

THIS TIME

Let us take you on a journey through THIS TIME at Southwestern High School. The 1994-95 school year will forever be recognized as one filled with unforgettable memories shared by unique individuals. THIS TIME we were determined to make a difference and through countless hours of study and practice, we accomplished many feats. Yet, they tell us that history repeats itself; that this is proven as faces of new students replace those who have ventured afar. However, THIS TIME we did not fall into the groove. Throughout this yearbook, we have tried to emphasize how much THIS TIME meant to us and no matter how great the desire, we will never have THIS TIME again. We made the best of our time, and THIS TIME, we hope you are convinced.

SENIORS

This time was different than any other time for the class of '95. The Seniors this year dared to make a difference, and that is exactly what they did.

From the start of their final year seeing was believing as the members of the class concentrated their efforts on proving this point. As part of the hectic Spirit Week competition, the Seniors pulled together to collect canned goods for the needy. Their sincere dedication was evident while carrying grocery bags from door to door collecting cans and desperately trying to get donations every day in order to expand their seemingly endless supply. Cans poured into the school from every direction and when all were counted, it was unmistakably the Senior class who exhibited the most energy and were victorious with an astounding 2,643 cans. The Seniors were convincing in expressing leadership in a variety of areas. An example is in varsity sports, for it was Seniors who led most of the athletic teams in skill, technique and, most importantly, good mental attitude. In addition, their academics are definitely not to be overlooked. Even the establishment of the school's first "Peer Helpers" program is attributed to some of the Seniors. The determination and hard work of at least ninety-three deserving students will pay off on May 29 at graduation. It has been a long twelve years and yet, in so many ways, it has not been that long at all. As a class, they have experienced the ups and downs. They have laughed together, cried together, and grown together. Memories have been created and shared here at Southwestern High School and each member of the class of '95 will take a few of those memories with him into the future which he has been so anxiously awaiting.

Michelle Anderson, Jennie Hartung and Amber Leland display some of the many cans the Seniors collected during Spirit Week.

Josh Litter (center) finds it hard to hold back his excitement during this year's Spirit Week celebration. Clockwise from top left: Jennifer Head, Ryan Mundt and Angie Weber are relieved to have a seat after the Homecoming festivities. Jason Murphy gets psyched up before another big tennis match. Amy Maricle helps out with the Student Council's food baskets this year. Tara Rosario, Raina Brown and Kathy Morgan cheer on the Senior class during Spirit Week. Eric Burns, Donnie Marshall and Rockco Burns, not only show senior spirit but also help get the basketball team psyched up for the big game. Jason Purvis plans to scare the opposing team while Ryan Mundt plays it cool. Cindy Taylor and Rosie Uebel cheer as a classmate uses "sign language." Thanks to Jason Spray, Joe Stein and Stan Edwards, the seniors had "cheerleaders" this year during Spirit Week. Joe Stein is just full of smiles (But then what did you expect? He's a senior!). Gina Center and Rebecca Cheatham are caught goofing off in Economics class. Jason Purvis cracks a joke under his breath as he sits with Lisa Bowman after homecoming. Rockco Burns and Bliss Barrett enjoy the honor of being crowned homecoming king and queen.

SENIORS Spirit Week

This year was very special for the class of '95. Being as it was the last year for them to celebrate Spirit Week, the seniors decided to give it their all. They showed more spirit than ever before and pulled together to work as a team. Stan Edwards and Mike Norris exhibit their Rebel pride during this year's Spirit Week activities. Greg Ritchie (right) shows spirit with intensity while at the same time, amusing Jason Murphy with his crazed expression.

SENIORS In Class

The seniors have worked hard to make it to this point. It seemed like a never-ending road to some of them and, to others, the road has just begun. Along the way, though, it has been necessary to take a few breaks. (Right) Robert Morrison takes it easy during English class. And after working hard as a member of the newspaper staff, Casey Clay (left) pauses to take a breath before leaving class.

Susan Oresik is hard at work as Mr. Coghill's student aide this year. She doesn't seem to be having a whole lot of fun in the copy room, does she?

 SENIOR  Thoughts

Jason Purvis sports his many athletic victories on the back of his jacket.

Agonies

When seniors were asked what they felt was their biggest "agonies" throughout the years, here's how some of them replied.

Kelly Morgan - "Physics." (What's that?)

Amy Maricle - "Sad children."

Susan Oresik - "My brother leaving for the army."

Corey Pelsor - "Longwinded, loudmouthed, obnoxious, rude, arrogant, self-centered people who continually make pointless comments to absolutely nobody in particular."

Tina Shelton - "Not getting out of here a year earlier."

Donald Sommer - "The last day of an eighty hour week."

Carrie Spurgeon - "People who live for others instead of for themselves."

Raina Brown - "Getting up early."

Eric Burns - "Being up 5-1 in the 3rd set of a tennis match and then losing 7-6."

Sommer Cole - "Not being able to tell people what you think about them."

Jennifer Head - "Getting to school on time."

Derrick Phillips - "Missing my target and having flat tires all the time."

Eric White takes time out to smile as Raina Brown finishes her art project.

Senior girls, Dawn Hall, Paula Page, Susan Oresik and Jessica Morris show us their shirts. Is Susan trying to immitate the guy on the back of the shirt or what?

Thrills

The class of '95 has experienced a number of exciting times over the years. A few seniors let us know what their biggest "thrills" were.

Tommy Noel - "Finishing my Malibu."

Lisa Bowman - "E@W!E — 'Tax'"

Chad Owens - "Life (also labled as an agony)—such is the great paradox."

Bryla Hamilton - "Making fantasy a reality, accepting a challenge, and taking a risk."

Josh Liter - "Hitting my first home run and getting my car."

Tricia Phillips - "Fall break, winter break, and spring break."

Jason Spray - "Being chosen for Boys' State."

Bliss Barrett - "Shopping at Big Lots."

Angela Belsky-Vaughan - "Hiking in Clifty Creek after a big storm."

Andy Webster - "After prom parties."

Jennie Hartung - "Passing Government and Economics."

Joe Stein - "Making lots of money!"

Dawn Hall - "Graduating from this place!"

Bryla Hamilton smiles with buddy Ryan Mundt who sends "peace" to all.

Ryan Schirmer, notorious for goofing off, is caught in the library.

School has obviously had a strange and frightening effect on Jennifer Head.

Ryan Spann, amazingly, seems to be excited about going to class.

Ryan Mundt prepares for another tennis match and hopes to play well enough to "kick some aces!"

Memories of the

The memories we have built here will last a lifetime. Through the smiles, the tears, and the laughs we have only grown closer. Whether we meant to or not, all of us have touched each other's lives in one way or another. As a class, we are ending the last chapter but as individuals we are only just beginning.

"Peer Helpers" include Paula Page, Mrs. Sandra Everitt, Lisa Bowman, Heather Pelsor, Robin Eberth and Amy Maricle.

Amy Maricle tries to convince herself that she's looking forward to class today.

Sommer Johnson and Tina Shelton prepare for this year's Spirit Week pep session.

Some are wondering if Jennie Hartung and Michelle Anderson should join the circus.

Is this Corey Peltor (left) or the main character from the hit movie 'The Crow'?

Bryla Hamilton (below) is busy making last minute corrections in order to meet the next yearbook deadline.

Tina Shelton (directly above) is wondering if it is her turn to cheer for her class during this year's Spirit Week activities.

Lori Marie Turner

We remember the spirit in your eyes, we recall how you left the world behind, how the wind ever so quietly, carried you away. Yet, we do not walk without you, for you are part of us. So, in our hearts, we all know that this year is not only for us but for the us that will forever include you.

It is evident that Lisa Bowman and Rebecca Cheatham are very proud of their newly arrived Senior t-shirts.

STUDENT LIFE

This time we were going to have our lives under control, we were going to juggle school, sports, work, family, friends, and relationships and come out sane. This time we were going to plan, pace, and NOT procrastinate. From the moment we entered the doors we were greeted with an air of anticipation and familiarity--How was your job, Who are you dating now, Are you in my class? Geeze! These lockers are even smaller than I remembered. The questions were the same, the faces were the same, and the building was the same, but this was our time, our year, and anything could happen. Homework, curfews, jobs, meetings, and practices shocked us into reality. We were busy from day one moving as swiftly as a second hand on a clock. Before we could blink an eye the Juniors were already into September selling magazines and Seniors were finishing last minute details for college applications. October passed very quickly with the Halloween Dance and finally Fall Break. Spirit Week flew by, and the sophomores narrowly won the Spirit Week competition. In December, students had little time for all of the homework assigned by the teachers. This stress was greatly released when Christmas break finally rolled around. The new year began with Rockco Burns and Bliss Barrett being crowned Homecoming King and Queen. Valentine's Day occupied most of February with flowers and candy. Spring Break was the highlight of March with many people heading off to exotic places and "Wish You Were Here" was this year's prom theme with Jason Cornelius and Rebecca Cheatham reigning over the prom. Coby Cloud and DeLena Escobedo were junior royalty. In May, Seniors eagerly awaited Graduation as the rest of us kept up with the fast pace.

The class of 1997 (center) beat the juniors by only one point in the Spirit Week Competition. Pictured above, showing their excitement, are (R to L) Heather Laylin, Erin Northern, Karen McCleery, Jeremy Leach, Chanelle Barlow, and Christina White. Clockwise from top left: Michael Norris isn't too old to help Brittany Weber and Lindsay Barlow dye Easter eggs in his family living class. Mr. Don Stephens excitedly helps a student with some information for classes. Senior, Charlie Hatchell observes as Joe Stein has an identity crisis and ends up at school in hippy clothes and a long, blond wig. Le Chat Botte was performed in Ms. Jeanie Portman's French III class as Kim Traylor, playing a cat, offers Rascal the Rabbit for food to feed the King, Marilyn Piche. Junior Chris Sloan had an audience while Mrs. Carol Purvis shaved his head for the swimming sectional. While most people eat during their lunch period, Joseph Jackson enjoys playing a card game in the library. Chris Huntley, Brian Phillips, Brent Young, and Rebecca Stoner show their school spirit by dressing up for the boys' basketball sectional game. Senior Donnie Marshall and sophomore Joey Kent complete a project together in the Ag room. Sophomore Kelly Wehner smiles as she delivers a message to another teacher. Sporting a student council sweatshirt, Amy Lamb passes through the hall quickly to get to class on time. Students in the library have some peace and quiet to get a few ZZZ's. Delana Miller posed as the all time best Rebel fan at a Fellowship of Christian Athlete's open gym.

Junior Miller is the last one to catch the bus for his daily ride to the Southeastern Career Center.

The beginning of the year was less scary than previous years. Being a junior, I'm getting used to the "first-day-jitters". Anymore it's like you've only been out for a day or two, you come back after the summer and you pick up exactly where you left off.

Michael and Donald Sommer, students at our high school, had their lives taken prematurely on March 17, 1995. The vehicle in which they were traveling stalled on Highway 421 and was struck from behind by a tractor trailer. Both will be sadly missed in the halls of Southwestern and forever remembered as role models by those left behind who witnessed their drug and alcohol-free lifestyles. PEOPLE

Each time we look around, there is a familiar face here and these are the people that make up the heart and spirit of Southwestern High School.

Every individual has unique qualities that makes him his own person and unlike any other student or faculty member at the school. But there are also qualities that tie us together and make us one. All the classes that have come before us have left their marks here and left memories that shall never be forgotten. The faculty has established a tradition of excellence that will continue for many years to come. These people not only work together as employees but have also formed close relationships that in some ways mirror the relationships found in a family. When Mrs. Carolyn King fell ill and needed a blood transfusion, faculty and students alike quickly volunteered to help in any way they could. Employees of the school also worked together as a team during the faculty volleyball game at the beginning of the year. The faculty are not the only ones who have gotten involved in school activities, though. Each class has managed to make this year very special and to create memories that will stay with them for years to come. The freshman class made its statement when they moved up to the high school. The sophomores pulled off a win during spirit week with the theme of "Rebel Disney." In their last year as underclassmen, the juniors discovered that fundraising is not so easy as it seems as they worked to raise enough money to finance this year's prom with the theme of "Wish You Were Here." As a whole this year has been one to remember for everybody at Southwestern. Years will come and years will go, but the memories of THIS TIME will last forever.

Mr. David Todd stops off in the teachers' work room to run some last minute copies of an algebra test.

Mr. Derrick Moyers (center) sits down for a quick picture with Sara Kindelsperger, Justin Blair, Damon Crook, Tracy Ralston, Rick Wykoff, Kendra Bruther, B.J. Clockwise from top left: Mrs. Marcia Morrill flashes a smile on the way to lunch. Junior Mandy Renschler studies hard despite junior Jason Kikta's taunting. Juniors Marilyn Piche and Jennifer Matthews hang-out in the hallway between classes. Ms. Jennifer Orrill takes the time to clarify the English assignment she's given to junior Nathan Boley. Sophomores Kelly Wehner, Brittan Eblen, Heather Eaglin, Karen McCleary, and Amanda Burress show-off their "Sophomore Spirit." Proud of the presentation he's given, sophomore Jeremy Glunt stands silently reflecting on the perfection of his work. Freshman Manuel Tovar works with a new program in computer class. Freshman Jesse Lawson is intrigued by the dissection of a clam, but freshman Melissa Cantrel is a little less enthused. Juniors Michael Goode and Aaron Vaught practice pulling teeth on their toy alligator. It took five of them, but freshmen Amber Legrand, Kelly Cole, Amanda Jackson, Tonya Smith, and Mandi Tingle found what they were looking for. Sophomore Jason Smith has been immobilized by the cold as he watches the tennis match. Office aide Sophomore Jessica Boldery tries to hide her excitement as she files the last of the forms.

Since the moment the class of 1997 entered the first grade, they knew they were destined for greatness. Now that they are sophomores, they are finally beginning to experience that greatness. This group of students works together as a team. That was apparent when they swept Spirit Week competition this year. They tied with the juniors to win hall decorations; won dress-up day, banner competition, and then won the over-all category. Things are changing for the class of '97. Finally, after sixteen years of waiting, many students have gotten their licenses. They are getting cars, jobs, and many other responsibilities. The sophomore class is beginning to form themselves into a unified group of people who see what they want and go after it. However, if they were asked what they wanted right now, most of them would say that they wish for the end of a long school year and the start of an even longer summer.

Josh Purvis, trying his best to look sinister, painted his face to show support for the basketball teams.

SPORTS

This year was a time for running, jumping, spiking, hitting, shooting, pinning, cheering and, most of all, WINNING in Southwestern athletics. Each team started their season with victory in mind. Boys' tennis "Kicked Some Aces" and ended their season ranked 20th in the state. They also went undefeated - well, almost. The JV and Varsity volleyball teams had a good season as well. Although their records do not really show it, they improved significantly throughout the year and played well against some really tough teams. The boys' and girls' cross-country teams were off and running as soon as school started. Both teams were unusually small this year. In fact, the boys' team consisted of only two runners but they were able to pull off a great season as were the girls. The Lady Rebel swimmers had an excellent season this year. They placed well in every meet in which they participated. And if any team worked hard this year, this swimming team is one of them. Their work paid off, though, when they broke record after record this year. Winter sports this year were a whirlwind of success. The Varsity basketball team ended with a winning record but not because they were just lucky. These guys worked hard day and night in order to be successful and it paid off. The JV team improved game after game, practice after practice and ended up winning the New Washington JV tourney for the third year in a row. The freshman basketball team improved from last year, winning eight games this year out of the 18 they played. The Lady Rebels basketball teams put forth great efforts this year, but they were both young teams and very inexperienced. The year was successful in their eyes though, because they worked together and helped each other improve throughout the year. The basketball teams could not have been successful without the help of all the cheerleading squads. These girls' cheered until they couldn't see straight trying to help out the basketball teams. Wrestling had a good season this year with some team members advancing to regionals. The baseball and softball teams had a pretty rough year. The softball team didn't even have a JV, and baseball just barely pulled one together. The Varsity teams both had good years, though. Track had people advancing to regionals after a very successful season and the golf team worked hard to pull off a good season. They were a young team and like the girls' tennis team had a lot of work to do. Girls' tennis, although they did not have a winning record, won more games this year than ever before. So, in conclusion, Southwestern teams exhibited effort, motivation, and, most importantly, team work.

Some of the students at the boys' sectional (center) find it very easy to support the Rebels by wearing red, white, and blue and cheering their team to victory. Clockwise from top left: The girls' cross country team is at the line awaiting the signal to begin their race. Some varsity volleyball players pause from their warm-ups to pose for a picture. Swimmer Bryla Hamilton, looks right at home in the water. Cheerleaders Kelli Ray and Michelle Childress are doing what they do best as they get the crowd to cheer along. Trevor Crafton is working hard to make his mark the farthest in the long jump competition. The girls' varsity basketball team displays their enthusiasm at the spirit week pep session. Swimmer Chris Sloan shows his leadership as he calls down the rest of his team from the stands at the pep session. Sophomore David Hallgarth takes a short time-out to rest against the fence and get ready to challenge another opponent in tennis. Varsity player Kandlice Box takes another swing at the softball. Jason Renschler calls an inbound play to his Varsity basketball teammates. Jeremy Leach attempts another strikeout during a Varsity baseball game. Wrestler Jason Spray gets caught taking a break during a meet.

BUMP, SET, SPIKE!

The crowd begins to chant as the Lady Rebels Volleyball team takes the floor on the evening of the Columbus North game. Both the players and the fans were pumped and excited and ready for some action. Even though this particular game went down as a loss, for team effort, it was a definite victory. Overall the girls' varsity had 6 wins and 18 losses, while the JV had 9 wins and 9 losses. The varsity team had several key players and among them were Michelle Beitzel, Camille Andrew, and Tabatha Rudolech. When asked about their season, Coach Brenda Platt had this to say, "I felt we had a successful season because of the team's dedication and hard work during each practice and game. It was an enjoyable season." The JV girls had a rocky start, but as the season went on, the team began to pull together. Coach Shelley Boldery and the members of the team were pleased with their overall performance. Sophomore Kristen Howell said, "The team had an average year and all the girls played to the best of their ability."

LAND ROVERS

Cross-country teams

This year's boys' cross-country team had less participation than the year before, yet the team of two worked hard with what they had. The girls, however, had a full team and two runners to spare, making a total of eight girl runners. The cross country teams practiced everyday after school on two, three, or even the killer four-mile courses. At the beginning of the season, runners also attended practices before school, working on the track and doing short 1 and 1/2 or two mile courses. Even in rough weather conditions, such as running through the country in the rain, the cold, and the merciless wind, the teams practiced with diligence. Sometimes individuals could be seen training on their own away from school. The members of the teams worked hard, and in return, they had a good season. The girls' team will be in good shape next year as they are only losing one runner. Hopefully, the boys will have more participants so both teams can take control of the season upcoming.

REBEL TENNIS

Ranked 20th in the state!

It was an outstanding year for the Southwestern boys tennis team. Before the Sectional at Greensburg the Rebels were ranked 20th in the state. They may have been defeated that day, but not without a fight. They lost 4-1 to 17th ranked Greensburg. The only point came from sophomore David Hallgarth at #2 singles. The Rebels set many records throughout the year. Those records include: most sweeps in a season (12), best final season record (14-2) and a longest winning streak of thirteen straight. It was an exceptional year for the team, thanks to both players and Coach Danny Burns.

Junior Matt Eggenpiller shows his technique for a forehand volley. Matt played exhibition doubles and had a successful season.

Senior Ryan Mundt rips a forehand with his red, warped racket. Mundt played #1 Doubles and his overall record was (13-2).

Girls' Swimming

Top: Rebel swimmers demonstrate a perfect form of diving.

Girls' swim team successful

The clock was running out as the Rebel swimmer and the opposing swimmer swam the 400m relay. The opposing swimmer was in front of our last girl, and the score was locked in a dead tie. But that's what swimming is all about. The Southwestern girls swim team had a good season this year with an almost even record to prove it. Next year's team will be missing five very talented seniors, but they are definitely adding upcoming freshmen and, hopefully, more upperclassmen. However, there will be two returning record breakers, Stephanie Wildman and Carol Risk. Coach Shelly Anderson said she is looking forward to next year even though it will most likely be a rebuilding year with such a young team. Overall, this year's group did well by breaking every record but the 500m freestyle and the 100m butterfly. Each member should be very proud of the season she had.

Team members include: Row 1, Carol Risk, Amber Walker, Casey Wilson. Row 2, Jessica Cole, Angela Belsky-Vaughan, Jenny Hartung, Ira Smith, Bryla Hamilton, Amy Adams, Stephanie Wildman. Row 3, Assistant coach Wendy Martin, manager Mike Logsdon, Amber Kleopfer, Delena Miller, Kandice Box, Jenny Hall, Megan Palmer, Jody Deaton, Brandy Box, manager Chris Sloan, head coach Shelly Anderson.

Blocking out under the basket is no problem for freshman Andy Firth as he prepares for a missed shot.

Leading the team in three-point shooting, senior Greg Ritchie lets loose with another "trey."

"Big Man" senior Corey Pelsor towers above the opponent as the crowd hopes that he'll jam it again.

Sophomore Josh Purvis knows exactly where he is going...straight to the basket!

Senior Ryan Mundt ended his final season with an outstanding field-goal percentage of 72%, and led the state of Indiana.

Junior Jason Renschler shows off his "hops" and lays up another one as senior Ryan Mundt, having an average of ten rebounds a game, looks to pull down another one.

Senior Jason Purvis pulls up strong for another two points which helped to boost his scoring average to a team leading 14.8 points per game.

Yet another winning season for REBEL BASKETBALL

Although it wasn't easy and there were ups and downs, the Varsity Basketball team unexpectedly pulled out a winning season (11-10) and as Coach Ty Platt said, "The team grew as players and as people." There was no problem seeing the leadership with four senior members, Jason Purvis,

Ryan Mundt, Greg Ritchie, and Corey Pelsor. Along with the seniors showing excellent leadership, the underclassmen improved a lot and played a large role in the team's season. The team showed good shooting from the field as well as from the charity stripe, and placed four members among the Top 20 scorers in the Courier Area. Coach said, "This team has beaten some good teams and did a nice job all season long. There is a lot of winning in the future of Southwestern Basketball!"

Coach Ty Platt instructs three of the sectional starters, Jason Purvis, Jason Renschler, and Ryan Mundt in the last seconds of a time-out.

Varsity Girls' Basketball ends on high note!

The crowd yells encouraging comments as the varsity basketball players pass the ball around the perimeter. There is the shot! Swish!!!! The crowd roars.

This is just one of many exciting scenes which could be seen during the 1994-95 girls' varsity basketball season. Although the record (6-14) does not completely show it, the girls had a fairly good season, and their coach and fans had total faith in them.

When asked about the season, Coach Laura McDonald commented, "I think it was demanding. I only had eight players, but I had complete confidence in the eight I had. I asked for 100%, and they gave me 110% of what they had."

JV SEASON ENDS ON HIGH NOTE

Rebels capture New Washington Tourney for second straight year

Overall, the season had many ups and downs. The boys' junior varsity basketball team finished the season with an (8-12) record. The Rebels did face a tough schedule though and that will only help down the road. Some of the losses came against strong teams like Jeffersonville, South Ripley, and Jennings County. The Rebels also picked up some big wins over teams like Switzerland County, Jac-Cen-Del. Also, they won the New Washington tournament for the second straight year.

Girls' Junior Varsity Basketball

Successful season!!!

"Defense!" yelled the crowd as the young Lady Rebels raced to the opposite end of the floor to protect the other goal from the offensive plays of their opponents. Suddenly, the players were racing toward the Rebels' end of the floor. One of the girls had stolen the ball and was leading the pack to the goal. With a smooth lay up, the crowd went wild.

The Junior Varsity girls' basketball team consistently played hard throughout the year. Coach Gary Hornsby led the girls to a finishing record of 10-8. The season was exciting and rewarding for both the players and the fans.

Brian Stites is anxiously awaiting a rebound during one of their games this season.

Freshman Basketball & Cheerleading

Although the freshman boys' basketball team did not have a winning record this year, it was a very productive year for the team. When the team lost three of the starters from their eighth grade year, they were prepared for the worst. Fortunately, the freshman players pulled together to make this year one of their best ever. They played really well against teams that were supposed to blow them away. This says a lot for the hard work and dedication of the team. Overall the boys won more games this year than they were expected to win. The freshmen ended their season with an 8-10 record. The freshman girls cheerleading squad really did an excellent job of cheering on the freshman boys basketball team this year. The freshman boys really appreciated the support of the cheerleading squad. They have a way of getting the fans cheering in the close and competitive games. The cheerleaders showed a positive attitude even though the freshman boys record wasn't as good as they had hoped.

Cheerleading

Junior Varsity & Varsity

Although this year's cheerleading squads were without a senior member, there was no absence of leadership in the group. Actually, leadership was quite apparent in both the varsity and the junior varsity squads this year. Michelle Childress and Jenny Melton were named co-captains of the varsity squad. Jenny, who has been a cheerleader all through high-school, commented that, "We pulled together and by the end of the year we had all become close friends." This year the cheerleaders had the chance to travel to a U of L cheerleading clinic and perform during the halftime show of a varsity football game. The captain of the JV squad this year was Kristie Turner. The JV squad improved a great deal during the course of the year and earned a great deal of respect from the varsity squad. Junior Mandy Renschler pointed out that, "Although they lost one cheerleader at the beginning of the season, they worked really hard to improve and do their best."

BOYS' SWIMMING

Breaking records!!!!

The boys' high school swim team had only six swimmers for the 1995 swim season. The swimmers had 2 wins. Aside from the small number of boys, they still had some positive outcomes. They broke many school records, established individual best times, and improved their stroke techniques as well. Chris Sloan was the only swimmer this season to make it to the Sectional Finals, but he was defeated. Hopefully, next year more boys will advance to the finals.

Wrestling team has some great performances!

The Southwestern wrestling team had a very good season in the weight classes in which they participated. One thing that hurt the wrestling team was that they couldn't fill all weight classes and the team lost points for that. There were some great individual performances. Junior Russ Hensley advanced to the regionals. The wrestling team worked hard through the year and improved drastically. If more people participate in the wrestling program things look promising for next year. Hats off to coach Grover Anderson & team for a job well done!

Varsity Track

Susanna Childress (above) takes a flying leap for what she hopes is a winning distance while Russ Hensley prepares to relieve Stan Edwards of the heavy weight of that baton.

Track Teams off and Running!

Both the girls' and the boys' track teams had very good seasons this year. Like most other Southwestern athletic teams they worked hard and practiced long to make a good impression this year. And the track teams did just that! With the help of coaches and managers these runners, jumpers and throwers accomplished the goals they set out to achieve. The girls' came out of the season with an exceptional record while the boys' finished the year with exceptional sportsmanship. Although these guys did not have a wonderful record when it came to wins and losses, they had a wonderful record of hard work, discipline and team work. And as the girls' will tell them, that is what it takes to win.

Track team members Tamara Dearing, Tonia Bruther, Amy Gassert, Sara Kindelsperger, Cara Garvey and Kharon Grimmert relax on the high jump mat.

Girls' tennis has its best season ever

The Southwestern girls' tennis team showed remarkable improvement this year and finished their season (-) which bettered last year's record of (3-12). Experienced players and tough practices led to the gained success. The season highlights included the girls' tennis programs first ever 5-0 sweep over South Dearborn and a sweep over New Washington. They also picked up a big win against Shawe and Milan. The season came to an end in the Greensburg sectional semifinals when they were beaten by 19th ranked Greensburg 5-0. Overall it was a great year for the girls' tennis team and a big step in the right direction for the future of the program.

Senior Rebecca Cheatham is getting ready to hit another ace! Rebecca played #2 singles.

Sophomore David Hallgarth lines up a tricky putt while Eric Burns and Brian Phillips strive for perfection.

BOYS' GOLF

Swinging away!

The boys' golf team lost four starters from a year ago. This year was a rebuilding year with only three players returning from last year's team and of the three only two had varsity experience. The team finished the season not exactly the way they planned, but it was a year for learning and rebuilding. The team as a whole placed 12th in the Madison sectional. Highlights of the year included a big win over Switzerland County in which they shot their best meet score, 189, of the year. The golf team also had big wins over Jac-Cen-Del, and New Washington. Over the season the golf team showed nothing but improvement. Things look bright for the golf team next year as they will only lose one senior.

Coach Perry quietly observes sophomore Brian Phillips's putting stroke.

Varsity Baseball

At the Bat!

It was an up and down season for the Southwestern baseball team. They started the season in good fashion winning their first 5 of 7 games, but then they proceeded to drop several. Overall, the team saw many improvements from each individual player. Wherever there was a hole to be filled, somebody from the team was there to fill it. In the sectional they drew Scottsburg in the first round and defeated them in a very exciting game in which every player was pleased with his performance. In the semi-final game, the Rebels took on their biggest rivals, the Cubs. The galliant Rebels defeat was graceful, but that did not make it any easier to accept. Still, the team felt it had finished with a satisfactory record.

Senior Rockco Burns seems to be really happy about something, maybe because he is next up at the plate!

Coach Doc Boyd looks over his team as they warm up!

Senior Josh Liler shows off his swing techniques.

Varsity Softball

It's a Grand-slam year!

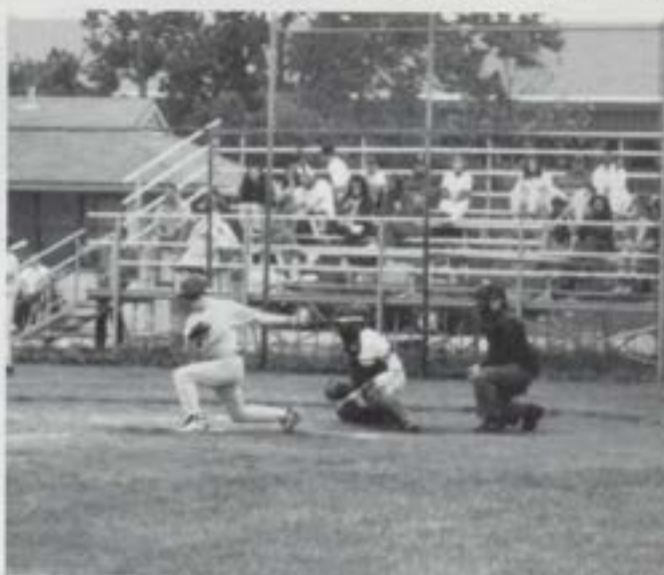

The varsity softball team had an overall record of 7-9. They started out the season with a very convincing win over a very good Scottsburg Warriorette team. They defeated the Scottsburg Warriorettes with a score of 11-7. The year has been a very productive one, even though they had a very young team.

Junior Varsity Baseball

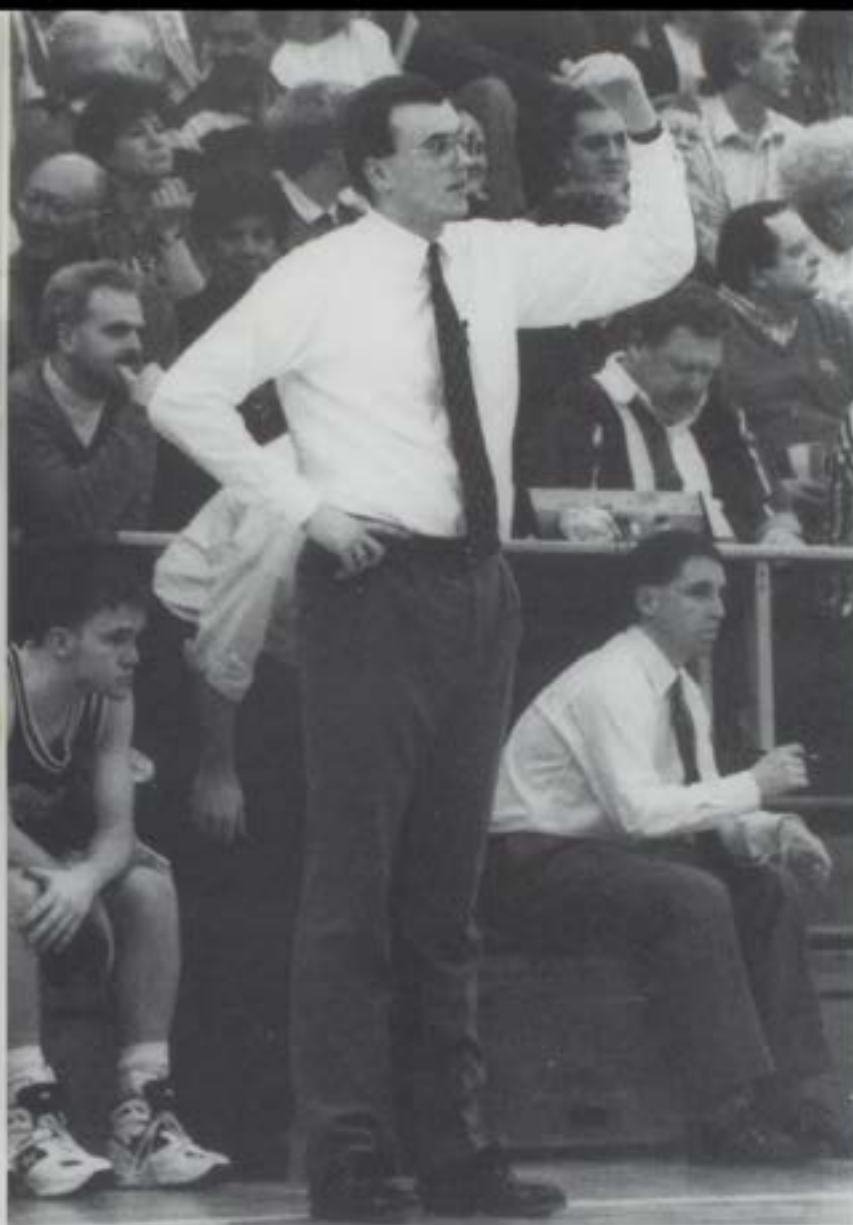

Glancing back and looking ahead!

The Junior Varsity baseball team started out pretty rough this year. At the beginning of the year, it seemed fairly doubtful that there would even be a team because a coach was no where to be found. Finally, after the season was already underway, Mike Page generously stepped forward to help out with the team. They ended the season with a record of 2-5 and the two games they won were under the guidance of Mr. Page. All the players seemed very pleased with their new coach and pleased with how they ended the season.

Clockwise: Basketball coach Ty Platt directs the Varsity team during the sectional game with his assistant Tim Brawner. Volleyball coaches Shelly Boldery and Brenda Platt rest for a few minutes before starting another vigorous practice. Swim coaches Wendy Martin and Shelly Anderson huddle after being thrown in the pool.

Thank You, Coaches!

"Thirty more minutes of practice. Run, run, run! Good job, people." These phrases sound very familiar to many students at Southwestern. This is what a lot of student athletes hear every day from their coaches. As a matter of fact, without these encouraging statements and instruction from coaches Southwestern's sports would get nowhere. As an honor to these men and women we would like to dedicate this page to them for their hard work and sincere effort in making this year's sports fun for the participants and successful. Hats off to the coaches!

Mr. Leon Perry, coach of the golf team, observes Brian Phillips's putting technique.

JR. HIGH

For the Junior High, this time was definitely special. Together they made it through another school year, creating more memories to carry with them throughout high school. The start of this year brought many changes for the students in the seventh and eighth grades. For the class of 2000, it was a new beginning in a new building, and for the eighth grade, it meant more responsibility and hard work. They knew that soon they would be freshmen, starting over at the bottom, so they needed to leave a mark while at the top. Junior High sports were also very different from the sports they played in elementary. It was perhaps the first time that many of the participants played teams from other schools. That was definitely a new experience! The seventh grade had to adjust to a completely new environment with lockers and switching classes. They also ventured out to the zoo in science class. Both the seventh and eighth grades were involved in the school's very first advisor/advisee program which was coordinated by Mrs. Wilson. The eighth grade made big steps this year also. They attended the Career Day, and the enriched classes traveled all the way to Washington D.C. for a history lesson. They also put together a very successful eighth grade dance and had a ton of fun. Many of the eighth grade began looking forward to the big step over to the high school while the seventh grade prepared to rule the junior high. They were, as a whole, full of anticipation and excitement. The hopes they had at the beginning of the year to make this year a great one were fulfilled in many of their eyes. This time was memorable and, without a doubt, it will be treasured by the classes of 1999 and 2000.

New School, New Rules

Every one of us can recall with little effort our first day of junior high; getting to stay on the bus with the "big" kids, walking through the high school, having the option of choosing classes, a locker, and all the responsibilities of being where you are required to be on time. Basically, it is a whole new world in which a young person may feel lost and confused. But, there are always friendly faces waiting to help behind every desk and door and even though the teachers may seem much more strict and stern than in elementary, they really understand what a major transition these kids are going through and they would do anything to help these students out. This transition may at times seem overwhelming, like having trouble opening his locker, or trying to find a room in the high school. Eventually, the students find their ways around the school with no trouble. There is also a special bond that is formed among the classmates as they help each other through these stressful events, and that closeness will strengthen with time.

Keith Brooks says:

Q. What are some of the differences you and your classmates have noticed between elementary and Junior High?

A. You have a lot more freedom and you have a lot more fun.

The Wonderful World of Sports

The class of 2000 was able to participate in several sports this year. They included boys' and girls' basketball, volleyball, track, wrestling, swimming, and cross country. Even if their season did not reflect it, each member of every sport was a dedicated team player and not afraid to work hard. So no matter what the win-loss records were, the participants were all winners. Throughout the year, each grew individually in his or her specific area of athletics and excelled to the height of his or her performance. With all of the hard work, they were bound to have ups and downs, but when asked, most would say that they had a fun and successful season.

The End

Although we say the end of time, in reality, it is just the beginning because all of the students leaving and those who remain can only grow and prosper in coming years. During THIS TIME we accomplished many victories and suffered many defeats, but through it all we gained knowledge and strength in those areas which are important in establishing our individual niche in society. THIS TIME we feel positive that we have provided the students at Southwestern with the qualities necessary to achieve all of their goals and become whatever they desire. Our goal as the yearbook staff was to prove how THIS TIME was different than any other. We can only hope that throughout this yearbook, we have portrayed how much THIS TIME meant to us and all of the hard work and effort that was put in to making THIS TIME a success. So, from the staff of the 1994-1995 Rebian, we wish you Good Luck in the future and we ask you never to forget the memories of THIS TIME, our time.
