WE GOT THE BEAT

"Music gives a soul to the universe, wings to the mind, flight to the imagination, and life to everything." –Plato

Yearbooks contain the essence and life of the school year. They are a compilation of memories and students caught on camera by the yearbook staff. Shawe Memorial is a pool of different ideas, likes, dislikes, and memories, all thrown together to form a diverse environment. But the love of music is one taste that does not change.

Music has been around since the beginning of the Earth. Records of ancient tribes dancing, singing, and making music have been found all over the world. We have evolved from wooden instruments to sound producers and electronics to hold our music. Music is an intricate part of our life, and that is no different for Shawe.

Shawe Memorial students dance to the beat of their own drum. Despite the differences in taste and ideas, Shawe has school spirit, excellent students who strive for the best, and a community's support. This 2014-2015 edition of the Shawe Memorial Connoisseur captures the music that fills the halls, encompassing the memories of all, and invites others to join the song. We got this beat!

Each school dances to the sound of its own drum, and Shawe is no exception. The students, teachers, and staff individually bring their own rhythm to Shawe; their own stories to tell and convert into song. Like individual notes, the Shawe Hilltopper body come together to form a beautiful symphony that resonates as the heart of Shawe.

However, this song cannot be heard through headphones. It can be heard in the laughter in the hallways, the lesson of the teacher, the chatter amongst friends, and the roar of the fans at games. It's the song that every Hilltopper can hear ringing in their ears and pounding in their chest.

This year began with seniors embracing new responsibilities and the new seventh grade being integrated into the Shawe Memorial family. Emotions ran wild as the beginning of the year took off, ushering in the dawn of a new tune. With the newly formed Band of Gold fighting schools in competitions and the soccer team shaking off the opposing teams to steal the win, the student body immediately fell into a groove unlike any other.

Coming back to school is always the hardest part of fall. After having such a warm summer of goofing off and lazing around, you practically have to drag yourself back into the halls and classes of Shawe Memorial. It takes awhile to get back in the groove of working but eventually it all returns to normal, once everyone tells all their stories and greets all of their friends again.

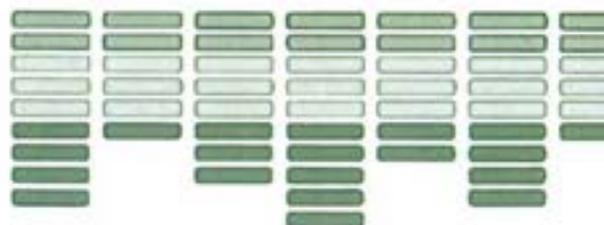

Students are always excited to get to play all the different fall sports. Many students are glad to come back, just to be in a higher grade and have a little more seniority. One thing is for sure... many things would change this year. With new activities, sports, and students, Shawe grew closer as a school, a team, and a family.

To most students the start of the new school year is a new beginning of just another year, but for the seniors it is the beginning of the last year of their high school career, which is both happy and sad. At the beginning of the year it is always very happy because 'woo-hoo! no more school!!' but towards the end, it gets more and more sad. You get nostalgic for the good old days...

SENIORS

For seniors, the tick of every clock is deafening. Each tick reminds them that they'll soon be done with high school. Each tick tells them that this is their last year in these classrooms. Each tick won't let them forget that their time with their friends they've spent most of their lives growing up with is near its end. Each tick is a harbinger of their futures.

This year, the seniors have grown close during the Senior Retreat; they celebrated prom night with a "Senior Exclusive" After Prom; they've had every lunch period all to themselves in the Senior's Only Student Lounge. Every year that the seniors have spent in the Prince of Peace Catholic Schools, when they were Pre-schoolers taking naps or Freshies trapped in the awkwardness of life, has been leading up to this year when the seniors go forward to face the world. Yes, every tick of the clock scares them, but it also excites them. The ticking clock means that they are almost there.

JUNIORS

The juniors hover closer to the end of their Shawe journey. Not quite yet seniors, they are a year closer to graduating. Some are anxious for their final year but others revel in their remaining high school years. Thoughts of college buzzed through their minds as they worked hard on their assignments inside and outside of classes.

This year was overwhelming for this year's junior class. With intensified classes and a larger workload, this year took some of the juniors by surprise. However, they pushed through the challenges and they did it together. Though it can be considered a cliché, the junior class is a real family. They had each other's backs through thick and thin, in the highs and lows. Sammie Tilley agreed and said, "I love how we've grown over the years and I definitely feel like I've made some lifelong friends."

They've cemented a bond that is unlike any other. This bond will continue to grow as the junior class advances to their senior year, their final term within the walls of Shawe Memorial. But none of these juniors would sacrifice a single second, because they are together with their friends and classmates. Adida Ikongshul said, "The class of 2016 is very outgoing and it's a mix of every kind of personality... gotta love 'em!"

SOPHOMORES

Becoming closer as a class and as a family, the sophomore students have learned a lot over the years. They have gained new knowledge and even more new friends. Over time they have had friends come and go, but they have stayed together and endured, through good times and bad.

Coming towards the end of the year they are realizing that they don't have much time left in high school, so they try to make the most of it. School functions such as Shawe games, mini Shawe games, and dances give them opportunities to utilize their time together and work as a team and class.

FRESHMEN

The freshmen class is full of different personalities. While everyone is different in their own way, everyone gets along. This year was a whole new opportunity for the freshmen. They grew closer as friends and as classmates.

The freshmen retreat helped the class become more like family. They learned things about each other that they didn't know. They made many memories at retreat and through the years they've been together. Participating in high school sports and other activities also contributed greatly to the freindship of the class. "I came to Shawe as a new student and my class took me in like family. Im so glad to be a part of it," said Lilly Young.

The freshmen class is known to be very talkative but that is just one thing that makes them memorable. They are full of life and energy that makes them great students, athletes and friends.

EIGHTH GRADE

The eighth graders have certainly become more mature in the last year. "Dude, we were idiots last year!" said Matthew Binzer. They are certainly working their way to becoming fabulous freshman. "I can't wait for high school!!" says Charity Green. They have grown to appreciate the closeness of a small class even though they are Shawe's second biggest class with 37 students.

"I'm so excited for our D.C. trip," says Maria Rios-Alonso about the upcoming annual eighth grade trip to Washington D.C.

"I think my favorite part about eighth grade is the seniority. It's nice to finally have a little power."

- Izabelle Lewis.

SEVENTH GRADE

The seventh graders had many new alterations to their school routine this year. Transferring from Pope John to Shawe Memorial was a big change for this class, but they took it in stride. Taking on their hefty loads of homework with a nervous smile, this group worked through the year with youthful determination.

However, this class did not come without its own unique personality. This junior high class was a rowdy one. The boys could be frequently be found plotting their next joke while the girls, more mature for their age, looked on. Yet these girls held their own in the "battle" the seventh grade seemed to have going on. Olivia Kelley says, "The boys in our class are insane."

Despite this rowdy battle of the personalities, this class came together to form a family. "The best part of being in my seventh grade class is knowing that I have friends that will stand up for me," says Reyna Ortiz.

FACULTY & STAFF

The teachers of Shawe teach the students everything they know to help build their futures. The teachers are knowledgeable, wiser and more experienced. If we didn't have teachers, Shawe wouldn't be here. They are an important part of Shawe.

This year we welcomed many new teachers. We welcomed Mr. Dan Ashley, Mrs. Susan Frede, Dr. Joshua Hamilton, Mrs. Sherilyn Hookey, and Ms. Melody Russell. The new teachers have joined the Shawe family and have made lasting connections with several of their students.

Shawe teachers and students share a special bond. It feels more like a family here at Shawe. It is a special environment and our teachers set the tone for the whole school.

Foreign Languages

0:44

4:30

Haley Center

Foreign languages are absolutely amazing. So many students love the idea of being able to communicate with people all over the world. Shawe absorbs culture like a sponge, and it is no different with Spanish and French. Shawe offers both languages for students to choose from and students threw themselves into the learning process this year. Though rigorous and complicated sometimes, the students love learning the language and the culture.

Brittany Durham said, "Every day I look forward to going to French class. Madame makes learning a foreign language much more fun. J'adore francais!"

This year, the Spanish classes changed. The Spanish teacher, Mrs. Michelle Evans retired and Dr. Joshua Hamilton stepped in to take over the class. With a new perspective and fresh ideas, Dr. Hamilton became one of the Shawe staff and was welcomed with delight.

The French classes, of course, had their share of fun as well. Mrs. Aline Schafer-Cambron has taught for over twenty years, thus gaining numerous teaching techniques. Her students adore her teaching style. Lillian Boone said, "This year has been extremely educational for me!"

Science

Shaw provides many different science classes for students to choose from including biology, anatomy, physics, and earth-space science. They're fun, but there is also a time to be serious and work diligently. As some students found out the hard way, science takes a lot of effort and dedication. Homework is typically what makes or breaks people. "We always have homework! It's so exhausting..." says 7th grader Briar Wynn.

Projects are also important, for both students and teachers. "My favorite project was when we had to build a cell in biology. We made ours out of cake and candy... it was awesome!" says freshmen Ellen Frede. Making up almost 10% of your final grade, projects are an important part of science class. Hard work but loads of fun is how we would describe our science classes.

Concert Band

Unlike marching band, concert band is serene, peaceful and beautiful, but do not think for a minute that it is simple. The pieces of music performed are meant to both challenge the instrumentalists and please the ears of the audience during concerts and the band members have to strive to achieve that. The band has greatly expanded their capabilities this year by playing much more challenging pieces such as Into the Storm, Frozen, Uproar, Robin Hood, and many more for the Christmas and Spring concerts. They also continued to play pep band for basketball games and pep rallies.

Pep band is a great experience for the band members who attend. It is a good opportunity for students to get to play modern music instead of "all that boring stuff" as Justin Stewart says. It also gives the audience at the basketball games something to listen to while cheering on the teams. "I love jamming out to Pirates of the Caribbean," says cheerleader Sophie Edens. The band gets the chance to show off their school spirit and cheer on the home team with their music, not to mention it's just plain fun.

Visual arts is composed of various different art classes such as Jr. High art, 3-D art, and 2-D art. They all take a lot of hardwork and dedication, not to mention concentration. Students not only have the opportunity to exhibit their creativity, but also to learn about the history and techniques of art and its' creators.

The artists used various different forms to create their masterpieces. Some different ones this year were clay, glass, pencil drawings, paintings, oil pastels, and colored pencils. They were all glorious and made the artists very proud.

Engineering

Engineering is a fun, creative, and very hands-on class. However, it also requires a lot of work and effort. You not only need to have brilliant mathematics skills and learn a great multitude of equations and formulas, but also have acceptable computer skills to accomplish projects and models. Engineering students need to be organized and focused to do well.

The engineering classes are certainly not the easiest classes, but many students have taken on the challenge and the workload. After the bell rings and the period ends the students not only leave with greater engineering skills but also improved math and computer skills. The skills gained help the students have a better and more successful high school and college career.

P.E. & Health

Health and P.E. are important classes in school. P.E. is a great way to get active after hours of sitting during class. All that sitting can get boring and make you lazy but in P.E. you get to play sports and compete against each other. "I like playing against my classmates because we all know each other so we can joke around with everyone," said Josephine Bennett. Everyone has fun in P.E. whether you have it first thing in the morning or at the end of the day.

Health is important because you learn about how to take care of your body. You learn what alcohol and drugs will do to you and how to get help if you ever have a problem. Health teaches us how to take care of ourselves and others.

Religion class is a very important part of our school's culture. Shawe is a Catholic school that includes religion in every student's schedule.

Religion is an important class and Mrs. Drumm and Mrs. Fry make it fun. Scott Stiver said, "Mrs. Fry makes it easier for me to remember things by creating skits of the material." It's little things like that that make the religion class different from all the other classes.

Religion is a class that many enjoy and it helps us develop our relationship with God. We will carry our faith, beliefs and lessons learned in religion class with us throughout our lives. From the Pro Life March to community service to the little things such as skits, religion is a one of a kind class.

English is a subject that every student is required to take. English is our prioritized language; we speak it, we write it, and we hear it every day. So it is no surprise that students come home with homework that makes them wrack their brain, learning the ins and out of their native tongue. It takes dedication and critical thinking to continue to advance their knowledge of the English language.

However, English wasn't always about stickler grammatical rules. It can be a fun experience. English class opened a new world to students. As Alan Bennett, a renowned author said, "A book is a device to ignite the imagination." The books read introduced the students to new worlds and ideas that flourished in their minds and made them all the more knowledgeable of their world.

Math

Math can be a difficult subject for students, but not for all. For many students math is their favorite subject. Like freshman Katheryn Stuart said, "Math is my favorite subject because there is always an answer." For some students math may be more of a struggle. For example, freshman Ethan Goebel said, "I don't like math because when I'm right, I'm always wrong, and when I'm wrong, I'm always wrong. I just never can win."

Math is an important subject to know and can be applied to daily life. Math can also help open doors to many great careers and opportunities after high school. Math can be hard and stressful but with hardwork and dedication the payoff is worth it. It is an essential class for school and life.

"My favorite part about teaching math is that I love to see the looks on students' faces when they understand their math."

Social Studies

Learning about our past is important in order to successfully move forward. We must learn about the people who came before us so we can learn from their successes and failures.

Our history can be a lot of fun to learn about. You find out about old castles and civilizations that you had no idea even existed before you opened up your history book. We get to learn about our earth and what kind of environment people lived in without the technology we have today. "I love learning about the people who came before me and hearing all the awesome names that our ancestors had," said Joel Carrillo when asked why he likes history class so much. There are many cool things in the past that we have yet to learn and we are still finding more information on the civilizations that came before us.

"There are a lot of places that I didn't even know existed until I heard them in social studies class."

- Jessie Stuart

"We are still finding new things from our past in explorations and trips and that is awesome."

- Gabrielle Pawlak

Journalism is a long process that starts on the first day of class. There are many steps to complete before we can put together the finished yearbook at the end of the year. Although it is a lot of work we have fun while doing it.

The whole process starts with calling people and selling ads to businesses around town. Selling ads can be disappointing when people don't buy anything from you. "Selling ads was difficult at first but it got easier after a while," Katrena Gobert said when asked about her experience with selling.

Once you have sold ads you can start on making the pages for the yearbook. This is the fun part because you take pictures of people and subjects. "I love taking pictures of people and looking through all the silly pictures of people," Katie Stuart said about taking pictures for the class.

"I love seeing the yearbooks at the end of the year. They are so creative."

- Megan Whitham

"I like being able to make my pages then add them to the whole yearbook."

- Trinity Jones

"I like giving quotes to them for the yearbook."

Fall Play

Our talented performers did an amazing job on this year's fall play, "The Canterville Ghost." They worked hard, reciting their lines over and over again to memorize them. They practiced for hours to present a wonderful play to the community.

Every one of the performers did a great job at bringing their characters to life. It felt like you were truly watching the lives of the American family as they fought with the annoying ghosts in their new home. The play was loads of fun to watch. There was a lot of comedy as we saw the two little girls terrorize the old ghost.

While the performers did a wonderful job on stage so did the people backstage. All the lights and music was perfectly aligned with the mood of the play. Great job!

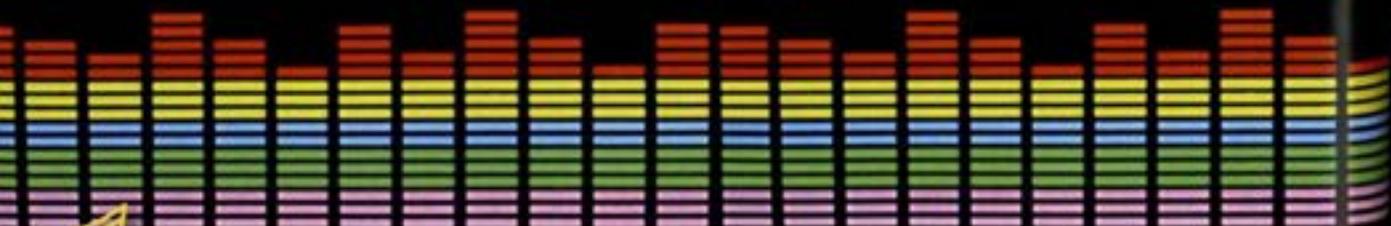

"My favorite thing this year was how well everyone worked together to make the production a success."
- Simon Terpening

"I really liked how the cast was so diverse in this play."
- Andrew Eigel

"My favorite part was getting to express myself without restraint."

Red Ribbon Week

Sophie Edens

Red Ribbon Week was all about making students aware of the effects that drugs and alcohol has on the human body. More specifically, it focuses on how the use of drugs can ruin a person's life. Many students brush the topic off, but those who listened and absorbed the information came out with a new understanding, especially after listening to the special guest speaker, Jeremy Stevens.

However, Red Ribbon Week was not all about learning about drugs. It was also a week filled with fun events and activities. From dressing up in their future Halloween costumes to passing out candy at Shawe's annual Trunk or Treat, students had oodles of fun throughout the week. And for the grand finale, each class went head-to-head in Drugs Jeopardy to test their knowledge and memory.

This year, the Shawe band upped it's game and took its competitiveness to a new level. The Shawe Memorial Band of Gold was established with 44 founding members. It's theme for competition was "Gladiator." They could only feel pride as they brought home numerous trophies, including two People's Choice Awards.

These marching gladiators gave their all to prepare. They went to a week-long band camp, played for hours upon hours, practiced 2-3 times a week, and worked on memorizing the music every waking moment. Yet through all the blood and sweat, every member came out of their first year, yelling, "Yay band!"

Morp is one of the best bonding experiences for all upper and under classmen. Usually the dance is held in the Shawe gym. Freshmen especially love this dance because it is the first high school dance they can attend. This dance is certainly special. It is tradition that the under classmen ask upper classmen to Morp.

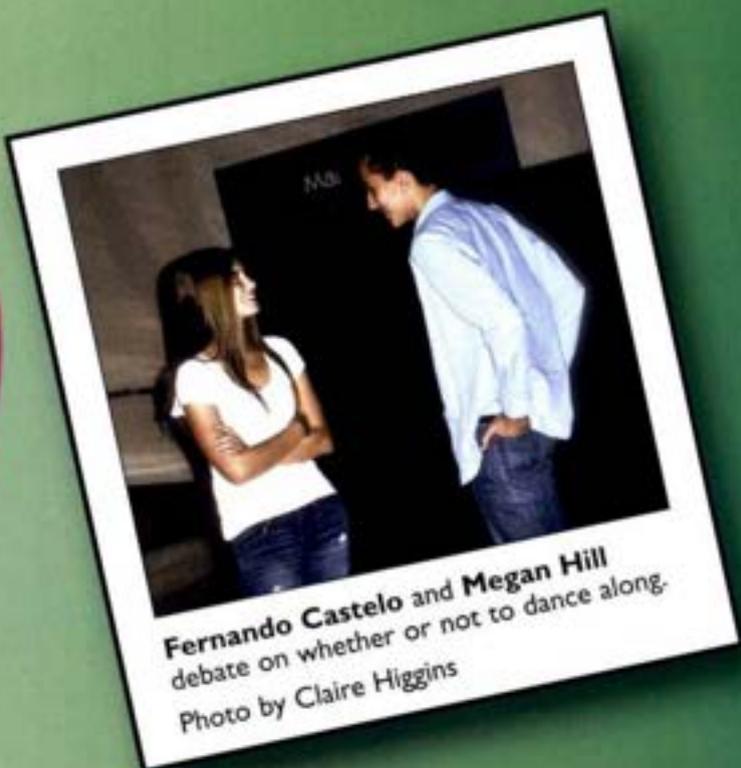

The upper classmen usually take their date to grab a bite to eat and then head to the dance to shake it. Or sometimes after the dance ends some students go out to eat with a big group and hangout. Most people just dance their hearts out and as soon as they get home, they crash.

Carson Hambrick went to regionals in Indianapolis. "Getting to play on a beautiful course and shooting my personal best was definitely a highlight," says Carson Hambrick.

Being on a small team allowed the girls to bond with each other and their coaches. "I enjoyed being on a small team because I grew closer to my teammates and I received more one on one time with my coach," says Megg Hensler. A normal summer Shawe afternoon, the boys tennis team could always be found hard at practice. They worked hard to perfect their moves, practicing their swings and swift shuffling on the court.

The boys tennis team did not always exist. It was rejuvenated this year with invigorating spirit in the boys and Coach Steven Sims. Together, they brought Shawe a grand number of victories.

The boys also bonded, not only as teammates, but also as friends. "It was great bonding with Tyler and AK," said Nicholas Center.

Even though we didn't get very far in sectionals this year, it was still a good year for Shawe soccer. Everyone, including the coaches, should be proud. "The coach made sure that everyone was behaving and did their best," Grant Suggett said. The team did a great job!

GOAL!

Shawe Junior High Soccer - 2014

Junior High soccer consists of sixth through eighth graders, which means students from Pope John come over to play for Shawe. This aspect helps the young athletes become familiar with their soon-to-be classmates. "It was a good feeling to be a leader on the team," says eighth grader Matthew Binzer. The eighth graders step up and become sort of leaders for the younger players.

On top of all of that though, there is the teamwork, the games and practices that the players put in. Having sixth graders on the team could have caused a communication issue because they are in a different building than the seventh and eighth graders. Fortunately, they overcame the obstacles presented to them.

Yea, We Rock!

Shawe High School Cross Country - 2015

Shawe's cross country team showed they were troopers as they pushed through the season. Overcoming obstacles with their teammates, each individual brought their best when they took to the course.

Cross country built these students' endurance and taught them valuable skills. They had to run every day in preparation for the meets, simultaneously working hard to keep up with their classes. Cross country wasn't a sport for just anyone - it is physically demanding and the students had to apply themselves to improve.

However, many said it was absolutely worth it. Each one commented how they loved becoming a closer team and overcoming their challenges together.

A photograph of a winter scene. The foreground is filled with a dense network of bare, snow-laden tree branches. In the background, a building with a yellow facade is partially visible through the trees. The ground is covered in a layer of snow.

This winter was a snowy and cold winter. We had five snow days and several two hour delays. The snow had an effect on some school events. The freshmen retreat was ended early and they had to leave their retreat at two in the morning. Freshmen had to walk down a hill to get to the bus because the bus couldn't go up the hill due to the extreme weather. That was a retreat the freshmen won't forget.

Also, during the winter was the Pro Life March. About 11 students attended. They all had an amazing experience. They all had the opportunity to stand up for what they believe in. The Pro Life March is a wonderful and a life-changing experience and a wonderful tradition at Shawe.

Basketball season is also during the winter months. The varsity boys basketball team played extremely hard and gave it their all. Shawe fans were always there to cheer them on. This winter was packed with wonderful and exciting memories.

Christmas Dance

Loud music, pretty dresses and lots of smiling faces. That's all you saw on the night of the Christmas Dance. Dresses of all different colors and designs could be seen all around the room. Friends sang as loud as they could and laughed at each other when they messed up on the lyrics. Happy faces could be seen all around the dance floor.

Nobody sat down while the music was playing. The whole room would line up across the floor to dance to certain songs. The entire night was a lot of fun with friends and classmates. Couples danced during slow songs and friends danced during upbeat songs. It was a night Shawe students won't soon forget.

A long time ago in a galaxy far, far away, there was... a homecoming dance. Star Wars was the theme of the annual homecoming dance and the stars really stood out from the galactic crowd. All of the candidates of the homecoming court were so excited. It is not only a big night for the nominees, but also for the entire student body. Homecoming is one of the biggest dances of the year and is always tons of fun.

Many students were excited about not only simply going to the dance and getting to hang out with their friends, but also going to the basketball game beforehand. Getting to cheer on the JV and Varsity players is awesome. Shawnee High School Girls Basketball - 2013

With no Junior Varsity and only thirteen players, the girls had a rough road ahead of them. Fortunately the team faced those challenges head on going 10-14 for the first time since the 2008-09 season.

Having so few players everyone had to do their part and more. "I am very happy with how our season went. We made a lot of improvements and I am very proud of my team," say Coach Camille Deuser. The team worked hard and overcame many obstacles and adversities.

Yea, We Rock!

Shawe High School Soccer - 2014

All the basketball fans in the Shawe family were excited for this year's basketball season. We had a few good players join our varsity team to help make our school team stronger. Many people couldn't wait to see how our players would work together to reach their goals of winning as many games as they could. Although we had our bad days, as every team does, we played really well in many games.

With the support of the coaches, managers, cheerleaders and fans, our basketball team played really well. We are very proud of our boys on the basketball team. From the start of the season to the final game we all supported our high school basketball team.

The junior high girls who participated in basketball this year gave it their all this season to bring home the wins. They practiced passing, blocking, perfected their game and took it to the court. The team worked hard to accomplish their goals.

Many younger girls came from Pope John this year, joining the upperclassmen in the games. They learned much by practicing and watching girls a few grades older, working beside them while they improved. One player, Rile Conard said, "I grew closer to many new people. I played a lot and I especially loved practice."

WE GOT THE GUNS!

Shawe Junior High Basketball

The Junior High boys basketball team had an awesome year. All members of the team practiced hard to improve their skills on the court. Everyone gave the team their best and the result was a winning year.

Working together became a very rewarding process for the team. This hard work helped form bonds of friendship that would continue off the basketball court. Many members of the 8th grade team will continue playing basketball in high school and the skills and dedication they learned in Junior High will make next year's High School Boys Basketball team harder to defeat. Shawe is proud and excited to follow this team's progress.

Cheerleading

Katheryn Stuart

Cheerleading is more than just what you see during a game. Just like other sports, there is a lot of work to do before going out in a game. You have to learn all the cheers and learn how to stunt safely so no one gets hurt. While learning all this they still manage to have fun.

Along with learning everything for the games, the students also learn some very valuable lessons. "They learn problem solving skills, stress management, working with others and presenting themselves well," said Amy Stuart when asked what you can learn in cheerleading. Even while all this is going on, the girls still manage to have a lot of laughs and always have fun.

"I enjoy seeing how much the girls grow up through the season and I love how much they make me smile and laugh."

Pro Life March

Sophie Edens

"Every life is a gift" was the theme of this year's Pro Life March, and one that students readily took to heart. Together, they took a stand in Washington D.C. this year by going on the Pro Life March. Raising awareness and peacefully combating abortion was the main goal of the March; however, students gained something more valuable.

They formed bonds with people who share their values and religion. They came together with others to express their view on the killing of unborn innocence. After walking a little over an hour, the students reached the Supreme Court where they proudly waved their banner to show their support of life.

Being Pro Life was a choice that students brought back with them, strengthened like the finest armor. Despite the many hours on the bus, students came back with renewed faith and hearts.

"It was amazing to see how many people were at the march supporting life."

- Bailee Koehler

"Looking down the hill, I loved seeing all the people together to fight for the same cause."

Retreat is one of the best parts of the school year for the high school students. Going on an overnight trip with your classmates who you see all week can seem like a really boring thing right? Wrong, it is actually a really awesome experience that everyone should have at least once.

Everyone who goes on retreats always says great things about them and has funny stories to tell about their break times. "My favorite thing about retreats is being around the students in a different setting and watching them play and learn new things about each other," said Mrs. Drumm.

I would not suggest missing any of the retreats because they are such a wonderful thing to do with your classmates. Whether you have to come back early because of weather or stay the whole time, everyone has a story to tell.

Catholic Schools Week

Ellen Frede

Catholic Schools Week is something that is celebrated by Catholic Schools all over the United States. Both the students and the faculty look forward to this week as it is full of fun and appreciation for our Catholic Schools. With fun activities and different themed days for dress, there's always something to do during this week.

An activity that is always a favorite among the students is the day where Shawe goes over to Pope John and does an activity and eats lunch with them. "My favorite part about the week was the Pope John activity because I was able to talk to some of the kids in Spanish," says Fernando Castelo. This activity allows the Shawe and Pope John students to bond and our schools become more unified.

"I love all of the different activities that go on during Catholic Schools Week."

Being accepted into the National Honor Society is one of the highest honors at Shawe. National Honor Society is an organization recognized by the state, and one that was very active over the course of the year. Students worked hard to keep their grades up and to be leaders by example inside and outside of school. They did service projects and fundraisers that immersed the Society in school life and community life. They dedicated themselves to helping others.

Whether the students participated in Pie the Teacher or brought in pet supplies, the Shawe student body became involved in the activities. Students and teachers alike helped to raise money and supplies that other in need of help required. Shawe and its NHS worked hard this year to help those in need.

Students like to show their school spirit in different ways, whether it's at sporting events or school activities. Students can show their spirit by being in pep band or cheerleading or just going to sports events. School spirit is being proud that you go to Shawe. It also means that you love and support your classmates in all that they do. Shawe's small size helps students feel more connected to each other, and in doing so, can create a wonderful atmosphere of school spirit.

"I'm proud to be Hilltopper," said Haley Center. Shawe has several proud and enthusiastic Hilltopper fans.

SPRING

Springtime is a time of both great joy and great sorrow. Students are so excited to get out of school and get their summer started but it is also quite sad. With springtime comes graduation, and with graduation comes many tears. Many people are saying goodbye to dear friends and some loved ones. Seniors are worrying about college and where they are going to school and looking forward to the future.

The sun is shining, birds are chirping, and animals are coming out of hibernation. Warm weather is here and students are making plans for their summer break. Spring sports have started and people are going outside to enjoy the nice weather and get active. People can be seen running around town. Friends are meeting up to hang out and have a laugh. So while spring can be sad, it is also a time of joy!

Student Council not only leads the school but leads individual classes as well. Each class has two representatives to stand and speak for their class. It's usually concerning serious matters such as the annual blood drive but the students always find a way to spice things up and make each event fun.

Student Council helps students to become more responsible and involved within their school community and their local community. With so many different school activities throughout the year, from Red Ribbon Week to Shawe Games, there is never a shortage of student council participation. The students are always willing to help and work together for the good of their school and their community.

Spring Fling

Trinity Jones

Spring Fling is always a blast and terribly exciting. For this dance the girls ask the guys and it gives the girls a chance to be creative and cute when asking... the cutest way of asking even got free tickets! The theme of this years Spring Fling was 'A Night in Paris', complete with a five foot tall Eiffel Tower. Spring Fling 2015 was hosted at Harry's Stone Grill and was accentuated by feather boas on the ceiling lights and a multi-color disco ball, which made it look really cool inside!

Shawe students attended Spring Fling with students from other schools. Some students asked students from other schools to come with them, such as Katie Stuart and Liam Thomas. No matter if they were from Shawe or elsewhere, there were so many cute couples and non-couples as well.

"Spring Fling is a fake prom where you find out who can dance and who can't."

France Trip

0:44  4:30

Trinity Jones & Destiny Lock

Every year the French IV class takes a trip to France and goes sight-seeing. Everyone that goes always say they had a blast and that they want to go back. This year's class was especially small, numbering only six students. But that made it even better.

Some classes travel to different places, like Italy or England, but this year they stayed in France and had the time of their lives. Participating in classes such as fencing and walking around sight-seeing were just two of the many adventures they had during their fantastic 2015 trip.

Ask any of them, including Madame, they all wish they could have stayed there. That's always the hardest part about going; leaving. No one wants to leave the beautiful countryside and boisterous cities, and no one ever wants to come back and resume their scholarly duties.

"Oh my gosh, it was so amazing! I want to go back so bad..."
- Destiny Lock

DC Trip

"Hellooo!" This year, the Class of 2019, traveled to Washington, D.C. for 3 days. The whole class had been counting down the days until departure since the beginning of the school year.

The class was extremely excited to visit all the museums and memorials in Washington, D.C. One of the class' favorite places was The Holocaust Museum, as we had spent a lot of time researching the Holocaust and WWII. The Holocaust Museum was emotional for many of us and a place that we will not soon forget. The memorials were also eye-opening because it gave our class a new perspective on how many people gave their lives for our country.

Arlington National Cemetery was another place our class really enjoyed visiting. Matthew Binzer, Jarod Bladen, Charity Green and Grace Stewart were privileged to get to participate in the Wreath Laying Ceremony, which honors this country's Unknown Soldiers. It was very humbling for our class to be a part of the special ceremony. It was interesting and overwhelming to see how many thousands of men and women were laid to rest there. The scenery was beautiful and quiet and our class really needed that solemn time after the sleepless and busy first two days. Arlington National Cemetery was a perfect way to conclude our trip and now we have our own unique Washington, D.C. stories and memories to share with future Shawe students.

Prom

Prom was a night of wonders, of dresses and tuxedos and dazzled masks. The Masquerade theme this year was a night of colors and disguises. Students enjoyed the night at Elks Country Club, featuring an amazing food buffet, an endless night of dancing, and fun in the photo booth. Ava Lohrig said, "My first prom exceeded my expectations."

Jordan Wentworth was crowned Prom King, and Bailee Koehler Prom Queen. Wentworth said, "It was an awesome night. I had a lot of fun!"

Of course, prom couldn't have happened without the junior class. It is the responsibility of the junior class to plan and host the prom. Their efforts weren't in vain. Christopher Grote commented, "In one word, it was awesome!"

Academic Superbowl

Being on Academic Superbowl is a great experience and one that everyone should try to be a part of. The team members put in a lot of time and effort into memorizing and preparing their information to present to their fellow team members. There is much preparation that goes into the teams, especially before a competition.

There is also a Junior High Academic Team and they learn commitment and what it takes to be on a High School Academic Team. They go to two competitions during their season. This is great learning experience for them.

Though it seems like a lot of work, the teams still have a lot of fun traveling to and from competitions, going on field trips and attending the competitions.

My favorite memory was when Skip walked into a competition wearing a Roman helmet and a red cape."

Despite their hardships the baseball team pushed through the season and gave their all during each of their games. Many of the players had shining moments, some of which made their way into the ORVC Standings.

The team had their ups and downs but, "We doubled our wins since last season," says Nick Weatherbee. Even though the team struggled they pushed through to the end and came out with double the wins that they had last year.

Determination is the single most powerful word that could describe the softball team this year. The girls worked together, pushed hard during practice, and strove to finish a fantastic year.

Teamwork was essential to this year's goals and accomplishments. The Hilltopper girls prevailed in their games by practicing together and encouraging each other to do their best. With each year, the softball team has continued to improve, and this year proved no different.

Tennis is a sport that takes a lot of time and effort. The girls who played tennis this year worked extremely hard sharpening their skills. The varsity team had very few losses. Everyone played well and gave it their all.

The junior high tennis team had many new girls join the team this year. All of the new players had to learn the rules of tennis and how to play it. The junior high team did very well for having so many new members.

The varsity and junior high tennis teams both did an awesome job. Everyone had fun and improved their tennis skills. Tennis is a great sport to play, it takes determination and lots of practice to be great.

Team Picture of the Junior High Baseball Team

When people think of school sports they generally only think of soccer, basketball, baseball and volleyball, but there are other sports that take place during the year without much recognition. There is archery, Fit For The King Flyers, wrestling and many others that only a few students participate in.

It's so cool to see the students go out and compete with other people and make new friends while working towards their winning goal. Each team works as hard as they can to win, just like every other sport in the school. They get so much support from their friends and family. You can tell just by hearing someone yell out a friend's name during a competition. We support all our sports here at Shawe!!!

Shawe Games - 2015

Shawe games is definitely one of the best days of the school year. All students do all day is play and compete with friends, classmates, and teachers. There are so many different games and activities to participate in. There are card games, sports, truck pushing, and multiple different races to run. Card games vary from calm games like euchre to very exciting and dangerous games like spoons. Plus the lunch is always delicious. No matter what you like there is an activity for you to compete in. Shawe games is definitely a day that you don't want to miss out on and will definitely enjoy something from the day. Where else can you take down a teacher for a spoon?

Graduation

Katheryn Stuart

Every school year completely ends on the day of graduation. Teachers, friends and family must say goodbye to the seniors as they leave the school to find their own way in the world. It is one of the saddest and happiest days in the whole school year combined because we must say goodbye to loved ones but also be glad and hope that they will make good choices for themselves. "Graduation always makes me happy and sad. Happy to see the seniors moving on with their lives but sad that I won't be able to see them in the hallway or around school everyday," said Mr. Hesse. Graduation is a big step in a persons life and it can be scary to think of what comes after but every senior can always look back at their years of being at Shawe Memorial and know that they have a family that will love and support them.

"The best part of preparing for graduation is looking back through all the pictures that I have with all of my friends and classmates."

- Megan Whitham

"I'm excited to see the students start a new chapter in their life but my heart hurts to see them leave."

- Mrs. Drumm

Advertising makes up a significant amount of money that is used for the purchasing and printing of the yearbooks. Without advertising the yearbook cost would be too high for most students to afford. A vast majority (if not all) of the ads that are in the yearbook are from local stores and businesses.

Calling the individual businesses was a large part of selling ads. For some of the yearbook staff calling the people and talking on the phone with someone that they did not know was a big deal and something that they were not necessarily "ready" and comfortable with. To prepare them for this experience they practiced making fake phone calls with each other and acting as the specific business.

Advertising was a fun and great experience. Some of the students learned new skills and became more comfortable with old ones. It was a good experience where the students learned communication skills that they will continue to use in their lives and careers.

CLOSING

Shawe's year came to a magnificent close. After months upon months of studying, taking tests and quizzes, turning in homework, and frying their brains, the students' year approached its climax. Anxiously, they looked forward to the summer.

They also did not falter in their academic studies. They continued to thrive in their classes, striving to push themselves in the final weeks of the school year. Fernando Castello said, "It was a fun year. If I had to summarize it, it was a big learning experience. But it was a lot of fun!"

Athletics did not waver either. Between baseball, softball, tennis, and track and field, many students found their schedules building. Shawe's athletic teams improved significantly this year and found their perfect rhythm.

For many students the year was a success. The seventh graders endured their first year, juniors began contemplating their senior year and future college visits. With saddened hearts, the student body had to wave goodbye to the seniors. With forever fond memories filling their hearts, the seniors were ready to set out into the world for the next step in their lifelong adventure. Cristian Rios-García commented, "Senior year was the best. I wouldn't change it for the world! We've grown into a family. The most important things in my life are my classmates, my family, right here, and right now."
