accident.

Many students made the A and B honor roll this year. They worked hard to do this and were recognized on Honor Day.

BORDER LINE TO SWHS

The class of '89 stood on the border line between junior and senior high school. They excelled in academics as well as in athletics. Twenty-five students managed to keep their grades up and be on the honor roll all year.

Six eighth grade boys participated in cross country and were coached by Mr. Steve Bright. The eight grade girls had a good year in volleyball, lead by team captain Lisa Todd and coached by Ms. Jan Reamer; they had a 4-5 season. The boys' basketball team had a very successful season with a 9-3 record. They were lead by leading scorer Brian Hornsby and coached by Mr. Jim Singer. The boys also participated in the Salem Boys' Basketball Tournament but were defeated. The team was cheered on by Kelly Kershner, Missy Bruther, Lisa Todd, Kellie Mitchell, and Roxie Sliger. The girls' basketball team learned much during this year. They were coached by Ms. Jan Reamer. The girls' and boys' track team had an exciting year. They broke many school records.

This year's eighth graders participated in the St. Jude Children Research Hospital's math-a-thon. Sixty-nine students took part and collected $1538.64. Fred Woods collected the most money with a total of $352. Second was Bambi Porter with $148.

To end the eighth grade year and junior high, Mrs. Paula Carter and Ms. Charolette Wilhelm, with the assistance of the other teachers, put on the eighth grade dance on May 4.

FUN ACTIVITIES FOR JUNIOR HIGH

Mrs. Joyce Ashbrook had six students helping her in the library. They carded books, replaced books on proper shelves, checked books out, and ran errands.

Computer club was a new activity for the junior high. They met after school and worked on the computers.

In the spring of each year eight graders volunteer to make the literary magazine. They collected original poems, stories, and essays and then put them together to make the magazine.

The junior high also had a mathathon and the proceeds went to St. Jude Childrens Research Hospital. Participants received a tee-shirt.

1. Members of the junior high literary magazine staff are: ROW ONE: Missy Bruther, Kacinda Kuppler, Brian Hornsby, Brian Walls. 2. Junior high library aides include: ROW ONE: Stephanie Breeden, Angie Weidman, Jennifer Canada, Mrs. Joyce Ashbrook and ROW TWO: Aaron Finnegan, Rodney Mefford. 3. Fred Woods and Bambi Porter are winners of this year's mathathon. 4. Members of junior high computer club include: ROW ONE: Patrick Finnegan, Lee Schwarz, ROW TWO: Mark Uebel, Brian Randall, Janeane Richardson, Missy Worcester, Jennifer Ashburn, Mike Spoessig, Kenny Riley. AND THE YEAR RAN SMOOTHLY

Southwestern High School vice-principal was Mrs. Cathy Ellis. She worked very hard to keep the school running smoothly this year. This was Mrs. Ellis's fourth year as vice-principal.

Mrs. Jean Feider, in her twenty-first year at Southwestern, served as the junior high secretary. Through the years she has done a marvelous job and this year was no exception. She still kept the office running efficiently.

Mrs. Rosemary Cloyd was once again the study hall supervisor, and Mrs. Ruth Curry helped as an aide for the special ed class.

1. Mrs. Jean Feider and Mrs. Cathy Ellis relax during a normal busy day. 2. Junior high teachers are: Row one: Mrs. Paula Carter, Miss Jan Reamer, Mrs. Suzie Brown. Row two: Mrs. Marlyn Finnegan, Mrs. Virgie Dowell, Mrs. Linda Caudill. Row three: Mrs. Mary Wilson, Mrs. Charlotte Wilhelm, Mr. David Bottomley. Row four: Mrs. Cathy Ellis, Mr. Rick Rectner, Mr. Jim White. Row five: Mr. Jim Singer, Mr. Tom Patterson, Mr. Raymond Duke. 3. This year's study hall supervisor is Mrs. Rosemary Cloyd and the special ed aide is Mrs. Ruth Curry.

ARE THE FUTURE!

In the 1984-85 edition of the REBIAN, we have celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary. Also, we, as seniors have celebrated our final year of high school. We have laughed and cried together, won and lost together, celebrated and mourned together. There are so many memories to recall, memories that make us smile and sometimes bring a tear to our eyes. Each of us has rebelled in our own way, fighting for causes in which we believed. In this final year we have learned much of living and of life. As we look to the future we will always remember the past, the fun, the laughs, and smile. We have everything to gain and nothing to lose. We are the world! We are the future! It is all ahead of us now!

1. A friendship that has lasted almost twenty years is one between Andrea Wood and Jeanna Gray. 2. Jeanna and Andrea on Graduation Day, May 26, 1985. Our friendships will last forever.
