Why Don't Things
Get Easier As The
End Gets Closer

Class of 2004

Stay the Same

As time has changed and seasons have passed
We've developed a bond that will forever last.

As we say goodbye in this our final year
We try to hold back those overpowering tears.

We remember those times that seem so long ago
As we grow up together through highs and lows.

We knew this day would eventually be here
But had no idea of its overwhelming fear.

The years have flown by but the memories remain
These faces and names will always stay the same.

So as you go out into this world unknown
Always remember there's no place like home.

GRADUATION

Delbert O. King Gymnasium

Graduations can be bittersweet,
Reminding us of all that's come and gone;
All our battles, whether lost or won,
Days of bliss, and days we would delete.
Underneath our pride there is the sense,
Almost like a wound, of something past,
The beauty of a time that cannot last,
In which we shared the joys of innocence.
Open vistas lie before our eyes;
Now is the time for hopes and for goodbyes.

You're a special and beautiful girl. You have brought us much joy. Congratulations on your accomplishments. We know you'll go far. Good Luck!!

We love you,
Mom, Dad, Justin, and Ryan

Amunda,

You have grown from a little girl with big dreams to a young woman who is making her dreams come true. May your dreams always be within your reach.

Love,
Mom & Dad

Jennifer,

I want you to know how very proud I am of you and what you've accomplished as you walk across that stage. Remember I will always be there for you. Congratulations! I Love You,

Mom

Bernadine,

We are so proud of the young woman you've become. Always be true to yourself. We love you so much. Good luck with your future plans. We'll always be here for you.

Love, Dad, Mom, & Stacie

Alina,

We remember well that cold December 2nd in 1985 when you were born, and that day this picture was taken. You are our sunshine. We are proud of you!

We Love You,
Dad, Mom, and Tracie

Look at our little "Tiddler tot" all grown up. We are very proud of you for what you've accomplished. "Great Job!" We wish you the best of everything "forever and always."

We Love You,
Mom & Dad

Tami,

Your determination, strength, and hard work has taken you this far and will continue to take you to new heights, personally and professionally. Always know how truly proud we are of you!

Love Your Family

Shantina,

Your dad, your brothers, and I are very proud of you. You are a very special girl and we love you very much. May God always bless you.

Mom

•Whitney•

Our beautiful little girl has now become a beautiful young lady. We are so proud of you and your accomplishments. May the Lord continue to richly bless your life!

Good-Bye Seniors

Seniors - We close this chapter of our lives, not to forget it, but to move on and carry our memories close to us. To remember the experiences that we learned from, which made us grow and mature. To be thankful for all the good times and even for the bad times which helped mold and shape us into what we are today.

As we embark on the future, may we do it with pride and with our heads held high. May each and every one of us strive to meet our goals and live a life full of happiness and success, for nothing is impossible. - Good Luck Class of 2004.

LAP AFTER LAP, THE SWIMMERS CONTINUED TO BE A WAVE OF ENERGY AND DEDICATION.

LIKE A SCHOOL OF FISH.

The swim team gathers together before the meet at Milan.

making a Splash

With tons of adrenaline rushing through their bodies, they step up to the blocks. Not only do they have hopes of beating their opponents, but also of improving their previous times. As they stand on the blocks getting ready for the signal to take their marks, it hits them that there is no turning back - they are fully committed to an all-out, body-aching sprint. After diving into the water and swimming as fast as they possibly can, they end the race by touching the wall. Their battle in the water may have ended, but the struggle of pulling their exhausted bodies out of the water has just begun. Their arms and legs are weak from such strenuous effort and it takes every last ounce of strength to get out of the pool.

With Sincere Appreciation

A special thanks to Natasha Brown and Whitney Dews. Their hard work and dedication is greatly appreciated. The success of this publication is due in large part to them. The long hours spent by them editing and finalizing the work has truly been impressive.

...the most common form of elder abuse is financial abuse, which involves the misuse of an elderly person's assets. This can include the theft of money, the unauthorized use of credit cards, or the manipulation of wills and trusts. Financial abuse is often perpetrated by family members, particularly adult children, and can have devastating consequences for the victim. In addition to financial abuse, other common forms of elder abuse include physical abuse, neglect, and emotional abuse. Physical abuse involves the use of force or coercion to cause harm or discomfort to the elderly person. Neglect occurs when a caregiver fails to provide the necessary care and attention to the elderly person, leading to physical or emotional harm. Emotional abuse involves the use of psychological tactics to cause distress, such as isolation, humiliation, and threats. The prevalence of elder abuse is a significant public health concern, and it is essential to identify and address these issues to protect the well-being of the elderly population.

Prevalence of Elder Abuse

...the prevalence of elder abuse is a significant public health concern, and it is essential to identify and address these issues to protect the well-being of the elderly population. The prevalence of elder abuse varies significantly across different countries and cultures, reflecting differences in social norms, family structures, and legal systems. In general, the prevalence of elder abuse is higher in countries with higher rates of aging and lower levels of social support for the elderly. For example, studies in the United States and Europe have found that the prevalence of elder abuse ranges from approximately 10% to 20%. In contrast, studies in countries with lower rates of aging and higher levels of social support, such as Japan and South Korea, have found lower rates of elder abuse. The prevalence of elder abuse is also higher in countries with higher levels of income inequality and lower levels of social safety nets. These findings highlight the need for targeted interventions to address the social and cultural factors that contribute to the prevalence of elder abuse.
