Separate — but yet united.

Separate — but yet united.

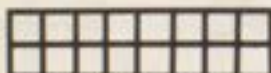

The first few days at SWHS were classic ones. The halls were filled with laughter and talk of old friends and new ones, sharing the memories of the past and the ones they hoped to make in the 1986-87 school year.

The sparkle in the seventh graders eyes showed the excitement but fear of starting in a new school. From the freshmen's shy nervousness at the new feelings of being in high school, to the seniors comfortable familiarity, you could tell everyone hoped this would be one special year, as they were separate — but yet united at SWJH-HS.

The Rebian staff hopes to capture all the special moments of the 1986-87 school year, and as the year comes to an end, students will be able to look back in the past and see just what unites everyone at Southwestern.

1. The junior varsity cheerleading squad performs a mount during a summer practice session. 2. Superintendent Dr. J. Patrick Leahy smiles as he cruises the halls of SWHS. 3. Senior Billy McCarty leads his gang of "Warriors" during the Spirit Week skit. 4. Freshman Paul Hough serves the "Warriors" during the "Rebel Days" of Spirit Week '86. 5. Sophomore J.J. Ireland poses with Max Headroom during the Christmas season.

OPENING/B

1. The Senior Class of '87 unites for a class picture. 2. Drum major Amy Manning salutes the Marching Rebels. 3. Academics

FROSH-SENIORS, ENGLISH RULES

Students at Southwestern are exposed to a variety of subjects which are provided by the English department.

As freshmen, students learn all about verbals and phrases. They also read Flowers for Algernon as well as getting their first taste of Shakespeare when they read Romeo and Juliet. This year's freshmen were instructed by Mrs. Ann Campbell, Mrs. Lorna Naylor, and Mrs. Mary Sue Barnett. Mrs. Jennifer Orrill took her sophomore class through the tragedy of Julius Caesar, the drama of To Kill A Mockingbird, and the adventure of A Separate Peace. Between all of that, they find time to squeeze in grammar, poetry, and journal writing. During the junior year, students got their final review of grammar and discussed the works of Steinbeck, Thoreau, Hawthorne and other American greats. They were taught by Mrs. Dorothy Wykoff.

During their junior and senior years, students may select several other courses to meet their graduation requirements. Speech, an exciting, creative class taught by Mrs. Naylor may be chosen or perhaps Dramatic Literature, taught by Mrs. Virgie Dowell. There are also several classes taught to the seniors by Mrs. Marcia Morrill. Seniors may choose from any combination of Advanced Composition, where students may learn to make peanut butter and jelly sandwiches from someone else's directions, or Creative Writing, or the Literature of England where the class reads Macbeth and A Tale of Two Cities. Students may also take journalism, taught by Mrs. Martha Clancy, who exposes them to different facets of the journalism world. After taking this course, students may be eligible to work on the Rebian staff or the Confederate staff, also instructed by Mrs. Clancy.

It is obvious that the English department at SW has something for everyone.

IT IS A SMALL WORLD AFTER ALL

Once again Southwestern has offered to students the chance to experience and learn new languages. Spanish, French and Latin were available to any students wishing to explore different languages.

Teachers in the foreign language department are Spanish: Mr. Roy Emery, Latin: Mrs. Ann Campbell, and French: Mrs. Mary Sue Barnett.

Spanish club had its annual trip to Chi-Chi's that as usual was a huge success. Everyone really enjoyed themselves and the tasty food provided.

French students had the opportunity to create their own French meals. The students found this to be a very fun and exciting time.

Latin class was very exciting and interesting. Mythology as well as the names of the parts of the body were taught. Games and posters were made. Over all, the students found that all the foreign language classes offered were rewarding and exciting.

MATHEMATICS: "SINES" OF THE TIMES

$A+B=C!$ This phrase sounds very familiar to the high school math students at Southwestern.

This year there were several different math classes available to Southwestern students. The classes were General Math, Consumer Math, Algebra 1, Algebra 2, Geometry and Senior Math.

A new face was added to the h.s. math department this year: Mrs. Terah Woolbright. She taught General Math, Consumer Math, and Algebra 1. Other teachers were Mr. Joe Barnett, and Mr. Bill Finnegan.

Mr. Bill Finnegan taught Geometry and Senior Math.

Mr. Joe Barnett taught Algebra 2 classes.

COMPUTERS: A CHALLENGING NEW WAVE

The computer program curriculum is continuing to grow at Southwestern High. Ever since the program was introduced here, the students have not stopped experiencing all the wonderful things that the computer can do.

The computer also has students from English, Mass Media 1 and 2, and many other classes performing tasks from word processing to accounting.

There is also a preparatory program that helps the students prepare for the SAT.

Classes were taught by Mrs. Barbara Ellefsen who works long days as a computer science teacher and lab coordinator. She directed planning of the course guidelines for all computer classes.

1. (Upper left) Patricia Scott is amazed at what the computer can do. 2. (Upper right) Mrs. Barbara Ellefsen greets her students with a welcoming smile. 3. THESE ARE THE DAYS OF OUR LIVES

History is a required subject for the juniors and government is a required subject for seniors. They are two very different courses and taught by two different methods. Juniors get used to taking daily notes, while the seniors learn to sit in class and listen attentively. History is a year-long course, while government and economics are only one-semester courses.

Mr. Kettig Coghill helped to enlighten the seniors about the ways government affects their everyday lives and about ways to manage money.

Miss Marsha Jackson informed her students about past events in world history and U.S. history. Posters were made, reports were written and plays were performed by students on historical subjects.

WE ARE LIVING IN A MATERIAL WORLD

Home economics and foods classes this year made some interesting creations. Home ec. students made stuffed pillows, letters and animals, some of which were on display in the hallway. They also made shirts and many cross-stitch creations which had designs such as teddy bears or balloons on them.

Foods classes had the opportunity to make everything from candy cane cookies to pizza and meat loaf. Many students did not have much luck getting foods to turn out right, but most things were edible. As for those foods that did turn out right, the people in the hallway got a whiff of some delicious smells.

One can never be too healthy, and knowing about good health is important.

At SWHS the course health is taught to sophomores. Miss Cyndy Smoots' classes study the different systems of the body. Students are required to write research papers about different diseases. Also this year a new course was added to the health curriculum called "Substance Abuse". Some guests speakers were brought in to talk about the effects of drugs and alcohol.

The physical education class also helps to get the students healthy and in a good shape. During all the year, the P.E. class participated in many of different activities and sports. They worked out in games such as soccer, basketball, volleyball, football, running, baseball and development of gymnastic skills.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS BUILD GOOD YEAR

The industrial arts classes have been very active all year long with activities like photography, printing, drafting, designing houses and drawing the plans, building architectural models of the houses designed, and several wood working and electronic projects.

In words of Mr. David Bottomley, SWJH-HS industrial arts teacher, "This last year has been a good year." But Mr. Bottomley added he also thinks that more girls should sign up for this class.

Next year a new computer may be added to the communication lab for the improving of their projects.

But the favorite industrial arts project may well be the building and launching of rockets. The students put together and painted the rockets. They launch the rockets in the parking lot with the help of gas cartridges.

AG CLASSES GROW TO SOMETHING BIG

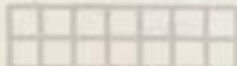

The Southwestern agriculture department was very active for the 1986-87 school year. Under the leadership of ag teacher Ken Salkeld, the classes worked on farm shop projects, wood and welding. Some of the ag courses provided at SWHS are Agribusiness I, II, III, IV, Crop Science, Animal Science and Welding.

With a total of 46 students in the courses, and 44 joining the FFA, the year was successful. Some activities in which members and students participated included a trip to the National Farm Machinery Show and tractor pulls, soils judging, livestock and dairy judging, and a trip to Indianapolis to see country music star Janie Fricke.

BUSINESS BOOMS AT SOUTHWESTERN

In an age of entrepreneurs and high stock market indexes, Southwestern students sharpened their business skills by taking such courses as Beginning and Advanced Accounting, Consumer Economics, Business Law, Typing I and II and Shorthand. All these classes helped a lot of SWHS students to develop abilities they might use in the future; skills such as typing — whether on an electronic typewriter or a computerized word processing system — become more and more important in the information age.

SCIENCES EMPHASIZED IN '87

In the last few years there has been much more emphasis on science education at SWHS.

Biology I, taught by Mrs. Maria Coghill and Miss Pam Myszak, dissected organisms such as earthworms. They also created posters and papers on certain classes of certain animals and organisms.

Biology II students studied human reproduction, genetics and evolution of primates.

Physics class studied things such as theories of relativity and the speed of light. In Mr. Tom Patterson's Chemistry I and II classes students engaged in numerous labs throughout the year.

FINAL DEADLINE . . .

The 1986-87 REBIAN staff had numerous tasks this year, starting with completing the 1985-86 REBIAN. Under the direction of first-year advisor Martha Clancy, the staff achieved this and other goals of the yearbook. Making the deadlines required a lot of work which was put forth by the dedicated staff.

This year's REBIAN staff included Barb Annon, Melissa Berry, Sarah Blume, Scott Brooks, Brad Cook, Robby Cox, Lee Galbreath, Kenny Garrett, Carlos Gonzalez, Steve King, Elaine Kuppler, Anne MacMillan, Angie Moreland, Peter Palmer, Jackie Sachleben, Nate Skirvin, Stephanie Stoner, Tara Taylor, Kevin Wood, and Tracy Wright. Co-editors — Tracy Wright and Stephanie Stone had much of the book planned when school began, including the theme for the 1987 Rebian: Separate, but yet united.

STAFF PRODUCES TEN EDITIONS

Southwestern's Confederate staff for the 1986-87 school year included Barb Annon, Scott Brooks, Robby Cox, Steve King, Michelle Kinnard, Candy Kramer, Anne MacMillan, Jason Polly, Lee Schwartz, Joe Shelton, Michelle Singer, Nate Skirvin, Traci Whittaker, Kevin Wood, Bill Anderson, Elaine Kuppler, Kenny Garrett, Brad Cook, Angie Moreland, and Terry Copeland.

Many improvements were made in this year's newspaper. Under Mrs. Martha Clancy's supervision, ad sales expanded and co-editors were named.

SINGERS JAZZ THEIR WAY TO AWARDS

"Hey! Look At Us Now" The 1986-87 show choir may well have sung that tune many times as the group had a very successful year. With the purchase of new outfits, they gave off a new image and a lot of pizzazz.

The group performed at various locations throughout the year and were extremely successful in a contest at Lebanon, Indiana, a competition at which they received the highest rating possible in the high-est division.

The group contained various aged students, and although at times there were problems, the singer-dancers worked well and efficiently together.

THE SONG REMAINS THE SAME

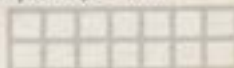

Under the direction of Mr. Rick Reckner, the 1986-87 school year was another successful one for the high school choir. The choir presented many performances, including a Christmas and a pops concert with the high school band.

On February 28, the choir performed at the State Solo and Ensemble contest at Southport High School. Michelle Siew, Mike Green, Heather Wilson, Shane Phillips, Evelyn Dixon, Jennifer Dunn, Darlah Owen, and Wes Jones all received a Division One rating.

This year, two choir students received music scholarships at Indiana University by the Tri Kappa sorority of Madison. They were Shane Phillips and Wes Jones. These students were chosen from a group of thirty.

BAND PLAYS TO SUCCESSFUL YEAR

The season began the first week of summer '86 for the Southwestern Marching Band. Long hours of practicing in the band room and out on the parking lot prepared the members for the Hanover Days Parade and the Madison Regatta Parade. Band members also donated at least four hours of their time dishing out sloppy joes and nachos to hungry tourists who stopped by the band boosters' booth at the regatta.

Band camp activities began in August. SWHS band director Miss Bonnie Harmon and her associates from Princeton High School spent at least eight hours a day for a week teaching the band the show that was performed every weekend that fall.

And it was a successful fall season for this group of musicians who wore handsome new uniforms, paid for through the efforts of band boosters and the generosity of the school board. The band's energetic show consisted of the selections "Opener 210", "Up the Ladder to the Roof", "I'll Take Romance", and as the closing number, "Belle Via Solero". With this combination, the band took many top awards and even performed the night show at Paoli, a premier competition for high school bands in Indiana.

Drum major Amy Manning received top honors wherever she went, and the color guard was rewarded with trophies at several competitions. The band received a I rating at the Indiana High School Music Association's district competition and was edged out of participation at the state competition by a slim margin at the regional competition.

Through fundraisers such as paper drives and benefit ball games, the band went to the Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester, Virginia to perform in two parades and play a concert on the steps of the Capitol in Washington, D.C. After a rewarding, but tiring trip, band members came home, having placed tenth out of more than 120 bands from around the country.

Thanks to the leadership of Miss Harmon, guard director Mr. Jeff Burch, and the hard work of the band's 45 members, the year was a productive one filled with sweat, sore muscles, and pride for their accomplishments.

SWHS 1987 FALL GUARD ADDS COLOR TO PERFORMANCE

The 1986-87 Fall Guard had a total of twelve members, three of whom were seniors: Melissa Berry, Dixie Dean, and Evelyn Dixon. Other members included Pam Rose, Heather Todd, Angie May, Barry Hebner, Jackie Imel, Dawn Brown, Gerry Sexton, Jason Polly, and Angie Burch.

The Guard won three trophies for best colorguard during the fall marching season and played a part in winning all the other beautiful trophies with the band. They also went to the Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester, Virginia.

Jeff Burch was the man behind the Fall Guard who led them to all of their winning competitions.

1987 WINTER GUARD IS SUCCESSFUL

The 1987 Winter Guard had an astonishing first season with many compliments from judges, other directors, and fellow guard members.

This was their first year to return to competition after performing at basketball games last year. Under the direction of Jeff Burch, former guard member and Southwestern graduate, this little but powerful guard made great strides and made lasting impressions on Rebel fans and other guard directors.

The end of their season came and the guard had several large pieces of hardware in the form of trophies they won. The final count was two third-place trophies, three second-place, and a large first-place trophy they won in various competitions.

REBELS

SWHS STUDENTS INVOLVED IN VOCA

Fifteen juniors and eight seniors spent half of each day this year attending classes at the Southeastern Indiana Area Vocational School in Versailles. In January 1987, the school became known as the Southeastern Career Center.

The school's courses range from electronics and printing to food service to cosmetology. The school also included in its program: building trades, sales and marketing and data processing. The students spent two hours at the vocational school, and then they returned to Southwestern High School for their two required classes.

FHA HAS "FHANTASTIC" YEAR

The Future Homemakers of America started out their year with the formal initiation of new members and a picnic at Hanover Park. FHA was honored to have two exchange students as members this year: Heike Rodenbusch from West Germany and Yuka Kobayashi from Japan.

FHA and Art Club held the annual Variety Show which was another success. With October came the Fall District meeting at Versailles State Park. Southwestern had three chapter officers serving as district twelve officers.

They also took the annual trip to Madison State Hospital for Halloween. At Christmas FHA catered dinner to Englishton Park residents. Valentine cookies were sold during FHA week again this year. April brought the State Leadership Conference held at Adams Mark Hotel in Indianapolis. Spring District meeting was held at the end of April at Switzerland Co. High School. A recognition dessert was held for senior members, outstanding members, and new officers.

FFA GROWS WITH POPULAR PROJECTS

This past year the Southwestern FFA Chapter has been very active. They received, for the second time, the National Gold Safety Chapter, which placed them in the top twenty-five chapters nationwide. In the U.S., there are over eight thousand chapters. They also received a National Silver emblem for the second time. The adviser, Ken Salkeld, was given an Honorary Hoosier Farmer Degree.

The 1986-87 officers were president — John Northern, vice-president — David Waddle, secretary — Carolyn Couch, treasurer — Shawn Hardy, reporter — William Adams, and sentinel — Greg Riley.

Several FFA officers attended a summer leadership camp held at the Indiana FFA Center. Those attending were Carolyn Couch, John Northern, William Adams and Michelle Adams.

Members attending state convention were Carolyn Couch, John Northern, Shawn Hardy, David Waddle, Michelle Adams, Denise Adams, Dena Roberts, Tammy Brooks, Crystal Edwards and Scott Ison.

COMPUTER CLUB GOES "LOGO" IN '87

The Computer Club has been a successful program at Southwestern for five years now. This program is under the supervision of Mrs. Barbra Ellefsen. The club met every Monday afternoon. The students used this time to work on individual projects. Some students worked on class papers while others used programs to prepare for the SAT test.

ART CLUB DRAWS ATTENTION

The Art Club along with FHA started out their year with the Annual Variety Show. The 1st place winners were Nate Skirvin and Andy Burch, who did a spoof on the song "Friends and Lovers." Art Club members also painted and raffled off a school chair. Doug Phillips drew the design for the art club shirts. With spring came the Madison Art Club contest of which Andy Burch was the over-all winner.

QUILL & SCROLL INDUCTS NINE

Quill and Scroll is an organization that recognizes high school journalists. The Southwestern Quill and Scroll chapter gave out many awards and initiated many new members this year.

New members of this year's Quill and Scroll chapter included: Sarah Blume, Tara Taylor, Michele Singer, Candy Kramer, Robby Cox, Scott Brooks, Elaine Kuppler, Stephanie Stoner, and Angela Kidwell. Editor awards went to Scott McCloud, Stephanie Stoner and Tracy Wright. Carlos Gonzalez received an honor award and an honorary membership was awarded to Jo Bare.

NHS MEMBERS BECAME TEACHERS IN '87

National Honor Society had a tough schedule to follow this year. Not only did they have personal goals to fulfill, but they were also engaged in such projects as the tutoring program, in which they took time out of their busy schedules to help elementary school students study.

NHS sold candy bars to raise money to go to the Derby Dinner Playhouse, where they saw "West Side Story". The money was also used for a one-hundred dollar scholarship, which was awarded at the end of the year.

The membership in the NHS chapter is an honor. The students must have a semester average of 3.5 on a 4.0 scale.

REBELS CATCH THE NEW WAVE!

Southwestern's 1986-87 Pep Club had quite a bit to be peppy about. Having a successful basketball team with nationally ranked cheerleaders leading the crowd was a bonus. The Rebel fans faithfully supported the team throughout its JCIT win and sectional championship, as well as representing Southwestern well at the Seymour regionals. Any team that dared to challenge the Rebels were soon warned to "Step Aside!"

SPANISH CLUB REMAINS ACTIVE

The Spanish Club of Southwestern once again maintained its reputation for being one of the largest and most actively involved organizations at the school. Under the direction of Mr. Roy Emery, the club participated in the Foreign Language Fair and the Madison Chautauqua, as well as sponsoring several dances. The annual Spanish Club trip to Chi-Chi's was once again a success, during which several teachers, as well as students, enjoyed having the opportunity to try a Mexican meal. Southwestern's Spanish Club was fortunate enough to have Carlos Gonzalez, an exchange student from Spain, as an honorary member. This very popular organization was under the leadership of president Amy Manning, vice-president Marcie Moore, secretary Shelly Taylor, and treasurer Trina King.

CLASS OF '87 MAKES HISTORY!

Believe it or not, the seniors did it! Winning Spirit Week for the fourth consecutive year was a first-time occurrence in the history of the event at Southwestern. Spirit and enthusiasm were evident throughout the entire student body, however, as the freshmen competed with their theme "Rebel Days," the sophomores chose "Rebel Island," the juniors used "Rebel House," and the seniors reigned victorious with their theme "Rebelstones."

Judging was based upon the following areas: skit, hall decorations, class yell, badges, banner, and percentage of class attendance at the evening pep rally. Although Spirit Week is a competition, the week in November devoted entirely to promoting enthusiasm and support for our athletic teams is basically a week of outrageous fun for all students.

The results were announced at half-time of the first home game, which was against Scottsburg. The sophomores received fourth place, the freshmen were third, the juniors claimed second-place honors, and the seniors attained their record-breaking fourth victory.

(Left) Sherrie Hayes, Carolyn Couch, and Chris Potter point out the class of '87's four places on the Spirit Week plaque. STUDENTS STEP OUT AT '87 PROM

Spring 1987 brought about one of the most exciting happenings of the year — prom. The big event occurred on April 24 this year with the theme "Love is Forever." The juniors discovered that preparing for the annual prom takes much hard work and quite a bit of fund-raising. This year's formal dance was different from past experiences in several ways, one of them being the replacement of prom glasses with key chains.

The garter ceremony and the crowning of royalty are essential parts of Southwestern's proms, and this year was no exception. The juniors named prince and princess were John Stoner and Kelly Amick, while the other candidates included Kris Kuppler, Kim Howell, Kathryn Caine, and Trina King for princess, and Bob Ford, Jamey Leahey, Robert Turner, Damon Turner, and Jason Davis for prince. Mendi Adams reigned as prom queen with Patrick Horine as king. Additional seniors vying for the titles were Melissa Berry, Calli Kleopfer, Janda Todd, Amy Manning, Cliff Howard, Kenny Garrett, David Marcelle, and Kevin Wood.

SWHS ROYALTY REIGNS SUPREME

After much anticipation, SWHS held its annual Homecoming ceremonies on January 30th at the home game against Jac-Cen-Del.

As the magical moment of coronation finally came, the announcement was made. "Ladies and gentlemen, the 1987 Homecoming Queen is . . . Miss Mendi Adams." Escorted by Kenny Garrett, Mendi advanced to receive her crown from 1986 Homecoming Queen, Sonja Arbuckle. Sonja was escorted by Scott McCloud, Student Council president.

Other candidates included Freshman Princess Cindi Niccum, Sophomore Princess Lisa Todd, Junior Queen candidates Kelly Amick, Kathryn Caine, Missy Craddock, Trina King, and Senior Queen candidates Melissa Berry, Dixie Dean, Jill Gray, Tammi Jones, Calli Kleopfer, and Amy Manning. Their escorts included Rick Stockdale, Brian Singer, John Stoner, Bob Ford, Andy Manek, Peter Palmer, Sean Harvey, Kevin Shelly, Patrick Horine, Jason Couch, Brad Cook, and Robby Cox.

1986-87 STUDENT COUNCIL RULES

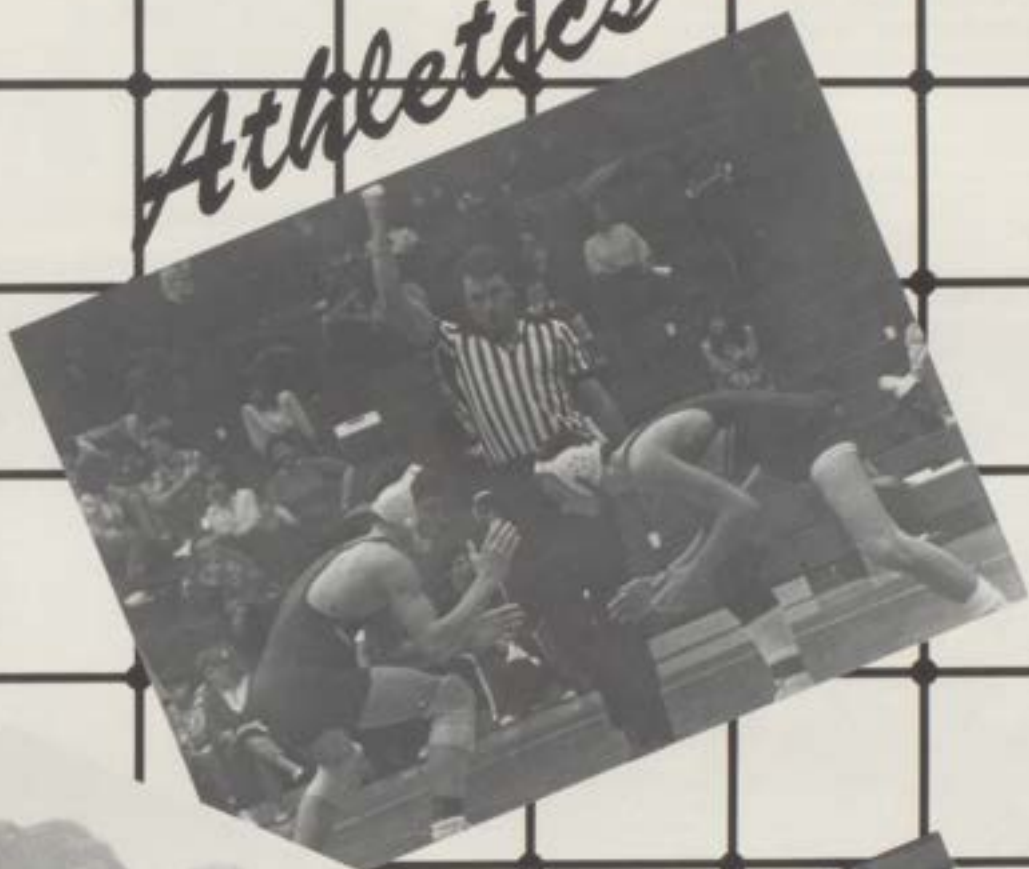

During the 1986-87 school year, the Southwestern Student Council sponsored several events. This year's Student Council was led by President Scott McCloud and Vice-President Amy Manning. Trina King served as secretary and Sarah Blume was treasurer.

The council sponsored a Graffiti Dance after a basketball game, as well as sponsoring the ever-popular event Spirit Week. The '86-'87 year was also designated as "Spirit Year" by the Student Council in keeping with the school spirit and was turned into a year-long competition between classes. The winner is to be determined by the class who has the most spirit and the most members participating in the year's athletic activities.

TENNIS SERVES UP WINNING YEAR

The tennis team in its second year at Southwestern reached many goals. The main goal for the team was to post a winning record which team members did, finishing at 12-6. The Rebels were led by several seniors: Kevin Wood, Kenny Garrett, Patrick Horine and Scott McCloud. Junior team members were Andy Manek, Peter Palmer, Steve King and Kevin Selig.

When sectional rolled around, the Rebels were ready, but to their dismay they ran into 20th ranked Columbus North first and were pounded 5-0. North went on to win the sectional. Kenny Garrett played #1 singles, Andy Manek and Kevin Wood split time at #3 singles and at #2 singles was Patrick Horine. At #1 doubles it was Peter Palmer. Kevin Wood and Andy Manek split time at doubles also. At #2 doubles, the roster split among three people: Kevin Selig, Steve King and Carlos Gonzalez. The Rebels were coached by second-year coach Al Enlow.

SWIM TEAM MAKES SPLASH IN SECOND YEAR

A swim team at Southwestern isn't very common, but for the '86-'87 school year the Rebels fielded a boys' team as well as a girls' team. The girls' team traveled with Madison's girls' team to meets and gained valuable experience. The girls' team was led by Janet Thomas and Shelly Taylor, both seniors. The sophomores included Lisa Chase, Kim Judge, Samantha Hixenbaugh and Jodi Tipton. Also, freshman Lee Ann Chase swam. The girls' competed in the sectional and did very well, placing several thirds and fourths.

The boys' team members included Scott McCloud, Mike Turner, Kevin Jackson, Aaron Finnegan, Tony Miller and Jason Noel. The boys' team traveled along with Madison's at meets and competed in the sectional.

RUNNERS RACE TO VICTORY IN '86''

Cross-County at Southwestern is associated with winning and this year was no different. The Rebels claimed several titles during the season. The main one was the conference championship along with Shawe Invitational championship. The season started out looking bad when the Rebels lost to Switzerland County. But from that point on the Rebels improved to win the conference. The conference title was the second straight for the Rebels.

The Rebels were led by several underclassmen so the future looks very bright. Returning for the Rebels are one junior, four sophomores, and two freshmen. The junior is John Stoner; sophomores are Jon and Grover Anderson, Patrick Brawner, and Jay Miller. The freshmen are Brian Marshall and Rick Stockdale. The seniors on the team were Jeff Marshall, Jerry Thornton, and Sean Harvey.

The Girls Cross-County team was short of the minimum five runners. But the Rebels had two girls run. They were Julie Robbins and Lisa Chase. They are both sophomores, so the future looks bright.

This year's Volleyball team was very successful behind the leadership of six seniors. The Volleyball team won its first 14 matches setting a school record. The girls posted wins over tough teams like Charlestown, South Ripley, South Dearborn, and an always tough Rising Sun team. During the season the girls placed second at the Madison Invitational, won the Shawe Invitational, placed second in the conference and the highlight of the year — placed second at sectional.

In the sectional the girls played a scrappy Madison team. Before the girls won, they went three games and the victory was the third over Madison this year. After beating the Lady Cubs the Rebels advanced to the championship game against a highly ranked Columbus East team. The Rebels were defeated by East in two games. East went on to win the regional. The defeat brought to the close the best Volleyball season in Southwestern history. The final record for the Volleyball team was 19-5.

The varsity was led by six seniors; they included Mendi Adams, Melissa Berry, Kathy Curry, Pam Sage, Marcie Moore, and Kelley Leahey. The juniors included Cassie Wheler, Trina King, Dana Hallgarth, Tonya Colber, and Kathryn Caine. The junior varsity team compiled a record of 9-7 during the season. The JV was led by Tammy Jester.

GOLFERS GET IN SWING OF THINGS

The 1986-87 Rebel Golfers started out their season with 3 goals: to have a good season, to win the conference, and to do well in the sectional. The team consisted of senior Pat Horine; juniors Peter Palmer, Jamey Leahey, Alan Jackson, and Chan Rhodes; and freshmen Aaron McMahon, Robert Kennedy, and Brian Hart.

Their season consisted of many practices and meets in various inclement weather conditions, but the team prevailed, and finished their season with a decent 11-8 record, along with the fact that they defeated every conference team at least once.

When the conference tournament rolled around, the Rebels felt confident that they could win it all, and bring home the conference title. When it was all over, the team had finished a disappointing fifth place. The team was led by Peter Palmer, who finished third with an 83, and Jamey Leahey, who shot a 95.

The following Monday, the team placed thirteenth in their sectional, which was very good. With their season complete the sports banquet was held. Peter Palmer received low medalist honors, while Jamey Leahey received the most improved award. Peter Palmer was also recognized as being on the all-conference team.

FROSH REBEL SPIRIT WINS ORVC

This year's freshmen team compiled an 11-6 record, en route to winning their ORVC tournament. After playing hard all year, they went into the tourney and captured the title. They were coached by Mr. Leon Perry, who won his second straight ORVC championship.

Todd Craft led the team in scoring, while James Stotts led in rebounding and Rick Stockdale won the hustle award.

The team had an excellent season as they finished 5 games over 500. They ended up with an 11-6 record.

The Rebels gained much experience as the season progressed, which then helped them to win the Ohio River Valley Conference championship. The team was extremely confident throughout the season. They felt like they had a good team and they knew they had a good coach so they were ready to play. They won their first four games which raised their confidence. When they lost their next two games they were not totally let down just a bit depressed, but they had that Rebel spirit and came back and won their next three games. The record stayed like that throughout the season, winning three or four in a row then losing two. Although they lost their last two games the freshmen Rebels are confident and ready for next year.

JV HAS A ROLLER COASTER YEAR

The Junior Varsity boys' basketball team had a very up-and-down season as they ended up with a 4-8 conference record and a 7-11 record overall. They had several close losses, as 5 games were lost by 4 points or less.

The leading rebounder for the season was Gail Griffin with an average of 4.4 per game. Brian Singer led all scorers with a 9 point average. Singer also dished out the most assists. Jason Davis won the free-throw percentage award, while John Stoner won the hustle award.

1. Junior Jason Davis looks to make a pass. 2. Sophomore Jay Miller fires another two points for another Rebel victory. 3. The '86-'87 Junior Varsity: (first row) Brett Mitchell, Jason Davis, Jay Miller, Pat Brawner, David Robertson, John Stoner; (standing) Tim Morrison, Carlos Gonzalez, Gail Griffin, Mike Creech, Rick Mundt, Brian Singer.

JV TEAM IS YOUNG & HARDWORKING

The 1986-87 girls' basketball team finished its season at 8-10, which included a 7-5 conference record. The team, which is very young, will have a good nucleus back for next year.

Members of this year's team included freshmen Christy Singer, Donna Laymon, and Debbie Selig; sophomores Angela Powell and Suzy Sloan, and junior Donna Cleffman. Junior Sarah Blume and sophomore Tammy Jester played a few quarters on the JV squad, helping them out throughout the year.

Christy Singer led the team with a 48% field goal percentage. Tammy Jester had the best free throw percentage, with a 64% average. Suzy Sloan was named MVP. Throughout the year the girls showed a lot of hard work and determination, often having only six girls to play in the game. A couple of members of the squad were missed at various times in the year due to illness, so their record was a big accomplishment. The team was coached by the newcomer Don White.

GIRLS' VARSITY STRUGGLES & WINS

Although they were a very young team, the 1986-87 varsity girls' basketball team compiled a 9-11 record. Kathy Curry was the lone senior and provided much leadership. Next year the Lady Rebels will have four returning starters, Dana Hallgarth, Amy Vaughan, Trina King, and Cassie Wheeler.

During the year, the team had many highlights, the biggest coming when Southwestern beat Austin, for the first victory ever over Austin. Other bright spots included advancement to the semi-final round in the sectional, while Hallgarth was named all-conference and voted first team all-sectional. The Lady Rebels capped the regular season off by beating the conference champions, South Ripley, at home.

The key to their success was their terrific man-to-man defense, which was the praise of several opposing coaches. Trina King defensively battled the opposition's leading scorer, game in and game out. Dana Hallgarth triggered the offense, while Amy Vaughan and Cassie Wheeler worked hard all year inside the paint. Tammy Jester and Kathryn Caine were brought in for relief, while Sarah Blume and Kathy Curry were counted on for their long-range shooting.

The Rebels were coached by Mr. Terry King, who entered his sixth season as the varsity coach. He was helped by newcomer, Mr. Don White, who brought added enthusiasm to the team.

HIGHLIGHTS . . .

- First ever win over Austin.
- Victory over conference champs, South Ripley.
- Advanced to semi-final round of sectional.
- Four returning starters next year.

The 1986-87 Lady Rebels included (first row) Trina King, Kathryn Caine, Sarah Blume, and Donna Cleffman; (second row) Dana Hallgarth, Cassie Wheeler, Amy Vaughan, Kathy Curry, Tammy Jester, and Coach Terry King.

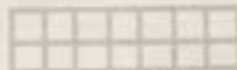

REBUILDING . . .

At the 1986-87 awards banquet, many Lady Rebels were rewarded for their hard work. Dana Hallgarth walked away with the most trophies. She was named the most valuable player as well as winning the assist award with 57 assists, barely beating out Trina King. Dana also shot well from the field, shooting 44% from the field and 63% from the free throw line, allowing her to win both awards. Cassie Wheeler stormed away with the rebounding award. Sophomore Amy Vaughan was the most improved player, while Trina King was given the defense award for her defensive work against the opposition's leading scorers.

1. Early in the game, Sarah Blume passes the ball around Shaw's Stephanie Barnes. 2. Dana Hallgarth is surrounded by Austin players but is still able to drive toward the basket. This game marked the first ever Lady Rebel victory over the Lady Eagles. 3. Against a tight game with Jac-Cen-Del, Trina King wonders what she is going to do with the basketball now.

DETERMINED REBELS END IN STYLE

— Ohio River Valley Conference co-champions.

— Jefferson County Invitational Tournament Champs.

— Sectional Title Champions for the first time since 1976.

— A winning record of 16-7.

These honors are what the Southwestern Rebel Boys' Varsity Basketball team compiled during the 1986-1987 basketball season, one of the best seasons ever in Southwestern history.

Not just one player dominated the team this year. Every player contributed in his best area to benefit the team. Can anybody forget Robby Cox opening up the season against the Scottsburg Warriors with 28 points, Lane Turner's rebounds against the New Washington Mustangs in the JCIT, Kenny Garrett's last second shot in overtime to beat the Madison Cubs during the sectional, and then the free throws by Brad Cook against the Shawe Hilltoppers to seal the sectional victory?

It was a very good year for the Rebels, but it was also a very good year for the fans. The fans supported the Rebels all year long, as they cheered the Rebels on to a fine season. They really showed their support at sectional and regional time. Faces painted, voices on high, and costumes ready, the fans headed out in full force. With a caravan to the sectional, a pep session after the sectional title, and the determination that the Rebel fans showed at regional, you knew that they were the best fans any team could ask for.

The 1986-87 Sectional Champs were led by head coach Mike Eineman, eight seniors, and two sophomores. Seniors included Kevin Ashby, Bryan Bailey, Brad Cook, Jason Couch, Robby Cox, Kenny Garrett, Sean Harvey, and Kevin Shelley. Sophomores included Lane Turner and Brian Hornsby. Statistically the team was very balanced. Kenny Garrett led the team in assists with 143. Bryan Bailey led the team in rounds with 167. Robby Cox was the leading scorer with 343 points. Kevin Shelley led the team in field goal accuracy with 61%. Cox and Bailey shared the Free Throw award with 81% from the line. Jason Couch was voted Most Improved.

BOYS WORK HARD; GIRLS SET RECORDS

This year's girls' track team worked very hard under the coaching of Jan Reamer, setting new high school records and qualifying for sectional.

Kathy Curry placed fourth at the sectional meet qualifying her to move on to the regionals in the shot put. She placed eighth at the regionals setting a new school record with a throw of 34 feet, 10 3/4 inches.

School records were also set by Mendi Adams in the high jump and Julie Robbins in the 300-meter low hurdles.

Running, jumping, throwing, and hard work is what they did. Miss Reamer also coached the boys track team this year. The team had potential but after a few injuries occurred they were weakened very steadily only leaving a few athletes to run the many events. Next year many fine athletes will be returning though to turn the season around.

REBS' SLUGGERS RAP IN TOUGH SEASON

Following the lead of their hoop-shooting peers, the 1987 Rebels' baseball team advanced to the semi-final round of the IHSAA sectional last spring by defeating the Scottsburg Warriors, 11-9, with inspired late-in-the-game performances.

First at bat, the Rebels brought a 13-14 regular season record to the plate and proceeded to back it up with four runs. The Warriors (8-21) answered with six runs in the bottom of the first.

At five innings the score was 7-6 Scottsburg, and that's when the Rebels rallied with three recent graduates rising to the occasion. Bobby Hatton tripled in two runs, Scott Brooks tripled in one run, and Kevin Wood singled in one run. Lead-off hitter Andy Manek also knocked in a run on a ground out.

Momentum seemed to remain in the Rebels' favor as they took an early 9-1 lead over Browntown in semi-final action. However, a rally by Brownstown which began in the fifth inning, continued with a tie in the sixth and a go-ahead run on a sacrifice fly in the seventh, was more than the Rebels were able to counter.

The Rebels lost their semi-final game, 10-9, and ended their season at 14-15.

REBEL YOUTH STRUGGLE IN '87

The 1987 softball season brought about many changes for the Lady Rebels. The team lost valuable seniors to graduation and three players were out part of the season with injuries. Sue Siekman took over the team with only two seniors, Bev Stockdale and Melissa Berry. The Lady Rebels struggled throughout the season but got on track only to have someone else go down to an injury. The juniors were the nucleus of the team; those juniors included Tanya Colber, Stephanie Bibbs, Cassie Wheeler, Trina King, Sarah Blume, Kathryn Caine, and Dana Hallgarth. Sophomore Tammy Jester and freshman Christi Singer played in many games for the Lady Rebels. Dana Hallgarth and Sarah Blume led the team offensively, while Bev Stockdale, Melissa Berry, and Cassie Wheeler led the team defensively. On the mound, Donna Cleffman and Dana Hallgarth did a fine job.

The junior varsity squad played few games because time and lack of opponents, but many members filled in for the varsity. New coach, Dennis Stockdale did an excellent job teaching these girls the basics. Team members included sophomores Melanie Jackson, Tammy Jester, Michelle Siew, Teresa Hayden, Heather Wilson, and Angela Weidman. The three freshmen on the team were Christi Singer, Lee Webster, and Amy Perkins.

Both teams had many highlights including, the varsity win over Providence, Dana Hallgarth's two grand slams, Christi Singer's grand slam in the jv's win over Providence, Donna Cleffman's pitching performance against Switzerland County, the varsity's come-from-behind win over Scottsburg, and a fine varsity showing against Madison.

WRESTLERS WIN TOP HONORS IN '87

The 1986-87 Wrestlers didn't experience very much success as a team during the season. The record was 4-13. But for certain individuals wrestlers it was a remarkable year. Senior Brandon Silcox was the top wrestler on the team. Brandon wrestled at 119 pounds, and he accomplished something no other Southwestern athlete ever has. He won the regional, placed third at semi-state and participated at the state meet; also he won sectional. Brandon ended his year with a 31-3 record. Junior Bob Ford had a fine year at 167 pounds. He placed second at Sectional and won the Conference title. Sophomore Jon Anderson was a big part of the team. He won sectional, conference, and wrestled well at regional. Senior Kevin Wood had a fine year with a 18-7 record; he wrestled at 177 pounds. Senior Tod Grabbe also wrestled well until he was injured during a tourney. The team was very young, so the future looks very bright.

JV SQUADS REBUILD THIS YEAR

The junior varsity cheerleading squad had a learning and rebuilding year. They competed at the International Cheerleading Federation's camp during the summer, placing well enough to earn the right to compete at the national competition. This is a first for any junior varsity squad at Southwestern. While at the national competition, they competed against other junior varsity squads ranging from six to twenty girls. They worked hard preparing for the season; training included learning how to do some new mounts and jumps. Two members departed early in December and the squad competed short-handed. During the first part of the year two members were added to the squad allowing them to continue doing their mounts. Throughout the year the junior varsity showed a lot of enthusiasm and hard work.

VARSITY CHEERS TO THE TOP!

What a year! The varsity cheerleading squad completed a tremendous season. The girls worked long hours over the summer and ventured to the International Cheerleading Foundation's summer camp at Ball State. While there, they won the right to compete at the national competition in December, by being runners-up.

During the fall, two mount men, Bob Ford and Jamey Leahey, were added. The squad worked many long hours and during Christmas recess went to Nashville for the national competition. This group of girls did exceptionally well, placing fourth in the whole nation. Over the summer, Mendi Adams and Amy Manning were invited to be counselors at the ICF camp next year and to try out for the All-American team. This year's squad put spirit back into the crowd by doing many hard and difficult mounts. Throughout the year their signs and banners were displayed, and they helped to build school spirit.

TWO CLUBS REVIVED AT SW

This year saw two former Southwestern clubs revived. Mr. Steve Bright and Mrs. Teresa McClure put new life back into the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Under their direction, the group met throughout the year. The FCA chapter sponsored a chili and fish dinner before the basketball game against Austin on February 17th, and it was a big success. The group also met with members of the Hand-over College FCA chapter.

Mrs. Carol Purvis got the Students Against Drunk Driving organization off the ground. In mid-November, a man later charged with drunk driving, hit two Southwestern students, Adam Bradley and Janeane Turner. Both students were killed in the accident. Afterwards the SADD organization became very active, sponsoring a New Year's Eve lock-in and a euchre tournament. During the winter SADD had many money-making projects during the basketball games.

Both of these organizations worked hard. This is due, in part, to the leadership of the senior members and the sponsors.

Faculty

WHEN DAYS GOT LONG AND RUGGED,

A lot of new faces joined the teaching staff at Southwestern in the 1986-87 school year.

In the junior high and high school, there were a total of 43 teachers, and seven of these were new at Southwestern this year. Pamela Myszak taught biology and science. Terah Woolbright taught math. Mary Spaulding also taught science. Debra Anders and Theresa Sublette both taught math.

Returning for still another year were other veteran teachers such as Maria and Kettig Coghill, Bill and Marlyn Finnegan, Mary Sue and Joe Barnett, Roy Emery, Sarah Green, Gene Robertson, Marcia Morrill, Lorna Naylor, and the leader of all, Principal Delbert King with 27 years of service. Mr. King was aided by Assistant Principal Cathy Ellis. Mr. David Mount and Mrs. Sandy Everitt served as counselors.

Mrs. Diane Amos became Mrs. Ellis's secretary. Mrs. Carol Purvis, attendance officer was also in charge of the book store, the concession stand and the SADD program. Mrs. Diane Rusk and Mrs. Rosemary Cloyd served as high school secretaries and Mrs. Shirley Jackson served as school treasurer. Mrs. Connie Smith served as secretary to Mr. Mike Eineman, athletic director.

Superintendent Dr. Patrick Leahey end his 7th year at Southwestern. He joined Mr. King, staff members, and students in wishing good luck to Mrs. Ellis who resigned at the end of the school year to become assistant principal at Assumption H.S. in Louisville. Mrs. Ellis' hard work and professionalism will be missed at SW.

SUPPORT STAFF MADE LIFE EASIER

The custodians, cafeteria workers, and bus drivers had a hard-working year. The cafeteria workers prepared and served lunch for nearly 700 students each day. The janitors cleaned up after these kids and performed other work around the school, work which included everything from raising the flag in the morning to cleaning up after basketball games. The bus drivers had to cope with another year of carrying lots of kids to school, and dealing with the slick roads during winter.

Seniors

SENIORS LEAVE LEGACY OF SPIRIT

In the spring of 1987, Southwestern High School said good-bye to an incredibly spirited and hard-working group of graduates. History had been made in several ways by the 112 members of this year's senior class.

Being actively involved in school happenings had always been a strong attribute of the members of this class, and their senior year was no exception. Participating in wrestling were seniors Tod Grabbe, Cliff Howard, Brandon Silcox, and Kevin Wood. Kathy Curry was the only senior girl participating in basketball, while Kevin Ashby, Kevin Shelley, Brad Cook, Robby Cox, Kenny Garrett, Sean Harvey, Jason Couch, and Bryan Bailey played on the regional-qualifying varsity boys' team. Seniors Mendi Adams, Melissa Berry, Marcie Moore, Kelley Leahey, Pam Sage, and Kathy Curry helped the varsity volleyball team attain its best record ever. Representing the senior class on the varsity cheerleading squad, which was ranked fourth in a national competition, were seniors Mendi Adams, Melissa Berry, Amy Manning, Dixie Dean, and Dawn Dean. Seniors Sean Harvey and Jerry Thornton also ran cross-country.

Along with spring came the arrival of the remaining sports, in which the seniors eagerly participated. Kevin Wood, Scott Brooks, Bobby Hatton, Chris Potter, and Paul Jones were members of the baseball team, while Melissa Berry and Bev Stockdale provided leadership for the varsity softball team. Senior members of the track teams included Jerry Thornton, Jeff Marshall, Mendi Adams, and Kathy Curry.

During basketball season, the annual homecoming was held, in which the senior class was well represented. Mendi Adams, escorted by Kenny Garrett, was crowned queen, while the other candidates included Dixie Dean, Melissa Berry, Calli Kleopfer, Amy Manning, Tammi Jones, and Jill Gray. Their escorts were Kevin Shelley, Sean Harvey, Brad Cook, Robby Cox, Jason Couch, and Patrick Horine, respectively. Springtime brought excitement in the air because it meant the prom was rapidly approaching. On that special night, Mendi again reigned, while Patrick Horine was dubbed king for the night. Other king and queen candidates included Kevin Wood, Kenny Garrett, Cliff Howard, David Marcelle, Calli Kleopfer, Janda Todd, Amy Manning, and Melissa Berry.

This very accomplished class was under the direction of the following class officers: president Tammi Jones, vice-president Mendi Adams, secretary Dixie Dean, and treasurer Melissa Berry. Other student leadership was provided by student council members Scott McCloud, Amy Manning, Kevin Wood, Andy Burch, and Patrick Horine. A few of the goals attained by 1987's seniors include winning Madison's basketball sectional for the first time in ten years, having a cheerleading squad ranked fourth in a national competition, and winning Spirit Week for the fourth consecutive year. Seniors had never previously won Spirit Week in the history of the event at Southwestern.

Not only were the seniors disciplined in their sporting activities, but they were also dedicated to academic excellence, with twelve seniors in National Honor Society. At the close of their last year, Kelley Leahey was honored as valedictorian, while Dixie Dean was named salutatorian.

The 1986-87 Senior class officers are Melissa Berry, treasurer; Dixie Dean, secretary; Mendi Adams, vice-president; (standing) Tammi Jones, president.

JANEANE TURNER

On Thursday, November 20, 1986, Janeane Turner died in a three-car accident. One man, who was later charged with two counts of causing death while driving drunk, hit Janeane's car.

Janeane, a senior, an Art Club member, and a vocational student, will always be greatly missed. She added humor to our days out in the smoking area, in classes, and down on the river. She loved both the character Garfield, and heavy metal music, particularly Ozzy Osbourne. Those who knew Janeane and her ways will hold on to her memory and never forget her.

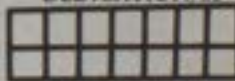

PHILIP ADAM BRADLEY

On the November 20, 1986, Adam Bradley was killed in a head-on collision, the same accident which also took the life of Janeane Turner. The man who hit Adam's car was later charged with driving while drunk and causing death.

Southwestern lost a very special friend that night. Adam, a senior, worked at Dave's Shurway and was interested in working with diesel trucks after graduation. He was a heavy metal music fan, particularly of groups like The Doors and Ozzy Osbourne. Adam had a special way of making everyone laugh and have a good time, but he was also a friend who was there when needed. Students and friends of Adam will always remember his beautiful eyes and friendly smile.

SENIORS LEAVE SWHS WITH HONORS

Graduation for the class of 1987 was a truly special one, one that will never be forgotten by the graduates. On May 31, 1987, the senior class gathered in the the gymnasium along with their family and friends, for what was to be the big day they had anticipated for twelve years.

The commencement began with Melissa Berry delivering the invocation. Jennifer Dunn presented a musical selection. Sean Harvey and Janda Todd gave a humorous speech dealing with the class history throughout their years at Southwestern. Evelyn Dixon sang a musical selection. Class salutatorian Dixie Dean presented her address which included reminiscences about kindergarten. Class valedictorian Kelley Leahey gave her speech explaining the reason her classmates were so close to each other.

Class president Tammi Jones led her classmates in the traditional tassle turning ceremony, and Mendi Adams gave the benediction to close the graduation ceremonies.

SENIORS AND OTHERS RECOGNIZED

Citations for excellent classwork, money for college, and even some dubious distinctions — 1987 Honors Day included these awards and more as SWHS marked the seniors' departure with a two-hour program recognizing student achievement.

More than $10,000 in annual scholarships were awarded to a number of seniors led by class valedictorian Kelley Leahey, who was awarded a $4,000 annual scholarship to attend Depauw University and salutatorian Dixie Dean, who was awarded a $500 annual scholarship to attend Hanover College.

Eleven academic departmental awards were given to seniors who performed outstandingly in curriculum subjects ranging from agriculture to social studies. Academic decathlon and super bowl team members were honored for their participation in a number of competitions.

All was not completely serious, however, as the SWHS Quill and Scroll Chapter once again sponsored "Senior Superlatives." Seniors voted for their classmates. Achievements were noted in such categories as hallwalking, excuse-making, and flirting, as members of the Class of '87 enjoyed the results of this popular contest.

JUNIORS: ONE MORE YEAR TO GO

The junior class once again proved their worth during the 1986-87 school year. They worked hard to raise money for prom and various other activities. The year started out slow, but once they got their "junioritis" out of their systems, they began to get into the full swing of things.

To start out the year, the juniors took second place in Spirit Week with the theme "Rebel House." A great deal of pride could be seen throughout this exciting week leading up to the first basketball game.

Academically, the juniors excelled with twenty-one members in National Honor Society. Numerous students from the class also participated in the Academic Decathlon.

The juniors also enthusiastically took part in fall sports. Tennis, cross-country and volleyball were just a few in which the juniors participated.

Homecoming was an exciting event for the class of '88. Representing the junior class as homecoming queen candidates were Missy Craddock, Trina King, Kelly Amick and Kathryn Caine, who were escorted by Andy Manek, Peter Palmer, John Stoner, and Bob Ford, respectively.

SOPHOMORE SPIRIT SHINES IN '87

The class of '89 once again enjoyed a successful year. After a year of proving themselves as freshmen, they once again tasted the fruits of success in the '86-'87 school year. They participated in Spirit Week with the theme of Rebel Island under the leadership of Barry Hebner, president; Missy Gray, vice-president; Stephanie Bennett, secretary; and Rebecca Trout, treasurer. The sophomores made several significant contributions to the Southwestern student body with the assistance of sophomore student council members Brian Hornsby, Jay Miller, Brett Mitchell, Lisa Todd, and Amy Vaughan.

The sophomores also contributed to the athletic program this year. The Class of '89 was well represented in every sport the Rebels had to offer. Cheerleading was no exception, with one sophomore on each squad representing the class of '89 while encouraging the basketball teams.

The sophomore class of the 1986-87 school year not only excelled athletically, but also academically as well. There were twelve sophomores inducted into the National Honor Society during ceremonies in the spring.

FRESHMEN START ON THE RIGHT TRACK

The 1986-87 Freshmen started their first year of high school out on the right track. The basketball team gained the 1987 ORVC Championship and ended their season with an 11-6 record. Cindi Niccum was freshmen princess for homecoming and also secretary for the class. Other class officers included president, Jeff Moody; vice-president, Mike Webster; and treasurer, Darla Deshong.

Even though they did come in third, the freshmen had fun with their first year of Spirit Week with the theme "Rebel Days." The month of February brought good news for Rick Stockdale when he was chosen student of the month. Student Council representatives were Beth Perry and Darla Deshong.

Members of the cross-country team were Brian Marshall, Rick Stockdale and Pat Finnegan. Brian Marshall made all-conference and also won the most improved award. Pat Finnegan won the hustle award.

J.V. Volleyball had a winning record of 11-8. There were four freshmen members on this year's team: Missy Hall, Missy Davis, Amy Perkins, and Lori Horine.

Junior High

JUNIOR HIGH ACCOMPLISHES MUCH

The 250 junior high students at Southwestern are just as active as the high school students.

Mrs. Sue Brown, as sponsor of the junior high student council, helped get the successful canned food drive off the ground at Christmas time.

Student council, however, was not the only thing that made the junior high stand out. There were many students that participated in junior high choir as well as the 1986-87 show choir. Both these groups earned some excellent individual and group ratings at various contests.

The junior high held their own at SW this year and we all are looking forward to seeing what good things they will bring to us in the future.

The Class of '91 returned to school for another fun-filled year of junior high. The eighth graders showed lots of hard work and leadership as they anxiously awaited their freshmen year of high school to roll around.

The eighth grade class was led by six Student Council members: Shelly Boldery, Heather Eberth, Brooke Manning, Mandy Pate, Jason Perry, and Greg Stoner.

Even though they had not participated in organized school athletics for very long, they showed lots of dedication and improvement. The junior high cross country team consisted of four eighth grade students. Their leadership helped the team to a 8-8 record. Volleyball also had a fine season with a 6-3 record. Although their records didn't show it, both the girls and boys basketball teams showed improvement and are ready to move on. The eighth grade class also had many participants in wrestling and track. Both had fine seasons.

By the end of the year, the eighth grade class was ready for their first year of high school.

EIGHTH GRADERS TRY HARD, FALL SHORT OF SUCCESS

In their second year of athletic competition, the eighth grade basketball teams didn't find very much success. The boys ended their season with a record of one win and thirteen losses, and the girls with one win and eight losses, which provided a disappointing season record for both teams. Nevertheless the boys and girls are eager to move up the ladder to compete at the high school level. The girls were coached by Jan Reamer and the boys by Jeff Davis. The highlight of the year for the girls was their victory over Crothersville and for the boys, their victory over Shawe.

CHALLENGES FOUND IN JUNIOR HIGH

The newly arrived seventh graders excitedly awaited their first year of junior high. The class of '92 found many new things to do like participating in sports, homework, finding their way around and student council.

The first student council for the class of '92 consisted of six members: Lori Hall, Linda Koontz, Allen Smith, Angie Surret, Mandy White and Denise Wood. They showed enthusiasm and determination, which rubbed off on their fellow classmates.

Participating in school sports was also new to them. However, that didn't stop the eager seventh graders from participating. There were many members on all of the teams: Cross Country, Volleyball, Boys and Girls Basketball, Track and Wrestling were all considered to be "new and challenging" to the seventh graders. However, that could not be seen through lack of hard work and team spirit.

After finishing their first year of junior high, they could hardly await their return to SWJH, but this time as eighth graders.

SEVENTH GRADE BOUNCES B-BALL TO VICTORY

The 7th Grade has experienced something that very few 7th grade classes have experienced, and that is success in both girls' and boys' basketball. The boys experienced success in posting a 10-4 record and winning six in a row at one time. The team was coached by first-year coach Dennis Stockdale. The girls also experienced success posting a 5-4 record and posting a big victory over Madison. The girls were coached by Durwin Hallgarth.

SOUTHWESTERN IS "IN" FASHION!

The world of fashion is taken seriously at Southwestern Jr.-Sr. High. Many students keep up with the latest styles in the fashion industry by displaying their own personal style in clothing.

While some stayed with the look of faded-out Levis and a casual T-shirt, others were daring enough to take a chance at the latest styles.

The Western look hit big with the girls at SWHS. Many different styles of boots, skirts, belts and shirts could be seen in the highly decorated halls.

Hair bows, French braids, and many other styles were also displayed to add the finishing touches to their look.

The guys revealed their own personal look with the denim jackets, the layered look, and the new suspended trousers.

1. Ira Brittain cruises in style in his '76 Cobra. 2. Could this be the next cover girl for the Seventeen magazine? Lori Horine takes fashion seriously in her Espirit sweat shirt. 3. Missy Gray and Stephanie Bennett also take fashion seriously. 4. Where did you get those eyes? Nicole Bair proudly shows off her new preppy specs. 5. Gee, your hair looks terrific! Tara Taylor displays the hottest look in hair: The Bob. 6. Show your pearly whites: Sheryl Grubbs and Stephanie Scarff think the oversize sweater and turtle-neck look hot. 7. Euchre anyone? Now, no peeking Pete. Kelley Leahey, Angela Kidwell, Pat Horine and Peter Palmer pass time with a good game of cards.

1. Trevor Yager hits the high roads in his '85 Ford Bronco II. 2. Guess? Guess what? Jill Gray is wearing one of the most popular styles of clothing seen at SWHS. 3. Jacki Sachleben and Kevin Wood are one sharp-dressed couple. 4. Missy Craddock goes for the curly look that seems to be a popular style. 5. Anne MacMillan and Michele Kinnard hit the fast lane in hair. 6. Melissa Berry and Bob Ford dress the look of the business world. 7. Cliff Howard cruises in style in his '80 Z28.

STUDENTS — WORKING FOR A LIVING

Once again, Southwestern students not only worked hard during school hours, they also worked many after-school hours.

Many students had part-time jobs that took away a lot of their free time after school, but in return gave a greater amount of responsibility, the joy of having your own money and experience of what it is like working outside of school.

Students worked in a variety of places: McDonalds, Hardees, Burger King, Nobel Romans, Tanning Beds, and many more.

Students found this to a challenging but rewarding experience.

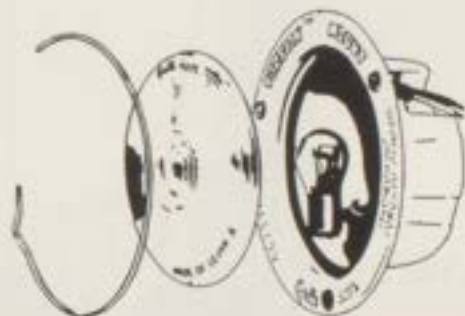

1. (Upper right) Senior Tracey Wright poses by one of the hottest items around, a sunbed. She worked after school at Elaine's.
2. (Above) Senior Jacki Sachleben can't wait to be of assistants to you at Krogers.
3. (Above right) Senior Shelly Taylor, a Burger King employee, takes a break from serving a customer to flash the camera a smile.
4. (Right) Senior Barb Annon is ready for almost anything at The Cliff House.

GOOD LUCK CLASS OF '87

THANKS GO AS WELL TO THE 1986-87 SOUTHWESTERN BOARD OF SCHOOL TRUSTEES WHO GRANTED FUNDS THIS YEAR FOR THE PURCHASE OF TWO NEW CAMERAS AND ACCESSORIES FOR USE IN STUDENT PUBLICATIONS. THE BOARD MEMBERS ARE MR. GREG ABEL, MRS. PATRICIA MAIR, MRS. KAREN TAYLOR, DR. L.E. WESTALL, AND MR. RICHARD SHAFFER.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

It takes moral and financial support to produce a yearbook. The 1987 Rebrian staff thanks the following persons and organizations:

Mrs. Diane Amos, Mrs. Carol Purvis, Mrs. Rosemary Cloyd, Mrs. Shirley Jackson, Mrs. Diana Rusk, Mrs. Connie Smith, for their constant help and their willingness to put up with us;

Miss Bonnie Harmon and Mrs. Becky Burch, for band and color guard photos;

Mrs. Marcia Morrill, for her wisdom and moral support;

Doug Phillips, for the graphics he provided;

Kelley Leahey, for the language arts copy and band copy;

Mr. Paul Blume, for fixing up the dark-room and for providing photos of several events;

the 1986-87 journalism class, for lending a hand when needed;

the 1986-87 Confederate staff, for graciously completing a number of tasks which aided our effort;

the administrators, faculty, and staff of SWJH-HS;

many other unselfish student volunteers too numerous to mention;

and finally, our advertisers and subscribers, for their financial support.

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased from 10.5 million to 13.5 million (19.5% of the population).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of older people, and the Government has set out a strategy for the 21st century in the White Paper on Ageing Better: Our Future, Our Choice (Department of Health 2000). This sets out a vision of a society in which older people are able to live well, and to contribute to society.

The White Paper sets out a number of key objectives, including:

- to ensure that older people are able to live well, and to contribute to society;
- to ensure that older people are able to live independently, and to participate in the life of their communities;
- to ensure that older people are able to live in their own homes, and to receive the care and support they need;
- to ensure that older people are able to live in good health, and to receive the care and support they need;
- to ensure that older people are able to live in dignity, and to be treated with respect.

The White Paper also sets out a number of key actions, including:

- to improve the lives of older people by ensuring that they have access to the care and support they need;
- to improve the lives of older people by ensuring that they have access to the services and facilities they need;
- to improve the lives of older people by ensuring that they have access to the information and advice they need;
- to improve the lives of older people by ensuring that they have access to the financial support they need;
- to improve the lives of older people by ensuring that they have access to the housing and transport services they need.

The White Paper also sets out a number of key principles, including:

- to ensure that older people are able to live well, and to contribute to society;
- to ensure that older people are able to live independently, and to participate in the life of their communities;
- to ensure that older people are able to live in their own homes, and to receive the care and support they need;

The White Paper also sets out a number of key actions, including:
