Learning the prime art of language

There are many different literature and English classes offered at SW, such as advanced composition, creative writing, dramatic lit., lit. of England, and speech, not to mention the regular English and lit. classes required by underclassmen. Mrs. Dowell, Mrs. Orrill, and Mrs. Callis also taught enriched English/literature to students in grades 7-11. For a change of culture, many students also took a foreign language such as Spanish, which is taught by Mr. Emery and Mr. Feuerstin; French, taught by Mrs. Barnett; or Latin, which is taught by Mrs. Campbell.

Math, science, computers: prime studies

Another Albert Einstein? With the advanced studies of math, science, and computers, anything is possible. Students at Southwestern take these academic courses very seriously because they know that they will be rewarded for their studies in the future. As for Albert Einstein, well, anything is possible.

Learning our history and government

School was not always tests, notes, and homework at Southwestern this year. Mrs. Frazier's history class took their annual field trip, this year to Louisville to visit the IMAX theater at the Museum of History and Science. Mrs. Jackson's history class also performed various activities, such as creating a newspaper, doing commercials, and putting on a play. Mr. Kettig Coghill's government class learned of different things going on in our country, and how to economize in economics class. These teachers saw to it that they educated their students in the most interesting ways possible to make it a more exciting year.

Starting early for a prime future

For most students, plans for a career begin in the early years of high school. These students get their start in classes like business law, typing, accounting, agriculture, and shorthand. Classes such as these teach students the basic skills for what they will be studying in the future. Whether planning to go to college, vocational school, or to a business school after graduation, students know that high school is where their education originates.

What does this page of shorthand have to say to SW students?

"To the students of Southwestern High School: Join up for shorthand; it is fun and interesting. Sign up as soon as possible. It helps you learn how to write fast and efficiently. Mrs. Caudill will be glad to have you in her class, so sign up today. What are you waiting for?"

Newspaper & yearbook: prime productions

The school newspaper staff put out eight issues of The Confederate this year. The staff was led by editor Lee Webster. They did their best to give the school timely news on sports and events about Southwestern. Their journalistic counterpart, The Rebel staff, worked hard to provide SWHS with the best yearbook possible. The staff was led by editor Mike Turner and assistant editor Stephanie Bennett. Both productions were advised by Mrs. Martha Clancy. Only one member served Quill and Scroll this year, that member being senior Candi Griffin.

Band and choir: prime attractions at SW

The music and choral departments performed many times throughout the year. The show choir, Esprit, was one of the major attractions at Southwestern. The popular singing/dancing group entertained many enthusiastic audiences during the year. The pep band kept the basketball crowds entertained during the home games under the direction of new band director Mr. Dirk McCord.

Making prime careers for the future

Many juniors and seniors attended the Southeastern Career Center located in Versailles, Indiana during the '88-'89 school year. They took a wide variety of hands-on courses such as welding, food services, electronics, and nursing. The career center provides students with the opportunity to begin their future careers, teaches them to face the real world, and prepares them to become more proficient in a learned trade. Also, by traveling there every day, they were able to meet students from surrounding areas and make new friends. Students who took advantage of this opportunity include: Jon Anderson, Grover Anderson, Glenn Ball, Breck Box, Kevin Brameier, Stephanie Breeden, Clinton Brooks, Tim Pettit, Chris Cloud, Michelle Dean, Debbie Elliott, Dawn Kirby, Angie May, Jerry Mahoney, Rodney Mefford, Jenny Jullian, Jamie Murphy, Martina Retzner, Tony Sash, Anna Schiphorst, Lance Shepherd, and Duane Watkins.

FFA wins prime honors for Southwestern

The summer of 1988 proved to be the time for Southwestern's FFA chapter to shine. They won the Honor Award at the national convention and brought home the title of #1 in the state of Indiana, all under the direction of Mr. Ken Salkeld. Each member worked hard in preparing not only themselves, but the entire group for the competition, and it obviously paid off. The current officers of the group are as follows: Dena Roberts, president; Greg Sanders, vice-president; Michelle Adams, secretary; Jamie Hadley, reporter; and Tracy Mefford, treasurer. Members that hold no office but play an important part in winning include: Robert Brawner, Jerry Faris, Shawn Fields, Chris Hardin, Marty Scales, Damon Hardy, John Marshall, Travis McDowell, Thomas Hardwick, Travis Smith, Jim Simmonds, Joe Simmonds, Rick Stidham, Shalonda Taylor, and Tom Wilson.

Seniors achieve prime honors and leave proudly

Hard work and dedication paid off for those seniors who attached themselves to their studies, as many won awards on Honors Day. Michelle Siew and Heather Wilson achieved the highest honor in the senior class, sharing the co-valedictorian's position; and J. J. Ireland attained the position of salutatorian. For a change of pace, graduation commencement was held on a Saturday evening this year instead of the traditional Sunday afternoon as the class of 1989 bid Southwestern farewell.

Prime enthusiasm in clubs & activities

This year the Rebels of Southwestern showed their true red, white, and blue spirit in many ways. Students continued to keep up their enthusiasm all year, whether in supporting their favorite Rebel team, showing their creativity during spirit week, or keeping to the studies that would prepare them for the future. The 1988 FHA-Art Club Variety Show saw the sweep of the top two places by the Brown sisters. Senior Dawn Brown won first place with her own version of the "Oprah Winfrey Show" with her sister, sophomore Aquanita Brown winning second place for lip-sync and her now "famous" dancing.

Administration, Faculty, and Staff

Think about it: those who can do — teach. Southwestern's teachers taught many subjects, growing along with their students, showing they care. Teachers are shaping the future leaders of tomorrow. It takes a special breed to be patient with twenty-five talking students six hours a day, but teachers do just that.

Managing a school also requires patience. From answering constantly ringing telephones to monitoring the school lunches, the administration and staff of SW establish and maintain over 600 students' daily school routines.

Southwestern led by competent managers

The faculty, administration, and staff of Southwestern High School continued to lead and support the students in 1988-89. Forty-six teachers taught a curriculum which ranged from required courses such as English to electives such as foreign foods. After what at times were difficult negotiations, the teachers and school board settled on a master contract in November.

Perhaps the biggest change for teachers and students alike came in the form of a still longer school year mandated by the Indiana General Assembly. Teachers found themselves in the classroom June 5, due to the lengthening of the school year to 181 days and to the stipulation that days missed due to bad weather must be accounted for.

The school corporation was once again led by a competent school board and superintendent Dr. J. Patrick Leahey. The high school and junior high were supervised by Mr. Delbert King, principal. He was assisted by vice-principal Mr. Jerry Snapp.

Teachers prepare students for future

"If you can read this, thank a teacher," seemed to be a popular phrase in '89. Everyone has a favorite teacher, whether in math, history, or English. The teachers of Southwestern are a special breed because they genuinely care about their students. They help prepare students for the future and life in general. The teachers of Southwestern deserve to be respected for their contribution.

Two Cs at SW make things run smoothly

During the 1988-89 school year, the cooks served up hot and nutritious meals every day. The custodial staff had a rough time cleaning up after all the students and a seemingly endless mess, but they accomplished their tasks and helped things run smoothly throughout the year. The custodial staff includes Tom Potter, Don Horine, Betty Russell, Cari Jackson, Charlie Singer, and John Tingle. Bill Washburn once again served as head of the maintenance staff.

Seniors

Graduation. No more sleeping during government. Last class to use smoking square. No more studying for and taking SATs. The Senior Prom. Looking on the Past.

Graduation is probably the biggest event in a high school Senior's life. They strive to get to that day, but soon realize that they will miss the good times when life was worry free. Webster's defines a senior as "one who is above others in rank, age, and length of service." Certainly the class of '89 has been a model for the rest to ponder.

Looking back on one glorious year

Remembrance of yesterday:

It's all a blur when it happens, and most didn't feel the full effect until the excitement of the senior year came to a close.

As the 1989 senior class began its final year, thoughts weren't on prom or the big event — graduation. In fact, many seniors were worrying about making it through the first semester.

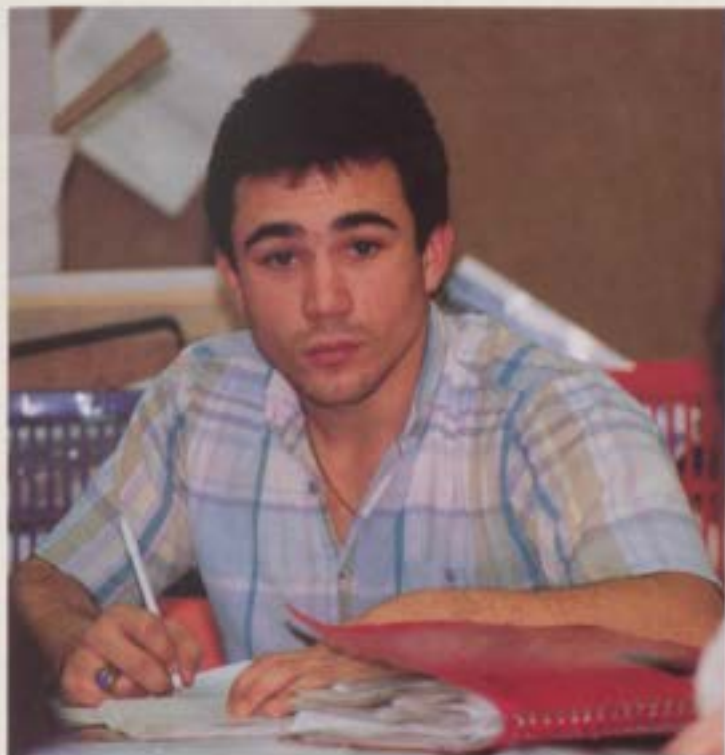

The first big activity that took place was spirit week. The seniors finally came out victorious and tied with the freshmen to win spirit week. Although they tied with the freshmen, it didn't dampen their spirits. Seniors led both varsity basketball teams, the wrestling team, and the academic decathlon team during the winter of 1988-89.

Spring break was another big event for the seniors. They received permission from the school board to go to Colorado for an official senior trip. But unfortunately, not enough seniors signed up for the trip and it was cancelled. Despite that letdown, many seniors packed their bags and headed for Florida. On their return, many of them were glad they went and had a great time.

As the final days of school arrived, the senior class began wishing they could have one more chance to do it all over again. For many, it was a time of joy and a time of sadness. They were glad to be out of school; yet inevitably, it was a time to move on and say good-bye to SWHS.

"I wish I would have brought my cheat sheet," thinks Rebecca Trout (above right). Lee Mahoney is the star of the play in dramatic lit class (above). Rick Mundt tries to get brownie points by filing for teachers (right).

Activities

Working the junior class concession stand. Cruising the strip. Renting movies. Planning the Prom. Looking to compete.

It can never be said that Southwestern students do not know how to have fun. We all know how to fill our free time, whether it be working at a job or for clubs, or competing in things from sports to beauty pageants. We know how to work together to make S.H.S. a better place while striving to make our individual self the best possible person we can.

Artists show talent on canvas, paper, and shirts

The art club started out an exciting year by sponsoring the annual variety show along with the FHA. The art club is sponsored by Mr. Gene Robertson. Being artistic as always the art club ventured out to the falls behind the school to take the group picture. For the past three years Doug Phillips has been the official artist for the art club t-shirt/sweatshirt.

FHA is active throughout the community and school

The FHA started out an exciting year by helping the art club sponsor the annual variety show. Seven of the Southwestern FHA members participated and won medals in proficiency events during the state leadership conference held in Indianapolis.

They also took the annual trip to Madison State Hospital for Halloween. At Christmas, FHA catered dinner to Englishton Park residents. Valentine cookies were also sold again this year.

Something a little different took place this year for the FHA club members. They held a blood drive in the gym for all Southwestern students who were over the age of seventeen. Being the first time for this event, it turned out successful.

In 1985, the homecoming queen was Stephanie Bruther. On February 15, 1989 her younger sister Michelle Bruther was crowned the 1989 homecoming queen. She was escorted by Brian Hornsby. Michelle seemed to be very honored as she accepted the crown from the 1988 queen Trina King, who was escorted by student council president Brett Mitchell.

The other members of the court were freshman princess Jennie Perry, who was escorted by Jason Potter and sophomore princess Kathy Brawner, who was escorted by Kelly Boldery. The queen candidates included Stephanie Bennett escorted by Jay Miller, Lisa Chase escorted by Carl Campbell, Shari Cheatham escorted by John Eberth, Jennifer Cline escorted by Kevin Brameier, Leslie Frederick escorted by Rick Stockdale, Missy Gray escorted by Ty Bowling, Lori Horine escorted by Lawrence Hatton, and Rebecca Trout escorted by Lane Turner.

National Honor Society and SWHS

Two groups that represent Southwestern's academic excellence are National Honor Society and the Hoosier Academic Decathlon team. The decathlon team went to regional competition at Madison High School where they placed third. J. J. Ireland achieved the highest individual score among eight teams. NHS members once again tutored elementary students in reading and other subjects.

STAIRWAY TO HEAVEN: Prom '89

The 1989 junior-senior prom was a memorable one. Instead of being held at the Moose Lodge again, finally the scenery changed, and the prom was held at the J. Graham Brown Campus Center at Hanover College. The prom colors were purple and silver, and the prom theme was "Stairway to Heaven."

Brian Hornsby and Missy Bruther were the 1989 prom king and queen. The other candidates included Angie Burch, Rick Mundt, Missy Gray, Ty Bowling, Melanie Jackson, Aaron Finnegan, Tonya Harrison, Jay Miller, Kim Judge, Lane Turner, Lisa Todd, and Brett Mitchell.

Todd Craft and Nikki Wood were the 1989 prom prince and princess. The other candidates included Lori Horine, Jeff Moody, Angie Ellis, James Stotts, Sheri Cheatham, Jon Eberth, Bev Marshall, Wes Jones, Jennifer Cline, and Rick Stockdale.

Council under new leadership works to reach new goals

During the 1988-89 school year, the student council was led by Brett Mitchell as president, followed by Rick Stockdale as vice-president, David Stokes as treasurer, Lisa Chase as recording secretary, and Suzanne Sloan as corresponding secretary.

The council sponsored several events. These included most students' favorite event — spirit week — along with student-of-the-month and homecoming. During the fall, the council attended the state leadership convention. Their new adviser this year is SWHS counselor Mr. David Mount. He agreed to take over the group from Mrs. Marcia Morrill, 1987-88 adviser.

SWHS had two new foreign exchange students and a girl who came from Brazil as members of the student body during the 1988-89 school year. The exchange students are Judith Spaeh and Gry Kolind. Sharon Rose Lanham moved to Hanover from Brazil.

Judith came from West Germany and lived with Tiffany Taylor and her family. Gry came from Denmark and lived with the Nick and Mark Ellis family. Sharon, from Brazil, came during the second semester but had to return shortly after. She stayed with some of her relatives.

FFA members make way to successful ventures

This year's FFA members had some big shoes to fill. Their 1987-88 counterparts had brought the distinction of being the number one FFA chapter in Indiana to Southwestern, and rookie members as well as returning members were anxious to live up to that honor.

During the 1988-89 school year, the Southwestern FFA Chapter went on a trip to Kansas City to attend the National FFA Convention. While they were there, the chapter received three awards.

During the year, they also participated in proficiency contests. One of the categories involved the proper way to run a meeting, and the chapter placed first at the district level; however, the chapter did not place in the top teams at the section level to continue on to the state contest.

The SW chapter sold fruit this year to raise money. The money received went to help the FFA chapter and other good causes.

Flags up for color guard & winter guard flag groups

The 1988-89 color guard/winter guard consisted of nine members. They practiced three days a week for most of the year.

They participated in three competitions at Indianapolis, where even though they were the smallest group, they made average or better showings each time. Lisa and Jennifer McDonald's mother provided reversible overlays for the group. The overlays were red on one side and blue on the other.

There were two kinds of flags that the guard used. They included the show flags and the regular flags. The show flags were pink and silver metallic. Their two sets of regular flags were: first set / red, white, and blue; second set / yellow and green.

Sports

Sports. Competing for victory. Struggling through practices. Facing defeat. Striving for the future.

Sports rank very high in the hearts and minds of all Southwestern students. Without them, one could hardly call SHS spirited. Even though athletes may have to endure grueling practices, the skill and pride that they represent as a team seems to compensate. Sports unify the student body and teach responsibility. No matter how different each individual athlete may seem, they all share a love of competition and victory.

Tennis & Swimming

SW has successful season on court and in water

Swimmers take your mark and ... Bang! The firing starter's gun sent members of the swimming teams diving into the pool, each swimmer hoping to be the first to come up. However, due to small team sizes and youthful ages, the teams were forced to accept many defeats. The teams are growing and are looking forward to some more wins in the future.

The tennis team also had a young and inexperienced team this year. They worked very hard and achieved many of their goals. The athletes that came out with the best records included: singles — Jarrett Manek 8-9 and doubles — Stacy Field 10-7. The team is looking forward to upcoming seasons when they are a more experienced group.

Cross Country

Boys and Girls

Cross country runs away from competition

The varsity boys' cross-country team had a very successful year once again. Their overall record was 52-17. Not counting the invitationals that they participated in, their record was 11-0.

Highlights of their season included winning the conference meet. They also placed second in sectional.

The team was led by a fine group of seniors. Grover Anderson was the team's number-one runner with Patrick Brawner and Jon Anderson close behind. Other members of the team included: Pat Finnegan, Brian Marshall, Mike Risk, Shane Singer, David Caine, Todd Dierkes, and Brian Cox.

The girls' cross-country team also had a successful season. They had enough runners for a team for the second consecutive year. Members of the team included: seniors Lisa Chase, Laura Durham, Jennifer McDonald, and Christina Hostetler; juniors Christi Singer, Judith Spaeh; sophomores Christa Short, Penny Morrison, and Lynette Marshall. These seven girls worked very hard and performed well.

Five of the girls on the team decided to run cross country for the first time. They included Laura Durham, Judith Spaeh, Christa Short, Penny Morrison, and Lynette Marshall. Two veterans — Lisa Chase and Christi Singer also helped build the team's 7-4 (excluding invitationals) record.

Varsity Rebels survive up-and-down season

This year's boys' varsity basketball team had an up-and-down year. The team started off the year with three losses, but the second half of the season they finished strong with three consecutive wins.

The team was led by seniors Lane Turner and Brian Hornsby. Turner averaged 20.1 points a game and Hornsby averaged 19.3 a game. Hornsby also led the team in free-throw percentage and steals. Turner led the team in rebounds. Patrick Brawner led the team in assists and Todd Craft led in three-point field goals.

The Rebels finished off the season with a nine and twelve record and ended the season with a first round loss in sectional.

Girls' Varsity Basketball

Young Lady Rebels have learning and rebuilding season

The Lady Rebels' basketball team ended its season with a record of 4-15. This was a learning and rebuilding year for the Lady Rebels' basketball program.

The young team was led by two seniors, Tammy Jester and Amy Vaughan, who served as team captains along with one of the two juniors on the team, Christi Singer. The other junior on the team was Donna Laymon. There were four sophomores on team: Heather Eberth, Donnemarie Firth, Julie Polly and Kathy Sexton. Also on the team were freshmen Christy Hatton and Susan Scroggins.

Since the team is only losing two seniors to graduation, fans can look forward to a better season. The girls plan to work all summer — playing in leagues and conditioning — to prepare themselves for next year.

J.V. Basketball

Up and down season for j.v. boys

The 1988-89 junior varsity boys ended their season with a record of 4-14. It was an up and down season for the team. The team consisted of five sophomores, two juniors and one freshman. One of the highlights of the season was the win over South Ripley who at the time was undefeated for the season. Members on the j.v. team showed a lot of individualistic talent which promises success in the future.

Best record ever for j.v. girls

The 1988-89 junior varsity girls team accomplished much. They had a record of 13-5, a record that is the best ever for a J.V. girls team in the history of Southwestern. The team consisted of seven freshmen: Christy Hatton, Lessa Laymon, Misty Rudolech, Jennie Perry, Tanya Shepherd, Denise Weber and Diane Weber. Sophomore Heather Eberth and junior Donna Laymon played split j.v./varsity and helped the team throughout the season.

Wrestlers start off well finish so-so

This year's varsity wrestlers started out looking as if they were going to have a good season when they only lost by six to the conference champion Charlestown. But then the team lost some promising wrestlers to injuries. Also, because this sport with daily practices and strict weight requirements is demanding, others quit.

However, were some bright spots — such as Grover Anderson's sectional and conference championship, Jon Anderson's sectional and conference runner-up, and Lee Schwartz's and Mike Caldwell's sectional runner-up.

Freshmen Basketball

Freshmen chalk up winning season

The freshmen boys' basketball team had a good season even though Jason Potter and Aaron Finnegan moved up to varsity and j.v. respectively. With a 14-3 record, the team was led by Stacy Fields with an average 11.2 points and David Bright with 2.6 assists per game. Jarrett Manek led in rebounds and Danny Kramer in free-throw percentage with 76%. The only downfall of the season was the loss to South Ripley in the O.R.V.C. tournament.

SWHS cheerleaders show skill and enthusiasm

This year's cheerleaders had another fun and exciting year. This past summer both squads attended Ball State cheerleading camp. The varsity came in 2nd place in competition, while the junior varsity came in third. They did make it to nationals but did not attend. They received many ribbons and a trophy at camp.

Although the varsity and junior varsity were young in age, it didn't weaken their spirit. The varsity squad had five sophomores, one junior and two seniors. The JV had three freshmen and two sophomores. They had a successful year and supported their teams with much enthusiasm. The freshmen cheerleaders Stephanie Finnegan and Melanie Watkins supported their team to a winning season.

Varsity and JV

Varsity sluggers earn respectable season record

The 1989 baseball team was a team of talent as they displayed their ability against many fine opponents in the area. This year's team accomplished their goal by achieving the best record in Southwestern history. The composition of the team consisted of just three seniors, all giving essential leadership, five juniors, one sophomore, and three freshmen. Highlights of the season included: making it to the finals of the Madison Courier

Invitational and to the finals of the Madison sectional.

The junior varsity team ended its season with a disappointing 2 and 8 record. Even though their record does not say much, the team improved a great deal. And for many players, this year was a learning experience. The players on the JV squad dedicated themselves to long hours of work and should be a very good squad for the upcoming years.

The 1989 girls' softball team took a roller coaster ride this season as they had an up-and-down year.

However, despite having a young squad, the team played some very good softball. "The Lady Rebels were a team of motivation and surprises," said Coach Sue Siekman. This year the team did not have a J.V. squad to back them up, so for most girls it was a year of getting some experience. Even though the team was a young squad, they feel they will be a team to reckon with in the future.

Softball season provides experience for young players

Golfers swing through dismal season

The 1989 golf team didn't have a very successful year, but team members are looking forward to a better season next year.

The team consisted of seniors Brian Hornsby and Lee Schwartz; juniors Mark Ellis and Nick Ellis; sophomores Jason Hall, Andy Palmer; Steve Wolf, and Shane Phillips. The boys' golf team was coached by Mr. Leon Perry.

They began their season in April and completed it with a 2-9 record. They finished 6th in the conference.

Andy Palmer received the most valuable award and low medalist honors. The most improved award was received by Steve Wolf. Brian Hornsby received scholastic award.

Volleyball

Varsity & J.V.

Varsity team young but hardworking junior varsity team a real winner

The 1988-89 girls' varsity volleyball team had a dreary season with a few highlights. The girls were hoping for a successful season but it turned out to be a rebuilding year instead. However, the reserve squad had an outstanding season.

The varsity finished at 6-22, while the J.V. squad finished at 15-4. The girls' varsity team had only three seniors and lacked experience. Next year, the girls are looking forward to a much better season.

Statistically the varsity Rebels were lead by:

Debbie Curry 94% (serving)
Amy Vaughan 84% (spiking)
Amy Vaughan 51% (kills)
Tammy Jester 90% (setting).

Meanwhile, the J.V. squad was led offensively and defensively by: Shelly Boldery, Kathy Brawner, Misty Rudolech, and Diane Weber.

Runners reap a number of successes

The 1988-89 boys' and girls' track team had many successes this year. In almost every meet, Southwestern participants placed in the top six finishes.

Sophomore Heather Eberth was conference champion, went on to sectional, and for the second consecutive year, earned the right to compete in the IH-SAA state track meet in the 300 low hurdles.

Freshman David Caine went on sectional in the 1600 meter run, and the 400 relay team of Mike Craddock, J.J. Ireland, Kettig Moore, and Kevin Davis also competed in sectional.

Underclassmen must be the biggest nuisance in high school according to seniors. But who makes up the majority of high school? Underclassmen who work hard to become seniors. Freshmen, sophomores, and juniors are all unique and different, but they also work together and help each other out.

Juniors work at studies. Sports and prom plans

The class of '90 once again had a great year academically and socially. There are 11 juniors in the National Honor Society and six juniors on the Student Council. The juniors placed third in Spirit Week with the theme "Rebel Family" - a theme inspired by the television show "The Adams Family."

During the 1988-89 school year the juniors worked hard to raise money. The magazine sale raised nearly $5000. Also they worked the concession stands during the games selling popcorn, cokes, and candy.

Junior High

F irst experience of freedom. Newness of a school that is different from elementary. Trying to be popular. Looking to high school.

Junior high is the first taste of freedom for many kids. Junior high students are taught responsibilities to be used in the future. They always remain enthusiastic whether participating in their favorite sport or striving for academic excellence. And by the time they get used to having control, it is time to move on to high school and start all over again.

Study Habits!

"Eighth grade is different from seventh grade because there is more homework. The homework is also harder."
