

HILLTOPPER

VOLUME 25
SHAWE MEMORIAL
HIGH SCHOOL

Challenges, challenges, Bobby Jo and Ralph (above) and Tracy (below) wonder what makes them accept the challenge of heading up the stairs each morning.

What makes a person accept the difficult challenge of gathering up the scattered pieces of a puzzle and attempting to make them one? What makes him endure the frustrations of pieces falling through his fingers, getting jammed together where they do not belong, of running short of money and having to do without, or of attempting to complete the impossible task? The Hilltopper '79 recognizes this as the indescribable spirit that makes us think we can do the impossible. In some, this spirit glows brightly for all to see and from which other fires are kindled; in others, it is hidden away where only a few can see; and in others, it barely keeps a flame. As long as this Topper spirit exists, the attempt WILL be made; the puzzle WILL be completed. The Hilltopper '79 recaptures the more prominent attempts as each piece finds its place, and we become one.

A puzzle remains a puzzle until it is put together. The students, the faculty, the parents, and the patrons, are the pieces which constitute Shawe. Some pieces are more prominent than others, yet each is necessary for the whole. A few set the challenge which many accept and excel, while some allow others to find their places for them. Still, others support and encourage as they watch the individual pieces become the whole. As each realizes his unique contribution to the whole, he is ready for the attempt.

Well Sandy? Sorry Kenny, it won't work!

THE ATTEMPT

SPORTS 34

The pieces remain separate until the individuals take the initiative to attempt to complete the puzzle. Failing to fit the pieces together one way, one must learn from his mistakes and try the pieces in another manner.

In order to find the right pattern, one must be constantly seeking, anxiously probing, and preparing for when the puzzle is taken apart. To make the attempt, one must be willing to make sacrifices, to take the good with the bad, and to realize his own potentials and limitations. When this is done, the whole is achieved.

Monica attempts to get some votes.

Barb stirs up some spirit; Fr. Doyle attempts to impress us.

Maura is still aglow from senior retreat.

Sissy and Troy really get into painting the Fine Arts room.

The results of the attempt are seen in the whole. Once the right combination is found, the puzzle cannot be merely set aside. The bond must be strengthened; as one goal is reached, another must be set.

I REMEMBER WHEN

Fads come and go. Not long ago everyone had straight hair, but curls were back and Erin, Lynn, Beth and Jane had them. At Shawe cards never go out of style. While Suzette planned her strategy, Ron sought advice. Dancing, especially disco, was popular this year. While Maura and Stu enjoyed dancing together, Nan and Barbara enjoyed it solo. On Valentine's Day hearts painted on faces made visible what had been buried.

Although everybody loved a tan, nobody liked the heat. While Erin wore a tube top and sun visor for her duration of the heat, the freshmen tried a new approach, skinny-dipping in the snow.

Rose Mary and Marilyn modeled the fashions of the day while partaking in everyone's favorite pasttime, EATING. Son Senior Night at King's Island Jane, Sharon, Steve, and Leslie prepared themselves for the big splash on the log ride.

Mr. Jim Bishop has the official titles of principal and student counselor, but to the students of Shawe, Mr. Bishop is the body behind THE VOICE. The voice tells us it is: time to start the day, time to eat lunch, and most importantly, time to GO HOME! The voice brightens up the day with silly poems. The voice corrects us if we step out of line and congratulates us when we do well.

Mrs. Joyce Murphy, better known as vice-principal Murphy, is Shawe's secretary and bookkeeper. Being everyone's mom away from home, Mrs. Murphy always has an encouraging smile and a sympathetic ear. Mrs. Murphy is best known for being the one who issues the tardy slips.

Mrs. Glenda Elam is in charge of English III and IV, and the Fine Arts department. The name Elam is synonymous with work, book reports, and term paper. Although the senior class had great expectations of taming the shrew, class went on. Under Mrs. Elam's direction, the Fine Arts classes brightened up the school with murals throughout. Mrs. Elam, with her gifted voice, usually sings at school masses. Although taken for granted, mass is not the same without her.

Mr. Lenhart teaches German and English I, II, and III. The highlight of the German class is Friday; that is when the schulerin play German monopoly and scrabble. (Makes you want to become a Kraut, does it not?) Among his other duties are coaching freshman and girls' basketball, playing his guitar for masses, and driving the school bus. Mr. Lenhart has found that one of the fringe benefits of driving the bus, is having his own fan club consisting of grade school kids.

Mr. John Kalb teaches Religion I and II. Since Mr. Kalb taught ninety nine percent of the student body in grade school, he is here trying to teach what was missed in religion the first time around. Mr. Kalb is renowned for his jokes. Realizing that EVEN his class can OCCASIONALLY be boring, Mr. Kalb entertains his students with humor. Being a kid at heart, Mr. Kalb is more than just another teacher, he is a friend, just one of the guys.

Fr. Patrick Doyle, the one who shaves during mass, teaches Religion III and IV. The popular Love, Sex, and Marriage course proved to be a challenge. Stupefied by sex inventory test, one senior exclaimed "I would rather learn about God than sex." Fr. Doyle arranged for the seniors volunteer work at the Madison State Hospital; everyone benefited from the unique experience. Fr. Doyle's favorite food and drink was discovered to be coleslaw and ice tea.

Mrs. Maria Ambrecht teaches chemistry. The class was highlighted by: experiments that rarely worked; firebug Marilyn almost setting Sharon Yiesla on fire; lab reports, and more lab reports; and problems with at least six confusing ways to be worked. The class went on a field trip to Seagram's Distillery and M & T Chemicals. Besides teaching, Mrs. Ambrecht is the yearbook advisor. Her experience as the Hilltopper editor in 1971 has been beneficial to the staff.

Mr. Kelvin Comer, head of the science department and junior varsity basketball and baseball coach, is a prime example of the school spirit among the faculty. He always gives that extra something; for example, when he umpires whiffle ball games or hams it up at a pep rally. One of Mr. Comer's favorite activities is the dissection of "Kitty" or anything else he can get his hands on. That is, almost as much as he likes birthday cakes and "Kitty" legs.

Mrs. Sharon Horton teaches social studies. She is a firm believer in learning by doing. For example, her economics class learned about advertising by inventing and marketing their own products. In government, the class staged an election to learn about presidential elections. Besides teaching, Mrs. Horton coaches volleyball and advises student council, N.H.S., and the senior class. Most importantly, she is a loyal fan who comes to all sports events.

Sister Thomasita is a teacher who is known for having a loud roar, but any senior in trig. will tell you that she's a real pussycat. Aside from teaching math classes, Sr. Thom sponsors the junior class, cheerleaders, and Pep Club, runs the book store, and makes the best lemon meringue pie this side of the Mississippi.

Mr. Richard Goodpaster heads the business department and is the Athletic Director, the varsity basketball, cross-country, and track coach. Mr. Goodpaster, alias Mr. Good and Mr. Goodcookie, is new to Shawe this year, from Cincinnati, Ohio. This may explain why he never seems to get cold. His students find he has a lot of patience and good stories to tell. His pet peeves are people sitting on the radiator and the senior guys running to lunch.

Ms. Aline Roszczinski, a former student at Shawe, returned this year to teach French. Those students who did not take French recognize her as the owner of the bright orange jeep. Students in her classes remember especially the outdoor classes and dictations, and the Juniors won't forget the times the French IV class (Debbie) gave dictations.

THE STUDENTS ARE NOT THE ONLY ONES WHO WORK HARD AT SCHOOL.

School custodian, Mrs. Darlene Hallgarth, is new to Shawe this year. Her assistant is Andy Ringwald. Many take them for granted, yet they are indispensable. If one takes the time to look around, one can not help but notice the great job they do.

Another new member of Shawe, is librarian, Mrs. Merry Fourham. She comes from Oscado, Michigan. Mrs. Fourham spends a lot of time keeping the books in the library in order and tracking down over-due-books offenders.

Two others who spend a lot of time helping around school, are Mr. Charles Torline and Mrs. Harold Vandewater, seen here assisting at a track meet.

Left: Besides being a hard worker, Andy excels academically.

SPIRIT

Spirit is an important piece of Shawe. Topper spirit is more than just yelling at a basketball game; it is a feeling that is felt and not always heard. It is a pat on the back, or a smile across the room. Everyone involved with Shawe, whether it be student, faculty, or parent, contributes a nonreplaceable piece to Shawe's spirit. This is what keeps the school alive. Shawe is small, but as the saying goes, "good things come in small packages."

The spirit displayed this year, has never been surpassed. For the first time in four years, every class actively participated in the pep rallies of Spirit Week by putting on skits. When Movie Star Day came around, one could see the likes of Chip and Dale, the Cone-Heads, Kiss, Sonny and Cher, to name a few, roaming the halls. The faculty was also an important factor in the success of Shawe's Spirit Weeks. Topper spirit is contagious, so you had better watch out or it will get you too!

The cheerleaders' enthusiasm, leadership, and all-around spirit kept the morale of the pep club, the team, and the school, running high. Shawe may not be remembered for having the best basketball teams, but it will always be remembered for having the most spirit, especially at sectionals.

With five returning players, the varsity team had a lot of potential but due to the numerous injuries and illnesses, finished with a respectable 7-8 record. One referee said he had never seen so much tape before; with Jane's sprained thumb, Rachel's and Lisa's hyper-extensions of the elbow, Chris's sprained ankle, and Julie's wrist.

The team's schedule was highlighted by its victory over New Washington for the first time in a Shawe's volleyball history. Due to under-estimation of their arch-rival Southwestern, Shawe lost to the Rebels early in the season. The final game of the season, a rematch with the Rebels, found Shawe better prepared. It was definitely one of Shawe's best games. Team spirit was high as teamwork prevailed. Maura "Ghengus" Kahn lead the attack with her non-returnable spikes.

MERCI! The root of a team's spirit is its practices. Under the leadership of Coach Horton and Jane Schafer, the team refined their over hand serves and learned the double block. Somersaults and "green, gold" sets were learned. One must not forget the most important skill of all, rolling the ball one's leg and catching it! MERCI!

Out of the eleven J.V. volleyball players, only three had ever played volleyball. The year was spent learning the fundamentals. The experience gained this year will be refined next year, making the J.V. team a threat to future foes.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

The Freshmen basketball team record was 1-9, under the direction of Coach Lenhart. Although the team won only one game, the experience gained was invaluable. Coach Lenhart praised his team for their conquering of the extensive fundamentals of basketball. This was the first year some had played organized basketball. Troy Barnes was named Most Valuable Player.

What a year! The varsity girl' basketball team finished with a fantastic 5-6 record. This tops any of the previous seasons since the girls' basketball started at Shawe five years ago. Due to the experienced coach and team, shooting, rebounding, and teamwork were at their best.

It was obvious that the girls appreciated the support of the first boys' pep club which was ever present and vocal at home games. The team even had the vocal support of the girls' pep club at the sectionals. Evidently, girls' basketball has made its mark at Shawe. What a year!

The Varsity Basketball team's overall record of 5-15 may not be too impressive, but this season was full of excitement. Excitement, such as: a new varsity coach, Richard Goodpaster, three games lost by a single point, and six lost by six or seven.

There were many outstanding efforts turned in by the team members. Tim Armstrong led the offense with 363 points, averaging out to 19.1 points a game. Tim Goebel shot a hot 69% from the free throw line. Richard Peak led Shawe in assists with 96. Taking many charging fouls, Richard shot 60% from the free throw line. Kevin Jones led Shawe in the rebound department with 142, an average of 7.1 rebounds a game.

When sectional time rolled around, the usual "luck of the Irish (?)" prevailed; Shawe drew Silver Creek, the sectional favorite. Shawe dropped to the experience of the Dragons in the first game.

Teamwork pays off for another two points.

With no full-time starters returning from last year, this year's junior varsity basketball team proved that they could work hard enough to earn a winning season. Christmas vacation and bad weather caused the team to see no action for 8 weeks which resulted in the team's loss of momentum. Under the experienced hand of Coach Comer, the J.V.'s demonstrated their enthusiasm and dedication which helped them capture a 9-7 record.

There were several exciting moments. New Washington was beat in overtime, and the junior varsity came from behind to win in the last thirty seconds of the Crothersville match. The J.V.'s defeated South Ripley in a last second shot. Providence proved to be ever-tough at their gym, and although the junior varsity lost, Coach Comer called it "one of the most exciting ballgames of the year."

Homecoming this year was full of surprises. For the first time in several years, a junior, Jenny Lucht, was elected queen. Another pleasant surprise was that Shawe defeated a tall Portland Christian team by a score of 93 to 60. To top the night off the sophomore class held a Valentine's dance with the help of a WORX disc jockey. Even the senior guys showed signs of disco fever as they led the crowd in a train dance to the Village People's "Y.M.C.A." SURPRISE! A victory, a new queen, and a great dance.

With the aid of only one senior, M.V.P. Jane Schafer, the Shawsboro varsity track team exhibited much improvement. Ann Will in the mile run and Collista Boone in the 880 yard run contributed consistently for Coach Pam Deveyary.

In the first meet of the season Ann Will qualified for the sectional in the mile run. Senior Jane Schafer qualified for the sectionals in two events, the shot-put and the softball throw. Jane is Shawsboro's first female track athlete to qualify for the regional softball throw.

Senior Troy Thorpe was honored in the 1979 track season as the "Most Valuable Player." Being very versatile, he participated in both track and field events.

A bright spot in the season was the performance turned in by the 880-yard relay team. The relay team members were Tim Armstrong, Ken Reilly, Mike Reilly, Tim Goebel and alternate Troy Thorpe.

PLAY BALL!

This year's baseball season could be summed up in one word, pitching, or rather the lack thereof. A team having many returning players plus fresh new talent could expect a winning season. The problem, the team's two pitchers, Tim Armstrong and Steve Reynolds were both seniors. Both did an excellent job when they were there. Tim Armstrong pitched a shutout to Rising Sun, the only Shawe player in recent years to do so. Then the problems started; Steve Reynolds was spiked in the ankle and Tim Armstrong was hospitalized due to an illness.

In order to cover, Coach Comer had to rotate the entire team. Most ended up playing positions they were unaccustomed to. Short stop John Wallace and second baseman Richard Peak were called upon to pitch. Even with John Wallace's habit of hitting the opponents pitcher, the loss of the two seniors was too great.

LUNCHTIME, IS A TIME FOR:

Growling stomachs, a general sense of restlessness, and a constant urge to ask the time, are sure signs of pre-lunchtime blues. The cure? Mr. Bishop's voice asking everyone to rise for grace, the ringing of the bell, and a mad dash for Dee's Diner. For those who do not respond, a sack lunch, a lot of gossip, and a good card game will do the trick.

The Panz of the future.

Christmas as Shawel! The celebration started four weeks early with a special mass for the first week for Advent. The Student Council's annual Christmas program was a welcome relief from mid-term exams. The Birth of Christ was recreated by the Student Council Representatives as Beth Royce read the narrative. Everyone participated in the decoration of the tree. The program ended with the traditional whiffle ball rivalry between classes. The tourney, won by the juniors, was highlighted by an "energetic" umpire, Mr. Comer.

D CHRISTMAS N C E 78!

This year's Christmas Dance was held on December 15th. The exceptional talents of the band Astra and a king and queen contest turned the gala event into a profitable dance for the first time in a long time. Seniors, Tim Goebel and Rose Mary Selig, reigned as king and queen. Other candidates vying for the crown were: Freshmen: Angie Kieffer, Maury Stoner; Sophomores: Susan Vaughn, Keith Jones; Juniors: Sissy Gosman, Mike Wisman.

Astra lead singer of the future, John Wallace, warms up.

PULL UP A CHAIR AND SIT A SPELL!

After three years of fund-raising, the junior class put its money into making its prom something special; for as the theme stated, No Where's Too Far. The class chose rock band Why On Earth. The band played a lot of hard rock which although is hard to dance, is great listening.

From King and Queen, Troy Thorpe and Erin Rucker, are surrounded by their court, which consisted of: C. Vaughn, R. Selig, T. Armstrong, M. O'Connor, T. Goebel, L. Heitz, E. Rutkoski, and R. Peak

Finding the band played great "listening" music, several couples moved their chairs onto the floor.

While Rachel and her date enjoy dancing together; Joe and RoseMary enjoy each other's company off the floor. Bottom: This Cinderella is not goint to lose her slippers!

As Cinderella's blue jeans are transformed into a beautiful gown, Prince Charming gets the last inspection from mom. Prom night, with its special magic lingering about the air, allows each a chance to act "grown up" for a little while, until the clock strikes midnight. Then it is off to blue jeans and partying again with only a memory of what was.

TO BE CHRISTIAN, IS TO LOVE

"Once there was a man who went out to sow grain. As he scattered the seed in the field, some of it fell along the path, and the birds came and ate it up. Some of it fell on rocky ground, where there was little soil. The seeds soon sprouted, because the soil wasn't deep. But when the sun came up, it burned the young plants; and because the roots had not grown deep enough, the plants soon dried up. Some of the seed fell among thorn bushes, which grew up and choked the plants. But some seeds fell in good soil, and the plants bore grain: some had one hundred grains, others sixty, and others thirty."

Mark 4, 1-9

Shawe was created to teach Christianity. To be Christian means to love; to love your God, your friends, and most importantly, yourself. A four year religion requirement teaches the laws and history of the Church, morality, and how to love one another and one's self. A weekly school mass and special holy day celebrations, allow the individual the opportunity to share with others his love for God.

A small school, which thrives only on self sacrifice and the participation of all, allows one to show his love for his fellow students as seen in the analogy of a basketball team. A basketball team needs more than five people who want to play ball. It needs a coach to lead it. It needs someone to mend the wounds. It needs people to make sure the rules are followed. Most importantly, it needs loyal fans who are willing to take the bad with the good.

A senior retreat, close friends, and teachers who believe in and encourage the individual, help him to love himself. The love is there, but the individual must allow it to root, grow, blossom, and finally, to show. And it is those who have let it grow and have allowed it to show, that make Shawe so special.

A WARM DAY + LOTS OF GOOD + GAMES — CLASSES = A GREAT N.H.S. PICNIC!

A TIME TO HONOR ACHIEVERS

Honors Day at Shawe was held on May 17, 1979. Many awards were given for attendance, service, and scholastic achievement.

The girls' basketball team present Mr. Lenhart with a scrapbook. Below, Dan makes sure that his award is signed.

The End began with Baccalaureate Mass. Fr. Dave Coats, a friend of the graduates from their retreat, gave the homily. Emotions ran high as classmates gave one another a last sign of peace as seen at bottom left.

On Sunday, May 20, the Claws of '79 made its final appearance. Valedictorian Sharon Yiesla gave speeches which reminisced about the past and hoped for the future. Songs which had special meaning for the graduates were sung by Ms. Elam and Rick Etienne. Class President Joe Torline led the tassel turning, signifying the END.

THE RESHAPING

This year's puzzle has been completed. Yet, even as the last piece is put in place, the connecting forces of our puzzle are undergoing changes; old pieces are removed to become parts of new puzzles. The remaining pieces change their shapes to join the new pieces and form a unique puzzle of tomorrow.

Diane was ready for the next step, LUNCH! while Rose Mary took part in the N.H.S. induction as the departing seniors were replaced by incoming juniors.

As the NHS picnic came to an end, Becky and Pam got stuck on the clean-up committee.

A mysterious force disrupted the life of the freshmen.

The symbolic arrows suggest that the path leads back to the pieces.

THE STORING AWAY

Before the puzzle is stored away to be forgotten on a dusty shelf, let us take one last glimpse of the puzzle, our puzzle, that was the HILLTOPPER 1979!

On behalf of the HILLTOPPER '79 staff, I would like to thank Mr. Bishop, Mrs. Ambrecht, our patrons, and the many juniors and seniors, who contributed to the most successful ad campaign ever, and to Madison Photo and Bridal for their tremendous contributions to the production of our book.
